betweene Abiam, and Jeroboam.

8 And Abiam slept with his fathers, and they buried him in <sup>the</sup> citie of Dauid: and Asa his sonne reigned in his steade.

a. Chro. 14. 1.

9 ¶ And in the twentie yeere of Jeroboam King of Israel reigned Asa ouer Iudah.

10 Hee reigned in Ierusalem one and fourtie yere, & his mothers name was Maachah, the daughter of Abisbalom.

c That is, his grandmother, as Dauid is oft times called father of them, whose grandfather he was.

11 And Asa did right in the eyes of the Lord, as [did] Dauid his father.

12 And he tooke away <sup>the</sup> sodomites out of the land, & put away all the idoles that his fathers had made.

d Neither kinred nor authority ought to be regarded, when they blaspheme God and become idolaters, but must be punished.

13 And he <sup>put</sup> downe <sup>the</sup> Maachah his mother also from her estate, because she had made an idole in a groue: and Asa destroyed her idoles, and burnt them by the brooke Kidron.

e Chro. 15. 16. f For in that that he suffered them to worship God in other places, when he had appointed, it came of ignorance and not of malice.

15 Also he brought in the holy vessels of his father, and the things that he had dedicated vnto the house of the Lord, silver, and golde and vessels.

16 ¶ And there was warre betweene Asa and Baasha king of Israel all their dayes.

f Of the same purpose that Jeroboam did, because <sup>the</sup> people should not go up to Ierusalem lest they should follow Asa.

17 Then Baasha King of Israel went by against Iudah, and built <sup>the</sup> Ramah, so that he would let none go out or in to Asa King of Iudah.

a. Chro. 16. 2.

18 Then Asa tooke all the silver and the golde that was left in the treasures of the house of the Lord, & the treasures of the Kings house, and deliuered them into the handes of his seruants, & King Asa sent them to <sup>the</sup> Ben-hadad the sonne of Tabzimmon, the sonne of Hezion King of <sup>the</sup> Aram <sup>to</sup> dwell at Damascus, saying,

|| Or, Syria.

19 [There is] a covenant betweene me and thee, [and] betweene my father and thy father: behold, I haue sent vnto thee a present of silver and golde: come, breake thy couenant with Baasha king of Israel, that he may depart from me.

g And here me no longer.

20 So Ben-hadad hearkened vnto King Asa, and sent the captaines of the hostes, which hee had, against the cities of Israel, and smote Iion, & Dan, and Abel-beth-maachah, and all Emmeroth, with all the land of Naphtali.

21 And when Baasha heard thereof, he left building of Ramah, and dwelt in Tirzah.

|| Or, made a proclamation.

22 Then King Asa || assembled all

Iudah, <sup>none</sup> excepted, and they tooke the stones of Ramah, and the timber thereof, wherewith Baasha had built, and King Asa built with them Geba of Benjamin and Mizpah.

23 And the rest of all the actes of Asa, and all his might and al that hee did, and the cities which hee built, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the Kings of Iudah: but in his olde age he was diseased in his <sup>last</sup> feete.

24 And Asa slept with his fathers, & was buried with his fathers in the citie of Dauid his father. And Iehoshaphat his sonne reigned in his steade.

i He had the gout and put his trust rather in physicians, then in the Lord. a. Chro. 16. 12. i His great grandfather.

25 And Nadab the sonne of Jeroboam began to reigne ouer Israel <sup>the</sup> second yeere of Asa king of Iudah, and reigned ouer Israel two yere.

26 And hee did euill in the sight of the Lord, walking in the way of his father, and in his sinne wherewith hee made Israel to sinne.

27 And Baasha the sonne of Ahijah of the house of Issachar conspired against him, and Baasha slew him at Gibbethon, which belonged to the Philistines: for Nadab and all Israel layde siege to Gibbethon.

28 Euen in the third yere of Asa king of Iudah dyd Baasha slaye him, and reigned in his steade.

29 And when he was king, hee smote all the house of Jeroboam, hee left none aloue to Jeroboam, vntill hee had destroyed him, according to the <sup>word</sup> of the Lord which he spake by his seruant Ahijah the Shilonite.

k So God stirred by one trait to punish the wickedness of another. Chap. 14. 10.

l By causing the people to commit idolatry with his calves, and so pronouoking God to anger.

31 And the residue of the actes of Nadab and al that hee did, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel:

32 And there was warre betweene Asa & Baasha king of Israel, all their dayes.

m Which was <sup>the</sup> place where the Kings of Israel reigned.

34 And hee did euill in the sight of the Lord, walking in the way of Jeroboam, and in his sinne, wherewith hee made Israel to sinne.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Of Baasha, 6 Elah, 3 Zimri, 16 Omri, 31 Ahab married Jezebel, 34 Achaz is built againe.

Then

hen the worde of the Lorde came to Jehu the sonne of Hanani agaynst Baasha, saying,

2 Forasmuch as I exalted thee out of the dust, and made thee captain over my people Israel, and thou hast walked in the way of Jeroboam, & hast made my people Israel to sinne, to prouoke me with their sinnes,

3 Beholde, I will take away the posteritie of Baasha, and the posteritie of his house, and will make <sup>b</sup> thine house like the <sup>b</sup> house of Jeroboam the sonne of Nebat.

4 <sup>a</sup> He that dieth of Baashas [stocke] in the cite, him shall the dogs eate: and that ma of him which dieth in the fields, shall the foules of the aire eate.

5 And the rest of the actes of Baasha, and what he did, & his <sup>a</sup> polwer, are they not written in the booke of the <sup>a</sup> Chronicles of the Kings of Israel?

6 So Baasha slept with his fathers, and was buried in Tirzah, & Elah his sonne reigned in his stead.

7 And also by the hand of Jehu the sonne of Hanani the prophet, came the word of the Lorde to Baasha, and to his house, that he should be like the house of Jeroboam, euen for all the wickednesse that hee did in the sight of the Lorde, in prouoking him with the worke of his hands, and because hee killed <sup>c</sup> him,

8 <sup>c</sup> In the six and twentie yere of Asa King of Iudah began Elah the sonne of Baasha to reigne ouer Israel in Tirzah, and reigned <sup>c</sup> two yere.

9 And his seruant Zimri, capitaine of halfe his charrets, conspired against him, as he was in Tirzah <sup>e</sup> drinking, till hee was drunken in the house of Arza steward of his house in Tirzah.

10 And Zimri came and smote him and killed him in the seuen and twentie yere of Asa King of Iudah, and reigned in his steade.

11 And when he was King, and sate on his throne, he slewe all the house of Baasha, not leauing thereof one to pisse agaynst a wall, neither of his kinsfolkes nor of his friends.

12 So did Zimri destroy all the house of Baasha, according to the worde of the Lorde which he spake agaynst Baasha by the hand of Jehu the <sup>f</sup> prophet,

13 For all the sinnes of Baasha, and sinnes of Elah his sonne, which they sinned and made Israel to sinne, and pro-

uoked the Lorde God of Israel with their vanities.

14 And the rest of the actes of Elah, and all that he did, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel?

15 <sup>g</sup> In the seuen and twenty yere of Asa king of Iudah did Zimri reigne seuen daies in Tirzah, and the people was then in campe against Gibbethon, which belonged to the <sup>g</sup> Philistines,

16 And the people of the hoste heard say, Zimri hath conspired, and hath also slaine the king. Wherefore all Israel made Omri the capitaine of the hoste, king ouer Israel that same day, [euen] in the hoste.

17 Then Omri went by from Gibbethon, and all Israel with him, & they besieged <sup>h</sup> Tirzah.

18 And when Zimri saw, that the cite was taken, he went into the palace of the kings house, and <sup>i</sup> burnt himselfe, the kings house with fire, and so died,

19 For his sinnes which he sinned, in doing that which is euill in the sight of the Lorde, in walking in the way of Jeroboam, and in his sinnes which he did, causing Israel to sinne.

20 And the rest of the actes of Zimri, and his treason that hee wrought, are they not written in the booke of <sup>j</sup> the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel?

21 Then were the people of Israel deuided into two partes: [for] halfe the people followed Tibni the sonne of Ginath to make him King, and the other halfe followed Omri.

22 But the people <sup>k</sup> which followed Omri, preuailed against the people that followed Tibni the sonne of Ginath: so Tibni dyed, and Omri reigned.

23 In the one and thirtieth yere of Asa king of Iudah began Omri to reigne ouer Israel, and reigned <sup>k</sup> twelue yere. Six yere reigned he in Tirzah.

24 And hee bought the mountaine <sup>l</sup> Samaria of one Shemer for two talents of siluer, & built in the mountaine, and called the name of the cite, which hee built, after the name of Shemer, lord of the mountaine, Samaria.

25 But Omri did euill in the eyes of the Lorde, and did <sup>l</sup> worse then all that were before him.

26 For hee walked in all the way of Jeroboam the sonne of Nebat, and in his sinnes wherewith he made Israel to sinne in prouoking the Lorde God of Israel.

29 Nowe Ahab the sonne of Omri began to reigne ouer Israel in the eight and thirtie yeere of Asa king of Iudah: and Ahab the sonne of Omri reigned ouer Israel in Samaria two and twentie yeere.

30 And Ahab the sonne of Omri did worke in the sight of the Lorde then all that were before him.

31 For was it a light thing for him to walke in the finnes of Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat, except hee tooke Jezabel also the daughter of Eth-baal King of the Zidonians to wife, and went and serued Baal, and worshipped him?

32 Also he reared vp an altar to Baal in the house of Baal, which he had built in Samaria.

33 And Ahab made a groue, and Ahab proceeded, and did prouoke the Lorde GOD of Israel more then all the Kings of Israel that were before him.

34 In his dayes did Ihiel the Bethelite build Jericho: he layd the foundation thereof in Abiram his eldest sonne, and let vp the gates thereof in his yongest sonne Segub according to the worde of the Lord which he spake by Joshua the sonne of Nun.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Elias forwarneth of the famine to come. 4 He is fed of rauens. 9 He is sent to Zarephath, where hee rethorseth his hostelle sonne to life.

And Elias the Tishbite one of the inhabitants of Gilead said vnto Ahab, *As the Lord God of Israel liueth, before whom I stand, there shall be neither dew nor raine these yerres, but according to my word.

2 And the worde of the Lord came vnto him, saying,

3 So hence, and turne thee Eastward, and hide thy selfe in the river Cherith, that is ouer against Iordan.

4 And thou shalt drinke of the river: and I haue commanded the rauens to feede thee there.

5 So he went and did according vnto the word of the Lord: for hee went, and remained by the river Cherith that is ouer against Iordan.

6 And the rauens brought him bread and flesh in the morning, and bread and flesh in the euening, and he dranke of the river.

7 And after a while the river dried vp, because there fell no raine vpon the earth.

8 And the word of the Lord came vnto him, saying,

9 *Up, and get thee to Zarephath, which is in Zidon, and remaine there: beholde, I haue commanded a widowe there to sustaine thee.

10 So hee arose, and went to Zarephath: and when hee came to the gate of the citie, beholde, the widowe was there gathering stickes: and hee called her, and saide, Bring me, I pray thee, a little water in a vessel, that I may drinke.

11 And as shee was going to fet it, hee called to her, and saide, Bring mee, I praye thee, a morsell of bread in thine hande.

12 And shee saide, As the Lorde thy God liueth, I haue not a cake, but euen an handful of meale in a barrell, and a little oyle in a cruse: and beholde, I am gathering a fewe stickes for to goe in, and dresse it for mee and my sonne, that wee may eate it, and die.

13 And Elias saide vnto her, Feare not, come, do as thou hast said, but make me thereof a little cake first of all, & bying it vnto me, & afterwarde make for thee, and thy sonne.

14 For thus saith the Lorde God of Israel, The meale in the barrell shall not bee wasted, neither shall the oyle in the cruse bee diminished, vnto the time that the Lorde sende rayne vpon the earth.

15 So he went, & did as Elias saide, and hee did eate: so did he and her house for a certaine time.

16 The barrell of the meale wasted not, nor the oyle was spent out of the cruse, according to the word of the Lord, which he spake by the hand of Elias.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 Eliash is sent to Ahab. 13 Obadiah hideth an hundred Prophets. 40 Eliash killeth all Baals prophets. 45 He obayeth rayne.

After many dayes, the worde of the Lord came to Eliash, in the thirde yere, saying, Goe, shew thy self vnto Ahab, and I will send raine vpon the earth.

a After that he departed from the river Euphrat.

2 And Eliash went to shew himselfe vnto Ahab, and [there was] a great famine in Samaria.

b God had begun to worke his feare in his heart, but had not yet brought him to that knowledge, which is also requisite of the godly that is, to profess his name openly.

3 And Ahab called Obadiah the gouernour of his house: (for Obadiah feared God greatly:

4 For when Iezabel destroyed the Prophets of the Lord, Obadiah tooke an hundred Prophets, and hid them, by fiftie in a caue, and hee fed them with bread and water.)

5 And Ahab laide vnto Obadiah, Go into the lande, vnto all the fountaines of water, & vnto all the riuers, if so bee that wee may finde grasse to saue the horses and the mules aloue, lest wee deprue [the land] of the beasts.

6 And so they decuded y<sup>e</sup> land betwene them to walke through it. Ahab went one way by him selfe, & Obadiah went another way by himselfe.

7 And as Obadiah was in the way, beholde, Eliash met him: and he kneebe him, and fell on his face, and said, Art not thou my lord Eliash?

c God pitties oft times the wicked for the goodies sake, & caries Eliash to meete with Obadiah, that the benefite might be knowne to be granted for Gods children sake.

8 And he answered him, Yea, go tell thy lord, Beholde, Eliash [is here.]

9 And he laide, what haue I sinned, that thou wouldest deliuer thy seruant into the hand of Ahab, to slay me?

10 As the Lord thy God liueth, there is no nation or kingdome, whither my lord hath not sent to seeke thee: and when they sayd, he is not here, he tooke an othe of the kingdome and nation, if they had not found thee.

11 And now thou sayest, Goe, tell thy lord, Beholde, Eliash [is here.]

12 And when I am gone from thee, the Spirit of the Lord that carry thee in to some place y<sup>e</sup> I do not know: so when I come and tell Ahab, if he can not finde thee, then will he kill me: But I thy seruant feare the Lord from my youth.

d I am none of the wicked persecuters, that thou shouldest procure vnto me such displeasure, but ferue God and fauour his children.

13 Was it not tolde my lord, what I did when Iezabel slewe y<sup>e</sup> Prophets of the Lord, how I hid an hundred me of y<sup>e</sup> Lords Prophets by fifties in a caue, and fed them with bread and water?

14 And now thou sayest, Goe, tel thy lord, Beholde, Eliash [is here.] that he may slay me.

15 And Eliash said, As y<sup>e</sup> Lord of hosts liueth, before whome I stande, I will surely shew my selfe vnto him this day.

16 So Obadiah went to meete Ahab, and tolde him: and Ahab went to meete Eliash.

e By my presence I will declare that thou hast told him the truth.

17 And when Ahab sawe Eliash, Ahab laide vnto him, Art thou he that troubleth Israel?

18 And hee answered, I haue not troubled Israel, but thou, and thy fathers house, in that ye haue forsaken the commandements of the Lord, and thou hast followed Baalim.

19 Now therefore stand, and gather to me all Israel vnto mount Carmel, and the prophets of Baal foure hundred & fiftie, & the prophets of the groves foure hundred, which eate at Iezabels table.

f The true ministers of God ought not any way not to suffice the wrath to be vniuilly slandered, but to reponse boldly the wicked flanders without respect of person.

20 So Ahab sent vnto all the children of Israel, and gathered the prophets together vnto mount Carmel.

21 And Eliash came vnto all the people, and laide, Holbe long & halt ye be betwene two opinions: If the Lord be God, followe him: but if Baal be he, then goe after him. And the people answered him not a worde.

g Be constant in religion, and make it not as a thing indifferent where thou se followe God or Baal, or whither ye ferue God wholly or in part, 7ep<sup>h</sup>. 1. 5.

22 Then said Eliash vnto the people, G.iii.

I only remaine a Prophet of the Lord: but Baals prophets are foure hundredth and fiftie men.

23 Let the therefore giue vs two bullocks, and let them chuse the one, and cut him in pieces, and lay him on the wood, but put no fire vnder, and I will prepare the other bullocke, and lay him on the wood, and will put no fire vnder.]

24 Then call yee on the name of your god, and I will call on the Name of the Lord: and then the God that answereth by fire, let him be God. And all the people answered, and said, It is well spoken.

25 And Eliash layde vnto the prophets of Baal, Chuse you a bullocke, and prepare him first, (for ye are many) and call on the name of your gods, but put no fire vnder.]

26 So they tooke one bullocke, that was giuen them, & they prepared it, and called on the name of Baal, from morning to noone, saying, O Baal, heare vs: but there was no voyce, nor any to answer: and they leapt vpon the altar that was made.

27 And at noone Eliash mocked the, and sayde, Crie loude: for he is a god: either hee talketh or purfueth [his enemies,] or is in his iourney, or it may bee that he sleepeth, and must be awaked.

28 And they cried loud, & cut theiues as their maner was, w kinnes & launcers, till the blood gushd out vpon the.

29 And when midday was passed, and they had prophesied vntill the offering of the euening sacrifice, there was neyther voyce, nor one to answer, nor any that regarded.

30 And Eliash layde vnto all the people, Come to me. And all the people came to him. And hee repaired the altar of the Lord that was broken downe.

31 And Eliash tooke twelue stones, according to the number of the tribes of the sonnes of Iaakob, (vnto whom the worde of the Lord came, saying, * Israel shall be thy name)

32 And with stones he built an altar in the name of the Lord: and he made a ditch round about the altar, as great as would containe two measures of seede.

33 And he put the wood in order, and hewed the bullocke in pieces, and layd him on the wood.

34 And saide, Fill foure barrels with water, and poure it on the burnt offering and on the wood. Again he sayd, Do so againe. And they did so the second time.

And he said, Doe it the thirde time. And they did it the third time.

35 And the water ranne round about the altar: and he filled the ditch with water also.

36 And when they shoulde offer the euening sacrifice, Eliash the Prophet came, and said, Lord God of Abraham, Izhak & of Israel, let it be known this day, & thou art the God of Israel, & that I am thy seruāt, and that I haue done all these things at thy commandement.

37 Heare me, O Lord, heare me, and let this people knowe that thou art the Lord God, and that thou hast turned their heart againe at the last.

38 Then the fire of the Lord fell, and consumed the burnt offering, & the wood, and the stones, and the dust, and licked vp the water that was in the ditch.

39 And when all the people sawe it, they fell on their faces, and saide, The Lord is God, the Lord is God.

40 And Eliash layde vnto them, Take the prophets of Baal, let not a man of them escape. And they tooke them, and Eliash brought them to the brooke Kishon, and slewe them there.

41 And Eliash layde vnto Ahab, Get thee vp, eate and drinke, for [there is] a sound of much raine.

42 So Ahab went vp to eate and to drinke, and Eliash went vp to the top of Carmel: & he crouched vnto the earth, and put his face betwene his knees,

43 And saide to his seruāt, Goe by nowle and looke towarde the way of the Sea. And he went vp, and looked, and saide, There is nothing. Again he said, Goe againe: seuen times.

44 And at the seuenth time he sayd, Beholde, there ariseth a litle cloude out of the sea like a mans hande. Then hee layde, Up, and lay vnto Ahab, Make ready [thy charret,] and get thee downe, that the raine stay thee not.

45 And [in] the meane while the heauen was blacke with cloudes & winde, and there was a great raine. Then Ahab went vp and came to Izeel.

46 And the hand of the Lord was on Eliash, and he girded by his loynes, and ran before Ahab til he came to Izeel.

6 And when he looked about, behold, there was a cake baken on the coles, and a pottle of water at his head: so he did eate and drinke, and returned and slept.

7 And the Angel of the Lord came againe the seconde time, and touched him, and saide, Up, and eate: for thou hast a great iourney.

8 Then he arose, and did eate and drinke, and walked in the strength of that meate fourtie dayes and fourtie nights, vnto horez the mount of God.

9 And there he entered into a caue, and lodged there: and beholde, the Lord spake to him, and saide vnto him, what doest thou here, Elias?

10 And he answered, I haue bene very ielous for the Lord God of hostes: for the children of Israel haue forsaken thy covenant, broken downe thine altars, and slaine thy prophets with the sword, and I onely am left, and they seeke my life to take it away.

11 And he sayde, Come out, and stand vpon the mount before the Lord. And behold, the Lord went by, and a mighty strong winde rent the mountaines, and brake the rockes before the Lord: but the Lord was not in the winde: and after the winde came an earthquake: but the Lord was not in the earthquake.

12 And after the earthquake came fire: but the Lord was not in the fire: & after the fire came a still and soft voyce.

13 And when Elias heard it, he co- uered his face with his mantell, and went out, and stood in the entring in of the caue: and beholde, there came a voyce vnto him, and sayde, what doest thou here, Elias?

14 And he answered, I haue bene

very ielous for the Lord God of hostes, because the children of Israel haue for- saken thy covenant, cast downe thine altars and slaine thy prophets with the sword, and I onely am left, and they seeke my life to take it away.

15 And the Lord said vnto him, Go, returne by the wilderness vnto Damas- cus, and when thou comest [there], anoint hazael king ouer Aram.

16 And Jehu the sonne of Nimshi shalt thou anoint king ouer Israel: and Elifha the sonne of Shaphat of Abel Beholiah shalt thou anoint to bee prophet in thy rounne.

17 And him that escapeth from the sword of hazael, shall Jehu slay: and him that escapeth from the sword of Jehu, shall Elifha slay.

18 Yet will I leaue seuen thousand in Israel, [euery] al the knees that haue not bowed vnto Baal, and euery mouth that hath not kissed him.

19 So he departed thence, and founde Elifha the sonne of Shaphat who was plowing with twelue yoke of oxen before him, and was with y himselfe: and Elifha went towards him, and cast his mantel vpon him.

20 And he left the oxen, and ran after Elias, & said, Let me, I pray thee, kisse my father & my mother, & then I will folow thee, who answered him, Go, re- turne: for what haue I done to thee?

21 And when he went backe againe from him, he tooke a couple of oxen, and slewe them, and sod their flesh with the instruments of the oxen, and gaue vnto the people, and they did eate: then he arose and went after Elias, and min- stred vnto him.

CHAP. XX.

1 Samaria is besieged. 13 The Lord promitteth the victo- rie to Ahab by a prophet. 31 The king of Israel made peace with Ben-hadad, and is reproued therefore by the prophet.

Then Ben-hadad the King of Aram assembled all his armie, and two and thirtie Kinges with him, with hozes, and charrets, & went vp and besieged Samaria, and fought against it.

2 And he sent messengers to Ahab King of Israel, into the citie,

3 And saide vnto him, Thus sayeth Ben-hadad, Thy silver and thy gold is mine: also thy women, and thy faire children are mine.

4 And the king of Israel answered, and

<sup>5</sup> And when the messengers came againe, they layde, Thus commaundeth Ben-hadad, and sayeth, when I shall sende vnto thee, and commaunde, thou shalt deliuer me thy siluer and thy gold, and thy women, and thy children.

<sup>6</sup> ¶ He I will sende my seruants vnto thee by to morow this time: & they shall search thine house, and the houses of thy seruants: and whatsoever is pleasant in thine eyes, they shall take it in their handes, and bring it away.

<sup>7</sup> Then the king of Israel sent for all the Elders of the lande, and saide, Take heede, I pray you, & see how he seeketh mischiefe: for he sent vnto me for my wines, & for my children, & for my siluer, and for my gold, and I denyed him not.

<sup>9</sup> Wherefore he said vnto the messengers of Ben-hadad, Tell my lord <sup>5</sup> king, All that thou desirest send for to thy seruant at the first time, that I will doe, but this thing I may not doe. And <sup>5</sup> messengers departed, and brought him an answer.

<sup>10</sup> And Ben-hadad sent vnto him, and saide, The gods doe so to me and more also, if the <sup>6</sup> dust of Samaria be enough to all the people that folowe me, for euery man an handful.

<sup>11</sup> And the King of Israel answered, and saide, Tell him, Let not him that girdeth his harness, boast himself, as he that putteth it off.

<sup>12</sup> And when he heard that tidings, as he was with the Kings drinking in the pavilions, he said vnto his seruants, [Bring forth your engines,] and they set them against the citie.

<sup>13</sup> ¶ And behold, there came a Prophet vnto Ahab King of Israel, saying, Thus sayeth the Lord, Hast thou seene all this great multitude? behold, I will deliuer it into thine hande this day, that thou maist know, that I am the Lord.

<sup>14</sup> And Ahab said, By whome? And he saide, Thus saith the Lord, By the seruants of the princes of the prouinces. He said againe, What shall order the battle? And he answered, Thou.

<sup>15</sup> ¶ Then he nombred the seruants of the princes of the prouinces, and they were two hundred, two and thirtie: and after them he nombred the whole people of all the childre of Israel, [euen]

seuen thousand.

<sup>16</sup> And they went out at noone: but Ben-hadad did drinke till he was drunken in the tentes, [both] he and <sup>7</sup> kings: [for] two and thirtie kings helped him.

<sup>17</sup> So the <sup>8</sup> seruants of the princes of the prouinces went out first: and Ben-hadad sent out, and they shewed him, saying, There are men come out of Samaria.

<sup>18</sup> And he sayde, whether they bee come out for peace, take them aliuie: or whether they be come out to fight, take them yet aliuie.

<sup>22</sup> [For] there had come a Prophet to the king of Israel, and had saide vnto him, Soe, be of good courage, and consider, and take heede what thou doest: for when the yeere is gone about, the king of Aram will come by against thee.

<sup>23</sup> ¶ Then the seruants of the king of Aram sayde vnto him, Their <sup>12</sup> gods are gods of the mountaines, and therefore they ouercome vs: but let vs fight against them in the plaine, and doubtles we shall overcome them.

<sup>25</sup> And now thy selfe an armie, like the armie that thou hast lost, with such hostes, and such charrets, and we will fight against them in the plaine, & doubtles we shall overcome them: and hee hearkened vnto their voyce, and did so.

<sup>27</sup> And the children of Israel were nombred, and were all assembled and went against them, and the children of Israel pitched before them, like two little flocks of kiddes: but the Aramites filled the countrey.

¶Or, & caught
it of him.

o He is aliue.

33 Nowe the men tooke diligent heede, if they coulde catch any thing of him, and made haste, and sayde, Thy brother Ben-hadad. And he said, Goe, bring him. So Ben-hadad came out vnto him, and he caused him to come vp vnto the charret.

34 And Ben-hadad said vnto him, The cities, which my father tooke fro thy father, I wil restore, and thou shalt make threetes for thee in Damascus, as my father did in Samaria. Then sayde Ahab, I will let thee goe with this couenant. So he made a couenant with him, and let him goe.

38 So the Prophet departed, and waited for the king by the way, and disguised himself with ashes vpon his face.

39 And when the king came by, he cryed vnto the king, and sayde, Thy seruant went into the middes of the battell: and beholde, there went away a man, whome [another] man brought vnto me, and said, Keepe this man: if he be lost, & wat, thy life shall goe for his life, or els thou shalt pay a talent of siluer.

8 Jezebel commandeth to kill Naboth, for the vineyard that he refused to sell to Ahab, 19 Elijah reproveth Ahab, and he repenteth.

¶ After these things Naboth the Jezreelite had a vineyarde in Jezreel, hard by the palace of Ahab king of Samaria.

¶Or, at this time.

2 And Ahab spake vnto Naboth, saying, Give mee thy vineyarde, that I may make me a garden of herbes therof, because it is nere by mine house: & I will giue thee for it a better vineyard the it is: or if it please thee, I will giue thee the worth of it in money.

a Though A-

by the holy Spirit, yet he was not so rigorous that he would take from another man his right without full recompence.

3 And Naboth sayde to Ahab, The Lord keepe me from giuing the inheritance of my fathers vnto thee.

4 Then Ahab came into his house heauie and in displeasure, because of the word which Naboth the Jezreelite had spoken vnto him, for he had said, I will not giue thee the inheritance of my fathers, and he lay vpon his bed and turned his face and would eate no bread.

5 Then Jezebel his wife came to him and saide vnto him, why is thy spirit so sad that thou eatest no bread?

they cannot

6 And he sayde vnto her, Because I spake vnto Naboth the Jezreelite, & said vnto him, Give me thy vineyard for money, or if it please thee, I will giue thee [another] vineyard for it: but he answered, I will not giue thee my vineyarde.

7 Then

7 Then Jezebel his wife layde vnto him, Doeſt thou not be gouerne the kingdome of Iſrael: bp. eate bread, and be of good cheere, I will giue thee the vineyarde of Naboth the Iſreelite.

8 So ſhe wrote letters in Ahabs name, and ſealed them with his ſeale, and ſent the letters vnto the Elders, and to the nobles that were in his cite dwelling with Naboth.

9 And ſhe wrote in þ letters, ſaying, Proclaime a faſt, and ſet Naboth among the chiefe of the people,

10 And ſet two wicked men before him, and let them witneſſe againſt him, ſaying, Thou diddeſt blaſpheme God and the King: then carie him out, and ſtone him that he may die.

11 And the men of his cite, [euen] the Elders and gouernours, which dwelt in his cite, did as Jezebel had ſent vnto them: as it was written in the letters, which ſhe had ſent vnto them.

12 They proclaimed a faſt, and ſet Naboth among the chiefe of the people,

13 And there came two wicked men, and ſate before him: and the wicked men witneſſed againſt Naboth in the preſence of the people, ſaying, Naboth did blaſpheme God and the King. Then they caried him alway out of the cite, & ſtoned him with ſtones, that he dyed.

14 Then they ſent to Jezebel, ſaying, Naboth is ſtoned and is dead.

15 And when Jezebel heard that Naboth was ſtoned and was dead, Jezebel layde to Ahab, Up, [and] take poſſeſſion of the vineyarde of Naboth the Iſreelite, which he reſuſed to giue thee for money: for Naboth is not aliue, but is dead.

16 And when Ahab heard that Naboth was dead, he roſe to goe downe to the vineyarde of Naboth the Iſreelite, to take poſſeſſion of it.

17 And the word of the Lord came vnto Eliah the Tiſbite, ſaying,

18 Ariſe, goe downe to meete Ahab king of Iſrael, which is in Samaria. lo, he is in þ vineyarde of Naboth, whither he is gone downe to take poſſeſſion of it.

19 Therefore ſhalt thou ſay vnto him, Thus ſayeth the Lord, Haſt thou killed, and alſo gotten poſſeſſion: And thou ſhalt ſpeake vnto him, ſaying, Thus ſayeth the Lord, In the place where dogges licked the blood of Naboth, ſhal dogges like euen thy blood alſo.

20 And Ahab ſayde to Eliah, haſt

thou founde mee, & mine enemy: And he answered, I haue found [thee]: for thou haſt ſolde thy ſelfe to worke wickedneſſe in the light of the Lord.

21 Beholde, I will bring euil vpon thee, and will take away thy poſteritie, and will cut off from Ahab him that piſſeth againſt the wall, as ſaith him þ

But by, as him that is left in Iſrael, and I will make thine houſe like the houſe of Jeroboam the ſonne of Nebat, and like the houſe of Zaſaſha the ſonne of Ahiab, for the prouocation wherewith thou haſt prouoked, and made Iſrael to ſinne.

24 The dogges ſhall eate him of Ahabs ſtocke, that dyeth in the cite: and him that dyeth in the fieldes, ſhall the foules of the aire eate.

25 But there was none like Ahab, who did ſell him ſelfe, to worke wickedneſſe in the light of the Lord: whom Jezebel his wife prouoked.

26 For he did exceeding abominably in following idoles, according to all that the Amozites did, whome the Lord caſt out before the children of Iſrael.

27 Nowe when Ahab heard thoſe wordes, he rent his clothes, and put ſackerloth vpon him and faſted, and lay in ſackerloth and went ſoftly.

28 And the word of the Lord came to Eliah the Tiſbite, ſaying,

29 Seeſt thou howe Ahab is humbled before me: becauſe he ſubmitteth him ſelfe before me, I wil not bring that euil in his dayes, [but] in his ſonnes dayes will I bring euil vpon his houſe.

f Hearing the false prophets which were flatterers and feared for liars, whom Zedekiah had aske and kept after the death of those whom Elias slew.

g Jehoshaphat did not acknowledge the false prophets to be Gods ministers, but did contemne them.

h Whereby we see that the wicked can not abide to heare the truth, but hate the Prophets of God and molest them.

i Reade Gen. 37. 36. k In their kingly apparel.

l The true Prophets of God were accustomed to use signes for the confirmation of their doctrine, Isa. 20. 1. Ier. 7. 2. wherein the false prophets did imitate them, thinking thereby to make their doctrine more commendable.

m This is the common argument of the wicked, who thinke that none should speake against a thing, if the greater part appoynted it, be they neuer so ungodly.

4 And he sayde vnto Jehoshaphat, Wilt thou go with me to battell against Ramoth Gilead? And Jehoshaphat sayd vnto the king of Israel, I am as thou art, my people as thy people, and mine horses as thine horses.

5 Then Jehoshaphat sayd vnto the king of Israel, Aske the counsell, I pray thee, of the Lord to day.

6 Then the king of Israel gathered the Prophets vpon a foure hundred men, and layd vnto them, Shall I goe against Ramoth Gilead to battell, or shall I let it alone? And they sayde, Goe vp: for the Lord shall deliuer it into the hands of the king.

7 And Jehoshaphat sayd, Is there here neuer a Prophet of the Lord more, that we might inquire of him?

8 And the king of Israel sayde vnto Jehoshaphat, There is yet one man (Michaiah the sonne of Iimiah) by whome we may aske counsaile of the Lord, but I hate him: for he doeth not prophesie good vnto me, but euill. And Jehoshaphat sayde, Let not the king say so.

9 Then the king of Israel called an Eunuche, and sayde, Call quickly Michaiah the sonne of Iimiah.

10 And the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat the king of Iudah late either [of them] on his thorne in their apparel in the boyde place at the entring in of the gate of Samaria, and all the prophets prophesied before them.

11 And Zidkiah the sonne of Chenanah made him hornes of iron, and said, Thus saith the Lord, With these shalt thou push the Aramites, vntill thou hast consumed them.

12 And all the Prophets prophesied so, saying, Goe vp to Ramoth Gilead, and prosper: for the Lord shall deliuer it into the kings hand.

13 And the messenger that was gone to call Michaiah spake vnto him, saying, Beholde now, the wordes of the Prophets [declare] good vnto the king with one accord: let thy worde therefore, I pray thee, be like the worde of one of them, and speake thou good.

14 And Michaiah sayd, As the Lord liueth, whatsoeuer the Lord saith vnto me, that will I speake.

15 So he came to the king, and the king sayd vnto him, Michaiah, shall we go against Ramoth Gilead to battell, or shall we leaue off? And he answered him, So bp, and prosper: and the Lord shall deliuer it into the hand of the king.

16 And the king sayd vnto him, How oft shall I charge thee, that thou tel me nothing but that which is true in the Name of the Lord?

17 Then he sayd, I sawe all Israel scattered vpon mountains, as sheepe that had no shepheard. And the Lord sayd, These haue no master, let euery man retorne vnto his house in peace.

18 And the king of Israel sayd vnto Jehoshaphat, Did I not tell thee, that he would prophesie no good vnto me, but euill?

19 Again he sayd, Heare thou therefore the worde of the Lord. I sawe the Lord sit on his thorne, and all the hoste of heauen stood about him on his right hand and on his left hand.

20 And the Lord said, Who shall entise Ahab that he may go and fall at Ramoth Gilead? And one sayd on this manner, and another sayd on that manner.

21 Then there came forth a spirit, and stood before the Lord, and said, I will entise him. And the Lord said vnto him, Where with?

22 And he sayd, I will goe out, and be a false spirit in the mouth of all his prophets. Then he sayd, Thou shalt entise him, and shalt also preuaile: goe forth, and doe so.

23 Now therefore beholde, the Lord hath put a lying spirit in the mouth of all these thy prophets, and the Lord hath appointed euill against thee.

24 Then Zidkiah the sonne of Chenanah came neere, and smote Michaiah on the cheeke & sayd, When went the Spirit of the Lord from me, to speake vnto thee?

25 And Michaiah sayd, Behold, thou shalt see in that day, when thou shalt go from chamber to chamber to hide thee.

26 And the king of Israel said, Take Michaiah, and carie him vnto Amon the gouernour of the citie, and vnto Joash the kings sonne.

27 And say, Thus saith the king, But this man in the prison house, and feede him with bread of affliction, and with water of affliction, vntill I retorne in peace.

28 And Michaiah sayde, If thou retorne in peace, the Lord hath not spoken by me. And he sayd, Hearken all ye people.

29 So the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat

n He speaketh this in derision, because the King attributed so much to the false prophets, meaning that by experience he should wite that they were but flatterers.

o It is better they retorne home, then to be punished & scattered, because they take warre in hand without Gods counsell and approbation.

32 And when the captaines of the charrets saw Jehoshaphat, they said, Surely it is the king of Israel, and they turned to fight against him: and Jehoshaphat cryed.

33 And when the captaines of the charrets sawe that he was not the king of Israel, they turned backe from him.

34 Then a certaine man dwelbe a bove mightily and smote the king of Israel betwene the toyns of his brigandine. wherefore he sayde vnto his charret man, Turne thine hand & carie me out of the hoste: for I am hurt.

35 And the battell encreased that day, and the king floode still in his charret against the Aramites, and dyed at even: and the blood ran out of the wound into the middes of the charret.

36 And there went a proclamacon throughout the hoste about the going downe of the sunne, saying, Every man to his cite, and every man to his owne countrey.

37 So the king dyed, & was brought to Samaria, and they buried the king in Samaria.

38 And one washed the charret in the poole of Samaria, and the dogs licked by his blood, (and) they washed his armour) according vnto the worde of the Lord which he spake.

39 Concerning the rest of the actes of Ahab and all that he did, and the vnuen house, which he built, and all the cities that he built, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel:

40 So Ahab slept with his fathers, & Ahaziah his sonne reigned in his stead.

41 And Jehoshaphat the sonne of Asa began to reigne vpon Judah in the fourth yeere of Ahab king of Israel.

42 Jehoshaphat was sixe and thirtie yeere olde, when he began to reigne, and reigned sixe and twentie yere in Ierusalem. And his mothers name was Azubah the daughter of Shilhi.

43 And he walked in all the wayes of Asa his father, and declined not therefrom, but did that which was right in the eyes of the Lord. Neuertheles the hie places were not taken away: for the people offered still and burnt incense in the hie places.

44 And Jehoshaphat made peate with the king of Israel.

45 Concerning the rest of the actes of Jehoshaphat, and his worthe deeds that he did, and his battels which he fought, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah:

46 And the Sodomites, which remained in the dayes of his father Asa, he put cleane out of the land.

47 There was then no king in Edom: the deputie was king.

48 Jehoshaphat made shippes of Charbilly to saile to Ophir for golde, but they went not, for the shippes were broken at Ezion Gaber.

49 Then sayd Ahaziah the sonne of Ahab vnto Jehoshaphat, Let my seruants go with thy seruants in the ships. But Jehoshaphat would not.

50 And Jehoshaphat did sleepe with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the cite of Dauid his father, and Jehoram his sonne reigned in his stead.

51 Ahaziah the sonne of Ahab began to reigne ouer Israel in Samaria, the seuenteenth yeere of Jehoshaphat king of Judah, and reigned two yeeres ouer Israel.

52 But he did euill in the sight of the Lord, and walked in the way of his father, and in the way of his mother, and in the way of Jeroboam the sonne of Nebat, which made Israel to sinne.

53 For he serued Baal and worshipped him, and prouoked the Lord God of Israel vnto wrath, according vnto all that his father had done.

The second booke of the Kings.

THE ARGUMENT.

THis second booke containeth the actes of the Kings of Iudah and Israel: to wit, of Israel, from the death of Ahab vnto the last King Hoshea, who was imprisoned by the King of Assyria, and his citie Samaria taken, and the ten tribes by the iust plague of God for their idolatrie and disobedience to God led into captiuitie. And also of Iudah, from the reigne of Iehoram sonne of Iehoshaphat vnto Zedechia, who for contemning the Lordes commaundement by his Prophets, and neglecting his sundrie admonitions by famine and other meanes, was taken by his enemies, sawe his sonnes most cruelly slaine before his face, and his owne eyes put out, as the Lorde had declared to him before by his Prophet Ieremie: and also by the iust vengeance of God for contempt of his worde Ierusalem was destroyed, the Temple burnt, and he and all his people wered led away captiues into Babylon. In this booke are notable examples of Gods fauour towards those rulers and people which obey his Prophets and embrace his worde: and contrariwise, of his plagues towards those common weales which neglect his ministers and doe not obey his commandements.

CHAP. I.

Against Isracel after the death of Ahab:

<sup>2</sup> And <sup>a</sup> Ahaziah fell through <sup>b</sup> lattesse window in his vypper chamber which was in Samaria: so he was sicke: then he sent messengers, to whom he sayd, Go, and enquire of <sup>b</sup> Baalzebub the god of Ekron, if I shall recouer of this my disease.

<sup>3</sup> Then the Angel of the Lord said to Eliiah the Tishbite, Arise, and goe vp to meete the messengers of the king of Samaria, and say vnto them, Is it not because there is no God in Isracel, that ye go to enquire of Baalzebub the god of Ekron:

<sup>5</sup> And the messengers returned vnto him, to whom he sayd, why are ye now returned:

<sup>6</sup> And they answered him, There came a man and met vs, and sayde vnto vs, Goe, [and] returne vnto the king which sent you, and say vnto him, Thus saith the Lord, <sup>d</sup> Is it not because there is no God in Isracel, that thou sendest to enquire of Baalzebub the god of Ekron: Therefore thou shalt not come downe from the bed, on which thou art gone vp, but shalt die the death.

<sup>7</sup> And he sayd vnto them, what manner of man was he which came and met you, and tolde you these wordes:

<sup>8</sup> And they said vnto him, he was an heauie man, and girded with a girdle of lether about his loynes. Then sayde he, It is Eliiah the Tishbite.

<sup>9</sup> Therefore the King sent vnto him a captaine ouer fiftie with his fiftie men, who went vp vnto him: for behold, he sate on the top of a mountaine, and he sayde vnto him, O man of God, the King hath commaunded [that] thou come downe.

<sup>10</sup> But Eliiah answered, and sayde to the captaine ouer the fiftie, If thou be a man of God, let fire come downe from the heauen, and deuoure thee and thy fiftie. <sup>e</sup> So fire came downe from the heauen and deuoured him and his fiftie.

<sup>12</sup> But Eliiah answered, and sayde vnto them, If I be a man of God, let fire come downe from the heauen, and deuoure thee and thy fiftie. So fire came downe from the heauen, and deuoured him and his fiftie.

<sup>13</sup> Yet againe he sent the third captaine ouer fiftie with his fiftie. And the thirde captaine ouer fiftie went vp and came, and fel on his knees before Eliiah, and besought him, and sayd vnto him, O man of God, I pray thee, let my life and the life of these thy fiftie seruants be precious in thy sight.

<sup>15</sup> And the Angel of the Lorde sayd vnto Eliiah, Goe downe with him, be not afraide of his presence. So he arose, and went downe with him vnto the King,

<sup>l</sup> That is, spare my life and let me not die as the other two, in thus the Lorde giueth boldnes to his that they feare not the threatenings of captiues, which otherwise of them felices are afraid to doe Gods message.

n Jehoshaphat going to battle against <sup>g</sup> Syrians, made his sone Iehoram king in the 17. yeere of his reigne: and in the 18. yeere, which was the second yeere of his sone, Iehoram & Iahaz reigned in Iericho: and in the fift yeere of this Iehoram, Jehoshaphat dyed & the kingdom of Iudah was continued to his sone.

16 And he sayd vnto him, Thus saith the Lorde, Because thou hast sent messengers to inquire of Baal-zebub the god of Ekron, Was it not because there was no God in Israel to inquire of his worde? therefore thou shalt not come downe of the bed, on which thou art gone vp, but shalt dye the death.

17 So he dyed according to the worde of the Lorde which Eliah had spoken. And Iehoram began to reigne in his stead, in the second yeere of Iehoram the sone of Jehoshaphat king of Iudah, because he had no sone.

18 Concerning the rest of the actes of Ahaziah, that he did, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel:

CHAP. II.

8 Eliah deuiceth the waters with his cloke, 11 He is taken vp into heauen, 13 Eliahs takers his cloke and deuiceth Jordan, 20 The bitter and denemous waters are healed, 23 The children that mocke Eliahs, are rent in pieces with beares,

And when the Lorde would take by Eliah into heauen by a whirle winde, Eliah went with Elisha from <sup>a</sup> Gilgal.

2 Then Eliah sayd to Elisha, Tarie here, I pray thee: for the Lorde hath sent me to Beth-el. But Elisha sayd, As the Lord liueth, and as thy soule liueth, I will not leaue thee. So they came downe to Beth-el.

3 And the <sup>b</sup> children of the prophets that were at Beth-el, came out to Eliahs, and sayd vnto him, Knowest thou that the Lord wil take thy master from <sup>c</sup> thine head this day? And he sayd, Yea, I knowe it: holde ye your peace.

4 Againe Eliah sayd vnto him, Eliahs, tarie here, I pray thee: for the Lord hath sent me to Jericho. But he sayde, As the Lorde liueth, and as thy soule liueth, I will not leaue thee. So they came downe to Jericho.

5 And the children of the prophets that were at Jericho, came to Eliahs, and sayd vnto him, Knowest thou, that the Lorde will take thy master from <sup>d</sup> thine head this day? And he sayd, Yea, I knowe it: holde ye your peace.

6 Forouer Eliah sayd vnto him, Tarie, I pray thee, here: for the Lord hath sent me to Jordan. But he sayde, As the Lorde liueth, and as thy soule liueth, I will not leaue thee. So they went both together.

7 And fiftie men of the formes of the prophets went and stode on the other side as farre off, and they two stode by Jordan.

8 Then Eliah tooke his cloke, and wrapt it together, and smote the <sup>e</sup> waters, and they were deuided hither and thither, and they twaine went ouer on the drie land.

9 Now when they were passed ouer, Eliah sayd vnto Elisha, Alke what I shall doe for thee before I be taken from thee. And Elisha sayd, I pray thee, Let thy Spirit <sup>f</sup> be double vpon me.

10 And he sayd, Thou hast asked an hard thing: yet if thou see me when I am taken from thee, thou shalt haue it so: and if not, it shall not be.

11 And as they went walking and talking, beholde, there appeared a chariot of fire, and hoxles of fire, and did separate them twaine. <sup>g</sup> So Eliah went by by a whirle winde into <sup>h</sup> heauen.

12 And Eliahs, he cryed, My father, my father, the chariot of Israel, and the hoxlesmen thereof: and he salve him no more: and he tooke his <sup>i</sup> olbne clothes, and rent them in two pieces.

13 He tooke by also the cloke of Eliah that fell from him, and returned, and stode by the banke of Jordan.

14 After, he tooke the cloke of Eliah, that fell from him, and smote the waters, and sayd, Where is the Lorde God of Eliahs? And so he also, after he had striken the waters, so that they were deuided this way & that way, went ouer, <sup>j</sup> euen Eliahs.

15 And when the children of the prophets, which were at Jericho, saw him on the other side, they sayd, The Spirit of Eliahs doeth rest on Eliahs: and they came to meete him, and fel to the ground before him.

16 And sayd vnto him, Beholde now, there be with thy seruants fiftie strong men: let them go, we pray thee, & seeke thy <sup>k</sup> master, if so be the Spirit of the Lord hath taken him vp, and cast him vpon some mountaine, or into some valley. But he sayd, He shall not fend.

17 Yet they were instant vpon him, till he was ashamed: wherefore he sayd, Send. So they sent fiftie men, which sought thre dayes, but found him not.

18 Therefore they returned to him, (for he taried at Jericho) & he sayd vnto them, Did not I say vnto you, So not?

19 And the men of the citie said vnto Eliahs, Behold, we pray thee: the situation of this citie is pleasant, as thou, my lord, f To wit, of Jordan.

g Let thy Spirit be double vpon me, because of these dangerous times: or let me haue twice so much as the rest of the prophets: or thy Spirit being deuided into three partes, let me haue two.

lord, seek, but the water [is] naught, and the ground barren.

20 Then he saide, Bring me a newe cruse, & put salt therin. And they brought it to him.

21 And he went vnto the spring of the waters, and cast there<sup>m</sup> the salt, & saide, Thus saith <sup>p</sup> Lord, I haue healed this water: death shall no more come there of, neither barrennes [to the ground.]

22 So the waters were healed vntill this day, according to the word of Elisha which he had spoken.

23 And he went vp from thence vnto Beth-el. And as he was going vp the way, litle children came out of the cite, and mocked him, and said vnto him, Come vp, thou bald head, come vp, thou bald head.

24 And he turned backe, and looked on them, and<sup>m</sup> cursed them in the name of the Lord. And two beares came out of the forest, and tare in pierces two and fourtie children of them.

25 So he went from thence to mount Carmel, and from thence he returned to Samaria.

Nebe Jehoram the sonne of Ahab began to reigne ouer Israel in Samaria, <sup>p</sup> eighteenth yere of Jehoshaphat king of Iudah, & reigned welue yeres.

2 And he wrought euill in the sight of the Lord, but not like his father nor like his mother: for he tooke away <sup>p</sup> image of Baal that his father had made.

3 Neuertheles, he cleaued vnto<sup>b</sup> the finnes of Jeroboam, the sonne of Nebat, which made Israel to sinne, [and] departed not therefrom.

4 And when <sup>p</sup> Betha king of Moab had stole of sheepe, and rendered vnto the king of Israel an hundred thousand lambs, and an hundred thousand rammes with the wooll.

5 But when Ahab was dead, the king of Moab rebelled against the king of Israel.

6 Therfore king Jehoram went out of Samaria the same season, and nombed all Israel.

7 And went, & sent to Jehoshaphat king of Iudah, saying, The king of Moab hath rebelled against me: wilt thou go with mee to battell against Moab?

And he answered, I wil go by: for I am, as thou art, my people, as thy people, [and] mine horses as thine horses.

8 Then said he, what way shall we go by? And he answered, The way of the wilderness of Edom.

9 So went the king of Israel and the king of Iudah, and the king of Edom, and when they had compassed the way seven dayes, they had no water for the horse, nor for the cattell that followed them.

10 Therefore the king of Israel said, Alas, that the Lord hath called these three kings, to giue them into the hand of Moab.

11 But Jehoshaphat saide, Is there not here a prophete of the Lord, that we may inquire of the Lord by him? And one of the king of Israels seruants answered, & said, here is Elisha the sonne of Shaphat, which <sup>p</sup> powred water on the handes of Eliab.

12 Then Jehoshaphat saide, & The word of <sup>p</sup> Lord is with him. Therefore the king of Israel, & Jehoshaphat, and the king of Edom went downe to him.

13 And Elisha said vnto <sup>p</sup> king of Israel, what haue I to do with thee: get thee to the prophets of thy father and to the prophets of thy mother. And the king of Israel said vnto him, I say: for the Lord hath called these three kings, to giue them into the hand of Moab.

14 Then Elisha said, As the Lord of hostes liueth, in whose sight I stand, if it were not, that I regarde the presence of Jehoshaphat the king of Iudah, I would not haue looked toward thee, nor seene thee.

15 But now bring me a minstrel. And when the minstrel played, the hand of the Lord came vpon him.

16 And he said, Thus saith the Lord, Make this valley full of ditches.

17 For thus saith the Lord, Ye shall neither see winde nor see raine, yet the valley shall be filled with water, that ye may drinke, [both] ye and your cattell, and your deastles.

18 But this is a small thing in the sight of the Lord: for he will giue Moab into your hand.

19 And ye shall smite euery strong towne and euery chiefe cite, and shall fell euery faire tree, & shall stop all the fountaines of water, and<sup>m</sup> marre euery good helde with stones.

offring was offred, beholde, there came water by the way of Edom: and the country was filled with water.

21 And when all the Moabites heard that the kings were come by to fight against them, they gathered all that was able to put on harness, and bpward, and stood in their border.

22 And they rose early in the morning, when the sunne arose vpon the water, and the Moabites saide the water ouer against them, as red as blood.

23 And they said, This is blood: the kings are surely slaine, and one hath smitten another: now therefore, Moab, to the spoile.

24 And when they came to the hoste of Israel, the Israelites arose vp, and smote the Moabites, so that they fled before them, but they inuaded them, and smote Moab.

25 And they destroyed the cities: and on all the good fieldes every man cast his stone, and filled them, and they ftopt all the fountains of water, and felled all the good trees: onely in Kir-haraseth left they the stones thereof: howbeit they went about it with slings, and smote it.

26 And when the king of Moab saw that the battell was too sore for him, he tooke with him seuen hundred men that drew the sword, to brake through vnto the king of Edom: but they could not.

27 Then hee tooke his eldest sonne, that should haue reigned in his steade, and offered him for a burnt offering vpon the wall: so that Israel was sore grieved, and they departed from him, and returned to their country.

CHAP. IIII.

4 God increaseth the oyle to the poore in house by Elisha. 12 Hee obtaineth for the Shunammite a sonne at Gods hande. 18 Who dyng, 32 Hee raiseth him vp againe. 40 Hee maketh swere the portage, 42 and multiplieth the loanes.

And one of the wiues of the sonnes of the Prophets cried vnto Elisha, saying, Thy seruant mine husbände is dead, and thou knowest, that thy seruant did beare the Lorde: and the creditoure is come to take my two sonnes to be his bondmen.

2 Then Elisha saide vnto her, What shall I do for thee: tell mee, what hast thou at home: And she sayde, Thine handmayde hath nothing at home, save a pitcher of oyle.

3 And he saide, Goe, and borrow thee vessels abroade of all thy neighbours, empty vessels, and spare not.

4 And when thou art come in, thou shalt shut the doore vpon thee and vpon thy sonnes, and poure out into all those vessels and let abide those that are full.

5 So she departed from him, and shutteth the doore vpon her, and vpon her sonnes. And they brought to her, and she poured out.

6 And when the vessels were full, she saide vnto her sonne, Bring me yet a vessel. And he saide vnto her, There is no more vessels. And the oyle ceased.

7 Then she came and told the man of God. And he said, Go, and sell the oyle, and pay them that thou art in debt vnto, and liue thou and thy childre of the rest.

8 And on a time Elisha came to Shunem, and there a woman of great estimation constrained him to eat bread: and as he passed by, he turned in thither to eate bread.

9 And he said vnto her husbände, Beholde, I knowe now, that this is an holie man of God that passeth by vs continually.

10 Let vs make him a little chamber, I pray thee, with walles, and let vs set him there a bed and a table and a stoole, and a candlestick, that he may turne in thither when he cometh to vs.

11 And on a day, he came thither and turned into the chamber, & laye therein.

12 And saide to Gehazi his seruant, Call this Shunammite: and when hee called her, she stood before him.

13 Then he said vnto him, Say vnto her now, Behold, thou hast had all this great care for vs, what shall we do for thee: Is there any thing to be spoken for thee to the king or to the captaine of the hoste: And she answered, I dwell among mine owne people.

14 Againe he said, What is then to be done for her: Then Gehazi answered, In deed she hath no sonne, and her husbände is olde.

15 Then said he, Call her. And he called her, and she stood in the doore.

16 And he said, At this time appointed, according to the time of life, thou shalt embrace a sonne. And she said, Oh my lord, thou man of God, do not lie vnto thine handmaide.

17 So the woman conceived, and bare a sonne at that same season, according to the time of life, that Elisha had sayde vnto her.

18 And when the child was growen, it fell on a day, that hee went out to his father,

The Prophet declared hereby vnto her, that God neuer faileth to provide for his seruants, their wives and children, if they trust in him.

To augment and increase in the vessels.

God here did not onely provide for his seruants, but his wives should be payed, and so kept his doctrine and provision without slander, but also for his wife and children.

Which should be separate from the rest of the house, that he might be more commodiously give himselfe to studie, and prayers.

Thus the seruants of God are not unthankfull for the benedictions they receive.

I am content with that that God hath sent me, and can want nothing that one can be for another.

Which then was a reproch and therefore he would that his matter should pay to God for her that he might be fruitful.

25 ¶ So she went, and came vnto the man of God to moist Carmel. And when the man of God saue her [ouer against him], he saide to Gehazi his seruant, <sup>t</sup> Beholde, the Shunammite.

26 Runne now, I say, to meete her, and say vnto her, <sup>u</sup> Art thou in health: is thine husbände in health: [and] is the childe in health: And she answered, <sup>v</sup> We are in health.

27 And when she came to the man of God vnto the mountaine, he taught him by his feete: and Gehazi went to her, to thrust her away: but the man of God said, <sup>w</sup> Let her alone: for her soule is bared within her, and the Lorde hath hid it from me, and hath not tolde it me.

28 ¶ Then he said, Did I desire a sone of my lord: did I not say, <sup>x</sup> Deceiue me not:

29 Then he said to Gehazi, <sup>y</sup> Gide thy loynes, and take my staffe in thine hand, and go thy way: <sup>z</sup> if thou meete any, salute him not: and if any salute thee, answere him not: and lay my staffe vpon the face of the childe.

30 And the mother of the childe said, <sup>a</sup> As the Lord liueth, and as thy soule liueth, I will not leave thee. Therefore he arole, and followed her.

31 But Gehazi was gone before them, and had layed the staffe vpon the face of the childe, but he neither spake nor heard: wherefore he returned to meet him, and told him, saying, <sup>b</sup> The childe is not wake.

32 ¶ Then came Elifha into [his] house, and beholde, the childe was dead, and layed vpon his bed.

33 He went in therefore, and shut the doore vpon them twaine, and prayed vnto the Lord.

34 After hee went by, and lay vpon the childe, and put his mouth on his mouth, and his eyes vpon his eyes, and his handes vpon his handes, and stretched him selfe vpon him, and the flesh of the childe waxed warme.

35 And he went from him, and walked by and downe in the house, & went by and spied him selfe vpon him: then the childe neede [seuen times], and opened his eyes.

36 Then he called Gehazi, and saide, Call this Shunammite. So hee called her, which came in vnto him. And hee said vnto her, <sup>c</sup> Take thy sone.

37 And she came, and fell at his feete, and bowd her selfe to the ground, and tooke by her sone, and went out.

38 Afterward Elifha returned to Silgal, and a famine was in the land, and the children of the prophets dwelt with him. And he saide vnto his seruant, <sup>d</sup> Set on the great pot, and see the pottage for the children of the prophets.

39 And one went out into the field, to gather herbes, and found, [as it were], a wilde vine, and gathered thereof wilde gourds his garment full, and came and thred them into the pot of pottage: for they knew it not.

40 So they potyzed out for the men to eate: and when they did eate of the pottage, they cried out, and said, <sup>e</sup> O thou man of God, death [is] in the pot: and they could not eate [thereof].

41 Then he saide, <sup>f</sup> Bring meale. And he cast it into the pot, and saide, <sup>g</sup> Potyze out for the people, that they may eate: and there was none euill in the pot.

42 ¶ Then came a man from Baal-hathisa, and brought the man of God bread of the first frutes, [even] twentie loaves of barley, and full eares of come in the bushe. And he said, <sup>h</sup> Gide vnto the people, that they may eate.

43 And his seruant answered, <sup>i</sup> Howe should I let this before an hundred men: he saide againe, <sup>j</sup> Gide it vnto the people, that they may eate: for thus saith [the] Lord, They shal eat, and there shal remaine.

44 So he set it before them, and they did eate, and left ouer, according to the word of the Lord.

NOwe was there one Naaman captain of the hoste of the King of Aram, a great man, and honourable in the sight of his lord, because that by him the Lord had delivered the Aramites. He also was a mightie man [and] valiant, [but] a leper.

2 And the Aramites had gone out by bandes, and had taken a litle mayde of the land of Israel, and she served Naamans wife.

3 And shee sayde vnto her mistres, Would God my lord [were] with the Prophet that is in Samaria, he would soone deliuer him of his leprosie.

4 And he went in, and tolde his lord, saying, Thus and thus saith the mayde that is of the land of Israel.

5 And the king of Aram said, Go thy way thither, and I will send a letter vnto the king of Israel. And he departed, and tooke with him ten talents of siluer, and six thousand [pieces] of golde, and ten change of rayments.

6 And brought the letter to the king of Israel to this effect, Now whē this letter is come vnto thee, vnderstand, that I haue sent thee Naamā my seruante, that thou mayest heale him of his leprosie.

7 And when the king of Israel had read the letter, hee rent his clothes, and saide, Am I God, to kill and to giue life, that he doeth send to mee, that I should heale a man from his leprosie? Wherefore consider, I pray you, and see how he seeketh a quarrell against me.

8 But when Elifha the man of God had heard that the king of Israel had rent his clothes, he sent vnto the king, saying, Wherefore hast thou rent thy clothes? Let him come now to me, and he shall know, that there is a Prophet in Israel.

9 Then Naaman came with his hoxes, and with his charers, and stood at the doore of the house of Elifha.

10 And Elifha sent a messenger vnto him, saying, Go and wash thee in Iordan seven times, & thy flesh shall come againe to thee, and thou shalt be cleansed.

11 But Naaman was wroth, & went away, and saide, Behold, I thought with my selfe, he will surely come out, and stand, and call on the name of the Lord his God, and put his hand on the place, and heale the leprosie.

12 Are not Abanah and Pharpar, rivers of Damascus, better then all the waters of Israel: may I not wash me in them, and be cleansed: so he turned, and departed in displeasure.

13 But his seruants came, and spake vnto him, and said, Father, if the Prophet had commanded thee a great thing, wouldest thou not haue done it: holde much rather then, when he saith to thee, Wash, and be cleane:

14 Then went he downe, & washed himselfe seven times in Iordan, according to the saying of the mā of God: and his flesh came againe, like vnto the flesh of a litle childe, and he was cleane.

15 And he turned againe to the man of God, he, and all his companie, and came and stood before him, and said, Beholde, now I knowe that there is no God in all the world, but in Israel: now therefore, I pray thee, take a reward of thy seruant.

16 But he saide, As the Lord liueth (before whome I stand) I will not receive it. And he would haue constrained him to receive it, but he refused.

17 Moreover Naaman saide, Shall there not be giuen to thy seruant two mules load of this earth: for thy seruant will henceforth offer neither burnt sacrifice, nor offering vnto any other god, saue vnto the Lord.

18 Herein the Lord be mercifull vnto thy seruant, that when my master goeth into the house of Rimmon, to worship there, and leaneth on mine hand, and I bowe my selfe in the house of Rimmon: when I do bow downe, [I say,] in the house of Rimmon, the Lord be mercifull vnto thy seruant in this point.

19 Vnto whom he said, Go in peace. So he departed from him about halfe a dayes iourney of ground.

20 And Gehazi the seruant of Elifha the mā of God, said, Behold, my master hath spared this Aramite Naaman, receiving not those things at his hand that he brought: as the Lord liueth, I will run after him, & take somewhat of him.

21 So Gehazi folowed speedily after Naaman. And when Naaman sawe him running after him, he light downe from the charret to meete him, and said, Is all well?

22 And he answered, All is well: my master hath sent me, saying, Beholde, there be come to mee, euen now from mount Ephraim two yong men of the children of the Prophets: giue them, I pray thee, a talent of siluer, & two change of garments.

g This declar-eth that seruants ought to reuerence and loue their masters as children their fathers, and like wise masters toward their seruants must be affectioned as toward their children, Luke 4.27.

26 But he said vnto him, I went not mine heart with thee: when the man turned againe from his charret to meete thee: Is this a time to take money, and to receive garments, and oliues, and vineyards, and sheepe, and open, & men seruants, and mayd seruants?

p To be an example to all such, as by wholfe countour Gods woide might be slandered,

CHAP. VI.

6 Elisha maketh yon to swimme about the water. 8 Hee closeth the king of Syriass counsell to the king of Israel, 13 Elisha sending certaine to take him, were kept fast in Samaria, 24 Samaria is besieged and endureth extreme famine.

AND the children of the Prophets said vnto Elisha, Behold, we pray thee, the place where we dwell with thee, is too little for vs.

a D a piece of wood fit to build with,

2 Let vs now go to Iordan, that we may take thence euery man a beame, and make vs a place to dwell in. And he answered, Go.

3 And one said, Vouchsafe, I pray thee, to go with thy seruants, and he answered, I will go.

4 So he went with them, & when they came to Iordan, they cut downe wood.

h Or, the axe head.

5 And as one was felling of a tree, the yron fell into the water: then he cried, and said, Alas master, it was but bozowed.

b God wrought this miraculously to confirme the au thoritie of Elisha, to whom he had giuen such abundance of his Spirit,

6 And the man of God saide, where fell it: And he shewed him the place. Then he cut downe [a piece] of wood, and cast in thither, and he caused the yron to swimme.

c Speaking, that he would lie in ambush and take the Israelites at vniuerses,

7 Then he said, Take it vp to thee. And he stretched out his hand, & tooke it.

8 Then the king of Aram warred against Israel and tooke counsell with his seruants, and sayd, In such & such a place [shalt] my campe.

9 Therefore the man of God sent vnto

the king of Israel, saying, Beware thou goe not ouer to such a place: for there the Aramites are come downe.

10 So the king of Israel sent to the place which the man of God tolde him, and warned him of, and saved himselfe from thence, not once, nor twise.

d The wicked conspire no thing to crafslye, but God can reuel it to his seruants and cause their counsell to be distilled, 11 And the heart of the king of Aram was troubled for this thing: therefore he called his seruants & saide vnto them, will ye not shewe me, which of vs be warieth our counsell [to the king of Israel]?

12 Then one of his seruants saide, None, my lord, & King, but Elisha the Prophet that is in Israel, & taught the king of Israel, [euen] the wordes that thou speakest in thy priue chamber.

e There is no thing so secret that thou canst go about, but he knoweth it, and discouereth it vnto his king.

13 And he said, Go, and espie where he is, that I may send and fetch him. And one told him, saying, Beholde, [he is] in Dothan.

f Though it had bene no thing in mans iudgement to haue taken to Elisha, yet the wicked cure doubt: I thinke they are neuer able to prepare power enough though it be but against one, or a fewe, g For he was assured of Gods helpe, and that mil lions of Angels camped about the godly to deliuer them.

14 So he sent thither horses, & charrets, & a nightie hoste: and they came by night, and compassed the cite.

15 And when the seruant of the man of God arose early to go out, behold, an hoste compassed the cite with horses and charrets. Then his seruant saide vnto him, Alas master, how shall we do?

16 And he answered, Feare not: for they that be with vs, are more then they that be with them.

17 Then Elisha prayed, & said, Lord, I beseech thee, open his eyes, that he may see. And the Lord opened the eyes of the seruant, and he looked, & beholde, the mountaine was full of horses and charrets of fire round about Elisha.

h That he may beholde howe thou hast prepared an arme to rescue vs.

18 So they came downe to him, but Elisha prayed vnto the Lord, and saide, Smite this people, I pray thee, with blindness. And he smote the with blindness, according to the word of Elisha.

19 And Elisha said vnto them, This is not the way, neither is this the cite: folowe me, and I will leade you to the man whom ye seeke. But he led them to Samaria.

i Speaking, the Syrians his enemies, which came downe, thinking themselves sure of him.

20 And when they were come to Samaria, Elisha said, Lord, open their eyes that they may see. And the Lord opened their eyes, and they saide, and beholde, [they were] in the mids of Samaria.

k Thus he did bring led by the Spirit of God & not because he thought his owne reuenge, amer, but only to see forth the glory of God.

21 And the king of Israel said vnto Elisha when he saide them, My father, shall I smite them, shall I smite them?

l The wicked be reuerent & graue wordes towarde the seruants of Gods, when they thinke to haue any clemencie by them, though in their heart they can not abide them,

22 And he answered, Thou shalt not smite them: doest thou not smite them that thou hast taken with thy sword, & with

With thy bolue: [but] set bread and water before them, that they may eate and drinke and go to their master.

23 And he made great preparation for them: and when they had eaten & drunken, he sent them away: and they went to their master. So the bands of Aram came <sup>m</sup> no more into the land of Israel.

24 But afterward Ben-hadad king of Aram gathered all his hoste, & went by, and besieged Samaria.

25 So there was a great famine in Samaria: for loe, they besieged it untill an asses head was at fourescore [pieces] of siluer, and the fourth part of a kab of dooues <sup>n</sup> doung at five [pieces] of siluer.

26 And as <sup>p</sup> king of Israel was going vpon the wall, there cryed a woman vnto him, saying, Helpe, my lord, O king.

27 And he saide, [Seeing] the Lorde doeth not succour thee, howe should I helpe thee with the <sup>o</sup> barne, or with the wine presse?

28 Also the king said vnto her, what ayleth thee? And she answered, This woman said vnto me, Gue thy sonne, that we may eate him to day, & we will eate my sonne to morow.

29 * So we sod my sonne, and did eate him: and I saide to her the day after, Gue thy sonne, that we may eate him, but she hath hid her sonne.

30 And when the king had heard the wordes of the womā, he rent his clothes, (and as he went vpon the wall, the people looked, and behold, he had lackecloth || withim || vpon his flesh.)

31 And he saide, God do so to me and more also, if the head of Elisba the sonne of Shaphat shall stand on him this day.

32 (Now Elisba sate in his house, and the Elders sate with him) And <sup>p</sup> king sent a man before him: [but] before the messenger came to him, he saide to <sup>p</sup> Elders, See ye not how this <sup>q</sup> murderers sone hath sent to take away mine head: take heede when the messenger cometh, [and] shut the doore and handle him roughly at the doore: is not the sound of his masters fete behind him?

33 While he yet talked with them, behold, the messenger came downe vnto him, and saide, Beholde, this euill cometh of the Lord: should I attend on the Lord any longer?

CHAP. VII.

1 Elisba prophesieth plentie of vitale and other things to Samaria. 6 The Syrians runne away, and haue no man following them. 17 The prince that would not beleue the wordes of Elisba is troden to death.

hen Elisba said, heare ye the word of the Lord: thus saith the Lord, <sup>a</sup> To morowe this time a measure of fine flour shall be sold for a shekel, and two measures of barley for a shekel in the gate of Samaria.

2 Then a prince, on whose hand the king <sup>b</sup> leaned, answered <sup>p</sup> man of God, and saide, Though the Lorde would make windowes in the heauen, coulde this thing come to passe? And he saide, Behold, thou shalt see it with thine eyes, but thou shalt not <sup>d</sup> eate thereof.

3 Nowe there were foure leprose men at the <sup>e</sup> entering in of the gate: and they saide one to another, why sit we here vntill we dye?

4 If we say, We will enter into the citie, the famine is in the citie, & we shall dye there: and if we sit here, we dye also. Nowe therfore come, and let vs fall into the campe of the Aramites: if they saue our liues, we shall liue: and if they kill vs, we are but dead.

5 So they rose vp in the twilight, to go to the campe of the Aramites: and when they were come to the vtmost part of the campe of the Aramites, lo, there was no man there.

6 For the Lord had caused the campe of the Aramites to heare a noyle of charrets and a noyle of horses, [and] a noyle of a great armie, so that they saide one to another, Beholde, <sup>p</sup> king of Israel hath hired against vs the kings of <sup>p</sup> hittites, and the kings of the Egyptians to come vpon vs.

8 And when these lepers came to the vtmost part of the campe, they entred into one tent, and did eate and drinke, and caried thence siluer and gold, & raiment, and went & hid it: after they returned, and entred into another tent, and caried thence [also], and went and hid it.

9 Then saide one to another, We do not well: this day is a day of good tidings, and we hold our peace, if we tary till day light, some <sup>i</sup> mischief will come vpon vs. Now therfore come, let vs go, and tell the kings household.

10 So they came, and called vnto the porters of the citie, & tolde them, saying, We came to the campe of the Aramites, and lo, there was no man there, neither voyce

<sup>m</sup> For this gentle increase and the miracle wrought by <sup>p</sup> prophet, did more preuaile for common quietnes, then if they had bene overcome in battell: for they returned no more at that time to fight against Israel, or in that Kings dayes.

Deut. 28. 53, 57.

<sup>e</sup> For it was commanded in the lawe that they shoulde dwell apart & not among their brethren, Levit. 13. 46.
<sup>g</sup> The wicked neede no greater enemy then their owne conscience to punish them.

boyce of man, but hoxes tyed and asses tyed: and the tentes are as they were.

11 And the porters cryed and declared to the kings house within.

12 Then the king arose in the night, and said vnto his seruantes, <sup>b</sup> I will shew you now, what the Aramites haue done vnto vs. They knowe that we are assaulted, therefore they are gone out of the campe to hide them selues in the field, saying, when they come out of the citie, we shall catche them aliuie, and get into the citie.

13 And one of his seruants answered, and saide, Let men take nowe siue of the hoxes that remaine, and are left in the citie, behold, they are euen as all the multitude of Israel that are left therein: behold, I say, they are as the multitude of the Israelites that are consumed, and we will send to seee.

14 So they tooke two charets of hoxes, and the king sent after the hoxes of the Aramites, saying, Go and see.

15 And they went after them vnto Jordan, & lo, al the way was ful of clothes and beffels which the Aramites had cast from them in their haste: and the messengers returned and tolde the king.

16 Then the people went out & spoyled the campe of the Aramites: so a measure of fine flour was at a shekel, & two measures of barley at a shekel according to the word of the Lord.

17 And the king gaue the prince (on whose hand he leaned) the charge of the gate, and the people trode vpon him in the gate, and he died, as the man of God had said, which spake it, when the king came doo vnto him.

18 And it came to passe, as the man of God had spoken to the king, saying, Two measures of barley at a shekel, & a measure of fine flour shall be at a shekel, to mozo vnto about this time in the gate of Samaria.

19 But the prince had answered the man of God, & said, Though the Lord would make windowes in the heauen, coulde it come so to passe: And he sayde, Beholde, thou shalt see it with thine eyes, but thou shalt not eate thereof.

20 And so it came vnto him: for the people trode vpon him in the gate, & he dyed.

CHAP. VII.

1 Elifha prophesied vnto the Shunammite the deatch of seuen yeres. 2 The prophesie to Hazael that he shal be king of Syria. 3 The reigne after Ben-hadad. 4 Jehozan reigne ouer Iudah. 5 Omri fallen from Iudah. 6 Hazael succedeth Jehozan.

Then spake Elifha vnto the woman, whose sonne he had restored to life, saying, Up, and go, thou, and thine houle, & sojourn where thou canst sojourn: for the Lord hath called for a famine, and it cometh also vpon the land seuen yeres.

2 And the woman arose, and did after the saying of the man of God, & went both she and her household and sojourned in the land of the Philistines seuen yeres.

3 And at the seuen yeres end, the woman returned out of the land of the Philistines, and went out to call vpon the king for her houle and for her land.

4 And the king talked with Gehazi the seruante of the man of God, saying, Tell me, I pray thee, at the great actes, that Elifha hath done.

5 And as he told the king, how he had restored one dead to life, behold, the woman, whose sonne he had rayled to life, called vpon the king for her houle & for her land. Then Gehazi said, My lord, O king, this is the woman, & this is her sonne, whom Elifha restored to life.

6 And when the king asked the woman, she told him: so the king appointed her an Eunuche, saying, Restore thou all that are hers, and all the frutes of her lands since the day she left the land, euen vntill this time.

7 Then Elifha came to Damascus, and Ben-hadad the king of Aram was sicke, and one told him, saying, The man of God is come hither.

8 And the king said vnto Hazael, Take a present in thine hand, and go meete the man of God, that thou mayst inquire of the Lord by him, saying, Shall I recover of this disease?

9 So Hazael went to meete him, and tooke the present in his hand, and of euery good thing of Damascus, (euen the burden of fourtie camels, and came and stood before him, and saide, Thy sonne Ben-hadad king of Aram hath sent me to thee, saying, Shall I recover of this disease?

10 And Elifha said to him, Go, [and] say vnto him, Thou shalt recover: howbeit the Lord hath shewed me that he shall surely dye.

11 And he looked vpon him stedfastly till Hazael was ashamed, and the man of God wept.

a Where thou canst find a commodious place to dwell, where as is plenty.

b That is, to complaine on them which had taken her possessions while he was absent.

c Gods wonderful promise appeared in this that he caused the king to be desirous to heare of him, whom before he contemned, and also hereby prepared an entrance to the poore widows suite.

d The king caused that to be iustly restored which was wrongfully gotten from her.

l As the people meate out of the gate to runne to the Assyrians tents where they had heard was meate, and great spoyle left.

12 And Hazeal saide, why weepeth my lord: And he answered, because I knowe the euill that thou shalt do vnto the children of Israel: for their strong cities shalt thou set on fire, & their yong men shalt thou slay with the sword, and shalt dash their infants against the stones, and rent in pecies their women with childe.

13 Then Hazeal saide, what: is thy seruant a dog, that I shoulde do this great thing: And Elisha answered, The Lord hath shewed me, that thou shalt be king of Aram.

14 So hee departed from Elisha, & came to his master, who saide to him, what saide Elisha to thee: And hee answered, he tolde me that thou shouldest recouer.

15 And on y morow he tooke a thicke cloth and dipt it in water, and spred it on his face, and he dyed: and Hazeal reigned in his stead.

16 Now in the fift yeere of Ioram the sonne of Ahab king of Israel, and of Jehoahaphat king of Iudah, Iehoram the sonne of Jehoahaphat king of Iudah began to reigne.

17 He was two and thirtie yeere olde, when he began to reigne: and hee reigned eight yeere in Ierusalem.

18 And he walked in the wayes of the kings of Israel, as did the house of Ahab: for the daughter of Ahab was his wife, & he did euill in the sight of the lord.

19 Yet the Lord would not destroy Iudah, for Dauid his seruants sake, as he had promised him to giue him a light [and] to his children for euer.

20 In those dayes Edom rebelled from vnder the hand of Iudah, & made a king ouer themselves.

21 Therefore Ioram went to Zair, and all his charrets with him, and he arose by night, and smote the Edonites which were about him with the captaines of the charrets, and the people fled into their tents.

22 So Edom rebelled from vnder the hand of Iudah vnto this day. then Libnah rebelled at that same time.

23 Concerning the rest of the actes of Ioram and all that he did, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Iudah:

24 And Ioram slept with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the cite of Dauid. And Ahaziah his sonne reigned in his stead.

25 In the twelth yeere of Ioram the sonne of Ahab king of Israel did Ahaziah the sonne of Iehoram king of Iudah begin to reigne.

26 Two and twentie yeere old was Ahaziah when he began to reigne, and he reigned one yeere in Ierusalem, and his mothers name was Athaliah the daughter of Omri king of Israel.

27 And he walked in the way of the house of Ahab, and did euill in the sight of the Lord, like the house of Ahab: for he was the sonne in lawe of the house of Ahab.

28 And he went with Ioram & sonne of Ahab to warre against Hazeal king of Aram in Ramoth Gilead, and the Aramites smote Ioram.

29 And king Ioram returned to be healed in Izeel of y woundes which the Aramites had giue him at Ramah, when hee fought against Hazeal king of Aram. And Ahaziah the sonne of Iehoram king of Iudah went doo vnto see Ioram the sonne of Ahab in Izeel, because he was sicke.

10 And the dogs shall eate Izebel in the felde of Izreel, and there shall be none to burie her, And he opened the doore, and fled.

11 ¶ Then Jehu came out to the seruants of his lord. And one sayd vnto him, Is all well: wherefore came this mad fellowe to thee: And he sayd vnto them, We know the man, and what his talke was.

12 And they sayd, It is false, tell vs it now. Then he sayd, Thus and thus spake he to me, saying, Thus saith the Lord, I haue anointed thee for King ouer Israel.

13 Then they made haste, and tooke euery man his garment, and put it vnder him on the top of the staires, & blew the trumpet, saying, Jehu is King.

14 So Jehu the sonne of Jehoshaphat the sonne of Nimshi conspired against Ioram (Nowe Ioram kept Ramoth Gilead, he and all Israel because of hazael king of Aram).

15 And * king Ioram returned to be healed in Izreel of the wounds, which the Aramites had giuen him, when he fought with hazael king of Aram) and Jehu sayd, If it be your nimbres, let no man depart and escape out of the citie, to go and tell in Izreel.

16 So Jehu gate vp into a charet, and went to Izreel: for Ioram lay there, and Ahaziah king of Iudah was come downe to see Ioram.

17 And the watchman that stood in the towre in Izreel, spied the compaignie of Jehu as he came, and sayd, I see a compaignie, And Jehoram sayd, Take a horseman and send to meete them, that he may say, Is it peace:

18 So there went one on horsebacke to meete him, and sayd, Thus saith the King, Is it peace: And Jehu sayde, What hast thou to do with peace: turne behinde me. And the watchman tolde, saying, The messenger came to them, but he cometh not againe.

19 Then he sent out another on horsebacke, which came to them, and sayd, Thus saith the King, Is it peace: And Jehu answered, What hast thou to doe with peace: turne behinde me.

20 And the watchman tolde, saying, He came to them [also,] but cometh not againe, and the marching is like the marching of Jehu & sonne of Nimshi: for he marcheth <sup>f</sup> furtiously.

21 ¶ Then Jehoram sayde, Take ready: and his charet was made ready, And Jehoram king of Israel and Ahaziah king of Iudah went out either of them in his charet against Jehu, & met him in the field of Naboth the Izeelite.

22 And when Jehoram saue Jehu, he sayd, Is it peace, Jehu: And he answered, What peace, whyles the whoredomes of thy mother Izebel, and her witchcraftes are yet in great number:

23 Then Jehoram turned his hand, and fled, and sayd to Ahaziah, O Ahaziah, there is treason.

24 But Jehu tooke a bow in his hand, and smote Jehoram betwene the shoulders, that the arrowe went through his heart: and he fell downe in his charet.

25 Then said Jehu to Ziskar a captaine, Take [and] cast him in some place of the field of Naboth the Izeelite: for I remember that when I and thou rode together after Ahab his father, the Lord layde this burden vpon him.

26 * Surely I haue seene yesterday the blood of Naboth, and the blood of his sonnes, sayd the Lord, & I will render it thee in this felde, saith the Lord: now therefore take [and] cast him in the field, according to the worde of the Lord.

27 But when Ahaziah the king of Iudah saue this, he fled by the way of the garden house: and Jehu pursued after him, and sayd, Smite him also in the charet: and they smote him in the going vp to Gur, which is by Ibleam. And he fled to Hegiddo, and there dyed.

28 And his seruants caried him in a charet to Ierusalem, and buried him in his sepulchre with his fathers in the citie of Dauid.

6 Iehu causeth the fouentie sonnes of Ahab to be slaine, 14
And after that fourtie and two of Ahaziahs brethren, 25 He killed also all the pyetts of Baal. 35 After his deathe his sonne reigne in his stead.

Ahab had now leuentie sonnes
in Samaria. And Iehu wrote letters, and sent to Samaria vnto the rulers of Izereel, and to the Elders, and to the bringers vp of Ahabs children, to this effect,

2 Nowe when this letter cometh to you, (for ye haue with you your masters sonnes, ye haue with you both charets and horses, and a defended citie, and armour)

3 Consider therefore which of your masters sonnes is best and most meete, and <sup>b</sup> let him on his fathers thron, and fight for your masters house.

4 But they were exceedingly afrayd, and sayd, Scholde, two kings could not stand before him, howe shall we then stand:

5 And he that was gouernour of Ahabs house, and he that ruled the citie,
and the Elders, and the bringers vp of the children sent to Iehu, saying, we are thy seruants, and will doe all that thou shalt bid vs: we will make no King: doe

what seemeth good to thee.

6 Then he wrote another letter to them, saying, If ye be mine, & will obey my voyce, <sup>c</sup> take the heads of the men [that are your masters sonnes, & come to me to Izezel by to morowe this tyme.
(Now the kings sonnes, [euene] leuentie persons [were] with the great men of the citie, which brought them by)

7 And when the letter came to them,
they tooke the kings sonnes, and slewe
the leuentie persons, and layde their heads in baskets, and sent them vnto him to Izezel.

8 Then there came a messenger & tolde him, saying, They haue brought the heads of your kings sonnes. And he said, Let them lay the on two heapes at the entring in of the gate vntil the morning.

9 And when it was day, he went out, and stoode and sayd to all the people, Be ye righteous: beholde, I conspired against my master, and slewe him: but who slewe all these?

10 Know nothe that there shall fall vnto the earth nothing of the worde of the Lorde, which the Lorde spake concerning the house of Ahab: for the Lorde hath brought to passe the things that he spake<sup>p</sup> by his seruant Eliah.

11 So Iehu slewe all that remained of the house of Ahab in Izezel, and all that were great with him, and his familiars, and his <sup>c</sup> pyetts, so that he let none of his remaine.

12 And he arose, and departed and came to Samaria. And as Iehu was in the way by an house where the shepheards did there,

13 He met with the brethren of Ahazi-ah king of Iudah, and said, who are ye:
And they answered, we are the brethren of Ahaziah, and go downe to salute the children of the king and the children of the Queene.

14 And he sayde, Take them aline.
And they tooke them aline, & slew them at the well beside the house where the sheepe are shorne, [euene] two and four-tie men, and he<sup>d</sup> left not one of them.

15 And when hee was departed thence, he met with Jehonadab sonne hand. And when he had giuen him his hand, he tooke him vp to him into the charret.

16 And he sayd, Come with me, and see the scale that I haue for the Lorde: so they made him ride in his charret.

17 And when he came to Samaria, he slewe all that remained vnto Ahab in Samaria, till he had destroyed him, according to the worde of the Lorde, which he spake to Eliah.

18 Then Jehu assembled all the people, and layd vnto them, Ahab serued Baal a little, but Jehu shall serue him much more.

19 Nowe therefore call vnto me all the prophets of Baal, all his seruants, and all his priestes, and let not a man be lacking: for I haue a great sacrifice for Baal: whosoever is lacking, he shall not liue. But Jehu did it by a subtiltie to destroy the seruants of Baal.

20 And Jehu sayd, †Proclaime a solemne assemblee for Baal. And they proclaimed it.

21 So Jehu sent vnto all Israel, & all the seruants of Baal came, & there was not a man left that came not. And they came into the house of Baal, & the house of Baal was full from ende to ende.

22 Then he layd vnto him that had the charge of the vestre, Bring forth vestments for all the seruants of Baal. And he brought them out vestments.

23 And when Jehu went, and Jehonadab the sonne of Rechab into †house of Baal, he sayde vnto the seruants of Baal, Search diligently, and looke, lest there be here with you any of the seruants of the Lorde, but the seruants of Baal onely.

24 And when they went in to make sacrifice and burnt offering, Jehu appointed fourscore men without, and sayd, If any of the men whome I haue brought into your hands, escape, [his soule] shalbe for his soule.

25 And when he had made an end of the burnt offering, Jehu sayde to the garde, and to the captaines, Goe in, slay them, let not a man come out. And they smote them with the edge of the sword. And the garde, and the captaines cast them out, & went vnto the †city, where was the temple of Baal.

26 And they brought out the images of the temple of Baal, and burnt them.

27 And they destroyed the image of Baal, & theyd downe the house of Baal,

and made a lakes of it vnto this day.

28 So Jehu destroyed Baal out of Israel.

29 But from the sinnes of Jeroboam the sonne of Nebat which made Israel to sinne, Jehu departed not from them, [neither from] the golden calves that were in Beth-el and that were in Dan.

30 And the Lord sayd vnto Jehu, Because thou hast diligently executed that which was right in mine eyes, [†] hast done vnto the house of Ahab according to all things that were in mine heart, [therefore] shall thy †sonnes vnto the fourth [generation] sit on the throne of Israel.

31 But Jehu regarded not to walke in the Law of the Lorde God of Israel with all his heart: [for] he departed not from the sinnes of Jeroboam, which made Israel to sinne.

32 In those dayes the Lord began to lothe Israel, and hazael smote them in all the coastes of Israel, 33 From Jordan Eastward, [euē] all the land of Gilead, the Gadites, and the Reubenites, and them that were of Danasseh, from Arzer (which is by the river Arnon) and Gilead and Bashan.

34 Concerning the rest of the actes of Jehu, and all that he did, and all his valiant deedes, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel:

35 And Jehu slept with his fathers, and they buried him in Samaria, & Jehoahaz his sonne reigned in his stead.

36 And the time that Jehu reigned ouer Israel in Samaria is eight and twentie yeeres.

count, the money that every man is set at, [and] all the money that one offereth willingly, and bringeth into the house of the Lord,

5 Let the Priests take it to them, every man of his acquaintance: and they shall repaie the broken places of the house, wheresoever any decay is found.

6 Yet in the three and twentieth yeere of king Jehoah the Priests had not mended that which was decayed in the Temple.

7 Then king Jehoah called for Jehoiaada the Priest, & the other Priests, and said unto them, Why repaie ye not the ruines of the Temple: nothe therefore receive no more money of your acquaintance, except ye deliver it to [repaie] the ruines of the Temple.

8 So the Priests consented to receive no more money of the people, neither to repaie the decayed places of the Temple.

9 Then Jehoiaada the Priest tooke a chest and bored an hole in the lid of it, and set it beside the altar, on the right side, as every man cometh into the Temple of the Lord. And the Priests that kept the doore, put therein all the money that was brought into the house of the Lord.

10 And when they sawe there was much money in the chest, the kings secretarie came vp and the hie Priest, and put it by after that they had toide the money that was found in the house of the Lord.

11 And they gaue the money made ready into the handes of them, that undertooke the worke, [and] that had the oversight of the house of the Lord: and they payed it out to the carpenters and builders that wrought vpon the house of the Lord,

12 And to the masons and helvers of stone, and to bye timber & helved stone, to repaie that was decayed in the house of the Lord, and for all that which was layd out for the reparation of the Temple.

13 Holbbeit there was not made for the house of the Lord bolbies of siluer, instruments of musike, basons, trumpets, nor any vessels of golde, or vessels of siluer of the money that was brought into the house of the Lord.

14 But they gaue it to the workemen, which repaired therewith the house of the Lord.

15 Howouer, they reckoned not with the men, into whose handes they delivered that money to be bestowed on workemen: for they dealt faithfully.

16 The money of the trespass offering and the money of the sinne offerings was not brought into the house of the Lord: [for] it was the Priests.

17 Then came by hazael king of Aram, and fought against Gath and tooke it, and hazael set his face to go by to Jerusalem.

18 And Jehoah king of Judah tooke all the halowed things that Jehoahaphat, and Jehoazam, and Ahaziah his fathers kings of Judah had dedicated, and that he himselfe had dedicated, and all the golde that was found in the treasures of the house of the Lord and in the kings house, and sent it to hazael king of Aram, & he departed from Jerusalem.

19 Concerning the rest of the actes of Joah, and all that hee did, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Judah:

20 And his seruantes arose and wrought treas, and New Joah in the house of Hillo, when hee came doivne to Silla:

21 Euen Jozachar the sonne of Shtmeath, & Jehozabad the sonne of Shomer his seruants smote him, and he died: and they buried him with his fathers in the cite of Dauid. And Amaziah his sonne reigned in his steade.

CHAP. XII.

3 Jehoahaz the sonne of Jehu is delivered into the handes of the Syrians. 4 He prayeth vnto God and is delivered, 5 Joah his sonne reigneth in his steade, 20 Elshaphath, 24 Hazael dyeth.

IN the three and twentieth yeere of Joah the sonne of Jehoahaz king of Judah, Jehoahaz the sonne of Jehu began to reigne ouer Israel in Samaria, [and he reigned] seuentee yere.

2 And hee did euill in the sight of the Lord, & followed the finnes of Jeroboam the sonne of Nebat, which made Israel to sinne, [and departed] not therefrom.

3 And the Lord was angry with Israel, and deliuered them into the hand of hazael king of Aram, and into the hand of Ben-hadad the sonne of hazael, all [his] dayes.

4 And Jehoahaz besought the Lord, and the Lord heard him: for hee sawe the trouble of Israel, wherewith the king of Aram troubled them.

5 And the Lord gaue Israel a deliverer, so that they came out from vnder the subiection of the Aramites. And the children of Israel dwelt in their tentes as before time.

1 After the death of Jehoahaz Joah fell to idolatry: therefore God reiecteth him, and striketh by his enemye against him, whome he pacified with the treasures of the Temple: for God would not be serued with these gifts, seeing the kings heart was wicked. 2 Because he had put Zacharie the sonne of Jehoahaz to death, 2 Chro. 24. 25. 1 Reade, 2 Sam. 5. 9. || Or, Iozabab.

6 Neuerthelesse they departed not from the finnes of the house of Ieroboam which made Israel sinne, [but] walked in therein, euen the groue also remained still in Samaria)

7 For he had left of the people to Jehoahaz but fiftie hozlmen, & ten charrets, and ten thousand footmen, because the king of Aram had destroyed them, and made them like dust beaten to powder.

8 Concerning the rest of the actes of Jehoahaz and all that hee did, and his valiant deedes, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel:

9 And Jehoahaz slept with his fathers, and they buried him in Samaria, and Joash his sone reigned in his stead.

10 ¶ In the seuen and thirtieth yere of Joash king of Iudah began Jehoash the sonne of Jehoahaz to reigne ouer Israel in Samaria, [and reigned] sixtene yere,

11 And did euill in the sight of <sup>h</sup> Lord: [for] he departed not from all the finnes of Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat that made Israel to sinne, but hee walked therein.

12 Concerning the rest of the actes of Joash and all that hee did, and his valiant deedes, [and] how he fought against Amaziah king of Iudah, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel:

13 And Joash slept with his fathers, and Ieroboam late vpon his seate: and Joash was buried in Samaria among the kings of Israel.

14 ¶ When Elifha fell sicke of his sickness whereof he died, Joash the king of Israel came downe vnto him, and wept vpon his face, and saide, <sup>b</sup> O my father, my father, the charret of Israel, and the hozlmen of the same.

15 Then Elifha laid vnto him, Take a bowle and arrowes. And he tooke vnto him bowle and arrowes.

16 And he saide to the king of Israel, Put thine hand vpon the bowle. And he put his hand vpon it. And Elifha put his handes vpon the kings handes, 17 And said, Open the window: Eastward. And when he had opened it, Elifha saide, Shoot. And he shot. And he said, Beholde [the arrowe of the Lords deliuerance and the arrowe of deliuerance against Aram: for thou shalt smite the Aramites in Aphek, till thou hast consumed them.

18 Again he said, Take the arrowes. And he tooke them. And he laid vnto the king of Israel, Smite the ground. And he smote thise, and ceased.

19 Then the man of God was <sup>k</sup> angrie with him, and said, Thou shouldest haue smitten five or sixe times, so thou shouldest haue smitten Aram, till thou haddest consumed it, where nolwe thou shalt smite Aram but thise.

20 ¶ So Elifha died, and they buried him. And [certaine] bandes of the Hoabites came into the land that yere.

21 And as they were burying a man, beholde, they salve the souldiers: therefore they cast the man into the sepulchre of Elifha. And when the ma was down, and touched the bones of Elifha, he reuiued and stood vpon his feete.

22 ¶ But Hazael king of Aram beread Israel all the dayes of Jehoahaz.

23 Therefore the Lord had mercy on them and pitied them, and had respect vnto them because of his couenant with Abraham, Izhak, and Iaakob, and would not destroy them, neither cast he them from him as <sup>m</sup> yet.

24 So Hazael the king of Aram died: and Ben-hadad his sonne reigned in his steade.

25 Therefore Jehoash the sonne of Jehoahaz returned, & tooke out of the hand of Ben-hadad the sonne of Hazael the cities which hee had taken away by warre out of the hand of Jehoahaz his father: for three times did Joash beate him, and restored the cities vnto Israel.

The second yere of Joash sone of Jehoahaz king of Israel reigned <sup>a</sup> Amaziah the sonne of Joash king of Iudah.

2 He was five and twentie yere olde when hee began to reigne, and reigned nine and twetie yere in Ierusalem, and his mothers name [was] Jehoabian of Ierusalem.

3 And hee did <sup>b</sup> brightly in the sight of the Lord, yet not like Dauid his father, [but] did according to all that Joash his father had done.

|| Or, brought

firmen in his hand, he slew his seruants which had killed the king his father.

6 But the children of those that did slay him, he slew not, according vnto that that is written in the booke of the Law of Moses, wherein the Lord commaunded, saying, * The fathers shall not be put to death for the children, nor
the children put to death for the fathers:
but every man shall be put to death for his owne sinne.

7 He slew also of Edom in the balley of salt ten thousand, and tooke the citie of Seia by warre, and called the name thereof Joktheel vnto this day.

8 Then Amaziah sent messengers to Jehoash the sonne of Jehoahaz, sonne of Jehu king of Israel, saying, Come,
let vs see one another in the face.

9 Then Jehoash the king of Israel sent to Amaziah king of Judah, saying,
The thistle that is in Lebanon, sent to the cedar that is in Lebanon, saying, Giue thy daughter to my sonne to wife:
and the wilde beast that was in Lebanon, went and trode downe the thistle.

10 [Because] thou hast smitten Edom, thine heart hath made thee proud:
bragge of glorie, and tarp at home. Why doest thou prouoke to thine hurt, that thou shouldst fall, & Judah with thee?

11 But Amaziah would not heare:
therefore Jehoash king of Israel went vp: and he and Amaziah king of Judah saw one another in the face at Bethhemeth which is in Judah.

12 And Judah was put to the worke before Israel, and they slew euery man to their tents.

13 But Jehoash king of Israel tooke Amaziah king of Judah, the sonne of Jehoash the sonne of Amaziah, at Bethhemeth, and came to Ierusalem, and broke downe the wall of Ierusalem from the gate of Ephraim to the corner gate, foure hundred cubites.

14 And he tooke all the golde and siluer, and all the vessels that were founde
in the house of the Lord, and in the treasures of the kings house, and the children that were in hostage, and returned to Samaria.

15 Concerning the rest of the actes of Jehoash which hee did and his valiant deeds, and how he fought with Amaziah king of Judah, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel:

16 And Jehoash slept with his fathers, and was buried at Samaria among the kings of Israel: and Ieroboam his sonne reigned in his steade.

17 And Amaziah the sonne of Jo-ash king of Judah, liued after the death of Jehoash sonne of Jehoahaz king of Israel fiftene yere.

18 Concerning the rest of the actes of Amaziah, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Judah?

19 But they wrought treason against him in Ierusalem, and hee fled to Lachish, but they sent after him to Lachish, and slew him there.

20 And they brought him on horses, and hee was buried at Ierusalem with his fathers in the citie of Dauid.

21 Then all the people of Judah tooke Azariah, which was sennene yere olde, & made him king for his father Amaziah.

22 He built Elath, and restored it to Judah, after that the king slept with his fathers.

23 In the fiftenth yere of Amaziah the sonne of Joash king of Judah, was Ieroboam the sonne of Joash, made king ouer Israel in Samaria, & reigned one and fourtie yere.

24 And hee did euill in the sight of the Lord: for he departed not from all the sunnies of Ieroboam the sonne of Ne-bat, which made Israel to sinne.

25 He restored the coast of Israel, from the entering of Hamath, vnto the Sea of the wilderness, according to the word of the Lord God of Israel, which he spake
by his seruant Jonah the sonne of Amittai the Prophet, which was of Gath hepher.

26 For the Lord saide the exceeding bitter affliction of Israel, so that there was none that vt vp, nor any left, neither yet any that could helpe Israel.

27 Yet the Lord had not decreed to put out the name of Israel from vnder
the heauen: therefore hee preferred them by the hande of Ieroboam the sonne of Joash.

28 Concerning the rest of the actes of Ieroboam, and all that hee did, and his valiant deeds, and how he fought, and how he restored Damascus, and how he marched to Judah in Israel, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel:

29 So Ieroboam slept with his fathers, (euen with the kings of Israel, and Zachariah his sonne reigned in his stead.)

1 Azariah the king of Judah becometh a leper. 5 Of Shallum, 10 Shallum, 14 Menahem, 23 Pekahiah, 30 Azariah, 32 Jotham, 38 And Ahaz.

4 Ebr. in the twentieth yere and seuench yere.

In the <sup>4</sup> seuen & twentieth yere of Jeroboam king of Israel, began Azariah, sonne of Amaziah king of Judah to reigne.

2 Sixteen yere olde was he, when he was made king, and he reigned two and fiftie yere in Jerusalem: & his mothers name was Jerholiah of Jerusalem.

a So long as he gaue care to Zachariah the Prophet,

3 And he did <sup>a</sup> uprightly in the sight of the Lord, according to all that his father Amaziah did.

4 But the hie places were not put away: for the people yet offered, and burned incense in the hie places.

b His father and grandfather were slaine by their subiects and seruaunts, and he, because he would vsurpe the Priestes office contrary to Gods ordinance, was smitten immediately by the hand of God with the leprosie. 2. Chro. 26. 21.

5 And the Lord <sup>b</sup> smote the king: and he was a leper vnto the day of his death, and dwelt in an house apart, & Jotham the kings sonne gouerned the house, [and] iudged the people of the land.

6 Concerning the rest of the actes of Azariah, and all that he did, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Judah:

7 So Azariah slept with his fathers, and they buried him with his fathers in the cite of David, & Jotham his sonne reigned in his steade.

c As vicerep, or depu tie to his father.

8 In the eight and thirtieth yere of Azariah king of Judah did Zachariah the sonne of Jeroboam reigne ouer Israel in Samaria fixe monethes.

d He was the fourth in descent from Jeroboam, who reigned according to Gods promises, but in him God began to execute his wrath against the house of Israel.

9 And did euill in the sight of the Lord, as did his fathers: for he departed not from the sinnes of Jeroboam the sonne of Nebat, which made Israel to sinne.

10 And Shallum the sonne of Iabesh conspired against him, and smote him in the sight of the people, and killed him, and reigned in his steade.

e Zachariah was the last in Israel, that had the kingdome by succession, sine onely Pekahiah the sonne of Menahem who reigned but two yeres. Chap. 10. 30.

11 Concerning the rest of the actes of Zachariah, beholde, they are written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel.

12 This was the <sup>a</sup> word of the Lord, which he spake vnto Iehu, saying, Thy sonnes shall sit on the thron of Israel vnto the fourth [generation] after thee. And it came so to passe.

13 In Shallum the sonne of Iabesh began to reigne in the nine and thirtieth yere of Uzziah king of Judah: & he reigned the space of a moneth in Samaria.

14 For Menahem the sonne of Gadi went by from Tirzah, and came to Samaria, and smote Shallum the sonne of Iabesh in Samaria, and slewe him, and reigned in his steade.

15 Concerning the rest of the actes of Shallum, and the treason which hee wrought, beholde, they are written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel.

16 The Menahem destroyed Tiph-sah, and all that were therein, and the coastes thereof from Tirzah, because they opened not to him, and he smote it, and ript vp all their women with child.

f Which was a cite of Israel that would not reueile him to be king.

17 The nine and thirtieth yere of Azariah king of Judah, began Menahem the sonne of Gadi to reigne ouer Israel, [and reigned] ten yeres in Samaria.

18 And he did euill in the sight of the Lord, and departed not all his dayes from the sinne of Jeroboam the sonne of Nebat, which made Israel to sinne.

19 Then pul the king of Assur came against the land: and Menahem gaue pul a thousand <sup>b</sup> talents of silver, that his hande might be with him, and establish the kingdome in his hand.

g That is, of Israel. h In steade of seeking help of God, he went about by money to purchase the fauour of this king being an infidel, and therefore God forsooke him, and pul soon after-ward brake promises, & dropt his countrey, and led his people away captive.

20 And Menahem exacted the money in Israel, that all men of substance should giue the king of Assur fiftie shekels of silver a piece: so the king of Assur returned and taried not there in the land.

21 Concerning the rest of the actes of Menahem, and all that he did, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel:

22 And Menahem slept with his fathers, & Pekahiah his sonne did reigne in his steade.

23 In the fiftieth yere of Azariah king of Judah, began Pekahiah the sonne of Menahem to reigne ouer Israel in Samaria, [and reigned] two yere.

24 And he did euill in the sight of the Lord: for hee departed not from the sinnes of Jeroboam the sonne of Nebat, which made Israel to sinne.

25 And Pekah the sonne of Remaliah, his captaine conspired against him, and smote him in Samaria in the place of the kings palace with Argob and Arieih, and with him fiftie men of the Gileadites: so he killed him, and reigned in his steade.

i Which were of the same conspiracie.

26 Concerning the rest of the actes of Pekahiah, and all that he did, beholde, they are written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel.

27 In the two & fiftieth yere of Azariah king of Judah began Pekah the sonne of Remaliah to reigne ouer Israel in Samaria, [and reigned] twetic yere.

28 And

28 And he did euill in the sight of the Lord: for hee departed not from the finnes of Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat, that made Israel to sinne.

29 In y dayes of Pekah king of Israel came Tiglath Pileser king of Asshur, and tooke Sion, and Abel, Bethmaachah, & Jandah, and Kedesh, and Hazor, and Gilead, and Galilah, [and] all the land of Naphtali, & caried them away to Asshur.

30 And Hoshea the sonne of Elah wrought treason against Pekah the sonne of Remaliah, and sloute him, and slew him, and reigned in his stead in the twentieth yeere of Iotham the sonne of Uzziah.

31 Concerning the rest of the actes of Pekah, and all that he did, beholde, they are written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel.

32 * In the second yeere of Pekah the sonne of Remaliah king of Israel, began Iotham sonne of Uzziah king of Iudah to reigne.

33 Five and thentie yeere old was he, when he began to reigne, and he reigned sixteene yeere in Ierusalem: & his mothers name was Ierusha the daughter of Zadok.

34 And he did vprightly in the sight of the Lord: he did accordyng to al that his father Uzziah had done.

35 But the hie places were not put away: for the people yet offred & burnt incense in y hie places: he built the hiest gate of the house of the Lord.

36 Concerning the rest of the actes of Iotham, and al that he did, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Iudah:

37 In those dayes the Lord began to send against Iudah Rezin the king of Aram, & Pekah y sonne of Remaliah.

38 And Iotham slept with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the cite of Dauid his father, and Ahaz his sonne reigned in his steade.

teene yeere in Ierusalem, and did not vprightly in the sight of the Lord his God, like Dauid his father:

3 But walked in the way of the kings of Israel, yea, & made his sonne to go thorow the fire, after the abominations of the heathen, who the Lord had cast out before the children of Israel.

4 Also he offred and burnt incense in the hie places and on the hilles, and vnder euery greene tree.

5 Then Rezin king of Aram & Pekah sonne of Remaliah king of Israel came vnto Ierusalem to fight: and they besieged Ahaz, but could not ouercome him.

6 At the same time Rezin king of Aram restored Elah to Aram, and droue the Iewes from Elah: so y Aramites came to Elah, and dwelt there vnto this day.

7 Then Ahaz sent messengers to Tiglath Pileser king of Asshur, saying, I am thy seruant & thy sonne: come vnto me, and deliuer me out of y hand of the king of Aram, and out of the hand of the king of Israel, which rise vnto against me.

8 And Ahaz tooke the siluer and the gold that was found in the house of the Lord, and in the treasures of the kings house, and sent a present vnto the king of Asshur.

9 And the king of Asshur consented vnto him: and the king of Asshur went vnto him, and when he had taken it, hee caried the people away to Kir, and slew Rezin.

10 And king Ahaz went vnto Damascus to meete Tiglath Pileser king of Asshur: and when king Ahaz saue the altar that was at Damascus, he sent to Uzziah the Priest the paterne of the altar, and the sacion of it, and all the worke-manship thereof.

11 And Uzziah the Priest made an altar in al pointes like to that which king Ahaz had sent from Damascus, so did Uzziah y Priest against king Ahaz come from Damascus.

12 So when the king was come from Damascus, the king saue the altar: and the king dwelt neere to the altar and offred thereon.

13 And he burnt his burnt offering, and his meate offering, & polished his drinke offering, and sprinkled the blood of his peace offerings besides the altar.

In the twelfth yeere of Ahaz king of Iudah began Hoshea the sonne of Elah to reigne in Samaria ouer Israel, [and reigned] nine yeeres.

2 And hee did euill in the sight of the Lord, but not as the kings of Israel, that were before him.

3 And Shalmaneser king of Asshur came by against him, & Hoshea became his seruant, and gaue him presents.

4 And the king of Asshur found treason in Hoshea: for he had sent messengers to So king of Egypt, and brought no present vnto the king of Asshur, as he had done yeerely: therefore the king of Asshur shut him vp, & put him in prisoe.

5 Then the king of Asshur came by throughout all the land, and went against Samaria, and besieged it three yeere.

6 In the ninth yeere of Hoshea, the king of Asshur tooke Samaria, and carried Israel away vnto Asshur, and put them in Halah, and in Habor by the riuer of Sozan, and in the cities of the Medes.

7 For when the children of Israel sinned against the Lord their God, which had brought them out of the land of Egypt, from vnder the hand of Pharaoh king of Egypt, and feared other gods,

8 And walked according to the fashions of the heathen, whom the Lord had cast out before the children of Israel, and [after the maners] of the kings of Israel, which they vsed,

14 Neuertheless they would not obey, but hardened their neckes, like to the neckes of their fathers, that did not beleue in the Lord their God.

15 And they refused his statutes and his covenant, that hee made with their fathers, and his testimonies (where-with he witnessed vnto them) and they followed bannite, and became baine, and followed the heathen that were rounde about them: concerning whom the Lord had charged them, that they should not do like them.

17 And they made their sonnes and their daughters<sup>h</sup> passe through the fire,
and bled witchcraft and enchantments,
yea, sold themselves, to do euill in the sight of the Lord, to anger him.

18 Therefore the Lord was exceeding wroth with Israel, and put them out of his sight, [and] none was left but the tribe of Judah<sup>i</sup> onely.

19 Yet Judah kept not the commandements of the Lord their God, but walked according to the faction of Israel, which they bled.

20 Therefore the Lord cast off al the seede of Israel, and afflicted them, and deliuered them into the handes of spoylers, vntill hee had cast them out of his<sup>j</sup> sight.

21<sup>m</sup> For hee cut off Israel from the house of Dauid, and they made Jeroboam the sonne of Nebat king: and Jeroboam driue Israel away from following the Lord, and made them sinne a great sinne.

22 For the children of Israel walked in all the finnes of Jeroboam, which he did, [and] departed not therefrom.

23 Vntill the Lord put Israel away out of his sight, as he had said<sup>n</sup> by all his seruants the<sup>o</sup> Prophets, and caried Israel away out of their land to Asshur unto this day.

24 And the king of Asshur brought folke from Babel, and from<sup>p</sup> Cuthah, and from Aua, and from Hamath, and from Sepharuaim, and placed them in the cities of Samaria in steade of the children of Israel: so they possessed Samaria, and dwelt in the cities thereof.

25 And at the beginning of their dwelling there, they feared not<sup>q</sup> the Lord:
therefore the Lord sent Lyons among them, which slew them.

26 Wherefore they spake to the king of Asshur, saying, The nations which thou hast remoued, and placed in the cities of Samaria, know not the maner of the God of the land: therefore he hath sent Lyons among them, & beholde, they slay them, because they know not<sup>r</sup> the maner of the God of the land.

27 Then<sup>s</sup> the king of Asshur commanded, saying, Carie thither one of the Priests, whom ye brought thence, and let him go and dwell there, & teach them
the maner of the God<sup>t</sup> of the country.

28 So one of the Priests, which they had caried from Samaria, came and dwelt in Beth-el, and taught them how they should feare the Lord.

29 Howbeit euery nation made their gods, and put them in the houses of the hie places, which the Samaritans had made, euery nation in their cities, wherein they dwelt.

30 For the men of Babel made<sup>u</sup> Sine-coth Benoth: and<sup>v</sup> men of Cuth made Nergal, and the men of Hamath made Ashima.

31 And the Auiims made Ribhas, and Tartak: and the Sepharuims burnt their children in the fire to Adammelech, and Anammelech the gods of Se-pharuaim.

32 Thus they feared the Lord, and appointed out Priests out of them selues for the hie places, who prepared for them [sacrifices] in the houses of the hie places.

33<sup>w</sup> They feared the Lord, but ser-ued their gods after the maner of the nations whom they caried thence.

34 Vnto this day they do after the olde maner: they neither feare God, neither do after<sup>x</sup> their ordinances, nor after their customes, nor after the Lawe, nor after the commandement, which the Lord commanded the children of Isaac,
whom he named Israel,

35 And with whom the Lord had made couenant, and charged them, saying, Feare none other gods, nor bowe your selues to them, nor serue them, nor sacrifice to them:

36 But feare<sup>y</sup> the Lord, which brought you out of the land of Egypt with great powder, and a stretched out arme: him feare ye, and worship him, and sacrifice to him.

37 Also keepe ye diligently<sup>z</sup> the statutes and the ordinances, and the Lawe, and the commandement, which he wrote for you, that ye do them continually, & feare not other gods.

38 And forget not the couenant that I haue made with you, neither feare ye
other gods,

39 But feare the Lord your God, and he will deliuer you out of the hands of all your enemies.

40 Howbeit they obeyed not, but did after their olde custome.

41 So these nations feared<sup>aa</sup> the Lord, and serued their images [also]: so [did]
their children, and their childrens children: as did their fathers, [so] do they vnto this day.

4 Hezekiah king of Iudah ſucceded domine the braſen ſerpent, and deſtroyed the ſnales, 7 And poſpereth. 11 Iſrael is carried away captive, 30 The blaſphemie of Saneherib.

a. Chro. 28.
27. & 29. 1.

NOW in the third yere of Hoſhea, ſonne of Elah king of Iſrael, Hezekiah the ſonne of Abaz king of Iudah began to reigne.

2 He was ſixe and twentie yeece olde when hee began to reigne, and reigned nine & twentie yeece in Ieruſalem. His mothers name alſo was Abi the daughter of Zachariah,

3 And he did vprightly in the ſight of the Lord, according to al that Dauid his father had done.

4 He tooke alway ſ his places, & brake the images, & cut downe the groves, and brake in pieces the braſen ſerpent that Hoſes had made: for vnto thoſe dayes the children of Iſrael did burne incenſe to it, and he called it Nehuſthan.

5 He truſted in the Lord God of Iſrael: ſo that after him was none like him among all the kings of Iudah, neither were there any ſuch before him.

6 For he claue to the Lord, and departed not from him, but kept his commandements, which the Lord had commanded Hoſes.

7 So the Lord was with him, and he prospered in all things, which hee tooke in hand: alſo he rebelled againſt the king of Aſſhur, and ſerued him not. 8 He ſmote the Philiftins vnto Azzah, and the coaſtes thereof, from the watch towre vnto the defended citie.

9 And in the fourth yeece of king Hezekiah (which was the ſeventh yeece of Hoſhea ſonne of Elah king of Iſrael) Salmeneſer king of Aſſhur came by againſt Samaria, and beſieged it.

10 And after three yeres they tooke it, [even] in the ſixt yeece of Hezekiah: that is, the ninth yeece of Hoſhea king of Iſrael was Samaria taken.

11 Then the king of Aſſhur did carie away Iſrael vnto Aſſhur, and put them in Halah and in Habor, [by] the river of Gozan, and in the cities of the Medes.

12 Becauſe they wouid not obey the voyce of the Lord their God, but tranſgreſſed his covenant: that is, al Hoſes the ſervant of the Lord had commanded, and would neither obey nor do them.

13 Moreover, in the fourteenth yeece of king Hezekiah, Saneherib king of Aſſhur came by againſt all the ſtrong cities of Iudah, and tooke them.

14 Then Hezekiah king of Iudah ſet vnto the king of Aſſhur to Lachiſh, ſaying, I have offended: depart from me, and what thou layeſt vpon me, I will beare it. And the king of Aſſhur appointed vnto Hezekiah king of Iudah three hundred talents of ſiluer, and thirtie talents of gold.

15 Therefore Hezekiah gaue al the ſiluer that was found in the houſe of the Lord, and in the treaſures of the kings houſe.

16 At the ſame ſeaſon did Hezekiah pull off the plates of the doores of the Temple of the Lord, & the pillars (which the ſaid Hezekiah king of Iudah had covered ouer) and gaue them to the king of Aſſhur.

17 And the king of Aſſhur ſent Tartan, and Rab ſaris, & Rabſhakeh from Lachiſh to king Hezekiah with a great hoſte againſt Ieruſalem. And they went by, & came to Ieruſalem, & when they were come by, they ſtood by the cunibite of the vpper poole, which is by the path of the fullers ſeldie,

18 And called to the King. Then came out to them Eliakim the ſonne of Hilkiah, which was ſteward of the houſe, and Shebna the chanceller, and Joah the ſonne of Elaph the recorder.

19 And Rabſhakeh ſaide vnto them, Tell ye Hezekiah, I pray you, Thus ſaith ye great king, euen the great king of Aſſhur, what conſiderer is this wher in thou truſteſt:

20 Thou thinkeſt, Surely I have eloquence, [but] counſell and ſtrength [are] for the warre. On who then doeſt thou truſt, thou rebelleſt againſt me:

21 Lo, thou truſteſt now in this broken ſtaffe of reede, [to] wit, on Egypt, on which if a man leane, it will go into his hand, and pearce it: ſo [is] Pharaoh king of Egypt vnto al that truſt on him.

22 But if ye ſay vnto me, We truſt in the Lord our God, is not that he whole his places, and whole altars Hezekiah hath taken away, and hath ſaid to Iudah and Ieruſalem, We ſhall worſhip before this altar in Ieruſalem:

23 Now he therefore giue hoſtages to my lord the king of Aſſhur, and I will giue thee two thouſand horſes, if thou be able to ſet riders vpon them.

24 For howe canſt thou deſpiſe any captaine of the leaſt of my maſters ſervants, and put thy truſt on Egypt for charrets and horſemen:

d. As he ſcale was beſore praſes, fo his weakens in here ſet forth that none ſhould glory in him ſelfe.

e. After certaine yeeres when Hezekiah ab ceaſed to ſend the tribute appointed by the king of the Aſſyrians, he ſent his captaines and arme againſt him.

h. Egypt ſhall not onely be able not to ſuccour thee, but ſhall be hurt vnto thee. Thus the idolaters think that Gods religion is deſtroyed, when ſuperſtition and idolatrie are reformed.

i. ſpaining, that it was beſt for him to peeble to the king of Aſſyria, becauſe his power was ſo ſmall that he had not men to furniſh two thouſand horſes,

a. Although they of Iudah were given to idolatrie and impietie, as they of Iſrael were, yet God for his promiſe ſake was mercifull vnto the throne of Dauid: and yet by his iudgement toward the other, provoked them to repentance.

b. That is, a piece of blaſphemie he calleth the ſerpent by contempt, which notwithstanding was ſet up by the word of God, and miracles were wrought by it: yet when it was abuſed to idolatrie, this good thing deſtroyed it, not thinking it worſhip to be called a ſerpent, but a piece of blaſphemie.

26 Then Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiah, and Shebnah, and Joah said vnto Rabshakeh, Speake, I pray thee, to thy seruants in the Aramites language, for we vnderstand it, and talke not with vs in the Iewes tongue, in the audience of the people that are on the wall.

27 But Rabshakeh said vnto them, hath my master sent mee to thy master and to thee to speake these wordes, and not to the men which sit on the wal, that they may eat their owne drouing, & drinke their owne pisse with you?

28 So Rabshakeh stood and cried with a loude voyce in the Iewes language, & spake, saying, heare the wordes of the great King, of the king of Asshur.

29 Thus saith the King, Let not Hezekiah deceiue you: for he shall not be able to deliuer you out of mine hand.

30 Neither let Hezekiah make you to trust in the Lord, saying, The Lord wil surely deliuer vs, and this cite shall not be giuen ouer into the hand of the King of Asshur.

31 Hearken not vnto Hezekiah: for thus saith the King of Asshur, Iake appointment with me, and come out to me, that euery man may eat of his owne vine, and euery man of his owne figge tree, and drinke euery man of the water of his owne well.

32 Till I come, and bring you to a land like your owne land, [euen] a lande of wheate and wine, a land of bread and vineyards, a land of oliues, oyle and home, that yee may liue and not die: and obey not Hezekiah, for he deceiuethe you, saying, The Lord wil deliuer vs.

33 Hath any of the gods of the nations deliuered his land out of the hand of the King of Asshur?

34 Where is the god of hamath, and of Arpad: where is the god of Sepharuaim, Hena and Iuah: how haue they deliuered Samaria out of mine hand?

35 Who are they among all the gods of the nations, that haue deliuered their lande out of mine hande, that the Lord shoulde deliuer Ierusalem out of mine hande?

36 But the people helde their peace, and answered not him a word: for the Kings commaundement was, saying, Answer ye him not.

37 Then Eliakim, sonne of Hilkiah which was steward of the house, and Shebnah the chanceller, and Joah the sonne of Alaph the recorder came to Hezekiah with their clothes rent, and tolde him the wordes of Rabshakeh.

CHAP. XIX.

God promifeth by Iſaiah victorie to Hezekiah. 35 The Angel of the Lord killeth an hundred and fourescore and thre thousand men of the Assyrians, 37 Sennacherib is killeth of his owne sonnes.

Ad when King Hezekiah heard it, he rent his clothes and put on sackcloth, & came into the house of the Lord.

2 And lent Eliakim which was the steward of the house, and Shebnah the chanceller, and the Elders of the Priests clothed in sackcloth to Iſaiah the Prophet the sonne of Amos.

3 And they said vnto him, Thus saith Hezekiah, This day is a day of tribulation and of rebuke, and blasphemie: for the children are come to the birth, and there is no strength to bring forth.

4 If so bee the Lorde thy God hath heard all the wordes of Rabshakeh, who the King of Asshur his master hath sent to raile on the liuing God, & to report him with wordes which the Lorde thy God hath heard, then lift thou up [thy] prayer for the remnant that are left.

5 So the seruants of king Hezekiah came to Iſaiah.

6 And Iſaiah said vnto the, So shal ye say to your master, Thus saith y Lord, Be not afraid of the wordes which thou hast heard, wherewith the seruants of the king of Asshur haue blasphemed me.

7 Beholde, I will send a blast vpon him, & he shal heare a noyse, and retorne to his owne land: and I will cause him to fall by the sword in his owne land.

8 So Rabshakeh returned, and found y king of Asshur fighting against Libnah: for he had heard that he was departed from Lachish.

9 He heard also men say of Tirhakah king of Ethiopia, Behold, hee is come out to fight against thee: he therefore departed & sent [other] messengers vnto Hezekiah, saying,

10 Thus shall ye speake to Hezekiah king of Iudah, and say, Let not thy God deceiue thee in whou thou trustest, saying, Ierusalem shal not be deliuered into the hand of the king of Asshur.

thou be deliuered :

12. Haue the gods of the heathen deliuered them which my fathers haue destroyed: as <sup>h</sup>Gozan, and <sup>h</sup>haran, and <sup>h</sup>Rezeph, and the children of Eden, which were in <sup>h</sup>Chelafar :

13. Where is the king of Hamath, and the king of Arpad, and the king of the citie of Sepharuaim, Hena and Iuah :

14. <sup>h</sup>So Hezekiah receiued the letter of the hand of the messengers, and read it: and Hezekiah went vp into the house of the Lord, and Hezekiah spied it before the <sup>h</sup>Lord.

15. And Hezekiah prayed before the Lord, and said, O Lord God of Israel, which dwellest betwene <sup>h</sup>Cherubims, thou art very God alone ouer all the kingdomes of the earth: thou hast made the heauen and the earth.

16. Lord, <sup>h</sup>holly do thou care, and heare: Lord open thine eyes and behold, & heare the wordes of Saneherib, who hath sent to blaspheme the <sup>h</sup>living God.

17. Truth it is, Lord, that the Kings of Asshur haue destroyed the nations and their lands,

18. And haue set fire on their gods: for they were no gods, but the worke of mans hands, euen wood & stone: therefore they destroyed them.

19. Now therefore, O Lord our God, <sup>h</sup>defence thee, saue thou vs out of his hande, that all the <sup>h</sup>kingdomes of the earth may knowe, that thou, O Lord, art only God.

20. <sup>h</sup>Then Isaiah the sonne of Amoz sent to Hezekiah, saying, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, I haue heard that which thou hast prayed me, concerning Saneherib King of Asshur.

21. This is the worde that the Lord hath spoken agaynst him, O <sup>h</sup>Virgine, daughter of Zion, he hath despised thee, [and] laughed thee to scorne: O daughter of Jerusalem, hee hath taken his head at thee.

22. Whom hast thou rayled on: & who hast thou blasphemed: and agaynst whom hast thou exalted thy voyce, and lifted vp thine eyes on him: euen <sup>h</sup>against the holy one of Israel.

23. By thy messengers thou hast rayled on the Lord, & said, By the multitude of my charrets I am come vp to the top of the mountains, by <sup>h</sup> sides of Lebanon, and will cut downe the tree cedars thereof, and the faire fire trees thereof, and I will go into the lodging of his bozders, and into the forest of <sup>h</sup>his Carmel.

24. I haue digged, & drunke the waters of others, and with the plant of my feete haue I dried all the <sup>h</sup>floods close in.

25. Hast thou not heard, how I haue of old time made it, and haue formed it long ago: and should I now bring it, that it should be destroyed, [and] laid on ruinous heapes, [as] cities defenced:

26. whose inhabitants haue small powder, [and] are afrayed, and confounded: they are like the grasse of the field, & greene herbe, [or] grasse on <sup>h</sup> house tops, or as corne blasted before it be growen.

27. I know thy dwelling, yea, thy going out, and thy coming in, and thyurie agaynst me.

28. And because thou ragest agaynst me, and thy tumult is come vp to mine eares, I will put mine <sup>h</sup>ooke in thy nostrils, and my badle in thy lippes, and will bring thee darke againe the same way thou camest.

29. And this shalbe a <sup>h</sup>signe vnto thee, <sup>h</sup>O Hezekiah, I thou shalt eat this yere such things as grow of themselves, and the next yere such as growe without sowing, and the third yere sowe ye and reape, and plant vineyards, and eate the fruites thereof.

30. And the remnant that is escaped of the house of Iudah, shall againe take roote downewarde, and beare fruit bpward.

31. For out of Jerusalem shall go a remnant, and some that shall escape out of mount Zion: the <sup>h</sup>seale of the Lord of hostes shall do this.

32. Wherefore thus saith the Lord, concerning the King of Asshur, he shall not enter into this citie, nor shoote an arrowe there, nor come before it with shield, nor cast a mount agaynst it:

33. [But] he shall returne the way he came, and shall not come into this citie, sayth the Lord.

34. For I will defend this citie to saue it for mine owne sake, and for Dauid my seruants sake.

35. <sup>h</sup> And the same night the Angel of the Lord went out and smote in the campe of Asshur an hundred foure score and foue thousand: so when they rose early in the morning, behold, they were all dead corpses.

36. So Saneherib King of Asshur departed, and went his way, and returned, and dwelt in Samueh.

ABOUT that time * Was Hezekiah sicke vnto death: and the Prophet Iſaiah ſonne of Amoz came to him, and ſaid vnto him, Thus ſayeth the Lorde, Put thine house in an order: for thou shalt die, and not live.

2 Then he turned his face to the wall, and prayed to the Lord, saying,

3 I beseech thee, O Lord, remember now, how I have walked before thee in truth, and with a perfect heart, and have done that which is good in thy sight: and Hezekiah wept sore.

4 And afore Iſaiah was gone out into the middle of the court, the word of the Lord came to him, saying,

5 Turne againe, and tell Hezekiah the captaine of my people, Thus ſayeth the Lorde God of Dauid thy father, I haue heard thy prayer, [and] ſeene thy teares: behold, I haue healed thee, [ & ] the third day thou shalt go vp to the house of the Lord,

6 And I will adde vnto thy dayes fiftene yeere, and will deliuer thee and this citie out of the hand of the king of Aſſhur, and will defend this citie for mine owne ſake, and for Dauid my seruants ſake.

7 Then Iſaiah ſaid, Take a lump of drie figs. And they tooke it, and layd it on the boyle, and he recovered.

8 For Hezekiah had ſaid vnto Iſaiah, what shall be the ſigne that the Lord will heale me, and that I shall go vp into the house of the Lord the third day?

9 And Iſaiah answered, This ſigne shalt thou haue of the Lorde, that the Lord will do that he hath ſpoken, wilit thou that the ſhadowe go forward ten degrees, or *go backe ten degrees?

10 And Hezekiah answered, It is a light thing for the ſhadowe to paſſe forward ten degrees: not ſo [then], but let the ſhadowe go backe ten degrees.

11 And Iſaiah the prophet called vnto the Lord, and he brought againe the ſhadowe ten degrees backe by the degrees wherby it had gone downe in the dial of Ahas.

12 * The ſame ſeaſon Berodach Baladan the ſonne of Saladan King of Babel, ſent letters and a preſent to Hezekiah: for he had heard how that Hezekiah was sicke.

13 And Hezekiah heard them, and ſhewed them all his treasure houſe, [to] wit, the ſilver, and the gold, & the ſpices, and the precious ointment, and all the houſe of his armour, and all that was found in his treasures: there was nothing in his houſe, and in all his realme, that Hezekiah ſhewed them not.

14 Then Iſaiah the prophet came vnto king Hezekiah, and ſaid vnto him, What ſaid theſe men: and from whence came they to thee? And Hezekiah ſaide, They be come fro a farre country, [cut] from Babel.

15 Then ſaid he, what haue they ſcene in thine houſe? And Hezekiah answered, All that is in mine houſe haue they ſcene: there is nothing among my treasures, that I haue not ſhewed them.

16 And Iſaiah ſaide vnto Hezekiah, Heare the word of the Lord.

17 Behold, the daies come, that al that is in thine houſe, and whatſoever thy fathers haue layd vp in ſtoze vnto this day, shall be caried into Babel: Nothing shall be left, ſayeth the Lord.

18 And of thy ſonnes, that shall proceed out of thee, [ & ] which thou shalt beget, shall they take away, & they shall be eunuchs in the palace of the king of Babel.

19 Then Hezekiah ſaid vnto Iſaiah, The word of the Lord which thou haſt ſpoken, is good: for ſayd he, Shall it not be good, [if] *peace and truth be in my dayes?

2 And hee did euill in the sight of the Lord after the abomination of the heathen, whom the Lord had cast out before the children of Israel.

3 For he went backe and built the high places, which Hezekiah his father had destroyed: and he erected by altars for Baal, and made a groue, as did Ahab King of Israel, and worshipped all the host of heauen and serued them.

4 Also hee built altars in the house of the Lord, of which the Lord said, In Jerusalem will I put my Name.

5 And he built altars for all the host of the heauen in the two courts of the house of the Lord.

6 And he caused his sonnes to passe through the fire, and gaue himselfe to witchcraft and sorcery, and vsed them that had familiar spirits & were soothsayers, and did much euill in the sight of the Lord to anger him.

7 And hee set the image of the groue, that he had made, in the house, whereof the Lord had sayd to Dauid and to Salomon his sonne, In this house, and in Jerusalem, which I haue chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, will I put my Name for euer.

8 Neither will I make the feete of Israel moue any more out of the lande, which I gaue their fathers: so that they will observe and doe all that I haue commanded them, and according to all the Lawe that my seruant Moses commanded them.

9 Yet they obeyed not, but Manasseh led them out of the way, to do more wickedly then did the heathen people, whom the Lord destroyed before the children of Israel.

10 Therefore the Lord spake by his seruants the Prophets, saying,

11 Because that Manasseh King of Iudah hath done such abominations, and hath wrought more wickedly then all that the Amorites (which were before him) did, & hath made Iudah sinne also with his idoles,

12 Therefore thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Behold, I will bring an euill vpon Jerusalem & Iudah, that who so heareth of it, both his eares shall tingle.

13 And I will stretch ouer Jerusalem the line of Samaria, and the plummet of the house of Ahab: and I will wipe Jerusalem, as a man wipeth a dish, which hee wipeth, and turneth it upside downe.

14 And I will forsake the remnant of mine inheritance, and deliuer them into the hand of their enemies, & they shall be robbed & spoiled of all their aduersaries.

15 Because they haue done euill in my sight, and haue prouoked me to anger, since the time their fathers came out of Egypt vntill this day.

16 Whereouer Manasseh shed innocent blood exceeding much, till hee replenished Jerusalem from corner to corner, beside his sinne wherewith he made Iudah to sinne, & to do euill in the sight of the Lord.

17 Concerning the rest of the actes of Manasseh, and all that hee did, and his sinne that hee sinned, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the Kings of Iudah?

18 And Manasseh slept with his fathers, & was buried in the garden of his olbne house, euen in the garden of Uzza: and Amon his sonne reigned in his stead.

19 Amon was two & twenty yeere olde, when hee began to reigne, and hee reigned two yeere in Jerusalem: his mothers name also was Meshullemeth the daughter of Haruz of Iotbah.

20 And hee did euill in the sight of the Lord, as his father Manasseh did.

21 For hee walked in all the way, that his father walked in, and serued the idoles that his father serued, and worshipped them.

22 And hee forsooke the Lord God of his fathers, and walked not in the way of the Lord.

23 And the seruants of Amon conspired against him, and slewe the King in his olbne house.

24 And the people of the land slew all them that had conspired against King Amon, and the people made Iosiah his sonne King in his stead.

25 Concerning the rest of the actes of Amon, which hee did, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the Kings of Iudah?

2 And he did byrightly in the sight of the Lord, and walked in all the wayes of Dauid his father, and bowed neither to the right hand, nor to the left.

3 And in the eighteenth yere of king Josiah, the King sent Shaphan the sonne of Azaliah the sonne of Bethulaim the chanceller to the house of the Lord, saying,

4 Go vp to Hilkiah the hie Priest, that hee may summe the silver which was brought into the house of the Lord, which the keepers of the doore haue gathered of the people.

5 And let them deliuer it into the had of them that doe the worke, and haue the ouersight of the house of the Lord: let them giue it to them that worke in the house of the Lord, to reparaire the decayed places of the house:

6 [To wit,] vnto the artificers & carpenters and masons, and to bie timber, and helued stone to reparaire the house.

7 Howbeit let no reckoning be made with the of the money, that is deliuered into their had: for they deale faithfully.

8 And Hilkiah the hie Priest said vnto Shaphan the chanceller, I haue found the booke of the Lawe in the house of the Lord: and Hilkiah gaue the booke to Shaphan, and he read it.

9 So Shaphan the chanceller came to the King, and brought him word againe, and said, Thy seruants haue gathered the money, that was found in the house, & haue deliuered it into the hands of them that doe the worke, and haue the ouersight of the house of the Lord.

10 Also Shaphan the chanceller shewed the King, saying, Hilkiah the priest hath deliuered me a booke. And Shaphan read it before the King.

11 And when the King had heard the words of the booke of the Law, he rent his clothes.

12 Therefore the King commanded Hilkiah the Priest, & Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan, & Achbor the sonne of Mechiaiah, & Shaphan the chanceller, and Azaliah the Kings seruant, saying,

13 Go ye, and inquire of the Lord for me, & for the people, and for all Iudah, concerning the words of this booke that is found: for great is the wrath of the Lord that is kindled agaynst vs, because our fathers haue not obeyed the words of this booke, to do according vnto all that which is written therein for vs.

14 So Hilkiah the Priest and Ahikam, & Achbor & Shaphan, & Azaliah went vnto Iudah the Propheteesse the wife of Shallum, the sonne of Tanuah, the sonne of Harhas keeper of the wardrobe: (and the diwelt in Ierusalem the scolledge) and they continued with her.

15 And she answered them, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Tell the man that sent you to me,

16 Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I will bring euill vpon this place, and on the inhabitants thereof, euen all the wordes of the booke which the King of Iudah hath read,

17 Because they haue forsaken me, & haue burnt incense vnto other gods, to anger me with all the workes of their hands: my wrath also shall be kindled against this place, & shall not be quenched:

18 But to the King of Iudah, who sent you to inquire of the Lord, so shall ye say vnto him, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, The wordes that thou hast heard, shall come to passe.

19 But because thine heart did melt, and thou hast humbled thy selfe before the Lord, whē thou heardest what I spake against this place, & against the inhabitants of the same, [to wit,] that it should be destroyed and accursed, and hast rent thy clothes, and wept before me, I haue also heard it, saith the Lord.

20 Behold therefore, I will gather thee to thy fathers, & thou shalt bee put in thy graue in peace, & thine eyes shall not see all the euill, which I will bring vpon this place. Thus they brought the King word againe.

2 And the king wet by into the house of the Lord, with all the men of Iudah and all the inhabitants of Ierusalem with him, and the Priests & Prophets, & all the people both small and great: and he read in their eares all the wordes of the booke of the covenant, which was found in the house of the Lord.

and keepe his commandements, and his testimonies, and his statutes with all their heart, & with all their soule, that they might accomplishe the wordes of this covenant written in this booke. And all the people stood to the covenant.

4 Then the King commanded Hilkiah the hie priest and the priests of the seconde order, and the keepers of the doore, to bring out of the Temple of the Lorde all the vessels that were made for Baal, and for the groue, and for all the hoste of heauen, and he burnt them without Jerusalem in the fields of Bedon, and caried the polwder of them into Beth-el.

5 And hee put downe the Chemarims, whom the Kings of Iudah had founded to burne incense in the hie places, [and] in the cities of Iudah, and about Jerusalem, & also them that burne incense vnto Baal, to the sunne and to the moone, and to the planets, and to all the hoste of heauen.

6 And he brought out the groue from the Temple of the Lorde without Jerusalem vnto the balley Bedon, and burnt it in the balley Bedon, and stampit it to powder, & cast the dust thereof vpon the graues of the children of the people.

7 And he brake downe the houses of the Sodomites, that were in the house of the Lorde, where the women boue hangings for the groue.

8 Also he brought all the priests out of the cities of Iudah, and defiled the hie places where the priests had burnt incense, euen from Geba to Beer-sheba, & destroyed the hie places of the gates, that were in the entering in of the gate of Joshua the gouernour of the city which was at the left hand of the gate of the cite.

9 Neuerthelesse the priests of the hie places came not vpon to the altar of the Lorde in Jerusalem, saue onely they did eate of the beleauened bread among their brethren.

10 Hee defiled also Topheth, which was in the balley of the children of Hinnom, that no man should make his sone or his daughter passe through the fire to Molech.

11 He put downe also the houses that the Kings of Iudah had giuen to the sunne at the entering in of the house of the Lorde, by the chamber of Netan-melech the eunuch, which was ruler of the suburbs, and burnt the charetes of the sunne with fire.

12 And the altars that were on the top of the chaber of Ahaz, which the Kings of Iudah had made, & the altars which Hanasseh had made in the two courtes of the house of the Lorde, did he king brake downe, and hasted thence, and cast the dust of them in the brooke Kedron.

13 Moreover the King defiled the hie places that were before Jerusalem and on the right hand of the mount of corruption, which Salomon the King of Israel had built for Achtozeth the mole of the Zidonians, and for Chemosh the mole of the Moabites, & king for Milchom the abomination of the children of Ammon.

14 And he brake the images in peeces, and cut downe the groues and filled their places with the bones of men.

15 Furthermore the altar that was at Beth-el, [and] the hie place made by Jeroboam the sonne of Nebat, which made Israel to sinne, both this altar & also the hie place brake hee downe, and burnt the hie place, [and] stampit it to powder and burnt the groue.

16 And as Iosiah turned him selfe, he spied the graues, that were in the moit, and sent and tooke the bones out of the graues, and burnt them vpon the altar, and polluted it, according to the word of the Lorde that the man of God proclaimed which cried the same wordes.

17 Then he saide, what title is that which I see? And the men of the cite said vnto him, [It is] the sepulchre of the man of God, which came from Iudah, and told these things that thou hast done to the altar of Beth-el.

18 Then saide he, Let him alone: let none remoue his bones. So his bones were saued with the bones of the Prophet that came from Samaria.

19 Iosiah also tooke away all houses of the hie places, which were in the cities of Samaria, which the Kings of Israel had made to anger the Lorde, & did to them according to all the factes that he had done in Beth-el.

20 And he sacrificed all the priestes of the hie places, that were there vpon the altars, and burnt mens bones vpon the, and returned to Jerusalem.

reigned three moneths in Ierusalem. His mothers name also was Hamutal the daughter of Jeremiah of Libnah.

32 And hee did euill in the sight of the Lord, according to all that his fathers had done.

33 And Pharaoh Nechoh put him in

THE ARGUMENT.

THE Jewes comprehend both these bookes in one, which the Grecians because of the length deuide into two: and they are called Chronicles, because they note briefly the hystories from Adam to the returne from their captiuitie in Babylon. But these are not those bookes of Chronicles, which are so oft mentioned in the bookes of Kings of Iudah and Israel, which did at large set forth the storie of both the kingdomes, and afterward perished in the captiuitie: but an abridgement of the same, and were gathered by Ezra, as the Jewes write, after their returne from Babylon. This first booke conteyneth a briefe reherfall of the children of Adam vnto Abraham, Izhak, Iakob, and the twelue Patriarches, chiefly of Iudah and of the reigne of Dauid, because Christ came of him according to the flesh. And therefore it setteth forth more amply his actes, both concerning ciuill gouernment, and also the administration, and care of things concerning religion, for the good successe whereof he reioyeth, and giueth thanks to the Lord.

The first booke of the *Chronicles,

or || Paralipomenon.

THE ARGUMENT.

THE Jewes comprehend both these bookes in one, which the Grecians because of the length deuide into two: and they are called Chronicles, because they note briefly the hystories from Adam to the returne from their captiuitie in Babylon. But these are not those bookes of Chronicles, which are so oft mentioned in the bookes of Kings of Iudah and Israel, which did at large set forth the storie of both the kingdomes, and afterward perished in the captiuitie: but an abridgement of the same, and were gathered by Ezra, as the Jewes write, after their returne from Babylon. This first booke conteyneth a briefe reherfall of the children of Adam vnto Abraham, Izhak, Iakob, and the twelue Patriarches, chiefly of Iudah and of the reigne of Dauid, because Christ came of him according to the flesh. And therefore it setteth forth more amply his actes, both concerning ciuill gouernment, and also the administration, and care of things concerning religion, for the good successe whereof he reioyeth, and giueth thanks to the Lord.

6 The sonnes of Japheth were Gomer, & Magog, & Madai, & Javan, and Tubal, and Bethsheh, and Tiras.

7 And the sonnes of Gomer, Ashkenaz, and Japheth and Togarmah.

8 The sonnes of Ham were Cush & Mizraim, Put and Canaan.

9 And the sonnes of Cush, Seba and Havilah, and Sabta, and Raamah, and Sabtecha. Also the sonnes of Raamah were Sheba and Dedan.

10 And Cush begat Nimrod, who began to be mightie in the earth.

11 And Mizraim begat Ludim and Ananiam, Lehabim and Naphtuhim:

12 Pathumim also, and Casluhim, of whom came the Philistims, & Caphtozim.

13 Also Canaan begat Sidon his first borne, and Heth.

14 And the Jebusite, & the Amorite, and the Girgashite,

15 And the Hivvite, and the Arkite and the Sinite,

16 And the Arvadite, and the Zemarite, and the Hamathite.

17 The sonnes of Shem were Elam and Asshur, and Arpachshad, & Lud, and <sup>d</sup> Aram, and Uz, and Hul, and Gether, and Bethsheh.

18 Also Arpachshad begate Shelah, and Shelah begate Eber.

19 Unto Eber also were borne two sonnes: the name of the one was Peleg: for in his dayes was the earth divided: & his brothers name was Joktan.

20 Then Joktan begate Almodad & Sheleph, & Hazernauth, and Jerah, & Hadozani, and Uzal & Diklah, & Ebal, & Abimael, and Sheba, & Ophir, and Havilah & Jobab: all these were the sonnes of Joktan.

21 And Shem, & Arpachshad, Shelah, Eber, Peleg, Rehu,

22 Serug, Nahor, Terah,

23 Abim, which is Abraham.

24 The sonnes of Abraham were Ishak, and Ishmael.

29 These are their generacions. * The eldest sonne of Ishmael was Nebaioth, and Kedar, and Adbeel, and Jisbiam, 30 Mitsina, and Dumah, & Massa, & Hadad, and Tema, 31 Jetur, Naphish and Kedemah: these are the sonnes of Ishmael.

32 And Keturah Abrahams concubine bare sonnes, Zimran, and Jokshan, and Medan, and Midian, & Ishbak, and Shuah: and the sonnes of Jokshan, Sheba, and Dedan.

33 And the sonnes of Midian were Ephaph, & Ephar, & Henoch, & Abida, & Eldaah: all these are the sonnes of Keturah.

34 * And Abraham begat Ishak: the sonnes of Ishak, Esau, and Israel.

35 The sonnes of Esau were Eliphaz, Reuel, & Jeush, & Jaala, & Korah, 36 The sonnes of Eliphaz, Teman, and Omar, & Zephi, and Gatam, & Kenaz, and Timna, and Amalet.

37 The sonnes of Reuel, Rahath, Zerah, Shammah and Ozzah.

38 And the sonnes of Seir, Lotan, and Shobal, and Zibeon, and Anah, and Dishon, and Ezer and Dishan.

39 And the sonnes of Lotan, Hori, & Homam, and Timna Lotans sister.

40 The sonnes of Shobal were Aelian, and Manahath, and Ebal, Shephit, and Dnam. And the sonnes of Zibeon, Aiah and Anah.

41 The sonne of Anah was Dishon, and the sonnes of Dishon, Amran, and Elhan, and Ithyan, and Cheran.

42 The sonnes of Ezer were Bilhan, and Zaavan, and Jaakan. The sonnes of Dishon were Uz, and Aran.

43 And these were the Kings that reigned in the lande of Edom, before a king reigned over the childe of Israel, [to wit, Bela the sonne of Beor, and the name of his city was Dinhabah.

44 The Bela died, & Jobab the sonne of Zerah of Bozrah reigned in his stead.

45 And when Jobab was dead, Husham of the land of the Temanites reigned in his stead.

46 And when Husham was dead, Hadad the sonne of Bedad which smote Midian in the field of Moab, reigned in his stead, & the name of his cite was Avith.

47 So Hadad died, and Samlah of Hathereah reigned in his stead.

48 And Samlah died, & Shaul of Rehoboth by the river reigned in his stead.

49 And when Shaul was dead, Baalhanan the sonne of Achbor reigned in his stead.

1 The genealogie of the sonnes of Iudah, 5 Of Ashur, 9 Of Jabez and his prayer, 11 Of Shelub, 24 And Simeon: their habitations, 38 And conquests.

The sonnes of Iudah [were] Pharez, Hezron, & Carmi, and Hur, and Shobai.

2 And Beaiiah the sonne of Shobai begat Jahath, and Jahath begat Ahumai, & Lahad: these are the families of the Zorathites.

3 And these were of the father of Etam, Jisrael, and Jihna and Jodah: & the name of their sister [was] Hazeleponi.

4 And Penuel [was] the father of Gedoz, & Ezer the father of Hithah: these are the sonnes of Hur the eldest sonne of Ephraiah, the father of Beth-lehem.

5 But Ashur the father of Tekoa had two wives, Heleah, and Raarah.

6 And Raarah bare him Ahuzam, and Hopher, and Temem and Haashtrai: these were the sonnes of Raarah.

7 And the sonnes of Heleah [were] Zereth, Jesohar and Ethnan.

8 Also Coz begate Anub, and Zobeab, and the families of Ahaziel the sonne of Hartan.

9 But Jabez was more honourable then his brethren: and his mother called his name Jabez, saying, Because I bare him in sorrow.

10 And Jabez called on the God of Israel, saying, If thou wilt bless me in decree, and enlarge my coastes, and [if] thine hand be with mee, and thou wilt cause me to be delivered from evil, that I bee not hurt. And God graunted the thing that he asked.

11 Of Shelub & brother of Shuah

CHAP. V.

27 And Shimei had sixtene sonnes, and six daughters, but his brethren had not many children, neither was all their familie like to the children of Judah in multitude.

28 And they dwelt at Beer-sheba, & at Holadah, and at Hazar Shual,

29 And at Zibah, and at Esem, and at Tolad,

30 And at Bethuel, and at Hor-mah, and at Ziklag,

31 And at Beth-marcaboth, and at Hazar Sufin, at Beth-birei, & at Shara-ram. these were their cities vnto the reign of David.

32 And their towynes [were] Etam, and Ain Rimmon, and Tochen, and Ahan, five cities.

33 And all their towynes that were rounde about these cities vnto Baal. These are their habitations and the declaration of their genealogie,

34 And Jeshobab & Jamlech, and Josuah the sonne of Amathiah,

35 And Joel and Jehu the sonne of Joshibiah, the sonne of Seraiah, the sonne of Aziel,

36 And Elionai, and Jaakobah, and Jeshobah, and Alaiah, and Adiel and Jesimiel and Benaiah, 37 And Ziza the sonne of Shipheth, the sonne of Allon, the sonne of Jedayah, the sonne of Shimi, the sonne of Shemaiah.

38 These were famous princes in their families, & increased greatly their fathers houses.

39 And they<sup>1</sup> went to the entering in of Gedor, euen vnto the East side of the valley to seeke pasture for their sheepe.

40 And they founde fat pasture and good, and a wide lande, both quiet and fruitfull: for they of Ham had dwelt there before.

41 And these described by name, came in the daies of Hezekiah king of Judah, and smote their tentes, and the inhabitants that were founde there, & destroyed the utterly vnto this day, and dwelt in their rounne, because there was pasture there for their sheepe.

42 And besides these, five hundred men of the sonnes of Simeon went to mount Seir, and Pelatiah, [and] Neariah, and Kophai, & Uzziel<sup>2</sup> sonnes of Jithai [were] their captaines, 43 And they smote the rest of Amalek that had<sup>3</sup> escaped, and they dwelt there vnto this day.

12 And Abiaiah the sonne of Jeroham, the sonne of Balthur, the sonne of Balchiah, and Baasai the sonne of Adiel, the sonne of Jahzerah, the sonne of Beshullam, the sonne of Beshillemuth, the sonne of Zimner.

13 And their brethren the chiefe of the households of their fathers a thousande, seven hundredz and threescore valiant men, for the <sup>d</sup> worke of the seruice of the house of God.

14 And of the Leuites, Shemaiah the sonne of Balthub, the sonne of Azrikam, the sonne of Balthabiah of <sup>e</sup> sonnes of Herari,

15 And Bakkakhar, Hereth & Salal, and Bathaniah the sonne of Bicha, the sonne of Zichri, the sonne of Alaph,

16 And Obadiah <sup>f</sup> sonne of Shemaiah, the sonne of Salal, the sonne of Jeduthun, and Berechiah, the sonne of Asa, the sonne of Elkanah, that dwelt in the villages of the Bethphathites.

17 And <sup>g</sup> porters were Shallum, & Akkub, & Talmon, and Ahiman, & their brethren: Shallum [was] the chiefe.

18 For they were porters to this time by copanies of the children of Leui vnto the kings gate Eastward.

19 And Shallum the sonne of Kore the sonne of Ebialaph the sonne of Korah, and his brethren the Korathites (of the house of their father) [were] ouer the worke, [and] office to keepe the gates of the <sup>h</sup> Tabernacle: so their families [were] ouer the hoste of the Lorde, keeping the entrie.

20 And Bshineas the sonne of Eleazar was their guide, & the Lord [was] with him.

21 Zechariah the sonne of Beshelemiah [was] the porter of the doore of the Tabernacle of the Congregation.

22 All these were chosen for porters of the gates, two hundredz and twelue, which were nombred according to their genealogies by their tolunes. Dauid established these and Samuel the Seer [in] their perpetuall office.

23 So they and their children had the oversight of the gates of the house of the Lord, euen of the house of the Tabernacle by wardes.

24 The porters were in foure quarters Eastwarde, westwarde, Northwarde, and Southwarde.

25 And their brethren, [which were] in their tolunes, came at <sup>i</sup> seven dayes from time to time with them.

26 For these foure chief porters were in perpetual office, and were of the Leuites and had charge of the chambers, & of the treasures in the house of God.

27 And they lay rounde about the house of God, because the charge [was] theirs, and they tauled it to be opened euery morning.

28 And certaine of them had the rule of the ministring vessels: for they brought them in by tale, and brought them out by tale.

29 Some of them also were appointed ouer the instruments, and ouer all the vessels of the Sanctuarie, and of the <sup>j</sup> floure, and the wine, and the oyle, and the incense, and the swete odours.

30 And certaine of the sonnes of the Priestes made ointmentes of swete odours.

31 And Mattithiah one of <sup>k</sup> Leuites which was the eldest sone of Shallum the Korhite, had the charge of <sup>l</sup> thinges that were made in the fying pan.

32 And other of their brethren <sup>m</sup> sonnes of Korah had <sup>n</sup> ouersight of the new bread to prepare it euery Sabbath.

33 And these are the fingers, the chief fathers of the Leuites, [which dwelt] in the chambers, and had none other charge: for they had to doe in that busynesse day and night.

34 These were the chiefe fathers of the Leuites according to their generations, and the principall which dwelt at Ierusalem.

35 And in Gibeon dwelt the father of Gibeon, Jeiel, and the name of his wife [was] Maachah.

CHAP. X.

1 The battell of Saul against the Philistims, 4 In which he dyeth, 5 And his sonnes also, 13 The cause of Sauls death.

2 Sam. 31. 1.

When *the Philistims fought against Israel: and the men of Israel fledde before the Philistims, and fell downe slaine in mount Gilboa.

2 And the Philistims pursued after Saul and after his sonnes, and the Philistims smote Jonathan, & Abinadab, and Malchithua the sonnes of Saul.

† Ebr. found.

3 And the battell was fore against Saul, and the archers * hit him, and he was wounded of the archers.

4 Then saide Saul to his armour bearer, Draw out thy sword, and thrust me through therewith, least these vncircumcised come and mocke at me: but his armour bearer woulde not, for he was fore afrayde: therefore Saul tooke the sword, and fell vpon it.

5 And when his armour bearer saw that Saul was dead, he fell likewise vpon the sword, and dyed.

6 So Saul died, and his three sonnes, and all his house, they dyed together.

7 And when all the men of Israel that were in the valley, sawe howe they fledde, and that Saul and his sonnes were dead, they forooke their cities, & fled away, and the Philistims came, and dwelt in them.

† Ebr. fallen.

8 And on the morowe when the Philistims came to spoyle them that were slaine, they found Saul and his sonnes * lying in mount Gilboa.

9 And when they had stript him, they tooke his head and his armour, and sent them into the lande of the Philistims rounde about, to publish it vnto their idoles, and to the people.

10 And they layde vp his armour in the house of their god, and set vp his head in the house of * Dagon.

a Which was the stole of the Philistims, & from the bellic downwarde had the forme of a ffly, and vprwarde of a man,

11 ¶ When all they of Iabesh Gilead heard all that the Philistims had done to Saul,

12 Then they arose (all the valiant men) and tooke the bodie of Saul, and the bodyes of his sonnes, and brought them to Iabesh, and buryed the bones of them vnder an oke in Iabesh, and safed seuen dayes.

13 So Saul dyed for his transgression, & he comitted against the Lord, * & he comitted against the word of the Lord, which he kept not, and in that hee sought and asked counsell of a * familiar spirit,

|| Or, witch, & sorceresse. 1 Sam. 28. 8.

14 And asked not of the Lord: therefore he slewe him, and turned the king: dome vnto Dauid the sonne of Ishai.

CHAP. XI.

3 After the death of Saul is Dauid anointed in Hebron, 5 The Jebusites rebel against Dauid, from whence he taketh the towne of Zion, 6 Ioab is made captaine, 10 His valiant men.

When * all Israel * gathered them selues to Dauid vnto Hebron, saying, Beholde, we are thy bones and thy flesh.

2 Sam. 5. 1. a This was after the death of Ithoboth Sauls sonne, when Dauid had reigned ouer Iudah seuen yeres & six monthes in Hebron, 2 Sam. 5. 5.

2 And in time past, euen when Saul was king, thou leddest Israel out and in: and the Lord thy God said vnto thee, Thou shalt feed my people Israel, and thou shalt be captaine ouer my people Israel.

3 So came all the Elders of Israel to the King to Hebron, and Dauid made a couenant with them in Hebron before the Lord. And they anoynted Dauid King ouer Israel, * according to the word of * the Lord by the hand of Samuel.

1 Sam. 16. 13.

4 ¶ And Dauid and all Israel went to Ierusalem, which is Jebus, where were the Jebusites, the inhabitants of the land.

5 And the inhabitants of Jebus said to Dauid, Thou shalt not come in hither. Neuerthelesse Dauid tooke the towne of Zion, which is the citie of Dauid.

2 Sam. 5. 8.

6 And Dauid said, * Whosoever smiteth the Jebusites first, shall be the chiefe and captaine. So Ioab the sonne of Zeruiah went first vp, & was captaine.

7 And Dauid dwelt in the towne: therefore they called it the citie of Dauid.

2 Sam. 5. 9.

8 * And he built the citie on euery side, from Billo euen round about: and Ioab repaired the rest of the citie.

9 And Dauid prospered, and grewe: for the Lord of hostes [was] with him.

2 Sam. 23. 8.

10 ¶ These also are the chiefe of the valiant me that were with Dauid, and ioyned their force to him in his kingdom vnto al Israel, to make him king ouer Israel, according to the word of the Lord.

11 And this is the number of the valiant me whom Dauid had, Iashebeam the sonne of Achymon, the * chiefe among thirtie: he lift vp his speare against thre hundred, whom he slew at one time.

b Opening, the most excellent and best esteemed for his valiantnes: some read, the chiefe of the princes,

12 And

12 And after him [was] Eleazar the
|| Or, his vncle. sonne of Dodo the Aholite, which was one of the three valiant men.

13 He was wth Dauid at Bat-danun, and there the Philistins were gathered together to battell: and there was a parcel of ground full of barley, and the people fled before the Philistins.

14 And they stood in the mids of the fieelde, and saued it, and slew the Philistins: so the Lord gaue a great victorie.

15 And three of ¶ thirtie captaines went to a rocke to Dauid, into the caue of Adullam. And the armie of the Philistins camped in the valley of Rephaim.

16 And when Dauid [was] in ¶ hold, ¶
 Philistins garison [was] at Beth-lehem.

17 And Dauid longed, and said, *Oh, that one woulde giue me to drinke of the water of the well of Beth-lehem that is at the gate.

18 Then these three brake thorow the hoste of the Philistins, and drew water out of the well of Beth-lehem that was
 by the gate, and tooke it and brought it to Dauid: but Dauid would not drinke of it, but powred it [for an oblation] to the Lord.

19 And saide, Let not my God suffer me to do this: should I drinke ¶ blood of these mes lues: for they haue brought
 it with the teopardie of their lues:
 therefore he would not drinke it: these things did these three nightie men.

20 And Abishai ¶ brother of Joab, he was chiefe of the three, & he lift vp his speare against three hundred, & [¶] slewe them, & had the name among the three.

21 Among the three he was more honorable then the two, and he was their captaine: *but he attained not vnto the [first] three.

22 Benaiah the sonne of Jehoiada
 (the sonne of a valiant man) which had done many acts, [and was] of Kabzeel, he slewe two strong men of Joab: he went downe also and slewe a lion in the muddes of a pit in time of snowe.

23 And he slewe an Egyptian, a man of great stature, [even] five cubites long, & in the Egyptians hand [was] a speare like a weauers beame: and he went downe to him with a staffe, and plucked the speare out of the Egyptians hande,
 and slewe him with his owne speare.

24 These things did Benaiah the sonne of Jehoiada, and had the name
 among the three worthies.

25 Beholde, he was honourable among thirtie, but he attained not vnto

 the [first] three. *And Dauid made him of his counsell.

26 These also were valiant me of warre, Alabel the brother of Joab, Elhanan the sonne of Dodo of Beth-lehem,

27 Shammoth the Harodite, Helez the Pelonite,

28 Ira the sonne of Ikkezh the Te-koite, Abiezer the Antothite,

29 Sibbecai the Hushathite, Itai the Aholite,

 the sonne of Baanah the Netophathite,

31 Ittai the sonne of Ribai of Gibeah of the children of Beniamin, Benaiah
 the Ierathonite,

32 Hurai of the riuers of Gaath, A-biel the Arbathite,

33 Ammameh the Baharumite, Elhaba the Shaalbomite,

34 The sonnes of Hashem the Gizonite, Jonathan the sonne of Shageh
 the Harite,

35 Ahiam the sonne of Sacar the Hararite, Eliphal the sonne of Ur,

36 Hopher the Netzerathite, Ahiah
 the Pelonite,

37 Hezo the Carmelite, Naarai the sonne of Ezbai,

38 Joel the brother of Nathan, Mahar the sonne of Maggeri,

39 Zelek the Ammonite, Nahrai the Berothite, the armour bearer of Joab,
 the sonne of Zeruiah,

40 Ira the Ithite, Gadi ¶ Ithite,

41 Uriah the Hittite, Zabab the sonne of Ahlai,

42 Adina the sonne of Shiza the Reubenite, a captaine of the Reube-nites, and thirtie with him,

43 Hanan the sonne of Maachah, and Ithaphat the Gishthite,

44 Azia the Netzerathite, Shama ¶
 Jeiel the sonnes of Othan the Aroerite,

45 Jedaiel the sonne of Shimri, and Joha his brother the Tizite,

46 Eliel the Mahavite, and Jeribai and Joshauiah the sonnes of Elnaam,
 and Ichmah the Moabite,

47 Eliel and Obed, and Jaasiel the Melosathite.

2 They were weaponed wth bowes, and coule use the right and the left hande wth stones and wth arrowes [and] wth bowes, [and] were of Sauls brethren, euen of Benjamin.

3 The chief were Ahieser, & Joash the sonnes of Shemaah a Gibeathite, & Jeziel, and Pelet the sonnes of Asinaueth, Berachah and Jehu p<sup>r</sup> Antothite, 4 And Jthmaiah p<sup>r</sup> Gibeonite, a valiant man among thirtie, and aboute the thirtie, and Jeremiaah, & Jehaziel, & Jothanan, and Jothabad the Gederathite.

5 Eluzai, and Jerimoth, and Bealiah, and Shemariah, and Shephatiah the Haruphite,

6 Elkanah, and Jthiah, and Azariel, and Joezer, Jashobeam of Hakorehim,

7 And Joelah, and Zebadiah, the sonnes of Jeroham of Gedoz,

8 And of the Gadites there separated them selues some vnto Dauid into the holde of the wilderness, valiant men of warre, [and] men of armes, [and] apt for battell, which coude handle speare and shield, and their faces were like the faces of lions, and were like the roes in the mountaines in swiftnesse,

9 Ezer the chiefe, Obadiah p<sup>r</sup> second, Eliab the third,

10 Jthmaniah the fourth, Jeremiah the fift,

11 Attai the sixt, Eliel the seuenth,

12 Johanan p<sup>r</sup> eight, Esabab p<sup>r</sup> ninth,

13 Jeremiah the tenth, Nabannai the eleuenth.

14 These were the sonnes of Gad, captaynes of the hoste: one of the least [could resist] an hundreth, and the greatest a thousande.

15 These are they that went ouer Jordan in the first moneth when hee had filled ouer all his bankes, and put to flight all them of the valley, toward the East and the West.

16 And there came of the children of Benjamin, and Judah to the holde vnto Dauid,

17 And Dauid went out to meete them, and answered and sayd vnto the, If ye be come peaceably vnto me, to helpe me, mine heart shall be knit vnto you, but if you [come] to betray mee to mine aduersaries, [seeing] there is no wickednesse in mine handes, the God of our fathers beholde it, and rebuke it.

18 And the spirit came vpon Anna-lai, which was the chiefe of thirtie, [and] he sayde, Thine [are we], Dauid, and with thee, O sonne of Jthai. Peace, peace be vnto thee, and peace be vnto thine helpers: for thy God helpeth thee. Then Dauid receiued them, and made them captaynes of the garrison.

19 And of Manasseh [some] fell to Dauid, when he came with the Philistines against Saul to battell, but they helped them not: for the princes of the Philistines by aduiseinent sent him away, saying, he will fall to his master Saul for our heades.

20 As he went to Ziklag, there fel to him of Manasseh, Adnah, & Jozabad, & Jedaiel, and Michael, and Jozabad, and Elisu, and Zittai, heades of the thousandes that were of Manasseh.

21 And they helped Dauid against that bande: for they were all valiant men and were captaynes in the hoste.

22 For at that time day by day there came to Dauid to help him, vntil it was a great hoste, like the hoste of God.

23 And these are the nombers of the captaynes that were armed to battell, [and] came to Dauid to hebron to turne the kingdome of Saul to him, according to the worde of the Lorde.

24 The children of Judah that bare shielde and speare, were six thousand and eight hundreth armed to warre.

25 Of the children of Simeon valiant men of warre, seuen thousande and an hundreth.

26 Of the children of Levi foure thousande and sixe hundreth.

27 And Jehoiada [was] the chiefe of them of Aaron: and with him thre thousande and seuen hundreth.

28 And Zadok a yong man very valiant, & of his fathers housholde [came] two and twentie captaynes.

29 And of the children of Benjamin the brethren of Saul thre thousande: for a great part of them vnto that time kept the warde of the house of Saul.

30 And of the children of Ephraim twentie thousande, and eight hundreth valiant men [and] famous men in the housholde of their fathers.

31 And of the halfe tribe of Manasseh eightene thousande, which were appointed by name to come and make Dauid King.

34 And of Naphtali a thousand captaines, and with them with shilde and speare seven and thirtie thousande.

35 And of Dan expert in battell, eight and twentie thousand, and six hundredeth.

36 And of Asher that went out to the battell and were trained in the warres, fourtie thousand.

37 And of the other side of Jordan of the Reubenites, and of the Gadites, & of the halfe tribe of Manasseh with all instruments of warre to fight with, an hundredeth and twentie thousande.

38 All these men of warre [I] could lead an armie, came with byright heart to hebron to make Dauid King over all Israel: and all the rest of Israel [was] of one accord to make Dauid King:

7 The Arke is brought againe fro Kiriath-icarim to Ierusalem. 9 Uzza dyeth because he touched it.

AND Dauid counseled with the captaines of thousandes and of hundredeths, [and] with all the governours.

2 And Dauid sayde to all the Congregation of Israel. If it seeme good to you, [and] that it p[ro]ceedeth of the Lorde our God, we will send to and see vnto our brethren, that are left in all the lande of Israel (for with them are the Priestes and the Levites in the cities, and [their] suburbs) that they may assemble themselves vnto vs.

3 And he wil bring againe the Arke of our God to vs: for we fought not vnto it in the dayes of Saul.

4 And all the Congregation answered, Let vs doe so: for the thing seemed good in the eyes of all the people.

5 So Dauid gathered all Israel together from Shihor in Egypt, euen vnto y<sup>e</sup> entering of Hamath, to bring the Arke of God from Kiriath-icarim.

6 And Dauid went vp and al Israel to Baalath, in Kiriath-icarim, that was in Iudah, to bring vp from thence the Arke of God the Lorde that dwelleth betwene the Cherubims, where his Name is called on.

7 And they caryed the Arke of God in a newe cart out of the house of Abinadab: and Uzza & Ahio guided the cart.

8 And Dauid and all Israel played before God with al [their] might, both with songs and with harpes, and with violles, and with timbrels and with cymbales and with trumpets.

9 And when they came vnto the threshing floore of Chidon, Uzza put forth his hande to holde the Arke, for the oxen did shake it.

10 But the wrath of the Lorde was kindled against Uzza, and hee smote him, because he layed his hand vpon the Arke: so he dyed there before God.

11 And Dauid was angrie, because the Lorde had made a breach in Uzza, and he called the name of that place Perez-uzza vnto this day.

12 And Dauid feared God that day, saying, Howe shall I bring in to me the Arke of God:

13 Therefore Dauid brought not the Arke to him into the citie of Dauid, but caused it to turne into the house of Obed Edom the Gittite.

14 So the Arke of God remained in the house of Obed Edom, [euen] in his house three moneths: and the Lorde blessed the house of Obed Edom, and al that he had.

11 And David called Zadok and Abiathar the priests, & of the Levites, Uriel, Alaiah and Joel, Shemaiah, and Eliel, and Amminadab:

12 And he sayd unto them, Be are the chiefe fathers of the Levites: sanctifie your selves, and your brethren, and bring by the Arke of the Lord God of Israel unto the place that I have prepared for it.

e Prepare your selves, & be pure, absterne from all things where by ye might be polluted, & so not able to come to the Tabernacle, Chap. 13. 70.

13 For *because ye were not there at the first, & Lord our God made a breach [due] order.

14 So the priests and the Levites sanctified them selves to bring by the Arke of the Lord God of Israel.

f According as he hath appointed in the Law.

15 And the sonnes of the Levites bare the Arke of God upon their shoulders with the barres, as Moses had commanded, *according to the worde of the Lord.

Exod. 25. 14. 15.

16 And David spake to the chiefe of the Levites, that they should appoint [certaine] of their brethren to sing with instruments of musike, with viols and harpes, and cymbales, that they might make a sound, and lift by their voyce with toye.

g These instruments and other ceremonies, which they observed, were instructions of their conscience, which continued to the committing of sin.

17 So the Levites appointed Heman the sonne of Joel, and of his brethren Asaph the sonne of Berechiah, and of the sonnes of Merari their brethren, Ethan the sonne of Kushaiah,

18 And with them their brethren in the second degree, Zechariah, Ben, and Jaaziel, and Shemiramoth, & Jehiel, and Umi, Eliab, & Benaiah, and Haafiah, and Mattithiah, and Elipheiah, and Hkneah, and Obed Edom, and Jeiel the porters.

19 So Heman, Alaph and Ethan [were] singers to make a sound with cymbales of brass,

20 And Zechariah, and Aziel, and Shemiramoth, and Jehiel, and Umi, and Eliab, and Haafiah, and Benaiah with viols on Alamoth, 21 And Mattithiah, and Elipheiah, and Hkneah, and Obed Edom, and Jeiel, and Azaziah, with harpes vpon Shemimith Jemasseah.

22 But Chenaniah the chiefe of the Levites had the charge, bearing the burden in the charge, for he was able to instruct.

23 And Berechiah & Elkanah were porters for the Arke.

24 And Shecaniah and Jehoshaphat and Bethaneel and Amasai, and Zechariah, and Benaiah, and Eliezer the priests did blowe with trumpets before the Arke of God, and Obed Edom and Jeiah [were] porters for the Arke.

25 * So Dauid and the Elders of Israel & the captaynes of thousands went to bring by the Arke of the covenant of the Lorde from the house of Obed Edom with ioye.

26 And because that God helped the Levites that bare the Arke of the covenant of the Lorde, they offered seven bullocks and seven rammes.

27 And Dauid had on him a linnen garment, as all the Levites that bare the Arke, and the singers & Chenaniah that had the chiefe charge of the singers: and vpon Dauid [was] a linnen Ephod.

28 Thus all Israel brought by the Arke of the Lords covenant with shouting and sound of cornet and with trumpets, & with cymbales, making a sound with viols and with harpes.

29 And when the Arke of the covenant of the Lorde came into the cite of Dauid, Michal the daughter of Saul looked out at a window, and sawe king Dauid dancing and playing, and she despised him in her heart.

1 The Arke being placed, they offer sacrifices. 4 Dauid excheimeth Alaph and his brethren to minister before the Lorde. 8 He appointeth a notable Psalm to be sung in praise of the Lorde.

So they brought in the Arke of God, and set it in the mids of the Tabernacle that Dauid had pitched for it, & they offered burnt offerings and peace offerings before God.

2 And when Dauid had made an end of offering the burnt offering & the peace offerings, he blessed the people in the Name of the Lorde.

3 And he dealt to every one of Israel both man and woman, to every one a cake of bread, and a piece of flesh, and a bottel of wine.

4 And he appointed certaine of the Levites to minister before the Arke of the Lorde, and to rehearse & to thanke and prayse the Lord God of Israel.

5 Alaph the chiefe, & next to him Zechariah, Jeiel, and Shemiramoth, and Jehiel, and Mattithiah, and Eliab, and Benaiah, and Obed Edom, even Jeiel with instruments, viols and harpes, and Alaph to make a sound with cymbales,

6 [And] Benaiah & Jahaziel Priests, with trumpets continually before the Arke of the covenant of God.

7 Then at that time Dauid did appoint at the beginning to give thanks to the Lorde by the hand of Alaph and his brethren.

8 * Prayse the Lorde [and] call vpon his Name: declare his workes among the people.

9 Sing vnto him, sing prayse vnto him, [and] talke of all his wonderfull workes.

10 Reioyce in his holy Name: let the hearts of them that seeke the Lorde reioyce.

11 Seeke the Lord and his strength: seeke his face continually.

12 Remember his marvellous workes that he hath done, his wonders, and the iudgements of his mouth,

13 O seede of Israel his seruant, O the children of Iakob his chosen.

14 He is the Lord our God: his iudgements are throughout all the earth.

15 Remember his covenant for ever, [and] the word, which he commaunded to a thousand generations:

30 Tremble ye before him, all the earth: surely the worlde shall be stable [and] not mooue.

31 Let the heauens reioyce, & let the earth be glad, and let them say among the nations, The Lord reigneth.

32 Let the Sea roare, and all that therein is: let the helde be ioyfull and all that is in it.

33 Let the trees of the wood then reioyce at the presence of the Lord: for he commeth to iudge the earth.

34 Prayle the Lord, for he is good, for his mercie endureth [for] euer.

35 And say ye, Saue vs, O God, our saluation, and gather vs, and deliuer vs from the heathen, that we may prayle thine holy Name, and glorie in thy prayle.

36 Blessed be the Lord God of Israel for euer and euer: and let all people say, So be it, and prayle the Lord.

37 ¶ Then he left there before the Arke of the Lords covenant Asaph and his brethren to minister continually before the Arke, that which was to be done every day:

38 And Obed Edom & his brethren, three score and eight: and Obed Edom the sonne of Jeduthun, & Hosah [were] porters.

39 And Zadok the Priest and his brethren the Priests [were] before the Tabernacle of the Lord, in the hie place that was at Gibeon,

40 To offer burnt offrings vnto the Lord, vpon the burnt offering altar continually, in the morning and in the evening, euen according vnto all that is written in the Law of the Lord, which he commanded Israel.

41 And with them [were] Heman, and Jeduthun, & the rest that were chosen [which were appointed by names] to prayle the Lord, because his mercie endureth [for] euer.

42 Euen with them [were] Heman and Jeduthun, to make a sound with the cornets and with the cymbales, with excellent instruments of musike: and the sonnes of Jeduthun were at the gate.

43 And all the people departed, every man to his house: and Dauid returned to blesse his house.

CHAP. XVII.

3 Dauid is forbidden to build an house vnto the Lord, 12 Christ is promised vnder the figure of Salomon. 18 Dauid giueth thanks, 23 And prayeth vnto God.

NOWE afterward when Dauid dwelt in his house, hee said to Nathan the prophet, Behold, I dwell in an house of cedar trees, but the Arke of the Lords covenant remaineth vnder curtains.

2 Then Nathan sayd to Dauid, Doe all that is in thine heart: for God is with thee.

3 And the same night euen the word of God came to Nathan, saying,

4 Goe, and tell Dauid my seruant, Thus sayth the Lord, Thou shalt not build me an house to dwell in:

5 For I haue dwelt in no house, since the day that I brought out the children of Israel vnto this day, but I haue bin from tent to tent, and from habitation [to habitation.]

8 And I haue bene with thee whither soeuer thou hast walked, and haue destroyed all thine enemies out of thy sight, and haue made thee a name, like the name of the great men that are in the earth.

9 Also I will appoint a place for my people Israel, and will plant it, that they may dwell in their place, and none no more: neither shall the wicked people vex them any more, as at the beginning,

11 And when thy dayes shall be fulfilled to go with thy fathers, then will I raise vp thy seede after thee, which shall be of thy sonnes, and will stablish his kingdom.

12 He shall build me an house, and I will stablish his throne for euer.

13 I will be his father, and he shall be my sonne, and I wil not take my mercie away from him, as I tooke it from him that was before thee.

14 But I will establish him in mine house, and in my kingdom for euer, and his throne shall be stablished for euer.

15 According to all these wordes, and according to all this vision. So Nathan spake to Dauid.

16 And Dauid the King went in and laye before the Lord and sayd, who am I, O Lord God, and what is mine house, that thou hast brought me hither to?

17 Yet thou esteeming this a small thing, O God, hast also spoken concerning the house of thy seruant for a great while, and hast regarded me according to the estate of a man of <sup>9</sup> his degree, O Lord God.

18 What can Dauid desire more of thee for the honour of thy seruant: for thou knowest thy seruant.

19 O Lord, for thy seruants sake, euen according to thine heart hast thou done all this great thing to declare all magnificence.

20 Lord, there is none like thee, nei-

22 For thou hast ordeined thy people Israel to be thine owne people for euer, and thou Lord art become their God.

23 Therefore now Lord, let the thing that thou hast spoken concerning thy seruant & concerning his house, be confirmed for euer, and doe as thou hast sayd, 24 And let thy Name be stable & magnified for euer, that it may be sayd, The Lord of hostes, God of Israel, is the God of Israel, & let the house of Dauid thy seruant be stablished before thee.

25 For thou, O my God, hast reuelled vnto me of thy seruant, that thou wilt build him an house: therefore thy seruant hath bin bolde to pray before thee.

26 Therefore now be Lord, [for] thou art God, and hast spoken thy goodness vnto thy seruant)

27 Willve therefore, it hath pleased thee to blesse the house of thy seruant, that it may be before thee for euer: for thou, O Lord, hast blessed it, and it shall be blessed for euer.

7 And Dauid tooke the shields of golde that were of the seruants of Hadarezer, and brought them to Ierusalem.

8 And from Tibhath, & from Chun (cities of Hadarezer) brought Dauid exceeding much brasle, wherewith Salomon made the brasen Sea, and the pillars and the vessels of brasle.

9 ¶ Then Tou king of Hamath heard howe Dauid had smitten all the hoste of Hadarezer king of Zobah:

10 Therefore hee sent Hadoram his sonne to king Dauid, to salute him, & to reioyce with him, because he had fought against Hadarezer, and beaten him (for Tou had warre with Hadarezer) who brought all vessels of golde, and siluer and brasle.

2 And Dauid said, I will shew kindness vnto Hanun the sonne of Nahash, because his father shewed kindness vnto mee.

And Dauid sent messengers to comfort him for his father. So the seruants of Dauid came into the land of the children of Ammon to Hanun to comfort him.

3 And the princes of the children of Ammon saide to Hanun, Thinkest thou that Dauid doeth honour thy father, that he hath sent comforters vnto thee? Are not his seruants come to thee to search, to seeke and to spy out the land?

4 Wherefore Hanun tooke Dauids seruants, and shaued them, and cut off their garments by the halfe vnto the buttockes, and sent them away.

5 And there went certaine land to Dauid concerning the men: and he sent to meeke them (for the men were exceedingly ashamed) and the king said, Take it at Jericho, vntill your bearded be growen: then returne.

6 ¶ When the children of Ammon saw that they stank in the sight of Dauid, then sent Hanun and the children of Ammon a thousande talents of siluer to hyre them chariots and horsemen out of Aram Naharaim & out of Aram Baachah, and out of Zobah.

7 And they hired them two and thirtie thousande chariots, and the king of Baachah and his people, which came and pitched before Medeba: and the childre of Ammon gathered themselves together from their cities, and came to the battell.

8 ¶ And when Dauid heard, he sent Joab and all the hoste of the valiant men.

9 And the children of Ammon came out, and let their battell in aray at the gate of the cite. And the kings that were come, were by themselves in the filde.

10 When Joab saide that the front of the battell was against him before and behind, then he chose out of all the chosse of Israel, and let him selfe in aray to meeke the Aramites.

11 And the rest of the people he deliuered vnto the hande of Abithai his brother, and they put themselves in aray against the children of Ammon.

16 And when the Aramites sawe that they were discomfited before Israel, they sent messengers and caused the Aramites to come forth that were beyond the river: and Shophach the captaine of the hoste of Hadarezer [went] before them.

17 And when it was shewed Dauid, hee gathered all Israel, and went ouer Jordan, and came vnto them, and put him selfe in aray against them: And when Dauid had put him selfe in battell away to meet the Aramites, they fought with him.

18 But the Aramites fled before Israel, and Dauid destroyed of the Aramites seven thousand charrets, and fourtie thousand footemen, and killed Shophach the captaine of the hoste.

19 And when the seruants of Hadarezer sawe that they fell before Israel, they made peare with Dauid, and serued him. And the Aramites would no more succour the children of Ammon.

AND when the yeere was expired, in the time that kings go out [a warfare,] Joab carried out the strength of the armie, and destroyed the countrey of the children of Ammon, and came and besieged Rabbah (but Dauid taried at Jerusalem) and Joab smote Rabbah and destroyed it.

2 Then Dauid tooke the crowne of their king from off his head, and founde it the weight of a talent of golde, with precious stones in it: and it was set on Dauids head, and he brought away the spoile of the cite exceeding much.

3 And he caried away the people that were in it, and cut them with sawes, and with harrowes of yon, and with axes: euen thus did Dauid with all the cities of the children of Ammon. Then Dauid and all the people came againe to Jerusalem.

4 And after this also there arose warre at Gazer with the Philistines:

then Sibberchai the Iushathite slew Sippai, of the children of Haraphah, and they were subdued.

5 And there was yet [another] battell with the Philistines: and Echanan the sonne of Jair slew Lahmi, the brother of Goliath the Gittite, whose speare [was] like a weavers beame.

2 Therefore Dauid saide to Joab, and to the rulers of the people, Go, [and] number Israel from Beer-sheba euen to Dan, and bring it to me, that I may know the number of them.

3 And Joab answered, The Lord increase his people an hundred times to many as they be. My lord the king: are they not all my lords seruants: wherefore doeth my lord require this thing: why should he be a cause of trespass to Israel?

4 Neuertheless the kings word prevailed against Joab. And Joab departed and went through all Israel, and returned to Jerusalem.

5 And Joab gaue the number [and] summe of the people vnto Dauid: and all Israel were eleven hundredth thousand men that drew wood: and Judah was foure hundredth and seuentie thousand men that drew wood.

6 But the Leuites & Benjamin counted hee not among them: for the kings word was abominable to Joab.

7 And God was displeased with this thing: therefore he smote Israel.

Or, Gob,
2 Sam. 21.18.

10 Go and tell Dauid, saying, Thus saith the Lord, I offer thee three things: choose thee one of them, that I may do it unto thee.

11 So Gad came to Dauid, and said unto him, Thus saith the Lord, Take to thee

12 Either three yeres famine, or three moneths to be destroyed before thine aduersaries, & the sword of thine enemies || to take [ thee, ] or els the sword of the Lord & pestilence in the land three dayes, that the Angel of the Lord may destroy throughout all the coastes of Israel: nowe therefore aduise thee. What word I shal bring againe to him that sent me.

13 And Dauid saide vnto Gad, I am in a wonderfull strait: let me now fall into the hand of the Lord: for his mercies [ are ] exceeding great, and let me not fall into the hand of man.

14 So the Lorde sent a pestilence in Israel, and there fell of Israel seuentie thousand men.

15 And God sent the Angel into Jerusalem to destroy it. And as he was destroying, the Lord behelde, and repented of the euill and said to the Angel that destroyed, It is now ynough, let thine hand cease. Then the Angel of the Lord stood by the threshing floore of Ormans the Iebusite.

16 And Dauid lift by his eyes, & saue the Angel of the Lorde stand betwene the earth and the heauen with his sword dialwen in his hand, [ and ] stretched out towarde Jerusalem. Then Dauid and the Elders of Israel, which were clothed in sacke, fell vpon their faces.

17 And Dauid saide vnto God, Is it not I that commaunded to number the people? It is euen I that haue sinned and haue committed euill, but these theepes what haue they done? O Lord my God, I beseech thee, let thine hand be on mee and on my fathers house, and not on thy people for their destruction.

18 Then the Angel of the Lorde commaunded Gad to say to Dauid, that Dauid should go vp, and set vp an altar vnto the Lord in the threshing floore of Ormans the Iebusite.

19 So Dauid went by according to the saying of Gad, which he had spoken in the name of the Lord.

20 And Orman turned about, and saue the Angel, and his foure sonnes [ that were ] with him, hid themselves, and Orman threshed wheate.

21 And as Dauid came to Orman, Orman looked and saue Dauid, and went out of the threshing floore, and bowed him selfe to Dauid with his face to the ground.

22 And Dauid saide to Orman, Giue mee the place of [ thy ] threshing floore, that I may builde an altar therein vnto the Lord: giue it me for sufficient money, that the plague may be stayed from the people.

23 Then Orman saide vnto Dauid, Take it to thee, & let my lord the king do that which seemeth him good: lo, I giue thee bullockes for burnt offrings, and threshing instruments for wood, and wheate for meate offering. I giue it all.

24 And king Dauid saide to Orman, Not so: but I will bye it for sufficient money: for I will not take that which is thine for the Lord, nor offer burnt offrings without cost.

25 So Dauid gaue to Orman for that place <sup>m</sup> sixe hundred shekels of golde by weight.

26 And Dauid builde there an altar vnto the Lord, and offered burnt offrings, and peace offrings, and called vpon the Lord, & he answered him by fire from heauen vpon the altar of burnt offering.

27 And when the Lorde had spoken to the Angel, he put by his sword againe into his sheath.

28 At that time whe Dauid saw that the Lorde had heard him in the threshing floore of Orman the Iebusite, then he sacrificed there.

29 (But the Tabernacle of the Lord which Moses had made in the wilderness, & the altar of burnt offering [ were ] at that season in the hie place at Gibeon.)

30 And Dauid coulde not go before it to aske counsel at God: for he was afraid of the sword of the Angel of the Lord.)

CHAP. XXII.

1 Dauid prepareth things necessarye for the building of the Temple. 2 He commaunded his sonne Salomon to builde the Temple of the Lord, which thing he himselfe was forbidden to do. 3 Under the figure of Salomon Christ is promissed.

And Dauid said, This is the house of the Lord God, and this is the altar for the burnt offering of Israel.

2 And Dauid commaunded to gather together the strangers that were in the lande of Israel, and hee set mai sons to hebe and polish stones to build the house of God.

3 Dauid also prepared much yron for the nailes of the doozes [ & ] of the gates.

4 And cedar trees without number :

brought much cedar wood to Dauid.

5 And Dauid sayde, Salomon my sonne is yong and tender, and we must build an house for the Lord, magnificall, excellent and of great fame and dignitie throughout all countries. I will therefore now prepare for him. So Dauid prepared very much before his death.

6 Then he called Salomon his sonne, and charged him to build an house for the Lord God of Israel.

7 And Dauid said to Salomon, * My sonne, I purposed with my selfe to build an house to the Name of the Lord my God,

8 But the word of the Lord came to me, saying, * d Thou hast shed much blood, and hast made great battels: thou shalt not build an house vnto my Name:
for thou hast shed much blood vpon the earth in thy sight.

9 Beholde, a sonne is borne to thee, which shall be a man of rest, for: I will give him rest fro all his enemies rounde about: therefore his name is Salomon:
and I will send peace and quietnes vpon
Israel in thy dayes.

10 * He shall build an house for my Name, and he shall be my sonne, and I will be his father, and I will establish the throne of his kingdome vpon Israel
for euer.

11 Now therefore my sonne, the Lord
shalbe with thee, and thou shalt prosper, and thou shalt build an house to the Lord thy God, as he hath spoke of thee.

12 Onely the Lord giue thee wisdom and vnderstanding, and giue thee charge ouer Israel, euen to keepe the Lawe of the Lord thy God.

13 Then thou shalt prosper, if thou take heed to obserue the statutes and the iudgements which the Lord commanded Moses for Israel: be strong and of good courage: feare not, neither be afrade.

14 For beholde, according to my pouertie haue I prepared for the house of the Lord an hundred thousand talents of golde, & a thousand thousand talents of siluer, and of brasse and of yron passing weight: for there was abundance:
I haue also prepared timber and stone,
and thou mayest prouide more thereto.

15 Moreover thou hast workemen with thee ynough, helvers of stone, and workemen for timber, and all men expert in euery worke.

16 Of golde, of siluer, [and] of brasse,
and of yron there is no number: * Up [therefore] and be doing, and the Lord will be with thee.

17 Dauid also commaunded all the princes of Israel to helpe Salomon his sonne, [saying,]

18 Is not the Lord your God with you, and hath giuen you rest on euery side: for he hath giuen the inhabitants of the land into mine hand, and the land is subdued before the Lord and before his people.

19 Nowe let * your heartes and your soules to seeke the Lord your God, and arise, and build the Sanctuarie of the Lord God to bring the Arke of the covenant of the Lord, and the holy vessels of God into the house built for the Name of the Lord.

CHAP. XXIII.

13 * The sonnes of Amram, Aaron and Moyses: and Aaron was separated to sanctifie the most holie place, he and his sonnes for euer to burne incense before the Lord, to minister to him, and to blesse in his Name for euer.

14 ¶ Moyses also the man of God, [ & ] his children were named with the tribe of Leui.

15 The sonnes of Moyses [were] Gershom, and Eliezer,

16 Of the sonnes of * Gershom [was] Shebuel the chiefe.

17 And ¶ sonne of Eliezer [was] Rehabiah the chiefe: for Eliezer had none other sonnes: but the sonnes of Rehabiah were very many.

18 The sonne of Ishar [was] Shelo-mith the chiefe.

19 The sonnes of hebzon [were] Jeriah the first, Amariah ¶ second, Jahaziel the third, & Jehaniam the fourth.

20 The sonnes of Elziel [were] Meshach the first, and Meshiah the second.

21 ¶ The sonnes of Merari [were] Mahli & Mushi. The sonnes of Mahli, Eleazar and Kishi.

22 And Eleazar dyed, and had no sonnes, but daughters, and their brethren the sonnes of Kishi tooke them.

23 The sonnes of Mushi [were] Mahli, and Eder, and Jerimoth, three.

24 These were the sonnes of Leui according to the house of their fathers, [euen] ¶ chiefe fathers according to their offices, according to ¶ number of names [and] their summe that did the worke for the seruice of the house of the Lord from the age of twentie yeres & aboue.

25 For Dauid said, The Lord God of Israel hath giuen rest vnto his people, that they may dwell in Ierusalem for euer.

26 And also the Leuites shal no more beare the Tabernacle and al the vessels for the seruice thereof.

27 Therefore according to the last words of Dauid, ¶ Leuites were nombred from twentie yere and aboue,

28 And their office [was] vnder the hand of the sonnes of Aaron, for the seruice of the house of the Lord in ¶ courts, and chambers, & in the ¶ purifying of all

Dauid assigneth offices vnto the sonnes of Aaron.

¶ These are also the * diuisions of the sonnes of Aaron, The sonnes of Aaron [were] Nadab, and Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar.

2 But Nadab and Abihu dyed * be- fore their father, and had no children: therefore Eleazar and Ithamar executed the priests office.

3 And Dauid distributed them, euen Zadok of ¶ sonnes of Eleazar, and Ahimelech of the sonnes of Ithamar according to their offices in their ministration.

4 And there were founde mo of the sonnes of Eleazar by the * number of men, then of ¶ sonnes of Ithamar, and they deuided them, [to wit,] among the sonnes of Eleazar, fiftene heads, according to the householde of their fathers, and among the sonnes of Ithamar, according to the householde of their fathers, eyght.

5 Thus they distributed them by lot the one from the other, and so the rulers of the Sanctuarie and the rulers [of the house] of God [were] of the sonnes of Eleazar and of the sonnes of Ithamar.

6 So the princes of the families, and the princes of the tribes of Israel, and the capitaines of thousands and of hundreds, with the rulers of the Kings worke, offered willingly,

7 And they gaue for the seruice of the house of God five thousand talents of golde, and ten thousand pieces, and ten thousand talents of siluer, and eightene thousand talents of brasle, and one hundred thousand talents of yron.

12 Both riches and honour come of thee, and thou reignest ouer all, and in thine hand is power and strength, and in thine hand it is to make great, and to give strength vnto all.

13 Now therefore our God, we thanke thee, and praye thy glorious Name.

14 But who am I, and what is my people, that we should be able to offer willingly after this sort: for all things come of thee: and of thine owne hand we haue giuen thee.

15 For we are strangers before thee, and sojourners, like all our fathers: our dayes [are] like the shadowe vpon the earth, and there is none abiding.

19 And giue vnto Salomon my sonne a perfit heart to keepe thy commandments, thy testimonies, & thy statutes, and to doe all things, and to build the house which I haue prepared.

20 And Dauid layd to all the Congregation, Nowe blesse the Lord your God. And all the Congregation blessed the Lord God of their fathers, & bowed downe their heads, and worshipped the Lord and the King.

22 And they did eate and drinke before the Lord the same day with great ioy, and they made Salomon the sonne of Dauid King the second time, and anointed him prince before the Lord, and Zadok for the high priest.

23 So Salomon sat on the throne of the Lord, as King in steade of Dauid his father, and prospered: and all Israel obeyed him.

THE ARGUMENT.

His second booke containeth briefly in effect that which is comprehended in the two bookes of the Kings: that is, from the reigne of Salomon to the destruction of Ierusalem, and the carying away of the people captiue into Babylon. In this storie are certaine things declared and set forth more copiously then in the bookes of the Kings, and therefore serue greatly to the vnderstanding of the Prophets. But three things are here chiefly to be considered. First that the godly Kings, when they sawe the plagues of God prepared against their country for sinne, had recourse to the Lord, and by earnest prayer were heard, and the plagues remoued. The second, how it is a thing that greatly offendeth God, that such as feare him and professe his religion, should ioyne in amitie with the wicked. And thirdly, howe the good rulers euer loued the Prophets of God, and were very zealous to set forth his religion throughout all their dominions, and contrariwise the wicked hated his ministers, depofed them, and for the true religion and worde of God, set vp idolatrie, and serued God according to the fantasie of men. Then Salomon 7 sonne of Dauid was confirmed in his kingdome: and the Lorde his God was with him, & magnified him highly.

a That is, he proclaimed a solemne sacrifice, and commanded that all should be as the same.

2 And Salomon spake vnto all Israel to the captaynes of thousands, and of hundredths and to the iudges, and to all the gouernours in all Israel, [euen] the chiefe fathers.

3 So Salomon and all the Congregation with him went to the hie place that was at Gibeon: for there was the Tabernacle of the Congregation of God which Moyses the seruant of the Lorde had made in the wilderness.

4 But the Arke of God had Dauid brought vp from Kiriath-earim, when Dauid had made preparation for it: for hee had pitched a tent for it in Ierusalem.

d Which was for the burnt offerings, Exo. 27. 1. Exod. 38. 1, 2.

5 Moreover the brazen altar that Bezaleel the sonne of Uri, the sonne of Iur had made, did he set before the Tabernacle of the Lorde: and Salomon and the Congregation sought it.

6 And Salomon offered there before the Lorde vpon the brazen altar that was in the Tabernacle of the Congregation: euen a thousand burnt offerings offered he vpon it.

1. King. 3. 4.

7 The same night did God ap-peare vnto Salomon, and sayde vnto him, Aske what I shall giue thee.

8 And Salomon sayde vnto God; Thou hast shewed great mercie vnto Dauid my father and hast made me to reigne in his stead.

9 Nowe therefore, O Lorde God, let thy promises vnto Dauid my father be true: for thou hast made me King ouer a great people, like to the dust of the earth.

e Performe thy promise made to my father concerning me.

10 Giue me nowe wisdome & knowledge, that I may go out and go in before this people: for who can iudge this thy great people?

f That I may gouerne this people, reade 1. Chro. 27. 1. & 1. King. 3. 7.

11 And God sayde to Salomon, Because this was in thine heart, and thou hast not asked riches, treasures, nor honoz, nor the liues of thine enemies, neither yet hast asked long life, but hast asked for thee wisdome & knowledge that thou mightest iudge my people, ouer whom I haue made thee King,

g That is, to be reuerenced on thine enemies.

12 Wisdome and knowledge is granted vnto thee, and I will giue thee riches and treasures and honour, so that there hath not bene the like among the Kings which were before thee, neither after thee shall there be the like.

13 Then Salomon came from the hie place, that was at Gibeon, to Ierusalem from before the Tabernacle of the Congregation, & reigned ouer Israel.

14 And Salomon gathered the charrets and horsemen: & he had a thousand, and foure hundred charrets, & twelve thousand horsemen, whom he placed in the

2 And he began to build in the second moneth [ & ] the second day, in the fourth yere of his reigne.

3 And these are the measures, whereon Salomon grounded to build the house of God: the length of cubites after the first <sup>b</sup> measure [ was ] threefore cubites, and the breadth twentie cubites:

4 And the porch, that was before the length in the front of the breadth [ was ] twentie cubites, and the height [ was ] an hundredeth and twentie, and hee overlaid it within with pure golde.

5 And the greater house he felled with firre tree which he overlaid with good golde, and graued thereon palme trees and chaines.

6 And hee overlaid the house with precious stone for beautie: and the golde was golde of <sup>a</sup> Paraiim.

7 The house, I say, the beames, postes, and walles thereof [ & ] the doozes thereof overlaid hee with golde, and graued Cherubins upon the walles.

8 He made also the house of the most holy place: the length thereof [ was ] in the front of <sup>b</sup> breadth of the house, twentie cubites, and the breadth thereof twentie cubites: and he overlaid <sup>c</sup> with the best golde, of five hundredeth talents.

9 And the weight of the nailes [ was ] fiftie shekels of golde, and he overlaid the chambers with golde.

10 And in the house of the most holy place he made two Cherubins wrought like children, and overlaid them with golde.

11 And the wings of the Cherubins [ were ] twentie cubites long: the one wing [ was ] five cubites, reaching to the wall of the house, and the other wing five cubites, reaching to the wing of the other Cherub.

12 Likewise the wing of the other Cherub was five cubites, reaching to the wall of the house, and the other wing five cubites joining to the wing of the other Cherub.

13 The winges of these Cherubins were spread abroad twentie cubites: they stood on their feet, and their faces [ were ] toward the house.

14 He made also <sup>f</sup> the base of blew like and purple, and crimson, and fine linen, and wrought Cherubins thereon.

15 And hee made before the house two pillars <sup>g</sup> of fine and thirtie cubites he: and the chapter that was upon the top of [ each ] of them, [ was ] five cubites.

16 He made also chaines for the oracle, and put them on <sup>h</sup> heades of the pillars, and made an <sup>i</sup> hundredeth pomegranates, and put them among the chaines.

4 It stood upon twelve oxen: three looked toward <sup>e</sup> North, & three looked toward the West, and three looked toward the South, and three looked toward the East, & the Sea [ stood ] about upon them, and all their hinder parts were inward.

5 And the thickenesse thereof [ was ] an hande breadth, and the brim thereof [ was ] like the booke of the brim of a cup, with floures of lilies: it contained <sup>f</sup> three thousand baths.

6 Hee made also ten caldrons, and put five on the right hande, and five on the left, to wash in them, [ and ] to cleanse in them that which appertained to the burnt offerings: but the Sea [ was ] for the Priestes to wash in.

7 And he made ten candlesticks of golde, according to their sonne, and put them in the Temple, five on the right hand, and five on the left.

39 Then heare thou in heauen, in the place of thine habitatio their prayer and their supplication, & I iudge their cause, and be mercifull vnto thy people, which haue sinned against thee.

2 So that the Priestes could not enter into the house of the Lord, because the glory of the Lord had filled the Lords house.

3 And when all the children of Israel saw the fire, and the glory of the Lord come down upon the house, they bowed themselves with [their] faces to the earth upon the pavement, & worshipped and praised the Lord, saying, For he is good, because his mercie [lasteth] for ever.

4 * Then the king and all the people offered sacrifices before the Lord.

5 And king Salomon offered a sacrifice of tivo and twentie thousand bullocks, and an hundred and twentie thousand sheepe, to the king and all the people dedicated the house of God.

6 And the Priestes waited on their offices, and the Levites with the instruments of musike of the Lord, which king David had made to praise the Lord. Because his mercie [lasteth] for ever: when David prayed [God] by them, the Priestes also blew trumpets over against them: and all they of Israel stood by.

7 Moreover Salomon halowed the middle of the court that was before the house of the Lord: for there he had prepared burnt offerings, and the fat of the peace offerings, because the brasen altar which Salomon had made, was not able to receive the burnt offering, and the meate offering, and the fat.

8 And Salomon made a feast at that time of seven dayes, and all Israel with him, a very great Congregation, from the entering in of Hamath, unto the river of Egypt.

9 And in the eight day they made a solemne assemblie: for they had made the dedication of the altar seven dayes, and the feast seven dayes.

10 And the thirde and twentieth day of the seventh moneth, he sent the people away into their tentes, ioyous and with glad heart, because of the goodness that the Lord had done for David and for Salomon, and for Israel his people.

11 * So Salomon finished the house of the Lord, and the kings house, and all that came into Salomons heart to make in the house of the Lord: and he prospered in his house.

12 And the Lord appeared to Salomon by night and said to him, I have heard thy prayer, & have chose this place for my selfe to be an house of sacrifice.

13 If I shut the heauen that there be no raine, or if I command the grashopper to devour the land, or if I send pestilence among my people,

14 If my people, among whom my Name is called upon, do humble themselves, and pray, and seeke my presence, and turne from their wicked wayes, then will I heare in heauen, & be mercifull to their sinne, & will heale their land:

15 Then mine eyes shall be open and mine eares attent unto prayer [made] in this place.

16 For I have now chosen and sanctified this house, that my Name may be there for ever: and mine eyes and mine heart shall be there perpetually.

17 And if thou wilt walke before me, as David thy father walked, to do according unto all that I have commanded thee, and shalt observe my statutes and my iudgements,

18 Then will I stablish the throne of thy kingdom, according as I made the covenant with David thy father, saying, * Thou shalt not want a man to be ruler in Israel.

19 But if ye turne away, and forsake my statutes and my commandments which I have set before you, and shall go and serve other gods, and worship them,

20 Then will I plucke them by out of my land, which I have given them, and this house which I have sanctified for my Name, will I cast out of my sight, and will make it to be a proverb and a common talke among all people.

21 And this house which is most hie, shall be an astonishment to every one that passeth by it, so that he shall say, why hath the Lord done thus to this land, and to this house:

22 And they shall answer, Because they forsooke the Lord God of their fathers, which brought them out of the land of Egypt, and have taken holde on other gods, and have worshipped them, and served them, therefore hath hee brought all this euill upon them.

3 And Salomon went to Hamath Zobah, and ouercame it.

4 And he built Tadmor in the wilderness, and repaired all the cities of store which he built in Hamath.

5 And he built Beth-horon the upper, and Beth-horon the nether, cities defended with walles, gates and barres:

6 Also Baalath, and all the cities of store that Salomon had, and all the charret cities, and the cities of the horsemen, and euery pleasant place that Salomon had a mind to build in Ierusalem, and in Lebanon, and throughout all the land of his dominion.

9 But of the children of Israel did Salomon make no seruantes for his worke: for they were men of warre, and his chiefe princes, and the captaynes of his charrets and of his horsemen.

10 So these were the chiefe of the officers which Salomon had, euen two hundred & fiftie bare rule ouer the people.

11 Then Salomon brought by the daughter of Pharaoh out of the cite of Dauid, into the house that he had built for her: for he saide, My wife shall not dwell in the house of Dauid king of Israel: for it is holy, because that the Arke of the Lord came into it.

12 Then Salomon offered burnt offrings vnto the Lord, on the altar of the Lord which he had built before porch.

13 To offer according to the commandement of Moses euery day, in Sabbathes, and in the new moones, and in the Iohelme feastes, three times in the yere, [that is,] in the feast of the Unleauened bread, and in the feast of the weekes, and in the feast of the Tabernacles.

14 And he set the courses of the Priests to their offices, according to the order of Dauid his father, and the Leuites in their watches, for to prayse and minister before the Priests euery day, and the porters by their courses, at euery gate: for so was the commandement of Dauid the man of God.

15 And they declined not from the commandement of the king, concerning the Priests and the Leuites, touching all things, and touching the treasures.

16 Now Salomon had made prouision for all the worke, from the day of the foundation of the house of the Lord, vntill it was finished: [so] the house of the Lord was perfite.

17 Then went Salomon to Ezion-geber, and to Elath by the seaside in the land of Edom.

18 And Hiram sent him by the hands of his seruants, Chippes, and seruants that had knowledge of the sea: and they went with the seruants of Salomon to Ophir, and brought thence foure hundredeth and fiftie talents of gold, & brought them to king Salomon.

9 And he said vnto them, what counsell giue ye, that wee may answer this people, which haue spoken to mee, saying, Make the yoke which thy father did put vpon vs, lighter?

10 And the yong men were brought by with him, spake vnto him, saying, Thus shalt thou answer the people that spake to thee, saying, Thy father made our yoke heauie, but make thou it lighter for vs: thus shalt thou say vnto them, My least part shal be bigger then my fathers loynes.

11 Now whereas my father did burden you with a grieuous yoke, I will yet increase your yoke: my father hath chastised you with rods, but I will correct you with scourges.

12 Then Jeroboam and al the people came to Rehoboam the third day, as the King had appoynted, saying, Come againe to me the third day.

13 And the King answered the sharply: and King Rehoboam left the counsell of the ancient men,

14 And spake to them after the counsell of the yong men, saying, My father made your yoke grieuous, but I will increase it: my father chastised you with rodde, but I will correct you with scourges.

15 So the King hearkened not vnto the people: for it was the ordinance of God that the Lord might performe his saying, which he had spoken by Ahijah the Shilonite to Jeroboam the sonne of Nebat.

16 So when all Israel sawe that the King would not heare them, the people answered the King, saying, what portion haue we in Dauid: for we haue none inheritance in the sonne of Ithai. O Israel, euery man to your tents: now we see to thine owne house, Dauid. So all Israel departed to their tents.

17 Nowbeit Rehoboam reigned ouer the children of Israel, that dwelt in the 18 Then King Rehoboam sent Hazadon that was ouer the tribute, and the children of Israel stoned him with stones, that he died: then King Rehoboam made speede to get him by to his charret, to flee to Jerusalem.

4 Rehoboam is forbidden to fight against Jeroboam, 5 Cities which he built. 21 He hath eighteen townes, and thre score concubines, and by them eight and twentie sonnes, and thre score daughters.

And when Rehoboam was come to Jerusalem, he gathered of the house of Iudah and Benjamin nine score thousand chosen men of warre to fight agaynst Israel, and to bring the kingdome againe to Rehoboam.

2 But the worde of the Lord came to Shemaiah the man of God, saying,

4 Thus saith the Lord, Ye shall not go by, nor fight agaynst your brethren: retorne euery man to his house: for this thing is done of me. They obeyed therefore the word of the Lord, and returned from going agaynst Jeroboam.

5 And Rehoboam dwelt in Jerusalem, and built strong cities in Iudah.

16 And after the Leuites there came to Jerusalem of all the tribes of Israel, such as set their hearts to seeke the Lord God of Israel, to offer vnto the Lord God of their fathers.

17 So they strengthened the kingdome of Iudah, & made Rehoboam the sonne of Salomon mightie, three yere long: for three yere they walked in the way of Dauid and Salomon.

18 And Rehoboam tooke him Phalahai the daughter of Jerimoth the sonne of Dauid to wife, [and] Abihai the daughter of Eliab the sonne of Ithai, 19 which bare him sonnes, Ierub, and Shemariah, and Zabai.

20 And after her he tooke Baakah the daughter of Abshalom which bare him Abihai, and Arthai, and Ziza, and Shelomith.

21 And Rehoboam loued Baakah the daughter of Abshalom aboue all his wiues and his concubines: for he tooke eightene wiues, and thre score concubines, & begate eight and twentie sonnes, and thre score daughters.

22 And Rehoboam made Abihai the sonne of Baakah the chief ruler among his brethren: [for] hee thought to make him King.

1 Rehoboam forsaketh the Lord and is punished by Shishak. 2 Shemaiab repproueth him. 3 He humbled himself. 4 God senteth him succour. 5 Shishak taketh his treasures. 6 His reign and death. 7 Abihai his sonne succedeth him.

And when Rehoboam had established the kingdome and made it strong, hee forsooke the Law of the Lord, and all Israel with him.

2 Therefore in the fifth yere of King Rehoboam, Shishak the king of Egypt came by against Ierusalem (because they had transgressed against the Lord)

3 with thre hundred charrets, and thre score thousande horsemen, and the people were without number, that came with him fro Egypt, eue the Libians, Suthians, and the Ethiopians.

4 And hee tooke the strong cities which were of Iudah, and came vnto Ierusalem.

5 Then came Shemaiab the prophet to Rehoboam, and to the princes of Iudah, that were gathered together in Ierusalem, because of Shishak, and said vnto them, Thus sayth the Lord, We haue forsaken me, therefore haue I also left you in the hands of Shishak.

6 Then the princes of Israel, and the King humbled themselves, and sayde, The Lord is iust.

7 And when the Lord saw that they humbled themselves, the woide of the Lord came to Shemaiab, saying, They haue humbled themselves, therefore I will not destroy them, but I will sende them deliuerance shortly, and my wrath shall not be poyzed out vpon Ierusalem by the hand of Shishak.

8 Neuertheles they shalbe his seruants: so shall they know my seruice, and the seruice of the kingdomes of the earth.

9 Then Shishak King of Egypt came by against Ierusalem, and tooke the treasures of the house of the Lord, & the treasures of kings house: he tooke euen al, and he caried away the shields of gold, which Salomon had made.

10 In stead whereof King Rehoboam made shields of bras, and committed them to the hands of the chiefe of the garde, that wayted at the doore of the Kings house.

11 And when the king entred into the house of the Lord, the garde came and bare them and brought them againe vnto the garde chamber.

12 And because he humbled himselfe, the wrath of the Lord turned from him, that he would not destroy all together. And also in Iudah things prospered.

13 So king Rehoboam was strong in Ierusalem and reigned: for Rehoboam was one & fourtie yere olde when he beganne to reigne, and reigned & seuen teene yeres in Ierusalem, the city which the Lord had chosen out of all the tribes of Israel to put his Name there. In the eighteenth yere of king Ieroboam began Abiah to reigne ouer Iudah.

2 He reigned thre yere in Ierusalem: (his mothers name also was Michaiah the daughter of Chiel of Gibeia) & there was warre betweene Abiah and Ieroboam.

3 And Abiah set the battell in aray with the army of valiant men of warre, [euen] foure hundred thousand cholen men. Ieroboam also set the battell in aray agaynst him with eight hundred thousand cholen me which were strong [and] valiant.

4 And Abiah stood by vpon mount Zemeraim, which is in mount Ephraim, and saide, O Ieroboam, and all Israel, heare you me,

5 Dought you not to knowle that the Lord God of Israel hath giuen I kingdome ouer Israel to Dauid for euer. [euen] to him and to his sonnes by a couenant of salt:

6 And Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat the seruant of Salomon the sonne of Dauid is risen vp, and hath rebelled agaynst his lord:

7 And there are gathered to him vaine men and wicked, & made themselves strong agaynst Rehoboam the sonne of Salomon: for Rehoboam was [but] a childe and [tender] hearted, and could not resist them.

8 Now therefore ye thinke that ye be able to resist agaynst the kingdome of the Lord, which is in the hands of fones of Dauid, and ye be a great multitude, and the golden calves [are] with you which Ieroboam made you for gods.

9 Haue ye not diuied away the priests of the Lorde the sonnes of Aaron and the Leuites, and haue made you priests like the people of [other] countreys: whosoeuer cometh to consecrate with a yong bullocke and seuen rams, the same may bee a Priest of them that are no gods.

10 But we belong vnto the Lord our God, and haue not forsaken him, and the priests the sonnes of Aaron minister vnto the Lord, & the Leuites in their office.

11 And they burne vnto the Lorde euerie morning and euery euening burnt offerings and sweete incense, and the breade is set in order vpon the pure table, and the candlesticke of golde with the lampes thereof, to burne euerie euening: for we keepe watch of the Lorde our God: but ye haue forsaken him.

12 And behold, this God [is] with vs as a captaine, and his priests with the sounding trumpets, to crie an alarme agaynst you. O ye children of Israel, fight not agaynst the Lorde God of your fathers: for ye shall not prosper.

13 But Ieroboam caused an ambushment to compasse, [and] come behind them, when they were before Iudah, and the ambushment behind them.

14 Then Iudah looked, and beheld, the battell was before & behinde them, and they cried vnto the Lorde, and the priests blew with the trumpets,

15 And the men of Iudah gaue a shout: and euen as the men of Iudah shouted, God [smote] Ieroboam and all so Israel before Abiah and Iudah.

16 And the children of Israel fled before Iudah, and God deliuered them into their hand.

17 And Abiah and his people slew a great slaughter of them, so that there fell downe wounded of Israel nine hundred thousand cholen men.

18 So the children of Israel were brought vnder at that time: and the children of Iudah preuayled, because they stayed vpon the Lord God of their fathers.

19 And Abiah pursued after Ieroboam, and tooke cities from him, [euen] Beth-el, and the villages thereof, and Bethanah with her villages, & Ephron with her villages.

20 And Ieroboam recouered no strength againe in the dayes of Abiah, but the Lord plagued him, and he died.

21 So Abiah waxed mightie, & married fouertene wiues, and begat tivo and twentie sonnes, and fiftene daughters.

22 The rest of the acts of Abiah and his maners and his sayings are written in the storie of the prophet Iddo.

3 Asa bestropt idolatry, and commaunded his people to serue the true God. 11 He prayeth vnto God when he should go to fight. 12 He ouercometh the victorie.

As Asa slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the cite of Dauid, & Asa his sonne reigned in his stead: in whose dayes the lande was quiet ten yeres.

1 Because their cause was good and approved by the Lorde, they doubled not of the successe and victorie.

2 And Asa did that was good & right in the eyes of the Lord his God.

3 For he tooke away the altars of the strange [gods] and the high places, and brake downe the images, and cut downe the grooves,

4 And commanded Judah to seeke the Lord God of their fathers, and to do [according] to the Lawe and the commandement.

5 And hee tooke away out of all the cities of Judah the high places, and the images: therefore the kingdome was quiet before him.

6 He built also strong cities in Judah, because the land was in rest, and he had no warre in those yeeres: for the Lord had giuen him rest.

7 Therefore he said to Judah, Let vs build these cities & make walles about, and towres, gates, and barres, whyles the land is: before vs: because we haue sought the Lord our God, wee haue sought him, and he hath giuen vs rest on every side: so they built and prospered.

8 And Asa had an armie of Judah that bare shields and speares, three hundred thousand, and of Benjamin that bare shields and drew bowes, two hundred and fourescore thousand: all these were valiant men.

9 And there came out against them Zerah of Ethiopia with an host of ten hundred thousand, and three hundred chariots, and came vnto Marehah.

10 Then Asa went out before him, & they set the battell in aray in the valley of Zephathah beside Marehah.

11 And Asa cryed vnto the Lord his God, and sayde, Lord, it is nothing with thee to helpe [with] many, or [with] no power: helpe vs, O Lord our God: for we rest on thee, and in thy Name are wee come against this multitude: O Lord, thou art our God, [let] not man preuaile agaynst thee.

12 [So] the Lord before the Ethiopians before Asa and before Judah, and the Ethiopians fled.

13 And Asa and the people that was with him, pursued them vnto Gerar. And the Ethiopians host was overthrowen, [so that] there was no life in them: for they were destroyed before the Lord and before his host: and they carried away a mightie great spoile.

14 And they smote all the cities round about Gerar: for the feare of the Lord came vpon them, and they spoyled all the cities: for there was exceeding much spoyle in them.

15 And they smote the tents of cat-tell, & carried away pientie of sheepe and camels, and returned to Ierusalem.

CHAP. XV.

1 The exhortation of Azariah. 8 Asa purgeth his countrey of idolatrie. 11 He sacrificeth with the people. 14 They sweare together to serue the Lord. 16 He deposeth his mother for her idolatrie.

Athen the Spirit of God came vpon Azariah the sonne of Obed.

2 And he went out to meet Asa, and said vnto him, O Asa, and all Judah, and Benjamin, heare ye me. The Lord [is] with you, while ye be with him: and if ye seeke him, he will be found of you, but if ye forsake him, he will forsake you.

3 Now for a long season Israel hath bin without the true God, and without Priest to teach and without Law.

4 But whosoever returned in his affliction to the Lord God of Israel, and sought him, he was found of them.

5 And in that time there was no peace to him, that did go out and go in: but great troubles [were] to all the inhabitants of the earth.

6 For nation was destroyed of nation, and cite of cite: for God troubled them with all aduersitie.

7 Be ye strong therefore, and let not your hands be weake: for your worke shall haue a rewarde.

8 And when Asa heard these words, and the prophetic of Obed the Prophet, hee was encouraged, and tooke away the abominations out of all the lande of Judah, and Benjamin, and out of the cities which hee had taken of mount Ephraim, and hee renued the altar of the Lord, that was before the porch of the Lord.

9 And hee gathered all Judah and Benjamin, and the strangers with them out of Ephraim, and Danasseh, and out of Simeon: for there fell many to him out of Israel, when they sawe that the Lord his God was with him.

10 So they assembled to Ierusalem in the third moneth, in the fiftenth yere of the reigne of Asa.

11 And they offered vnto the Lord the same time of spoile, [which] they had brought, [even] seue hundred bullocks, and seuen thousand sheepe.

12 And they made a covenant to seeke the Lord God of their fathers, with all

2 Asa for feare of Baasha King of Israel, maketh a covenant with Benhadad king of Aram. 7 He is repoued by the Prophet, 10 Whom he putteth in prison, 12 He putteth his trust in the Whispirations, 13 His death.

King of Iudah.

2 Then Aſa brought out ſilver and gold out of the treaſures of the houſe of the Lord, and of the Kings houſe, and ſent to Benhadad King of Aram that dwelt at || Damafcus ſaying,

3 There [is] a covenant betwene me & thee, & betwene my father & thy father: behold, I haue sent thee silver and gold: come, breake thy league with Baasha king of Israel: he may depart from me.

4 And Benhadad hearkened vnto King Aſa, and ſent the captaynes of the armies which he had, againſt the cities of Iſrael. And they ſiote Tſion, and Dan, and Abel-maim, and al the ſtoze cities of Naphtali.

5 And when Baasha heard it, he left building of Ramah, & let his work cease.

6 Then Asa the king tooke all Judah, and caried away the stones of Baamah and the timber therof, wherewith Baasha did build, and he built therewith Geba and Mizpah.

7 And at that same time Hanani the Seer came to Ala King of Judah, and saide vnto him, Because thou hast rested vpon the King of Aram, and not rested in the Lord thy God, therefore is the hoste of the King of Aram escaped out of thine hande.

8 * The Ethiopians & the Lubims, were they not a great hoste with charets and horsemen, exceeding manie: yet
because thou diddest rest vpo the Lord,
he deliuered them into thine hand.

9 * For the eyes of the Lord beholde
all the earth to shewe him selfe strong With them that are of perfitte heart toward him: thou hast then done foolishly
in this: therefore from here forth thou shalt haue warres.

10 Then Asa was wroth with the Seer, and put him into a+ prison: for he was<sup>d</sup> displeased with him, because of this thing. And Asa oppressed [certaine] of the people at the same time.

ii And behold, the actes of Asa first and last, lo, they are written in the booke
of the kings of Iudah and Israel.

yeere of his reigne was || diseased in his
feete, [and] his disease was || extre-

but to the phisicians.

13 So Asa slept wth his fathers, & died in the one & fourtieth yere of his reigne.

14 And they buried him in <sup>one</sup> of his sepulchres, which he had made for him selfe in the citie of Dauid, and layde him in the bedde, which they had filled with sweete odours and diuers kindes [ of spices, ] made by the art of the apothecarie: & they burnt [ odours ] for him with an exceeding great fire.

9 And they taught in Iudah, and had the booke of the Law of the Lord with 21 And he said, I will go out, and be a false spirit in 6 mouth of al his prophets. And he said, Thou shalt persuade, and shalt also preuaile: go forth and do so.

22 Now therefore behold, the Lord hath put a 6 false spirit in the mouth of these thy prophets, and the Lord hath determined euill against thee.

23 Then Zedibiah the sonne of Cheanaiah came neere, and smote Michaiah vpon the cheeke, and said, Why went the Spirit of the Lord from me, to speake with thee?

24 And Michaiah said, Behold, thou shalt see that day when thou shalt goe from chamber to chamber to hide thee.

25 And the king of Israel said, Take ye Michaiah, and carry him to Amon the gouernour of the cite, and to Joash the kings sonne,

26 And say, Thus saith the king, Put this man in the prison house, & feede him with bread of affliction and with water of affliction vntill I returne in peace.

27 And Michaiah saide, If thou returne in peace, the Lord hath not spoke by me. And he said, heare, all ye people.

28 So the King of Israel and Jehoshaphat the king of Iudah went vp to Ramoth Gilead.

29 And the king of Israel sayd vnto Jehoshaphat, I will change my selfe, & enter into the battell: but put 6 on thine apparel. So the king of Israel changed him selfe, and they went into the battell.

30 And the king of Aram had commaunded the captaines of the charrets that were with him, saying, Fight you not with small nor great, but against the king of Israel onely.

31 And when the captaines of the charrets sawe Jehoshaphat, they said, It is the king of Israel: and they compassed about him to fight. But Jehoshaphat cryed, and the Lord helped him and moued them [to depart] from him.

32 For when the captaines of the charrets sawe that he was not the king of Israel, they turned backe from him.

33 Then a certaine man drew a bow mightily, and smote the king of Israel betweene the ioyntes [of his brigandine]: therefore he laid to his charretman, Turne thine hand, and carry me out of the hoste: for I am hurt.

34 And the battell increased that day: and the King of Israel 6 stode still in his charret against the Aramites vntill euening, and dyed at the time of the sunne going downe.

CHAP. XIX.

4 After Jehoshaphat was rebuked by the Prophet, he called againe the people to the honouring of the Lord, 5 He appointeth iudges & ministers, 9 And rephozeth them to feare God,

2 And Jehu the sonne of Hanani 6 Seer went out to meet him, & said to King Jehoshaphat, 2 Wouldest thou helpe the wicked, and loue them rather then not in deede that they are enemies to all such as hate the Lord,

3 Ebr. in peace, a He declared that the wrath and iudgement of God is vpon all such, that support the wicked, and hate the Lord, that hate <sup>3</sup> Lord: therefore for this thing the wrath <sup>4</sup> of the Lord is vpon thee.

3 Neuertheles good things are found in thee, because thou hast taken awaye the groves out of the land, and hast prepared thine heart to seeke God.

4 So Iehoshaphat dwelt at Ierusalem, and returned & went through the people from Beer-sheba to mount Ephraim, and brought them againe vnto the Lord God of their fathers.

5 And he let iudges in <sup>6</sup> Judah through out all the strong cities of Judah, cite by cite.

6 And said to the iudges, Take heede what ye do: for ye execute not the iudgements of man, but of the Lord, and he will bee with you in the cause [and] iudgement.

7 Wherefore now let the feare of the Lord be vpon you: take heede, and do it: for there is no iniquitie with the Lord our God, neither respect of persons, nor receiuing of reward.

8 Moreover in Ierusalem dyd Iehoshaphat set of the Levites, and of the Priests and of the chief of the families of Israel, for the iudgement & cause of the Lord: and they returned to Ierusalem.

9 And he charged the, saying, Thus shal ye do in the feare of the Lord faithfully and with a perfect heart.

10 And in euery cause that shal come to you of your brether that dwell in their cities, betwene blood and blood, betwene lawe & precept, statutes & iudgements, [ye shall iudge them,] and admonish the that they trespasse not against the Lord, that wrath come not vpon you and vpon your brether. Thus shal ye do and trespasse not.

11 And beholde, Amariah the Priest [shall be] the chiefe ouer you in all matters of the Lord, & Zebadiah the sonne of Ithmael, a ruler of the house of Judah, [shall be] for all the kings affaires, and the Levites [shall be] officers before you. Be of courage, and doe it, and the Lord shal be with the good.

CHAP. XX.

3 Iehoshaphat and the people pray vnto the Lord, 22 The marvellous victorie that the Lord gaue him against his enemies. 30 His reigne and actes.

After this also came <sup>1</sup> children of Moab and the children of Ammon, and with them of the Ammonites against Iehoshaphat to battell.

For the children of Ammon, which were the Amalekites, as may appere by the tenth verse, they were the Ioumeans of mount Seir.

2 Then there came that tolde Iehoshaphat, saying, There cometh a great multitude against thee from beyond the Sea, out of Aram: and behold, they be in Hazzon Tamar, which is En-gedi.

3 And Iehoshaphat feared, and let him selfe to seeke the Lord, and proclaimed a fast throughout all Judah.

4 And Judah gathered them selues together to alke counsell of the Lord: they came euen out of all the cities of Judah to inquire of the Lord.

5 And Iehoshaphat stood in the Congregation of Judah and Ierusalem in the house of the Lord before the nelue court,

6 And sayde, O Lord God of our fathers, art not thou God in heauen: and reigneest not thou on all the kingdoms of the heathen: and in thine hand is power and might, and none is able to withstande thee.

7 Diddest not thou our God cast out the inhabitants of this lande before thy people Israel, and gauest it to the seede of Abraham thy friend for euer?

8 And they dwelt therein, and haue built thee a Sanctuarie therein for thy Name, saying,

9 * If euill come vpon vs, [as] the sword of iudgement, or pestilence, or famine, we will stande before this house & in thy presence, for thy Name is in this house, and will cry vnto thee in our tribulation, and thou wilt heare and help.

10 And now beholde, the children of Ammon and Moab, and mount Seir, by whome thou wouldst not let Israel goe, when they came out of the lande of Egypt: but they turned aside from the, and destroyed them not:

11 Behold, I say, they rewarde vs, in coming to cast vs out of thine inheritance, which thou hast caused vs to inherit.

12 O our God, wilt thou not iudge the: for there is no strength in vs to stand before this multitude that cometh against vs, neither doe we knowe what to doe: but our eyes are toward thee.

13 And all Judah stood before the Lord with their yong ones, their wiues, and their children.

14 And Jahaziel the sonne of Zechariah the sonne of Benaiab, the sonne of Jeiel, the sonne of Pattaniah, a Leuite of the sonnes of Alaph [was there,] by whom came the Spirit of the Lord, in the mids of the Congregation.

15 And he said, hearken ye, al Judah, and

<sup>c</sup> This declaration vnto the feare of the Lord, which is as a spicke to stirre them to prayer, & to depend on the Lord, where as it moueth the wicked either to seeke after goodly meanes and policies, or else to fall into despayre.

<sup>d</sup> He groundeth his prayer vpon Gods power, where by he is able to helpe, and also on his mercie, which he will continue toward his, for as much as he hath once chosen them & begonne to shew his graces toward them.

and ye inhabitants of Ierusalem, & thou king Iehoshaphat: thus saith  $\text{Y}$   $\text{L}$ orde vnto you, Feare you not, neither bee afrayde for this great multitude: for the battell is not yours, but Gods.

k They fight against God & not against you: therefore he will fight for you.

16 To morowe go ye downe against them: beholde, they come by by the cleft of  $\text{Z}$ , and ye shall find them at the end of the brooke before the wilderness of Ieruel.

Exo. 14. 13, 14 for deliverance.

17 Ye shall not neede to fight in this battell:  $\text{Y}$  stand still, moue not, & behold the saluation of the  $\text{L}$ orde to ward you:  $\text{O}$  Iudah, and Ierusalem, feare ye not, neither bee afrayde: to morowe got out against the, & the  $\text{L}$ orde [will be] with you.

l Declaring his faith and obedience to the word of the  $\text{L}$ orde, & giving thanks for the deliverance promised,

18 Then Iehoshaphat bowed downe with his face to the earth, and all Iudah and the inhabitants of Ierusalem fell downe before the  $\text{L}$ orde, worshipping the  $\text{L}$ orde.

19 And the Leuites of the children of the Kohathites and of the children of  $\text{C}$ ozabites stood vp to praise the  $\text{L}$ orde God of Israel with a loud voyce on hye.

m One credit to their works and doctrine.

20 And when they arose early in the morning, they went forth to the wilderness of Tekoa: and as they departed, Iehoshaphat stode and said, heare ye me,  $\text{O}$  Iudah, and ye inhabitants of Ierusalem: put your trust in  $\text{Y}$   $\text{L}$ orde your God, and ye shall be assured: beleene his  $\text{P}$ rophets, and ye shall prosper.

21 And when he had consulted with the people, and appointed singers vnto the  $\text{L}$ orde, and them that should prayse [him that is] in the beautifull Sanctuarie, in going forth before  $\text{Y}$  men of armes, and saying,  $\text{P}$ raise ye the  $\text{L}$ orde, for his mercie lasteth for euer.

n This was a psalme of thanksgiving, which they used commonly to sing when they praised  $\text{Y}$   $\text{L}$ orde for his benefits, and was made by David, psal. 136.

22 And when they began to shoute, and to prayse, the  $\text{L}$ orde layed ambushments against the children of Ammon, Moab, and mount Seir, which were come against Iudah, and they slewe one another.

o Speaking the Ioucnans, which dwell in mount Seir.

23 For the children of Ammon and Moab rose against the inhabitantes of mount Seir, to slay and to destroy [them]: and when they had made an ende of the inhabitantes of Seir, every one helped to destroy another.

p Thus  $\text{Y}$   $\text{L}$ orde according to Iehoshaphats prayer declared his power when he delivered his by causing their enemies to kill one another, 24 And when Iudah came toward Mizpah in the wilderness, they looked vnto the multitude: and beholde, the harknesses were fallen to the earth, and none escaped.

25 And when Iehoshaphat and his people came to take away the spoyle of them, they found among them in abundance both of substance and also of bodies laden with precious iewels, which they tooke for their selues, til they could cary no more: they were thre dayes in gathering of the spoyle: for it was much.

26 And in  $\text{Y}$  fourth day they assembled the selues in  $\text{Y}$  valley of Berachah: for there they blessed the  $\text{L}$ orde: there fore they called the name of that place, The valley of Berachah vnto this day.

27 Then every man of Iudah and Ierusalem returned with Iehoshaphat their head, to go againe to Ierusalem with ioy: for the  $\text{L}$ orde had made them to reioyce ouer their enemies.

28 And they came to Ierusalem with viroles, and with harpes, & with trumpets, [euen] vnto the house of the  $\text{L}$ orde.

29 And the feare of God was vpon all the kingdomes of the earth, when they had heard that  $\text{Y}$   $\text{L}$ orde had fought against the enemies of Israel.

30 So the kingdom of Iehoshaphat was quiet, and his God gaue him rest on euery side.

31 And  $\text{Y}$  Iehoshaphat reigned ouer Iudah, and [was] five & thirtie yere olde, when he began to reigne: and reigned five and twentie yere in Ierusalem, and his mothers name was Azubah  $\text{Y}$  daughter of Shihhi.

32 And he walked in the way of Asa his father, and departed not therefrom, doing that which was right in the sight of the  $\text{L}$ orde.

33 Howbeit the hie places were not taken away: for the people had not yet prepared their hearts vnto the God of their fathers.

34 Concerning the rest of the actes of Iehoshaphat first and last, behold they are writt in the booke of Iehu  $\text{Y}$  sonne of Hanani, which is mentioned in the booke of the Kings of Israel.

35 Yet after this did Iehoshaphat king of Iudah ioyne himselfe with Ahasiah king of Israel, who was giuen to do euill.

36 And he ioynd with him, to make ships to go to Tarshish: and they made the shippes in Ezion Gaber.

37 Then Eliezer the sonne of Dodanah of Aharerah prophesied against Iehoshaphat, saying, because thou hast ioynd thy selfe with Ahasiah,  $\text{Y}$   $\text{L}$ orde hath broken thy workes, and the ships were broken, that they were not able to go to Tarshish,

q To give thanks to the  $\text{L}$ orde for the victory: and therefore the valley was called Berachah, that is, blessing or thanks giving which was also called the valley of Iehoshaphat, Joel. 2. 20. 12 because the Lord iudgeth  $\text{Y}$  enemies according to Iehoshaphats prayer. We declare hereby, that the works of God bying ever first of deliverance to his, & feare of destruction to his enemies.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Iehoshaphat died. 2 Iehoram succedeth him. 4 Which he lieth his brethren. 6 He was brought to idolatry. 11 And fouereth the people. 16 He is oppressed of the Philistines. 18 His miserable end.

Iehoshaphat then slept with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers, in the citie of Dauid : and Iehoram his sonne reigned in his steade.

2 And he had brethren the sonnes of Iehoshaphat, Azariah, and Jehiel, & Zechariah, and Azariah, and Michael, and Shephatiah. All these were the sonnes of Iehoshaphat king of Israel.

3 And their father gaue them great giftes of siluer and of golde, and of precious things, with strong cities in Iudah, but the kingdom gaue he to Iehoram : for he was the eldest.

4 And Iehoram rose vp vpon the kingdom of his father, & made him self strong, and slew all his brethren with the sword, and also of the princes of Israel.

5 Iehoram was two & thirtie yeere olde, when he began to reigne, and hee reigned eight yeere in Ierusalem.

6 And he walked in the way of the kinges of Israel, as the house of Ahab had done : for he had the daughter of Ahab to a wife, and he wrought euil in the eyes of the Lord.

7 Holdest the Lord would not destroy the house of Dauid, because of the covenant that he had made with Dauid, and because he had promised to giue a light to him, and to his sonnes for ever.

8 In his dayes Edom rebelled fro vnder the hand of Iudah, and made a king ouer them.

9 And Iehoram went forth with his princes, and all his charrets with him : & hee rose vp by night, and smote Edom, which had compassed him in, and the captaiues of the charrets.

10 But Edom rebelled from vnder the hand of Iudah vnto this day. then did Abasah rebel at the same time from vnder his hand, because he had forsaken the Lord God of his fathers.

11 Moreover he made high places in the mountaines of Iudah, and caused the inhabitants of Ierusalem to commit fornication, and compelled Iudah thereto.

12 And there came a writing to him from Eliiah the prophet, saying, Thus saith the Lord God of Dauid thy father, Because thou hast not walked in the wayes of Iehoshaphat thy father, nor in the wayes of Asa king of Iudah,

13 But hast walked in the way of the kinges of Israel, and hast made Iudah and the inhabitants of Ierusalem to go a whoring, as the house of Ahab went a whoring, and hast also slain thy brethren of thy fathers house, which were better then thou,

14 Beholde, with a great plague will the Lord smite thy people, & thy childre, and thy wiues, and all thy substance,

15 And thou shalt be in great diseases in the disease of thy bowels, vntil thy bowels fall out for the disease, day by day.

16 So the Lord stirred vp against Iehoram the spirit of the Philistines, & the Arabians that were beside the Ethiopians.

17 And they came vp into Iudah, & brake into it, and carried away all the substance that was found in the kings house, and his sonnes also, & his wiues, so that there was not a sonne left him, saue Jehohas, the yongest of his sonnes.

18 And after all this, the Lord smote him in his bowels with an incurable disease.

19 And in proesse of time, euen after the end of two yeeres, his guttes fell out with his disease : so he died of foure diseases : and his people made no burning for him like the burning of his fathers.

20 When he began to reigne, he was two and thirtie yeere olde, and reigned in Ierusalem eight yeere, & liued without being desired : yet they buried him in the citie of Dauid, but not among the sepulchres of the kinges.

CHAP. XXII.

1 Ahaziah reigned after Iehoram. 2 Teliu King of Israel killed Ahaziah. 10 Ahaziah putteth to death all the kinges lineage. 11 Youth escaped.

And the inhabitants of Ierusalem made Ahaziah his yongest sonne king in his steade : for the armie came with the Arabians to the campe, had slain the eldest : therefore Ahaziah the sonne of Iehoram king of Iudah reigned.

2 Two and forty yeere olde was Ahaziah when he began to reigne, and he reigned one yere in Ierusalem, and his mothers name was Athaliah the daughter of Omri.

3 He walked also in the wayes of the house of Ahab : for his mother counselled him to do wickedly.

4 Wherefore he did euill in the sight of the Lord, like the house of Ahab : for they were where his counsellors after the death of his father, to his destruction.

5 And he walked after their counsel, & went with Jehoram the sonne of Ahab King of Israel to fight against Hazael King of Aram at Ramoth Gilead: and the Aramites smote Joram.

6 And he returned to be healed in Tzeel, because of the woundes where with they had wounded him at Ramoth, when hee fought with Hazael King of Aram. Now Ahaziah the sonne of Jehoram King of Judah went downe to see Jehoram the sonne of Ahab at Tzeel, because he was diseased.

7 And the destruction of Ahaziah came of God in that he went to Joram: for when he was come, hee went forth with Jehoram against Iehu the sonne of Hishai, whom the Lord had anointed to destroy the house of Ahab.

8 Therefore when Iehu executed iudgement vpon the house of Ahab, and found the princes of Judah & the sonnes of the brethren of Ahaziah that wayted on Ahaziah, he slew them also.

9 And he sought Ahaziah, and they caught him where hee was hid in Samaria, and brought him to Iehu, and slew him, and buried him, because, saide they, he is the sonne of Jehoshaphat, which sought the Lord with all his heart. So the house of Ahaziah was not able to retaine the kingdom.

10 C Therefore when Athaliah the mother of Ahaziah sawe that her sonne was dead, she arose and destroyed all the Kings seed of the house of Judah.

11 But Jehohazeath daughter of the king tooke Joash the sonne of Ahaziah, & haled him from among the kings sonnes, that should be slaine, & put him and his nurse in the bed chamber: so Jehohazeath the daughter of King Jehoram the wife of Jehoiada the Priest (for hee was the sister of Ahaziah) hid him from Athaliah: so he slew him not.

12 And he was with them hid in the house of God six yerres, whiles Athaliah reigned over the land.

1 Joash the sonne of Ahaziah is made king, 15 Athaliah is put to death. 17 The Temple of Baal is destroyed, 19 Jehoiada appointeth ministers in the Temple.

2 And they went about in Judah, & gathered the Leuites out of all the cities of Judah, and the chiefe fathers of Israel: and they came to Ierusalem.

3 And all the Congregation made a covenant with the King in the house of God: and he saide vnto them, Beholde, the kings sonne must reigne, as the Lord hath said of the sonnes of David.

4 This is it that ye shall doe, The third part of you that come on the Sabbath of the Priests, & the Leuites, shall be porters of the doores.

5 And another third part towarde the Kings house, and another third part at the gate of the foundation, and all the people shall be in the courtes of the house of the Lord.

6 But let none come into the house of the Lord, saue the Priests, and the Leuites that minister: they shall goe in, for they are holy: but all the people shall keepe the watch of the Lord.

7 And the Leuites shall compasse the king round about, and every man with his weapon in his hand, & he that entreteth into the house, shall slaine, and be you with the king, wher he cometh in, and when he goeth out.

8 C So the Leuites and all Judah did according to all things that Jehoiada the Priest had commaunded, and tooke euery man his men that came on the Sabbath, with them that went out on the Sabbath: for Jehoiada the Priest did not discharge the courtes.

9 And Jehoiada the Priest deliuered to the captaynes of hundredeths, speares & shieldes, and bucklers which had bene king Dauides, & were in the house of God.

10 And he caused all the people to stand (euery man with his weapon in his hand) from the right side of the house, to the left side of the house by the altar and by the house round about the king.

11 Then they brought out the kings sonne, and put vpon him the crowne and [gaue him] the testimonie, and made him king. And Jehoiada & his sonnes anointed him, & said, God saue the king.

12 C But when Athaliah heard the noise of the people running and praising the king, she came to the people into the house of the Lord.

13 And when she looked, behold, the king stood by the pillar at the entering in,

4 Joash repayreth the house of the Lord, 17 After the death of Jehoiada he falleth to idolatrie, 21 He cometh to death Zechariah the Prophet, 25 Joash is killed of his owne seruants, 27 After him reigneth Amasiah.

1 Joash<sup>1</sup> was seuen yere olde, when he began to reigne, and he reigned fourtie yere in Jerusalem: & his mothers name was Zibiah of Beer-sheba.

2 And Joash did brightly in sight

3 And Jehoiada tooke him two wiues, & he begate sonnes & daughters.

4 And after ward it came into Joash minde, to reuew<sup>3</sup> the house of the Lord.

5 And he assembled the Priests & the Leuites, and said to them, Go out vnto the cities of Iudah, & gather of all<sup>4</sup> Israel money to repaire the house of your God, from yeere to yeere, and haste the thing: but the Leuites hastened not.

6 Therefore the king called Jehoiada the chiefe, and saide vnto him, why hast thou not required of the Leuites to bring in out of Iudah and Jerusalem the tate of Moyses the seruant of the Lord, & of the Congregation of Israel, for the Tabernacle of the Testimonie?

7 For<sup>5</sup> wicked Athaliah, [and] her children brake by the house of God: and all the things that were dedicate for the house of the Lord, did they bestowe vpon Baalim.

9 And they made proclamation through Iudah & Jerusalem, to bring vnto the Lord<sup>6</sup> the tate of Moyses the seruant of God, [said] vpon Israel in the wilderness.

10 And all the princes and all the people reioyced, and brought in, and cast in to the chest, vntill they had finished.

11 And whē it was time, they brought the chest vnto the Kings officer by the hand of the Leuites: and when they saide that there was much siluer, then the Kings Scribe (and one appointed by the hye Priest) came and emptied the chest, and tooke it, & caried it to his place againe: thus they did day by day, and gathered siluer in abundance.

12 And the King & Jehoiada gaue it to such as did the labour, [and] worke in the house of the Lord, and hired masons and carpenters to repaire the house of the Lord: they gaue it also to workes of yron and brasle, to repaire the house of the Lord.

13 So the Workemen wrought, and the work<sup>7</sup> amended through their hands: and they restored the house of God to his state, and strengthened it.

14 And whē they had finished it, they brought the rest of the siluer before the King and Jehoiada, & he made thereof vessels for the house of the Lord, [even] vessels to minister, both molts and cuppes, molts,

16 And they buried him in the cite of Dauid with the Kings, because he had done good in Israel, and towarde God and his house.

17 ¶ And after the death of Jehoiada, came the princes of Judah, and did reuerence to the King, & the King hearkened vnto them.

18 And they left the house of the Lord God of their fathers, and serued groues and idoles: and wrath came vpon Judah & Jerusalem, because of this their trespass.

19 And [God] sent prophets among the, to bring them againe vnto the Lord: and they made protestation among the, but they would not heare.

20 And the spirite of God came vpon Zechariah the sonne of Jehoiada the Priest, which stood aboute the people, and sayde vnto them, Thus saith God, why transgresse ye the commandments of the Lord: surely ye shall not prosper: because ye haue forsaken the Lord, he also hath forsaken you.

21 Then they conspired against him and stoned him with stones at the commandment of the King, in the court of the house of the Lord.

Amaziah was five & twentie yere olde when he began to reigne, & he reigned nine and twentie yere in Jerusalem: and his mothers name [was] Jehoaddan of Jerusalem.

2 And he did brightly in the eyes of the Lord, but not with a perfitt heart.

3 And when the kingdome was established vnto him, he slew his seruants, that had slaine the King his father.

4 But he slew not their children, but did as it is written in the Law, and in the booke of Moses, where the Lord commanded, saying, The fathers shall not die for the children, neither shall the children die for the fathers, but every man shall die for his owne sinne.

5 ¶ And Amaziah assembled Judah, & made the captaines ouer thousands, & captaines ouer hundredeths, according to the houses of their fathers, throughout al Judah & Beniamin: and he nombred them from twenty yere olde & aboue, & founde among the three hundredth thousand chosen men, to go forth to warre, and to handle speare and shield.

6 He hired also an hundredth thousand ballist men out of Israel for an hundredth talents of siluer.

7 But a ma of God came to him, saying, O King, let not the armie of Israel goe with thee: for the Lord is not with Israel, [neither] with all the house of Ephraim.

8 If not, go thou on, do it, make thy selfe strong to the battell, but God shall make thee fall before the enemy: for God hath powder to helpe, and to cast downe.

10 So Amaziah separated them, [to wit,] the armie that was come to him out of Ephraim, to return to their place: Wherefore their wrath was kindled greatly against Judah, and they returned to their places with great anger.

11 Then Amaziah was encouraged, and led forth his people, and went to the salt balley, and smote of the children of Seir, ten thousand.

12 And [other] ten thousande did the children of Judah take alive, and caried them to the toppes of a rocke, & cast them downe from the toppes of the rocke, and they all burst to pices.

13 But the men of the armie, which Amaziah sent away, that they shoulde not go with his people to battel, set upon the cities of Judah from Samaria unto Beth-hozon, and smote three thousand of them, and tooke much spoyle.

14 Nowe after that Amaziah was come fro the slaughter of the Edomites, hee brought the gods of the children of Seir, and let the vp to be his gods, and worshipped them, and burned incense unto them.

15 Wherefore the Lorde was wroth with Amaziah, & sent unto him a prophet, which saide unto him, why hast thou sought <sup>g</sup> gods of the people, which were not able to <sup>m</sup> deliuer their owne people out of thine hand?

16 And as hee talked with him, hee said unto him, haue they made thee the Kinges counsellor: cease thou: why shouldest thou <sup>g</sup> smite thee? And the prophet ceased, but said, I knowe that God hath determined to destroy thee, because thou hast done this, and hast not obeyed my counsell.

17 ¶ Then Amaziah King of Judah tooke counsell, & sent to Joash the sonne of Jehoahaz, the sonne of Jehu King of Israel, saying, Come, & let vs see one another in the face.

18 But Joash King of Israel sent to Amaziah King of Judah, saying, The thistle that is in Lebanon, sent to the cedar that is in Lebanon, saying, Give thy daughter to my sonne to wife: & the wilde beaust that was in Lebanon went and trode downe the thistle.

19 Thou thinkest: lo, thou hast smitten Edom, and thine heart lifteth thee vp to bragge: abide nowe at home: why dost thou prouoke to [thine] hurt, that thou shouldest fall, and Judah with thee?

20 But Amaziah woulde not heare: for it was of God, that hee might deliuer them into [his] hande, because they had sought the gods of Edom.

21 So Joash <sup>g</sup> King of Israel went vp: and he, and Amaziah king of Judah saw one another in the face at Bethshemesh, which is in Judah.

22 And Judah was put to the worse before Israel, & they slew euery man to his tents.

23 But Joash the King of Israel tooke Amaziah king of Judah, & sonne of Joash, & sonne of Jehoahaz in Bethshemesh, and brought him to Ierusalem, and brake downe the wall of Ierusalem, from the gate of Ephraim vnto <sup>g</sup> corner gate, foure hundredeth cubites.

24 And [he tooke] all the golde and the siluer, and all the vessels that were founde in the house of God with <sup>g</sup> Obed Edom, and in the treasures of the kings house, and the children that were in hostage, and returned to Samaria.

25 ¶ And Amaziah the sonne of Joash King of Judah liued after the death of Joash <sup>g</sup> sonne of Jehoahaz king of Israel, fiftene yeere.

26 Concerning the rest of the actes of Amaziah first & last, are they not written in the booke of the kings of Judah and Israel:

27 Nowe after the time that Amaziah did turne away from the Lorde, they wrought treason against him in Ierusalem: and when hee was fledde to Lachish, they sent to Lachish after him, and slew him there.

28 And they brought him vpon horses, and buried him with his fathers in the cite of Judah.

4 And he did vprightly in the sight of the Lord, according to all that his father Amaziah did.

5 And he fought God in the dayes of Zechariyah (which vnderstoode the visions of God) and when as he fought the Lord, God made him to prosper.

6 For he went forth & fought against the Philistines & brake downe the wall of Gath, and the wall of Jabneh, and the wall of Ashdod, & built cities in Ashdod, and among the Philistines.

7 And God helped him against the Philistines, and against the Arabians that dwelt in Gur-baal and Hammeunim.

8 And the Ammonites gaue gifts to Uziah, & his name spread to the entering in of Egypt: for he did most valiantly.

9 Moreover Uziah built towres in Ierusalem at the corner gate, and at the balley gate, and at the * turning, and made them strong.

10 And he built towres in the wilderness, and digged many cisternes: for he had much cattell both in the balleis and plaines, plowmen, and dressers of vines in the mountaines, and in Carmel: for he loued husbandrie.

11 Uziah had also an host of fighting men that went out to warre by bandes, according to the count of their number vnder the hande of Ieriel the scribe, and Daaleiah the ruler, and vnder the hand of Hananiah, one of the kings captaines.

12 The whole number of the chiefe of the families of valiant men [were] two thousand and six hundred.

13 And vnder their hand [was] the armie for warre, three hundred and seuen thousand, and six hundred that fought valiantly to helpe the King against the enemies.

14 And Uziah prepared the thorough out all the host, shields, and speares, and helmets, and brigandines, and bowes, and stones to sling.

15 He made also very artificial engines in Ierusalem, to be vpon the towres and vpon the corners, to shoote arrowes and great stones: and his name spread farre abroad, because [God] did helpe him maruelously, till he was mightie.

16 But when he was strong, his heart was lifted vp to [his] destruction: for he transgressed against the Lord his God, and went into the Temple of the Lord to burne incense vpon the altar of incense.

17 And Azariah the priest went in after him, & with him fourescore priests of the Lord, valiant men.

18 And they withstood Uziah the King, & saide vnto him, * It pertaineth not to thee, Uziah, to burne incense vnto the Lord, but to the priests the sonnes of Aaron, that are consecrated for to offer incense: go forth of the Sanctuary: for thou hast transgressed, and thou shalt haue none honour of the Lord God.

19 The Uziah was wroth, and had incense in his hande to burne it: & while he was wroth with the priests, the leprosie rose vpon his forehead before the priests in the house of the Lord beside the incense altar.

20 And when Azariah the chiefe priest with all the priests looked vpon him, beholde, he was leprous in his forehead: & they caused him hastily to depart thence: and he was euen compelled to goe out, because the Lord had smitten him.

21 And Uziah the king was a leper vnto the day of his death, & dwelt as a leper in an house apart, because he was cut off from the house of the Lord: & Jotham his sonne ruled ouer the kings house, and iudged the people of the land.

22 Concerning the rest of the actes of Uziah, first & last, did Ishaiah the prophet the sonne of Amos write.

23 So Uziah slept with his fathers, and they buried him with his fathers in the field of buriall, which pertained to the kings: for they said, he is a leper. And Jotham his sonne reigned in his stead.

1 Ahaz an idolater is given into the hands of the Assyrians, and the King of Israel, & the Prophet reprooveth the Israelites crueltie. 18 Judah is molished with enemies. 23 Ahaz increaseth his idolatrie. 26 His death and successeur.

Ahaz was twentie yeere old when hee began to reigne, and reigned sixteen yeere in Ierusalem, and did not rightly in the sight of the Lord, like Dauid his father.

2 But hee walked in the wayes of the kings of Israel and made euen molten images for Baalim.

3 Moreover hee burnt incense in the valley of Ben-hinnom, and burnt his sonnes with fire, after the abominations of the heathen whom the Lord had cast out before the children of Israel.

4 He sacrificed also and burnt incense in the hie places, & on hilles, and vnder every greene tree.

5 Wherefore the Lord his God delivered him into the hande of the King of the Aramites, & they smote him, & tooke of his many prisoners, & brought them to Damascus: and he was also delivered into the had of the King of Israel, which smote him with a great slaughter.

6 For Pekah the sonne of Remathai slew in Judah six score thousand in one day, all valiant men, because they had forsaken the Lord God of their fathers.

7 And Zichia a mightie man of Ephraim slew Maasiah the kings sonne, and Azrikam the governour of the house, and Elkanah the second after the King.

8 And the children of Israel tooke prisoners of their brethren, two hundred thousand of women, sonnes and daughters, & caried away much spoile of them, and brought the spoyle to Samaria.

9 But there was a prophet of the Lords, whose name was Obed: & he went out before the hoste: & came to Samaria, and said vnto them, Behold, because the Lord God of your fathers is wroth with Judah, hee hath delivered them into your hande, & yee have slayne them in a rage, that reacheth vp to heauen.

10 And now ye purpose to keepe vnder the children of Judah & Ierusalem, as seruants and handmaidens vnto you: but are not you such, that times are with you before the Lord your God?

11 Now therefore heare me, & deliver the captives againe, which ye have taken prisoners of your brethren: for the fierce wrath of the Lord is toward you.

12 Wherefore certaine of the chiefe of the children of Ephraim, Asariah the sonne of Jehohanan, Berechiah the sonne of Nehillemoth, and Jehizkiah the sonne of Shallum, & Amalai the sonne of Hadlai, stood vp against them that came from the warre.

13 And sayde vnto them, Bring not in the captives hither: for [this shall be] a sinne vpon vs [against] the Lord: ye intend to adde more to our sinnes & to our trespasses, though our trespasses be great, and the fierce wrath [of God is] against Israel.

14 So the armie left the captives and the spoyle before the princes and all the Congregation.

15 And the men that were named by name, rose vp and tooke the prisoners, and with the spoyle clothed all that were naked among them, & arrayed them, and shodde them, and gaue them meate and gaue them drinke, and anointed them, and caried all that were feeble of the ypon asses, and brought them to Jericho the citie of Palme trees to their brethren: so they returned to Samaria.

16 At that time dyd King Ahaz sende vnto the Kings of Asshur, to helpe him.

17 For the Edomites came moeuener, and slewe of Judah, and caried away captives.

18 The Philistins also invaded the cities in the lowe countrey, & toward the South of Judah, & tooke Bethshemesh and Aialon, and Gederoth & Shochoh, with the villages thereof, and Timnah, with her villages, and Gimzo, with her villages, and they dwelt there.

3 He opened the doores of the house of the Lord in the first yere, and in the first moneth of his reigne, & repaired them.

4 And he brought in the Priests and the Leuites, and gathered them into the East street,

5 And saide vnto them, heare me, yee Leuites: sanctifie now your selues, and sanctifie the house of the Lord God of your fathers, and carry forth the filthines out of the Sanctuarie.

6 For our fathers haue trespassed, & done euill in the eyes of the Lord our God, and haue forsake him, and turned away their faces from the Tabernacle of the Lord, and turned their backs.

7 They haue also shut the doores of the porche, and quenched the lampes, & haue neither burnt incense, nor offered burnt offerings in the Sanctuarie vnto the God of Israel.

8 Wherefore the wrath of the Lord hath bene on Judah & Jerusalem: & he hath made the a<sup>l</sup> scattering, a desolation, and an hissing, as yee see with your eyes.

9 For so, our fathers are fallen by the sword, & our sonnes, & our daughters, and our wiues [are] in captiuitie for the same cause.

11 Now my sonnes, bee not deceived: for the Lord hath chosen you to stande before him, to serue him, & to bee his ministers, and to burne incense.

12 Then the Leuites arose, Shaphan the sonne of Amathai, & Joel the sonne of Saraiah of the sons of the Kohathites: and of the sonnes of Merari, Bithai the sonne of Abdi, and Asariel the sonne of Jehalelei: and of the Gershonites, Joah the sonne of Zimnah, and Eden the sonne of Joah:

13 And of the sonnes of Elizaphan, Shimri, and Jehiel: and of the sonnes of Alaph, Zechariah, and Mattaniah:

14 And of the sonnes of Heman, Jehiel, and Shimei: and of the sonnes of Jeduthun, Shemiaah and Uzziel.

15 And they gathered their brethren and sanctified them selues and came according to the commandement of the Lord, [and] by the wordes of the Lord, for to cleanse the house of the Lord.

16 And the Priests wet into the inner parts of the house of the Lord, to cleanse it, and brought out all the uncleannes that they found in the Temple of the Lord, into the court of the house of the Lord: & the Leuites tooke it, to carie it out vnto the brooke Kidron.

17 They began the first [day] of the first moneth to sanctifie it, and the eighth day of the moneth came they to the porch of the Lord: so they sanctified the house of the Lord in eight dayes, & in the sixth

¶ Or, table where the bread was set in order,

19 And all the vessels which King Ahas had cast aside when he reigned, [and] transgressed, haue we prepared & sanctified: and behold, they are before the altar of the Lord.

20 ¶ And Hezekiah the King rose early, and gathered the princes of the citie, & went up to the house of the Lord.

h In this manner of speech the Prophets meant a certain diligence to do a thing, and when there is no delay, Leuit. 4. 14.

21 And they brought seven bullockes, and seven rams, and seven lambs, and seven hee goates, for a sinne offering for the kingdome, and for the sanctuarie, and for Judah. And he commanded the priests the sonnes of Aaron, to offer [them] on the altar of the Lord.

i For without sprinkling of blood nothing could be sanctified, Heb. 9. 21, & 13. 10.

22 So they slew the bullockes, and the priests receiued the blood, and sprinkled it vpon the altar: they slew also the rams, and sprinkled the blood vpon the altar, and they slew the lambs, & they sprinkled the blood vpon the altar.

23 Then they brought the hee goates for the sinne offering before the king and the Congregation, and they layde their hands vpon them.

k There is, the King & the Elders, as Leuit. 4. 15, for they that offered a sinne offering, must lay their hands vpon it, to signifye that they had deserved that death, and also that they did consecrate it to God to be thereof sanctified, Exod. 29. 10, 1 Chron. 16. 4.

24 And the priests slew them, and with the blood of them they cleansed the altar to reconcile all Israel: for the king had commanded for all Israel the burnt offering and the sinne offering.

25 He appointed also the Levites in the house of the Lord with cymbales, with viroles, & with harpes, according to the commandment of Dauid, & Gad the kings Seer, and Nathan the Prophet: for the commandment was by the hand of the Lord, & by the hand of his Prophets.

l This thing has not appointed of men, but it was the commandment of God, 26 And the Levites stood with the instruments of Dauid, and the priests with the trumpets.

27 And Hezekiah commanded to offer the burnt offering vpon the altar: & when the burnt offering began, the song of the Lord began with the trumpets, & the instruments of Dauid king of Israel.

m The Psalm which Dauid had appointed to be sung for thanksgiving, 1. Which Dauid had appointed to praise the Lord with, 28 And all the Congregation worshipped, singing a song, and they blew the trumpets: all this continued, untill the burnt offering was finished.

29 And when they had made an end of offering, the King and all that were present with him, bowed themselves, and worshipped.

30 ¶ Then Hezekiah the king & the princes commanded the Levites to playe the Lord with the ° wordes of Dauid, and of Asaph the Seer. so they praised with ioy, and they bowed them selves, and worshipped.

o Which the psalm whereof mention is made, 1. Chro. 16. 8.

31 And Hezekiah spake, & said, Now ye haue ° consecrate your selves to the Lord: come neere and bring the sacrifices and [offerings] of prayle into the house of the Lord. And the Congregation brought sacrifices, and [offerings] of prayles, and every man that was willing in heart, offered burnt offerings.

° Ebr. filled your hands,

32 And the number of the burnt offerings, which the Congregation brought, was seuentie bullockes, an hundred rammes, and two hundred lambs: all these were for a burnt offering to the Lord.

33 And for sanctification five hundred bullockes, and three thousand sheepe.

° There is, for the bullock offerings,

34 But the priests were to few, and were not able to slay all the burnt offerings: therefore their brethren the Levites did helpe them, till they had ended the worke, and until other priests were sanctified: for the Levites were more vpright in heart to sanctifie them selves, then the priests.

q Speaking, were more zealous to set forward the religion,

35 And also the burnt offerings were many with the fat of the peace offerings, and the drinke offerings for the burnt offering. so the service of the house of the Lord was set in order.

tion throughout all Israel from Beersheba unto Dan, that they should come to keep the Passover unto the Lord God of Israel at Jerusalem: for they had not done it of a great [time,] as it was written.

6 ¶ So the postes went with letters
by the commission of the king, & his princes, throughout all Israel & Judah, and with the commandement of the king, saying, Be children of Israel, turne againe unto the Lord God of Abraham, Isaac, and Israel, and hee will returne to the remnant that are escaped of you, out of the hands of the Kings of Asshur.

7 And be not ye like your fathers, like your brethren, which trespassed against the Lord God of their fathers: [and] therefore he made the desolate, as ye see.

8 Be not ye now like your fathers, [but] give ye hand to the Lord, and come into his sanctuary, which he hath sanctified for ever, & serve the Lord your God, & the fiercenes of his wrath shall turne away from you.

9 For if ye returne unto the Lord, your brethren & your children shall find mercy before them that led them captives, & they shall returne unto this land: for the Lord your God is gracious & merciful, and will not turne away his face
from you, if ye convert unto him.

10 ¶ So the postes went from citie to citie
through the land of Ephraim & Manasse, unto Zebulun: but they laughed
them to scorn, and mocked them.

11 Fewer theles diuers of Asher, and Manasse, and of Zebulun submitted themselves, and came to Jerusalem.

12 And the hand of God was in Judah, so that he gave the one heart to doe the commandement of the king, and of the rulers, according to the word of the Lord.

13 And there assembled to Jerusalem much people, to keepe the feast of the unleavened bread in the seconde month, a very great assembly.

14 ¶ And they arose, and tooke away the altars that were in Jerusalem: & all those for incense tooke they away, and cast them into the brooke Kidon.

15 Afterward they slew the Passover
the fourteenth [day] of the seconde month: and the priests and Levites were ashamed, & sanctified themselves, and brought the burnt offerings into the house of the Lord.

16 And they stood in their place after their manner, according to the Lawe of Moses the man of God: [and] the priests sprinkled the blood, [received] of the handes of the Levites.

17 Because there were many in the Congregation that were not sanctified, therefore the Levites had the charge of the killing of the Passover for al: were not cleane, to sanctifie it to the Lord.

18 For a multitude of the people, [even]
a multitude of Ephraim, & Manasse, Issachar and Zebulun had not sanctified themselves, yet did eate the Passover, [but] not as it was written: wherefore Hezekiah prayed for them, saying, The good Lord be mercifull towards him,

19 That prepareth his whole heart to seek the Lord God, the God of his fathers, though he be not [sanctified,] according to the purification of the Sanctuary.

20 And the Lord heard Hezekiah, and healed the people.

21 And the children of Israel were present at Jerusalem, kept the feast of the unleavened bread seven dayes with great ioy, and the Levites, & the priests

praised the Lord, day by day, singing with loud instruments unto the Lord.

22 And Hezekiah spake comfortably unto all the Levites that had good knowledge [to sing] unto the Lord: and they did eate in that feast seven dayes, & offered peace offerings, and praised the Lord God of their fathers.

23 And the whole assembly tooke
counsell to keepe it other seven dayes.
So they kept it seven dayes with ioy.

24 For Hezekiah king of Judah had given to the Congregation a thousand bullocks, & seven thousand sheepe. And his princes had given to the Congregation
a thousand bullocks, and ten thousand sheepe: & many priests were sanctified.

25 And all the Congregation of Judah reioyced with the priests and the Levites, and all the Congregation that came out of Israel, and the strangers that came out of the land of Israel, and that dwelt in Judah.

26 So there was great ioy in Jerusalem: for since the time of Salomon the sonne of David king of Israel there [was] not the like thing in Jerusalem.

27 Then the priests & the Levites arose, and blessed the people, and their voice was heard, and their prayer came up unto heaven, to his holy habitation.

7 In the thirde moneth they began to lay the foundation of the heapes, and finished them in the seueneth moneth.

8 And when Hezekiah & the princes came, & saw the heapes, they blessed the Lord and his people Israel.

9 And Hezekiah questioned with the Priests and the Leuites concerning the heapes.

10 And Azariah the chiefe Priest of the house of Zadok answered him, and sayde, Since the people began to bring the offerings into the house of the Lord, we haue eaten and haue bene satisfied, and there is left in abundance: for the Lord hath blessed his people, and thus abundance that is left.

After these things faithfully described, Sanherib king of Assyrie came and entred into Iudah, and besieged the strong cities, and thought to winne the for him selfe.

2 When Hezekiah sawe that Sanherib was come, and that his purpose was to fight against Ierusalem,

3 Then he tooke counsell with his princes and his nobles, to stoppe the water of the fountaines without the citie: and they did helpe him.

4 So many of the people assembled themselves & stopt all the fountaines, & the river ran through the mids of the country, laying, why should the kings of Assyrie come, and finde much water:

5 And he tooke courage, and built all the broken wall, and made by towres, and another wall without, and repaired the wall in the citie of Dauid, and made many bartes and shields.

6 And he set captaines of warre ouer the people and assembled the to him in the boarde place of the gate of the citie, & spake comfortably vnto them, saying,

7 Be strong and courageous: feare not, neither be afraid for the King of Assyrie, neither for all the multitude that is with him: for there be no with vs, then is with him.

8 With him is an arme of flesh, but with vs is the Lord our God for to helpe vs, and to fight our battels. Then the people were comforted by the wordes of Hezekiah king of Iudah.

9 After this, did Sanherib King of Assyrie sende his seruants to Ierusalem (while he was against Lachish, and all his dominion with him) vnto Hezekiah King of Iudah, and vnto all Iudah that were at Ierusalem, saying,

10 Thus saith Sanherib the King of Assyrie, wherein do ye trust, & ye will remaine in Ierusalem, during the siege:

11 Doeth not Hezekiah entice you to giue ouer your selues vnto death by famine and by thirst, saying, The Lord our God shall deliuer vs out of the hand of the King of Assyrie:

12 Hath not the same Hezekiah taken away his high places and his altars, and commanded Iudah and Ierusalem, saying, Ye shall worshipping before one altar, and burne incense vpon it:

13 Knowe ye not what I and my fathers haue done vnto all the people of other countries: were the gods of the nations of other landes able to deliuer their lande out of mine hande:

14 Who is he of all the gods of those nations (that my fathers haue destroyed) that could deliuer his people out of mine hande: that your God should be able to deliuer you out of mine hande:

15 Nowe therefore let not Hezekiah deceiue you, nor seduce you after this sort, neither deceiue ye him: for none of all the gods of any nation or kingdome was able to deliuer his people out of mine hande and out of the hande of my fathers: how much lesse shall your gods deliuer you out of mine hande:

16 And his seruants spake yet more against the Lord God, and against his seruants Hezekiah.

17 He wrote also letters, blaspheming the Lord God of Israel and speaking against him, saying, As the gods of the nations of other countries coude not deliuer their people out of mine hand, so shall not the God of Hezekiah deliuer his people out of mine hande.

18 Then they cryed with a loud voice in the Iewes speech vnto the people of Ierusalem that were on the wall, to feare them and to astonish them, that they might take the citie.

19 Thus they spake against the God of Ierusalem, as against the gods of the people of the earth, euen the wordes of mans hands,

20 But Hezekiah the king, and the prophet Ishaiah the sonne of Amos, prayed against this and cried to heauen.

And when he was come into the house of his god, they that came forth of his owne bowels, slewe him there with the sword.

22 So the Lord saued Hezekiah and the inhabitants of Ierusalem from the hand of Sanherib king of Assyrie, and from the hand of all other, and maintained them on euery side.

23 And many brought offerings vnto the Lord to Ierusalem, and presents to Hezekiah King of Iudah, so that he was magnified in the sight of all nations from thenceforth.

sicke vnto the death, and prayed vnto the Lorde, who spake vnto him, and gaue him a signe.

25 But Hezekiah did not reder according to reuerward bestowed by him: for his heart was lifted vp, & wrath came vpon him, & vpon Iudah and Ierusalem.

26 Notwithstanding Hezekiah humbled him selfe (after that his heart was lifted vp) he and the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and the wrath of the Lorde came not vpon the in the dayes of Hezekiah.

27 Hezekiah also had exceeding much riches and honour, and hee gaue him treasures of siluer, and of golde, and of precious stones, & of sweete odours, and of sheldes, and of all pleasant vessels:

28 And of stee houses for increase of wheate and wine and oyle, and stables for all beasts, and robes for the stables.

29 And he made him cities, and [had] possessions of sheepe and oren in abundance: for God had giuen him substance exceeding much.

30 This same Hezekiah also stopped the vpper water springes of Sihon, and ledde them straight vnderneath towarde the cite of Dauid westwarde. so Hezekiah prospered in all his workes.

31 But because of the ambassadours of the princes of Babel, which sent vnto him to enquire of the wonder that was done in the land, God left him to trie him, [&] to knowe all that was in his heart.

32 Concerning the rest of the actes of Hezekiah, and his goodnesse, beholde, they are writte in the vision of Ichaiah the prophet, the sonne of Amos, in the booke of the Kings of Iudah & Israel.

33 So Hezekiah slept w his fathers, and they buried him in the highest pulchre of the sonnes of Dauid: and all Iudah and the inhabitants of Ierusalem did him honour at his death: & Manasseh his sonne reigned in his steade.

CHAP. XXXII.

1 Manasseh an idolater. 2 He caused Iudah to erre. 11 He is lea away prisoner into Babilon. 12 He prophesie to the Lorde and is deliuered. 14 He aboliseth idolatrie. 16 And secretly vsue true religion. 20 He dyeth and Amos his sonne succedeth. 24 Whome his owne seruants slay.

Manasseh [was] twelue yeere old, * whē he begā to reigne, and he reigned five and fiftie yeere in Ierusalem:

2 And hee did euill in the sight of the Lorde, like the abominations of the heathen, * Whome the Lorde had cast out before the childre of Israel.

3 For he went backe and built the hie places, * which Hezekiah his father had broken downe: * and he set vp altars for Baalim, and made groues, and worshipped all the hoste of the heauen, and serued them.

4 Also hee built altars in the house of the Lorde, wherof the Lorde had said, * In Ierusalem shall my Name be for euer.

5 And hee built altars for all the hoste of the heauen in the two courts of the house of the Lorde.

6 And hee caused his sonnes to passe through the fire in the balley of Ben-hinnom: he gaue him selfe to witchcraft and to charming, and to sozterie, and he bled them that had familiar spirits, and soothsayers: hee did very much euill in the sight of the Lorde to anger him.

7 He put also a carued image, which hee had made, in the house of God: wherof God had said to Dauid, & to Salomō his sonne, * In this house & in Ierusalem which I haue chosen before all the citides of Israel, will I put my Name for euer.

8 Neither will I make the foote of Israel to remoue any more out of the lande which I haue appointed for your fathers, so that they take heede, and doe all that I haue commaunded them, according to the Lawe and statutes and iudgements by the hand of Moses.

9 So Manasseh made Iudah and the inhabitants of Ierusalem to erre, [and] to doe worse then the heathen, whome the Lorde had destroyed before the children of Israel.

10 And the Lorde spake to Manasseh and to his people, but they would not regarde.

11 Wherefore the Lorde brought vpon them the captaines of the hoste of the king of Assyrie, which tooke Manasseh [and] put him in fetters, and bound him in chaines, and caried him to Babel.

12 And when he was in tribulation, he prayed to the Lorde his God, and humbled himselfe greatly before the God of his fathers,

13 And prayed vnto him: and [God] was entreated of him, and heard his prayer, and brought him againe to Ierusalem into his kingdom: then Manasseh knewe that the Lorde was God.

14 Now after this hee built a wall about the cite of Dauid, on the westside of Sihon in the balley, euē at the entry of the fish gate, & compassed about Ophel, & raised it very high, & put captaines of warre in all the strong cities of Iudah.

3 And in the eight yere of his reigne

(When he was yet a childe) he beganne to seeke after the God of Dauid his father: and in the selfe yere he began to purge Iudah, and Jerusalem from the hie places, and the groues, and the carued images, and molten images:

4 And they brake downe in his sight the altars of Baalim, & he caused to cut downe the images that were on hie by on them: he brake also the groues, and the carued images, and the molten images, and stampd them to powder, and strowed it vpo the graues of them that had sacrificed vnto them.

5 Also he burnt the bones of the Priestes vpon their altars, and purged Iudah and Jerusalem.

6 And in the cities of Manasseh, and Ephraim, and Simeon, euen vnto Naphtali, with their manles [they brake all] rounde about.

7 And when he had destroyed the altars and the groues, and had broken and stamped to powder the images, and had cut downe all ydoles throught out all the lande of Israel, he returned to Jerusalem.

8 Then in the eighteenth yere of his reigne whē he had purged the land and the Temple, he sent Shaphan the sonne of Azaliah, and Maaseiah the gouernour of the cite, and Iosiah the sonne of Iosabab the recorder, to repaire the house of the Lord his God.

9 And when they came to Hilkiah the hie Priest, they deliuered the money that was brought into the house of God, which the Leuites that kept the doore, had gathered at the hand of Manasseh, and Ephraim, & of all the residue of Israel, and of all Iudah and Benjamin, and of the inhabitants of Jerusalem.

10 And they put it in y hands of them that should do the worke [and] had the ouersight in the house of the Lord: and they gaue it to the workemen that wrought in the house of the Lord, to repaire and amende the house.

13 And [they were] ouer the bearers of burdens, and them that set forwarde all the workemen in euery worke: and of the Leuites [were] scribes, and officers and porters.

14 And when they brought out the money that was brought into the house of the Lorde, Hilkiah the Priest founde the booke of the Law of the Lord [giuen] by the hande of Moses.

15 Therefore Hilkiah answered and saide to Shaphan the chauceiler, I haue founde the booke of the Lawe in the house of the Lorde: and Hilkiah gaue the booke to Shaphan.

16 And Shaphan caried the booke to the king, and brought the king word againe, saying, All that is committed to the hand of thy seruants, that do they.

17 For they haue gathered the money that was founde in the house of the Lorde, and haue deliuered it into the hands of the ouerscers, and to þ handes of the workemen.

18 Also Shaphan the chauceiler declared to the King, saying, Hilkiah the Priest hath giuen me a booke, and Shaphan read it before the King.

19 And when the king had heard the wordes of the Law, he tare his clothes.

20 And the king commanded Hilkiah, and Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan, and Abdon the sonne of Micah, and Shaphan the chauceiler, and Aiaiah the kings seruant, saying,

21 Goe and enquire of the Lorde for me, & for the rest in Israel & Judah, concerning the wordes of this booke that is found: for great is the wrath of þ Lorde þ is fallen vpon vs, because our fathers haue not kept the word of þ Lorde, to do after all that is written in this booke.

22 Then Hilkiah and they that the king [had appointed], went to Iudah the prophetesse the wife of Shallum, the sonne of Tothath, þ sonne of Harah keeper of the wardrobe (and she dwelt in Jerusalem in the colledge) and they communed herof with her.

23 And he answered them, Thus saith the Lorde God of Israel, Tell yee the man that sent you to me,

24 Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I wil bring euil vpon this place, and vpon the inhabitants thereof, [euen] all þ curses, that are written in the booke which they haue read before þ king of Iudah:

25 Because they haue forsaken me, &

burnt incense vnto other gods, to anger me with all the workes of their hands, therefore shall my wrath fall vpon this place, and shall not be quenched.

26 But to the king of Iudah, who sent you to enquire of the Lorde, so shall ye say vnto him, Thus saith the Lorde God of Israel, The wordes which thou hast heard, [shall come to passe].

27 [But] because thine heart did melt, and thou didest humble thy selfe before God, when thou heardest his wordes against this place and against the inhabitants thereof, and humbledst thy selfe before me and tarest thy clothes, and weptest before me, I haue also heard it, saith the Lord.

28 Beholde, I will gather thee to thy fathers, and thou shalt be put in the graue in peace, and thine eyes shall not see all the euil, which I wil bring vpon this place, and vpon the inhabitants of the same. Thus they brought the King wordes againe.

29 Then the King sent and gathered all the Elders of Iudah and Jerusalem.

30 And the King went by into the house of the Lorde, and all the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and the Priests and the Leuites, and all the people from the greatest to the smallest, and he read in their eares all the wordes of the booke of the couenant that was founde in the house of the Lorde.

31 And the King stood by his pillar, and made a couenant before the Lorde, to walke after the Lorde, and to keepe his commandements, and his testimonies, & his statutes, with al his heart, & with al his soule, [and] that he would accomplish the wordes of the couenant written in the same booke.

32 And he caused all that were found in Jerusalem, and Benjamin to stande to it: and the inhabitants of Jerusalem did according to the couenant of God, [eu]en the God of their fathers.

33 So Iofiah tooke away all the abominations out of all the countries that pertained to the children of Israel, and compelled all that were found in Israel, to serue the Lorde their God: [so] all his dayes they turned not backe from the Lorde God of their fathers.

CHAP. XXXV.

Iofiah keepeth the Passouer. He setteth forth Gods service. He fighteth against the King of Egypt, and dyeth. The people bewaile him.

p This he speaketh in contempt of the idolaters, who contrary to reason and nature make that a god which they haue made, and frame it with their owne hands.
q This declarereth what is the ende of Gods threatenings, to call his repentance, and to assure the repentant of their destruction.

r It may appere that yere were touched with true repentance, seeing that God spared them for a time onely for the kings sake.

s Iofiah much as neither yong nor old could be exempted from the curses contained therein, if they did resist, he knew it appertained to all, and was his due to suffer it to all fayes, that euery one might learne to auoid those punishments by seruing God aright.

a The Scripture vſeth in ſundry places to call the lamb the Paſſeouer, which was but the ſigne of the Paſſeouer, becauſe in all ſacraments the ſignes haue the names of the things which are ſignified.

b So that the Leuites charge was not onely to miniſter in the Temple, but alſo to inſtruct the people in the worſhip of God.

c As it was beforſe the Temple was built, therefore your office onely is now to teach the people, and to praye for God.

g They referred to the people that which was not expedient to be offered that euerie man might offer peace offerings, and ſo haue his portion,

2 And he appointed the Priests to their charges, and inuouraged them to the ſervice of the houſe of the Lord,

3 And he ſayd vnto the Leuites, that he taught all Iſrael and were ſanctified vnto the Lord, But the holy Arke in the houſe which Salomon the ſonne of Dauid King of Iſrael did build: it ſhall be no more a burden vpon your ſhoulders: ſerue now the Lord your God and his people Iſrael,

4 And prepare your ſelues by the houſes of your fathers according to your courſes, as * Dauid the King of Iſrael hath written, and according to the writing of Salomon his ſonne,

5 And ſtand in the Sanctuarie according to the diſſion of the families of your brethren the children of the people, and after the diſſion of the familie of the Leuites:

6 So kill the Paſſeouer, and ſanctifie your ſelues, and prepare your brethren that they may doe according to the Word of the Lord by the hand of Moſes.

7 Ioſiah alſo gaue to the people ſheepe, lambs, & kids, all for the Paſſeouer, [euen] to all that were preſent, to the number of thirtie thouſand, & three thouſand bullocks: theſe were of the Kings ſubſtance.

8 And his princes offered willingly vnto the people, to the Priests and to the Leuites: Hilkiah, and Zechariah, and Jehiel, rulers of the houſe of God, gaue vnto the Priests for the Paſſeouer, [euen] two thouſand and ſix hundred [ſheepe] and three hundred bullocks.

9 Conaniah alſo and Shemaiah and Bethaneel his brethren, and haſhabiah and Jeiel, and Joſabad, chiefe of the Leuites gaue vnto the Leuites for the Paſſeouer, five thouſand [ſheepe], and five hundred bullocks.

10 Thus the ſerue was prepared, and the Priests ſtoode in their places, alſo the Leuites in their orders, according to the Kings commandement:

11 And they ſlew the Paſſeouer, & the Priests ſpinkled the blood with their hands, and the Leuites ſlayed them.

12 And they tooke away [from] the burnt offering to giue it according to the diſſions of the families of the children of the people, to offer vnto the Lord, as it is written in the booke of Moſes, and ſo of the bullocks.

13 And they roſted the Paſſeouer with fire, according to the cuſtome, but the ſanctified things they ſod in pots, pannes, and cauldrons, and diſtributed them quickly to all the people.

14 Afterward alſo they prepared for them ſelues and for the Priests: for the Priests the ſonnes of Aaron were occupied in offering of burnt offerings; and the fat vntill night: therefore the Leuites prepared for them ſelues, and for the Priests the ſonnes of Aaron.

15 And the fingers the ſonnes of Aſaph ſtoode in their ſtanding according to the commandement of Dauid, and Aſaph, and Heman, and Jeduthun the Kings Seer: and the porters at euerie gate, who might not depart from their ſerue: therefore their brethren the Leuites prepared for them.

16 So all the ſerue of the Lord was prepared the ſame day, to keepe the Paſſeouer, and to offer burnt offerings vpon the altar of the Lord, according to the commandement of king Ioſiah.

17 And the children of Iſrael that were preſent, kept the Paſſeouer the ſame time, and the feaſt of the vnteaſened bread ſeven dayes.

18 And there was no Paſſeouer kept like that, in Iſrael, from the dayes of Samuel the Prophet: neither did all the Kings of Iſrael keepe ſuch a Paſſeouer as Ioſiah kept, and the Priests and the Leuites, and all Iudah, and Iſrael that were preſent, and the inhabitants of Ieruſalem.

19 This Paſſeouer was kept in the eighteenth yeere of the reigne of Ioſiah.

20 ¶ After all this, when Ioſiah had prepared the Temple, Necho king of Egypt came by to fight againſt * Carchemiſh by the Perath, and Ioſiah went out againſt him.

When * the people of the land tooke Ichoahaz the sonne of Iosiah, & made him King in his fathers stead in Ierusalem.

2 Ichoahaz was threie and twentie yeere olde when he began to reigne, & he reigned threie moneths in Ierusalem.

3 And the King of Egypt tooke him away at Ierusalem, and condemned the land in an hundred talents of siluer, and a talent of golde.

4 And the King of Egypt made Eliakim his brother King ouer Judah and Ierusalem, and turned his name to Jehoiakim: and Necho tooke Ichoahaz his brother, & caried him to Egypt.

5 Jehoiakim was iue and twentie yeere olde, when he began to reigne, and he reigned eleuen yeere in Ierusalem, and did euill in the sight of the Lorde his God.

6 Against him came by Nebuchadnezzar King of Babel, and bound him with chaines to carie him to Babel.

7 Nebuchadnezzar also caried of the vessels of the house of the Lorde to Babel, and put them in his Temple at Babel.

8 Concerning the rest of the actes of

Jehoiakim, & his abominations which he did, and that which was found by on him, beholde, they are written in the booke of the Kings of Israel and Judah, and Jehoiachin his sonne reigned in his stead.

9 Jehoiachin [was] eight yeere olde when he began to reigne, and he reigned threie moneths and ten dayes in Ierusalem, and did euill in the sight of the Lorde.

10 And when the yere was out, king Nebuchadnezzar sent and brought him to Babel with the pcerious vessels of the house of the Lorde, and he made Zedekiah his brother King ouer Judah and Ierusalem.

11 Zedekiah [was] one and twentie yeere olde, when he began to reigne, and reigned eleuen yeere in Ierusalem.

12 * And he did euill in the sight of the Lorde his God, and humbled not himselfe before Jeremiah the Prophet at the commandement of the Lorde, 13 But he rebelled moreouer against Nebuchadnezzar, which had caused him to sweare by God: and he hardened his necke and made his heart obstinate that hee might not returne to the Lorde God of Israel.

14 All the chiefe of the Priests also and of the people trespassed wonderfully, according to all the abominations of the heathen, and polluted the house of the Lorde which he had sanctified in Ierusalem.

15 Therefore the Lorde God of their fathers sent to them by his messengers, rising early and sending: for hee had compassion on his people, and on his habitation.

16 But they mocked the messengers of God & despised his wordes, and misused his Prophets, until the wrath of the Lorde arole against his people, and till there was no remedie.

17 For hee brought vpon them the King of the Caldeans, who slew the yong men with the sword in the house of their Sanctuarie, and spared neither yong man, nor virgine, auncient, nor aged, [God] gaue all into his hand,

18 And all the vessels of the house of God great & small, and the treasures of the house of the Lorde, and the treasures of the King, and of his princes: all these caried he to Babel.

19 And they burnt the house of God, and brake down the wall of Ierusalem, and he meant supersticious markes which were found vpon his body, when he was dead: & when thing declared how decayed idolatrie was rooted in his heart, seeing he bare marks in his flesh.

That is, he began his reign at eight yeere olde, & reigned threie moneths and ten dayes, as his fathers death, which was the eighteenth yeere of his age, he reigned alone threie moneths and ten dayes, [Or, yeele].

Which is not because god appointeth him which yett hee misused the ministe of his iustice, nor because God would by his iust judgement punish this people: for this King was led with ambition & vaine glorie, whereunto were ioyned furie and cruelty: therefore his woe hee was condemnable, notwithstanding it was iust and holp on Gods part, who vied this wicked instrument to declare his iustice.

m The people so much lamented the loss of this good king, that after when there was any great lamentation, this was spoken of as a pmoerbe, reade Jer. 22. 11. n Caluiter some thinke Jeremiah made wherein he lamenteth the state of the Church after this Kings death,

For three moneths after the death of Iosiah came Necho to Ierusalem, and so the plagues began, which Iudah, & the Prophets forewarned should come vpon Ierusalem. b To pay this as a pcerp tribute.

The prayer of Manasseh King

of the Iewes.

This prayer is not in the Hebrew, but is translated out of the Greeke.

Lorde almighty, God of our fathers Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, & of their righteous seede, which hast made heauen and earth with all their ornament, which hast bound the sea by the word of thy commandement, which hast shut by the deepe and sealed it by thy terrible and glorious Name, Whom all doe feare & tremble before thy power: for the maiestie of thy glorie cannot be borne, and thine angrie threatening toward sinners is importable, but thy mercifull promise is vnmeasurable and vnsearchable. For thou art the most high Lorde, of great compassion, long suffering, and most merciful, and repentest for mans miseries. Thou, O Lord, according to thy great goodnes hast promised<sup>a</sup> repentance and forgiveness to them that sinne against thee, & for thine infinite mercies hast appointed repentance vnto sinners that they may be saued. Thou therefore, O Lord, that art the God of the iust, hast not appointed repentance to the iust, as to Abraham, and Isaac and Jacob, which haue not<sup>b</sup> sinned against thee, but thou hast appointed repentance vnto me that am a sinner: for I haue sinned aboue & nom-

ber of the land of the sea. My transgressions, O Lord, are multiplied: my transgressions are exceeding many: and I am not worthy to beholde and see the height of the heauens for the multitude of mine vnrightheousnes. I am bolued dole with many yron bands, that I can not lift by mine head, neither haue any release. For I haue prouoked thy wrath and done euill before thee. I did not thy will, neither kept I thy commandements. I haue set by abominations and haue multiplied offences. Now therefore I bow the knee of mine heart, beseeching thee of grace. I haue sinned, O Lord, I haue sinned, and I acknowledge my transgressions: but I humbly beseech thee, forgive me: O Lord, forgive me, and destroy me not with my transgressions. Be not angrie with me for ever by referring euill for me, neither condemne me into the lower partes of the earth. For thou art<sup>c</sup> God, [euen] the God of them that repent: & in me thou wilt shew all thy goodnes: for thou wilt saue me that am vnworthy, according to thy great mercie: therefore I wil praye thee for ever all<sup>d</sup> dayes of my life, for all the power of<sup>e</sup> heauens praye thee, and thine is the glorie for ever & ever, Amen.

D. q. 11.

A very profitable declaration for the vnderstan-

ding of the histories of Ezra, Nehemiah, Ester, Daniel, and diuers other places of Scripture, very darke, by reason of the discorde that is among Historiographers, and among the expo-sitors of the holy Scriptures, touching the succellue order of the Kings or Monarchies of Babylon and of Perfia: of the yeeres that the said Monarchies lasted, from the transmigration of the Iewes vnder

Nebuchadnezzar, vntill the Monarchie of the Greekes, and of the confusion that is in the names of the Kings of Persia.

That which happened to the people of Israel during these Monarchies.	The Monarchie of Babylon.	Of the yeeres that the Monarchies of Persia reigned. Of the difference of authours therein: and of the dissimilitude and confusion of the names of the said Monarchies.
Nebuchadnezzar, the 19. yeere of his reigne destroyed Jerusalem, and led the people captiue. 2. king. 25. 7. and Ieremie 29. 1. 3.	1 Nebuchadnezzar after the captiuitie reigned 26. yeeres.	The difference of authours, as well Historiographers, as expositors of the holy Scriptures, is great, touching the time & yeeres that the two Monarchies of the Babylonians & Persians continued, and also touching the names of the Monarchies herein described, wherein there is great confusion. And therefore all other opinions set apart, we will herein follow Philo Iudeus, and Metasthenes, ancient authours, whose opinions doe neereft agree with the holy Scriptures.
The 25. yeere of his said reigne, he instituted his Monarchie: in the second yeere of the same, hee saue the dreame of the four Monarchies. Daniel 2. 1. to 4. 6.		Cyrus hauing conquered the kingdome of the Medes against Atrages, left the said kingdome to his uncle Darius: by whose ayde he tooke Babylon, and transported the Monarchie of Babylon to the Persians. Two yeeres after, the sayde Darius returned into Medes, and Cyrus reigned alone in Babylon. Then he moued warre against the Scythians, and marched toward them, and in the meane while left Cambyles his sonne, king of the countrey in his absence, according to the custome of the Persians, which was to appoint the neereft of the Kings blood to be king ouer þe countrey, when the King went out to fight against any strange nation. This is the cause why Cambyles was not set in the succellue order of the Monarchies. Neither is there any mention of two brethren that were Magicians, which guiltfully blurred the kingdome: but their guile being knowne, they continued but a few moneths, and Darius sonne to Hythalpis, was chosen King.
The 5. yeere he saue the dreame of the tree betwixt downe. Daniel 4. 1. to 2. 9.	2 Euil-merodach his sonne 30.	Xerxes the sonne of the said Darius succeeded him: but is not here placed in the number of the Monarchies, for that he left his kingdome to Darius Longhand his sonne, (according to the custome of the Persians) when he went to warre against the Grekes. The Greke historiographers not respecting the custome, number the said Xerxes and Cambyles about mentioned, among the said Monarchies successiue in order, which is the cause that they count more yeeres in the sayde Monarchie, that is to say, 226. yeeres.
The 6. yeere he was diuinen among the wild beasts by the space of 7. yeeres. Daniel 4. 20. to 3. 7.	3 Regafar. 3. yeeres.	As touching their confused names, ye shall vnderstand, that among the Persians, Darius signifieth, he that subueth: Ferres, a warrior: Artaxerxes, a great warrior. Also, that this name Xerxes, is diuinen from the Hebrewes, in stead of Artaxerxes. Further, that Artaxerxes was the common name of all Kings of Persia, as Pharaoh was the common name of the Kings of Egypt, and Cesar, of the Romish Emperours. Therefore where ye finde many indifferently named Darius, or Artaxerxes, or both together, that is the cause of the difficultie, howe to vnderstande vnder what King that happened, which is recited in the said bookes of Ezra, Nehemiah, Ester, Daniel, and other places of the holy Scriptures, except ye well marke them, and well vnderstande the contents of this table.
Euil-merodach the 1. yeere of his reigne deliuered Jehoiachin, whom his father had put in prison. 2. king. 25. 27. and Ieremie 52. 31.	4 Labarfadach fixe yeeres.

Ezra.

THE ARGVMENT.

As the Lorde is euer mercifull vnto his Church, and doeth not punish them, but to the intent they should see their owne miseries, and be exercised vnder the crosse, that they might contemne the world and aspire vnto the heauens: so after that he had visited the Iewes & kept them now in bondage seuentie yeres in a strange countrey among infidels and Idolaters, he remembered his tender mercies and their infirmities, and therefore for his owne sake raised them vp a deliuerer, and mooned both the heart of the chiefe ruler to pitie them, and also by him punished such, which had kept them in seruitude. Notwithstanding least they should growe into a contempt of Gods great benefite, hee kepeth them still in exercise, and raiseth domestically enemies, which in deuour as much as they can to hinder their most worthy enterprises: yet by the exhortation of the Prophets they went forward by litle and litle till their worke was finished. The author of this booke was Ezra, who was Prielt, and Scribe of the Lawe, as chap. 7.6. He returned to Ierusalem the first yere of Darius, who succeeded Cyrus, that is, about fiftie yeres after the returne of the first vnder Zerubbabel, when the Temple was built. Hee brought with him a great companie, and much treasures, with letters to the Kings officers for all such things as should be necessarie for the Temple: and at his comming he redressed that which was amisse, and set the things in good order.

2 Thus saith Cyrus king of Persia, The Lord God of heauen hath giuen me all the kingdomes of the earth, and he hath commaunded me to builde him an house in Ierusalem, which is in Iudah.

3 Who is he among you of all his people with whome his God is: let him go by to Ierusalem which is in Iudah, and builde the house of the Lorde God of Israel: hee is the God, which is in Ierusalem.

4 And every one that remaineth in any place (where he sojourneth): let the men of his place relieve him with silver and with golde, and with substance, and with cattell, [and] with a willing offering, for the house of God that is in Ierusalem.

5 When the chiefe fathers of Iudah and Beniamin, and the priests and Leuites rose vp, with all them whose spirit God had raised to goe by, to builde the house of the Lord which is in Ierusalem.

6 And all they that were about them, strengthened their handes with vessels of silver, with golde, with substance and with cattell, and with precious things, besides all that was willingly offered.

7 Also the king Cyrus brought forth

the vessels of the house of the Lorde, which Nebuchadnezzar had taken out of Ierusalem, and had put them in the house of his god.

8 Euen then did Cyrus king of Persia bring forth by the hand of Mithredath the treasurer, and counted them vnto Shebazzar the prince of Iudah.

9 And this is the number of them, thirtie basins of golde, a thousand basins of silver, nine and twentie knives,

10 Thirtie boules of golde, [and] of silver, boules of the second sort, foure hundred and ten, [and] of other vessels, a thousand.

Lawe of Moses the man of God,

3 And they set the altar vpon his bases, for feare was among them, because of the people of those countreys therefore they offered burnt offerings thereon vnto the Lord, euen burnt offerings in the morning, and at euen.

4 They kept also the feast of the Tabernacles, as it is written, and the burnt offring daily, by number according to the custome day by day,

5 And afterwarde the continuall
burnt offering, both in the new moneths and in all the feast dayes that were consecrate vnto the Lord, and in all the oblations willingly offered vnto the Lord.

6 From the first day of the seventh mo-neth began they to offer burnt offerings vnto the Lord: but the foundation of the Temple of the Lord was not layde.

7 They gaue money also vnto the malons, and to the workmen, and meate and drinke, and oyle vnto them of Zidon and of Tyrus, to bring them cedar wood from Lebanon to the sea vnto Fla-pho, according to the graunt that they had of Cyrus king of Persia.

8 And in the second yere of their comming vnto the house of God in Jerusalem in the second moneth began Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, and Ieshua the sonne of Josadak, and the remnant of their brethren the Priestes and the Leuites, and all they that were come out of the captiuitie vnto Jerusalem, and appointed the Leuites from twentie yere olde & aboue, to set forward
the worke of the house of the Lord.

9 And Ieshua stood with his sonnes, and his brethren, and Kadmiel with his sonnes, and the sonnes of Judah together to set forward the workmen in the house of God, and the sonnes of Henadab with their sonnes, and their brethren the Leuites.

10 And when the builders layde the foundation of the Temple of the Lord,
they appointed the Priestes in their ap-parell with trumpets, and the Leuites the sonnes of Asaph with cymbales, to praise the Lord after the ordinance of David king of Israel.

11 Thus they sang when they gaue praise, and when they gaue thanks vnto
the Lorde, For he is good, for his mercie endureth for ever towards Israel.

And all the people shouted with a great shout, when they praised the Lord, because the foundation of the house of the Lord was layed.

12 Many also of the Priests and the Levites & the chiefe of the fathers, ancient men, which had seene the first house, (when the foundation of this house was layde before their eyes) wept with a loude voyce, and many shouted aloude for ioye,

13 So that the people coulde not discern the sound of the shout for ioy, from the noyle of the weeping of the people: for the people shouted with a loude crye, and the noyle was heard farre off.

CHAP. III.

2 The building of the Temple is finished and how, 11 Letters to Artaxerxes, and the answer.

BUt the adversaries of Judah & Benjamin heard, that the children of the captivitie builded the Temple unto the Lord God of Israel.

2 And they came to Zerubbabel, and to the chiefe fathers, and said unto them, we will builde with you: for we seeke the Lord your God as ye [do], and we have sacrificed unto him since the time of Esar haddon king of Asshur, which brought vs by hither.

3 Then Zerubbabel, and Ieshua, and the rest of the chiefe fathers of Israel, saide unto them, It is not for you, but for vs to builde the house unto our God: for we our selves together will builde it unto the Lord God of Israel, as King Cyrus the king of Persia hath commaunded vs.

4 Wherefore the people of the lande discouraged the people of Judah, and troubled them in building.

5 And they hyed counsellours against them, to hinder their deilde, all 7 dayes of Cyrus king of Persia, even untill the reigne of Darius king of Persia.

6 And in the reigne of Artaxerxes (in the beginning of his reigne) wrote they an accusation against the inhabitants of Judah and Jerusalem.

7 And in the dayes of Artabshasht, Arithedath, Tabeel, & the rest of their companions wrote When it was peace, unto Artabshasht king of Persia, and the writing of the letter was the Aramites writing, and the thing declared [was] in the language of the Aramites.

8 Behum the chancelour, & Shinhai the scribe wrote a letter against Jerusalem to Artabshasht the King, in this sort.

9 Then [wrote] Behum the chancelour, and Shinhai the scribe, and their companions: Dinaie, & Apharhachae, Tarpelaie, Apharlate, Archenaie, Babilae, Shuthanehaie, Dehaue, Elmale, 10 And the rest of the people whome the great and noble: Assnappar brought over, and set in the cities of Samaria, and other that are beyonde the River and Cheeneth.

11 This is the copie of the letter that they sent unto king Artabshasht. THY SERVANTS the men beyond the River and Cheeneth [salute thee.]

12 We it knowen unto the king, that the Jewes, which came by from thee to vs, are come unto Jerusalem (a cite rebellious and wicked) and builde, and lay the foundations of the walles, and have ioyned the foundations.

13 We it knowen nowe unto the king, that if this cite be built, and the foundations of the walles layed, they will not give tolle, tribute, nor custome: so shalt thou hinder the kings tribute.

14 Nowe therefore because we have bene brought by in the kings palace, it was not meete for vs to see the kings dishonour: for this cause have we sent and certified the king,

15 That one may search in the booke of the Chronicles of thy fathers, and thou shalt finde in the booke of the Chronicles, and perceine that this cite is rebellious and noisome unto Kings and provinces, and that they have mooved sedition of olde time, for the which cause this cite was destroyed.

16 We certifie the king [therefore], that if this cite be builded, and the foundation of the walles layd, by this meanes the portion beyonde the River shall not be thine.

17 The king sent an answer unto Behum the chancelour, and Shinhai the scribe, and to the rest of their companions that dwelt in Samaria, and unto the other beyonde the River, Shelaam and Cheeth.

18 The letter which ye sent unto vs, hath bene openly read before me, 19 And I have commaunded and they have searched, and found, that this cite of olde time hath made insurrection against kings, and hath rebelled, and rebellion hath bene committed therein.

20 There have bene nightie kings also

f These were certaine people, which the Assyrians placed in the cite of the ten tribes, g Some thinke it was Samaria, but rather Salmanaia, h To wit, Esaphates, and he meaneth in respect of Babel that they dwelt beyonde it, i Which were a certaine people that emitted the Jewes, 21 Take ye now a decree, that those men may cease, and that the cite be not built, till I haue giuen [another] commandement.

22 Take heede now that ye faile not to doe this: why should domage growbe to hurt the King?

23 When the copie of King Artahshastes letter was read before Behum and Shimhai the scribe, and their companions, they went by in all the haste to Ierusalem vnto the Iewes, and caused them to cease by force and powber.

24 Then <sup>a</sup> realed the worke of the house of God, which was in Ierusalem, and did stay vnto the second yeere of Darius King of Persia.

n Not altogether: for the Prophets continued, but they used less diligence, because of the troubles,

|| Or, Haggai. Hag. 1.1. 2. cld. 6.1.

Then <sup>a</sup> Haggai a Prophet and Zerchariah the sonne of Iddo a Prophet propheticied vnto the Iewes that were in Iudah, and Ierusalem, in the Name of the God of Israel, euen vnto them.

2 Then Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, and Ieshua the sonne of Jozadak arose, & began to build the house of God at Ierusalem, and with them [were] the Prophets of God, which <sup>a</sup> helped them.

3 At the same time came to them Tarnai, which was captaine beyond the Riuer, and Shether-boznai & their companions, and sayd thus vnto them, who hath giuen you commandement to build this house, and to lay the foundations of these walles?

4 <sup>b</sup> Then sayde we vnto them after this manner, what are the names of the men that build this building?

5 But the eye of their God was vpon the Elders of the Iewes, that they could not cause them to cease, till the matter came to Darius: and then they answered by letters therunto.

6 The copie of the letter, that Tarnai captaine beyonde the Riuer, and Shether-boznai and his companions, Apharsechaie (which were beyonde the Riuer) sent vnto King Darius.

7 They sent a letter vnto him, wherein it was written thus, VNTO DARIUS the King, all peace.

8 Be it knowen vnto the King, that we went into the prouince of Iudea, to the house of the great God, which is builded with great stones, and beames <sup>|| Or, marble,</sup> are layd in the walles, and this worke is wrought speedily, & prospereth in their hands.

9 Then asked we those Elders, and sayde vnto them thus, who hath giuen you commandement to build this house, and to lay the foundation of these walles?

10 We asked their names also, that we might certifie thee, [and] that we might write the names of the men that were their rulers.

11 But they answered vs thus, and sayd, we are the seruants of the God of heauen and earth, and build the house that was built of olde [and] many yerres ago, which a great king of Israel builded, and founded it.

12 But after that our fathers had prouoked the God of heauen vnto wrath, he gaue them ouer into the hande of Nebuchadnezzar King of Babel the Caldean, and hee destroyed this house, and caried the people away captiue vnto Babel.

13 But in the first yeere of Cyrus king of Babel, King Cyrus made a decree to build this house of God.

14 And the vessels of golde and silver of the house of God, which Nebuchadnezzar tooke out of the Temple, that was in Ierusalem, and brought them into the Temple of Babel, those did Cyrus the King take out of the Temple of Babel, and they gaue them vnto [one] Sheshbazzar by his name, whome he had made captaine.

15 And he sayd vnto him, Take these vessels and go thy way, and put them in the Temple that is in Ierusalem, & let the house of God be built in his place.

16 Then came the same Sheshbazzar and layd the foundation of the house of God, which is in Ierusalem, and since that time euen vntill now, hath it bene in building, yet is it not finished.

17 Now therefore if it please the King, let there be searche made in the house of the Kings treasures, which is there in Babel, whether a decree hath bin made by King Cyrus, to builde this house of God in Ierusalem, & let the King send [his] minde concerning this.

CHAP. VII.

1 By the commandment of the king, Ezra and his companions come to Jerusalem. 27 He quickly thanks to God, a The Hebrews write, that scribes of the kings of Persia were called by this name, as Pitharash was a common name to the kings of Egypt, and Cesar to the Emperours Romane,

b Ezra bewitcheth his heart, till he cometh to Babylon, to prove that he came of him,

c He sheweth here what a scribe is, who had charge to write the Law and to expound it, who spake rather a scribe, Mar. 12. 38. Spachew and Luke call him a Lawyer, or doctor of the Law, Mat. 23. 35. Luk. 10. 25.

d That concerning part of July and part of August, e Of King Darius,

NOW after these things, in the reign of Artahashaste king of Persia, [was] Ezra the sonne of Seraiah, & sonne of Azariah, the sonne of Bilkiah,

2 The sonne of Shallum, the sonne of Zadok, the sonne of Ahitub,

3 The sonne of Amariah, the sonne of Azariah, the sonne of Heraioth,

4 The sonne of Zeraiah, the sonne of Uzzi, the sonne of Bilkiah,

5 The sonne of Abihna, the sonne of Phinehas, the sonne of Eleazar, & sonne of Aaron, the chiefe Priest.

6 This Ezra came by from Babel, and was a scribe prompt in the Law of Moses, which the Lord God of Israel had given, and the king gaue him all his request according to & hand of the Lord his God [which was] vpon him.

7 And there went by [certaine] of the children of Israel, and of the Priests, and the Levites, & the singers, and the porters, and & Bethunims vnto Jerusalem, in the seuenth yeere of king Artahashaste.

8 And he came to Jerusalem in the fift moneth, which was in the seuenth yeere of the king.

9 For vpon the first [day] of the first moneth began he to go by from Babel, and on the first [day] of the fift moneth came he to Jerusalem, according to the good hand of his God [that was] vpon him.

10 For Ezra had prepared his heart to seeke the Law of the Lord, and to do it, and to teach & precepts and iudgements in Israel.

11 And this is the copie of the letter that king Artahashaste gaue vnto Ezra the Priest [and scribe, [euen] a writer of the wordes of the commandements of the Lord, & of his statutes ouer Israel.

12 ARTAHASHASTE king of kings to Ezra the Priest and persite scribe of the Lawe of the God of heauen, and to Chereth.

13 I haue giuen commandement, that euery one, that is willing in my kingdom of the people of Israel, and of the Priests, and Levites, to go to Jerusalem with thee, shall go.

14 Therefore art thou sent of the king and his seuen counsellors, to enquire in Iudah and Jerusalem, according to the Lawe of thy God, which is in thine hand,

15 And to carie the siluer and the gold, which the king and his counsellors willingly offer vnto & God of Israel [whose habitation is in Jerusalem]

16 And at the siluer and gold that thou canst finde in all the prouince of Babel, with the free offering of the people, and that which the Priests offer willingly to the house of their God which is in Jerusalem,

17 That thou makest by speedily with this siluer, bullocks, rams, lambs, with their meate offerings & their drinke offerings: and thou shalt offer them vpon the altar of & house of your God, which is in Jerusalem.

18 And whatsoever it pleaseth thee and thy brethren to do with the rest of the siluer, and golde, do ye it according to the will of your & God.

19 And the vessels that are giuen thee for & seruice of & house of thy God, those deliuer thou before God in Jerusalem.

20 And the residue that shalbe needfull for the house of thy God, which shalbe meete for thee to bestowe, thou shalt bestowe it out of & kings treasure house,

21 And I King Artahashaste haue giuen commandement to all the treasures which are beyond the River, that whatsoever Ezra the Priest and Scribe of the Lawe of the God of heauen shall require of you, that it be done incontinently,

22 Vnto an hundredth talents of siluer, vnto an hundredth measures of wheate, and vnto an hundredth baths of wine, & vnto an hundredth baths of oyle, and salt without writing.

23 Whatsoever [is] by the commandement of the God of heauen, let it be done speedily for the house of the God of heauen: for why should he be wroth against the Realme of the King, and his children?

24 And we certifie you, that vpon any of the Priests, Levites, singers, porters, Bethunims, or ministers in this house of God, there shall no gouernour lay vpon them tolle, tribute nor custome.

25 And thou Ezra [after the wisdom of thy God, that is in thine hand] set iudges and arbiters, which may iudge all the people that is beyond the River, [euen] all that knowe & law of thy God, and teach ye [them] that know it not.

f Some take this for the name of a people, some for name of court, meaning that the King wished him long life, g Which remained as yet in Babylon, and had not returned with Zerubbabel, h To examine who liued according to the law, of thy God, and the kings lawe, let him haue iudgement without delay, whether it be vnto death, or to banishment, or to confiscation of goods, or to imprisonment.

27 Blessed be the Lord God of our fathers, which so hath put in the kings heart, to beautifie the house of the Lord that is in Jerusalem,

28 And hath enclined mercie toward me, before the king and his counsellors, and before all the kings mightie princes: and I was comforted by the hand of the Lord my God [which was] vpon me, and I gathered the chiefe of Israel to go by with me.

These* are now the chiefe fathers of them, and the genealogie of them that came by with me from Babel, in the reigne of king Artaxasthete.

2 Of the sonnes of Phinehas, Gershom: of the sonnes of Ithamar, Daniel: of the sonnes of Dauid, Hattush:

3 Of the sonnes of Shechaniah, of the sonnes of Pharoah, Zechariah, and with him f count of the males, an hundred and fiftie.

4 Of the sonnes of Pahath Boab, Eliahai, the sonne of Zeraiyah, and with him two hundred males.

5 Of the sonnes of Shechaniah, the sonne of Jahaziel, and with him three hundred males.

6 And of the sonnes of Adin, Ebed the sonne of Jonathan, and with him fiftie males.

7 And of the sonnes of Elam, Iethai the sonne of Athaliah, and with him seuentie males.

8 And of the sonnes of Shephatiah, Zebadiah the sonne of Michael, & with him fourescore males.

9 Of the sonnes of Joab, Obadiah the sonne of Jehiel, and with him two hundred and eightene males.

10 And of the sonnes of Shelomith the sonne of Josaphiah, and with him an hundred and threescore males.

11 And of the sonnes of Zebai, Zechariah, the sonne of Zebai, and with him eight and twentie males.

12 And of the sonnes of Azgad, Johanan the sonne of Hakkatan, & with him an hundred and ten males.

13 And of the sonnes of Adonikam, [that were] the last, whose names are these: Eliphelet, Jeshiel and Shemaiah, and with them threescore males.

14 And of the sonnes of Bignai, Elthai, and Zabud, & with them seuentie males.

15 And I gathered them to the River that goeth toward Ahava, & there abode we three dayes: then I belied the people, and the Priests, and founde there none of the sonnes of Levi.

<sup>c</sup> To that place of Euphrates, where Ahava the river entereth in to it, looke 1. Esdr. 8. 41.

16 Therefore sent I to Eliezer, to Ariei, to Shemeiah, & to Elnathan, and to Jarib, and to Elnathan, and to Nathai, and to Zechariah, and to Shullam the chiefe, and to Joiarib and to Elnathan, men of vnderstanding,

17 And I gaue them comendement, to Iddo the chiefe at the place of Casiphia, and I told them the words that they should speake to Iddo, [and] to his brethren the Meshinims at the place of Casiphia, that they should cause the ministers of the house of our God to come vnto vs.

18 So by the good hand of our God [which was] vpon vs, they brought vs a man of vnderstanding of the sonnes of Pahati the sonne of Levi the sonne of Israel, and Sherebiah with his sonnes and his brethren, [even] eightene.

19 Also Hathabiah, and with him Jethai of the sonnes of Merari, with his brethren, and their sonnes twentie.

20 And of the Meshinims, whom David had set, and the Princes for the seruice of the Leuites, two hundred and twentie of the Meshinims, which all were named by name.

21 And there at the River, by Ahava, I proclaimed a fast, & we might humble our selues before our God, & seeke of him a right way for vs, and for our children, and for all our substance.

22 For I was ashamed to requite of the king an armie & horsemen, to helpe vs against the enemy in f way, because we had spoken to the king, saying, [The hand of our God is] vpon all them that seeke him in goodnes, but his power and his wrath [is] against all them that forsake him.

<sup>f</sup> He sheweth that the end of fasting is to humble the boop to the spirit, which must procede of the heart liuely touched, or else it is but hypocritie.

23 So we fasted, and besought our God for this: & he was intreated of vs.

24 Then I separated twelue of the chiefe of the Priests, Sherebiah, [and] Hathabiah, and ten of their brethren with them, <sup>g</sup> He thought it better to commit himselfe to the protection of God, then by seeking these opinionarie meanes, to giue an occasion to others to thinke that he did doubt of Gods power.

25 And

25 And weighed them the silver and the golde, and the vessels, [even] the offering of the house of our God, [which] the King and his counsellors, and his princes, and all Israel that were present had offered.

1. King. 9. 14.

26 And I weighed unto their hand six hundredz and sixtie talents of silver, and in silver vessel, an hundredz talents, [and] in golde, an hundredz talents:

2. 69.

27 And twentie basins of golde, of a thousand <sup>i</sup> drams, and two vessels of shining brass very good, and precious as golde.

28 And I sayd vnto them, Ye are consecrate vnto the Lord, and the vessels are consecrate, and the golde and the silver are freely offered vnto <sup>h</sup> Lord God of your fathers.

29 Watch ye, and keepe [them] vntill ye weigh them before the chiefe Priests and the Levites, and the chiefe fathers of Israel in Jerusalem in the chambers of the house of the Lord.

30 So the Priests and the Levites received the weight of the silver and of the golde, and of the vessels to bring [them] to Jerusalem, vnto the house of our God.

31 Then we departed from the River of Abaya on the twelfth [day] of the first month, to go vnto Jerusalem, and the hand of our God was vpon vs, and deliuered vs from the hand of the enemy, and of such as layde <sup>k</sup> waite by the way.

32 And we came to Jerusalem, and abode there thre dayes.

33 And on the fourth day was the silver weighed, and the golde, and the vessel in <sup>h</sup> house of our God by <sup>h</sup> hand of Heremoth the sonne of Uriah <sup>i</sup> Priest, and with him [was] Eleazar the sonne of Phinehas, and with them [was] Jozabab the sonne of Jehua, and Rodaiab the sonne of Binnui the <sup>i</sup> Levites.

34 By number & by weight of euery one, and all the weight was written at the same time.

35 Also the children of the captiuitie, which were come out of captiuitie, offered burnt offerings vnto the God of Israel, twelue bullocks for all Israel, ninetie and six rammes, seuentie and seven lambs, and [twelue] hee goates for sinne: all [was] a burnt offering of the Lord.

36 And they deliuered the Kings commission vnto the Kings officers, and to the captaines beyonde the River: and they promoted the people, and the house of God.

CHAP. IX.

<sup>1</sup> Ezra complaineth on the people that had turned themselves from God, and married with the Gentiles. <sup>5</sup> He prayeth vnto God.

Vhen * as these things were done, the rulers came to me, saying, The people of Israel, and the Priest and the Levites are not separated from the people of the lands (as touching their abominations) [to wit,] of the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Perizzites, the Jebusites, the Ammonites, the Moabites, the Egyptians, and the Amorites.

1. Ekd. 8. 67.

2 For they haue taken their daughters to themselves, and to their sonnes, and they haue mixed the holy seede with the people of the lands, and the hand of the <sup>b</sup> princes and rulers hath bene chiefe in this trespass.

<sup>a</sup> From the time they came home under Zerubbabel vntill the coming of Ezra, they had degenerate contrary to the Law of God, and married where it was not lawful, Deut. 7. 3.

3 But when I heard this saying, I rent my clothes and my garment, and pluckt off the heare of mine head, and of my beard, and late downe: astonished.

<sup>c</sup> As one doubting whether God would continue his benedictions toward vs or els destroy this which he had begun. Exod. 29. 39. nom. 28. 4.

4 And there assembled vnto me all that feared the wordes of the God of Israel, because of the transgression of them of the captiuitie. And I late downe astonished vntill the <sup>a</sup> evening sacrifice.

5 And at the euening sacrifice I arose by from mine beaumes, & when I had rent my clothes and my garment, I fell vpon my knees, & spred out mine hands vnto the Lord my God.

6 And sayd, O my God, I am confounded and ashamed, to lift vp mine eyes vnto thee my God: for our iniquities are increased ouer <sup>d</sup> our head, and our trespass is growen by vnto <sup>e</sup> the heaven.

7 From the dayes of our fathers haue we bene in a great trespass vnto this day, and for our iniquities haue we, our Kings, [and] our Priests bene deliuered into the hand of the Kings of the lands, vnto the sword, into captiuitie, into a spoyle, and into confusion of face, as [appeareth] this day.

8 And now for a litle space grace hath bene shewed from the Lord our God, in causing a remnant to escape, and in giuing vs a <sup>a</sup> nayle in his holy place, that our God may light our eyes, and giue vs a litle reliefe in our seruitude.

<sup>f</sup> In giuing vs a resting place, &c. is a similitude taken of them that remaine still in a place, which once natives to bang things bondage, but hath inclined mercie vnto vs in the sight of the Kings of Persia, to giue vs life, [and] to erect the house of our God, and to redresse the desolate places thereof, and to giue vs a wall in Iudah and in Ierusalem.

10 And now, our God, what shall we say after this: for we haue forsaken thy commandements,

11 which thou hast commaunded by thy seruants & Prophets, saying, * The land whereunto ye goe to possesse it, is an vncleane land, because of the filthynesse of the people of the lands, which by their abomination, [and] by their vncleannesse haue filled it from corner to corner.

12 Nowe therefore shall ye not giue your daughters vnto their sonnes, neither shall ye take their daughters vnto your sonnes, nor seeke their * peace nor wealth for euer, that ye may be strong and eate the goodnes of the land, and leaue it for an inheritance to your sonnes for euer.

13 And after all that is come vpon vs for our euill deedes, and for our great trespasses, (seeing that thou our God hast stayed vs from being beneath: for our iniquities, and hast giuen vs such deliuerance)

14 Should we returne to breake thy commandements, and toorne in affliction with the people of such abominations: wouldest not thou be angrie toward vs till thou hadst consumed vs,] so that there [should be] no remnant nor any escaping?

15 O Lord God of Israel, thou art iust, for we haue bin <sup>h</sup> referred to escape, as [appeareth] this day: behold, we are before thee in our trespass: therefore we can not stand before thee because of it.

C H A P. X.

1 The people repent and turne, and put away their strange wiues.

Whiles Ezra prayed thus, and confessed himselfe weeping, and falling downe before the house of God, there assembled vnto him of Israel a very great Congregation of men and women and children: for the people wept with a great lamentation.

2 Then Shechaniah the sonne of Nehiel one of the sonnes of Elam, answered, and sayd to Ezra, we haue trespassed against our God, and haue taken strange wiues of the people of the land, yet nowe there is <sup>b</sup> hope in Israel concerning this.

3 Nowe therefore let vs make a covenant with our God, to put away all the wiues (and such as are borne of them) according to the counsel of the Lord, and of those that feare the commandements of our God, and let it be done according to the Lawe.

4 Arise: for the matter <sup>d</sup> belongeth vnto thee: we also will be with thee: be of comfort and doe it.

5 Then arose Ezra, and caused the chiefe Priests, the Leuites, and all Israel, to sweare that they would doe according to this worde. So they swaue.

6 * And Ezra rose vp from before the house of God, and went into the chamber of Iohanan the sonne of Elashib: he went euen thither, [but] he did eate neither bread, nor drinke water: for he mourned, because of the transgression of them of the captiuitie.

7 And they caused a proclamation to go throughout Iudah and Ierusalem, vnto all them of the captiuitie, that they should assemble themselves vnto Ierusalem.

8 And whosoever would not come within three dayes according to <sup>f</sup> counsel of the Princes and Elders, all his substance should be <sup>g</sup> forsaite, & he should be separate from the Congregation of them of the captiuitie.

9 Then all the men of Iudah and Benjamin assembled themselves vnto Ierusalem within three dayes, which was the twentieth [day] of the <sup>i</sup> ninth moneth, and all the people sate in the streete of the house of God, trembling for this matter, and for the <sup>j</sup> raine.

10 And Ezra the Priest stood vp, and sayd vnto them, We haue transgressed, and haue taken strange wiues, to <sup>k</sup> increase the trespass of Israel.

11 Now therefore <sup>l</sup> giue praise vnto the Lord God of your fathers, & doe his wil and separate your selues from <sup>m</sup> people of the land, and from the strange wiues.

12 And all <sup>n</sup> the Congregation answered, and sayd with a loude voyce, So wil we doe according to thy wordes vnto vs.

13 But the people are many, and it is a raynye weather, and we are not able to stand without, neither [is it] the worke of one day or two: for we are many that haue offended in this thing.

CHAP. I.

1 Nehemiah bewaileth the calamitie of Ierusalem. 5 He confesseth the finnes of the people, and prayeth God for them.

He wordes of Nehemiah the sonne of Hachabiah. In the moneth Chisleu, in the twentieth yeece, as I was in the palace of Shulhan,

2 Came Hanani, one of my brethren, he and the men of Judah, and I asked them concerning the Jewes that were deliuered, which were of the residue of the captiuitie, and concerning Ierusalem.

3 And they said vnto me, The residue that are left of the captiuitie there in the province, [are] in great affliction and in reproch, and the wall of Ierusalem [is] broken down, and the gates thereof are burnt with fire.

4 And when I heard these wordes, I late dolue and wept, and mourned certaine dayes, and I fasted and prayed before the God of heauen.

5 And I sayd, O Lord God of heauen, the great and terrible God, that keepeth couenant and mercie for them that loue him, and obserue his commaundements,

6 I pray thee, let thine eares be attent, and thine eyes open, to heare the prayer of thy seruant, which I pray before thee dayly, day and night for the children of Israel thy seruants, and confesse the finnes of the children of Israel, which we haue sinned against thee, both I and my fathers house haue sinned:

7 We haue grievously sinned against thee, and haue not kept the commaundements, nor the statutes, nor the iudgements, which thou commaundedst thy seruant Moses.

8 I beseech thee, remember the word that thou commaundedst thy seruant Moses, saying, We will transgresse, and I will scatter you abroad among the people.

9 But if ye turne vnto me, and keepe my commaundements, and doe them, though your scattering were to the uttermost part of the heauen, yet will I gather you from thence and will bring you vnto the place that I haue chosen, to place my name there.

10 Nowe these are thy seruants and thy people, whome thou hast redeemed by thy great power, and by thy mightie hand.

11 O Lord, I beseech thee, let thine eare nowe hearken to the prayer of thy seruant, and to the prayer of thy seruants, who desire to feare thy Name, and I pray thee, cause thy seruant to prosper this day, and giue him fauour in the presence of this man: for I was the Kings butler.

CHAP. II.

1 After Nehemiah had obtained letters of Artaxerxes, 12 He came to Ierusalem, 17 And builded the walles.

IN the moneth Nisan in the twentieth yere of king Artaxhashtre, the wine [tooke] before him, and I tooke vp the wine, and gaue it vnto the King, nowe I was not [beforetime] sad in his presence.

2 And the King sayd vnto me, Why is thy countenance sad, seeing thou art not sicke: this is nothing, but sorowe of heart. Then was I fore afrayde.

3 And I sayd to the King, God saue the King for euer: why should not my countenance be sad, when the citie [and] house of the sepulchres of my fathers lieth waste, and the gates thereof are deuoured with fire:

4 And the King sayd vnto me, For what thing doest thou require: Then I prayed to the God of heauen.

5 And I said vnto the King, If it please the King, and if thy seruant haue found fauour in thy sight, [I desire] that thou wouldest sende me to Iudah vnto the sepulchres of my fathers, that I may build it.

6 And the King sayde vnto me, (the Queene also sitting by him) howe long shall thy iourney be: and when wilt thou come againe: So it pleased the King, and he sent me, and I let him a time.

7 After, I sayd vnto the King, If it please the king, let them giue me letters to the captaynes beyond the Riuer, that they may conuay me ouer, til I come in to Iudah,

8 And letters vnto Alaph the keeper of the Kings parkes, that he may giue me timber to build the gates of the palace (which appertained to the house) and for the walles of the citie, and for the house that I shall enter into. And the King gaue me according to the good hand of my God vpon me.

9 Then came I to the captaynes beyonde the Riuer, and gaue them the Kings letters. And the King had sent captaynes

10 But Sanballat the Horonite, and Tobiah a seruāt an Ammonite heard it, and it grieved them sore, that there was come a man which sought the wealth of the children of Israel.

11 So I came to Ierusalem, & was there three dayes.

12 And I rose in the night, I, and a fewe men with me: for I tolde no man, what God had put in mine heart to doe at Ierusalem, and there was not a beast with mee, saue the beast whereon I rode.

13 And I went out by night by the gate of the balley, and came before the draggon well, and to the dung port, and belved the walles of Ierusalem, howe they were broken downe, and the portes thereof denoured with the fire.

14 Then I went forth vnto the gate of the fountaine, and to the kings fishpoole, and there was no roume for the beast that was vnder me to passe.

15 Then went I by in the night by the brooke, and belved the wall, and turned backe, and comming back, I entered by the gate of the balley and returned.

16 And the rulers knew not whither I was gone, nor what I did, neither did I as yet tell it vnto the Ieiues, nor to the Priestes, nor to the noble men, nor to the rulers, nor to the rest that laboured in the worke.

17 Afterward I saide vnto them, We see the miserie that we are in, how Ierusalem lieth waste, & the gates thereof are burnt with fire: come and let vs builde the wall of Ierusalem, that we be no more a reproche.

18 Then I tolde them of the hand of my God, (which was good ouer me) and also of the kings wordes that he had spoken vnto me. And they saide, Let vs rise, and builde. So they strengthened their hand to good.

19 But when Sanballat the Horonite, and Tobiah the seruāt an Ammonite, and Geshem the Arabian heard it, they mocked vs & despised vs, and said, What a thing is this that ye do: will ye rebell against the king?

20 Then answered I them, and said to them, The God of heauen, hee will prosper vs, and we his seruants will rise vp and builde: but as for you, ye haue no portion nor right, nor memorizall in Ierusalem.

The number of them that builded the walles.

1 Then arose Eliashib the hie Priest with his brethren the Priestes, and they built the shepegate: they repaired it, and let vp the doores thereof: euen vnto the towre of Meah repaired they it, and vnto the towre of Hananeel.

2 And next vnto him builded the men of Iericho, and beside him Zacur the sonne of Imri.

3 But the fifth port did the sonnes of Sennaah builde, which also layed the beames thereof, & let on the doores thereof, the lockes thereof, & the barres thereof.

4 And next vnto them fortified Beremoth, the sonne of Uriah, the sonne of Hakkoz: & next vnto them fortified Geshullam, the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Geshazabel: and next vnto them fortified Zadok, the sonne of Baana.

5 And next vnto them fortified the Tekoites: but the great men of them put not their neckes to the worke of their lordes.

6 And the gate of the olde fishpoole fortified Jehoiada the sonne of Paseah, and Geshullam the sonne of Zelodaias: they layed the beames thereof, and let on the doores thereof, and the lockes thereof, and the barres thereof.

7 Next vnto them also fortified Meshaias the Gibeonite, and Jadon the Peronothite, men of Gibeon, and of Dispah, vnto the throne of the Duke, which was beyond the River.

8 Next vnto him fortified Uzziel the sonne of Harboshai of the goldsmiths: next vnto him also fortified Hananiah the sonne of Harakkahim, and they repaired Ierusalem vnto the broad wall.

9 Also next vnto them fortified Rephaiah the sonne of Hur, the ruler of the halfe part of Ierusalem.

10 And next vnto him fortified Jedaias the sonne of Harumaph, euen ouer against his house: and next vnto him fortified Hattush, the sonne of Hashabniah.

11 Balchiah the sonne of Harim, and Hashub the sonne of Pahath Moab fortified the second portion, and the towre of the fornaces.

12 Next vnto him also fortified Shalum, the sonne of Halloeth, the ruler of the halfe part of Ierusalem, he, and his daughters.

13 The valley gate fortified Hanan, and the inhabitants of Zannah: they

14. But the dung port fortified Palchiah, the sonne of Rechab, the ruler of the fourth part of Beth-haccarem: hee built it, and set on the doozes thereof, the lockes thereof, and the barres thereof.

15. But the gate of the fountaine fortified Shallun, the sonne of Col-hozeh, the ruler of the fourth part of Bispah: hee builded it, and covered it, and set on the doozes thereof, the lockes thereof, and the barres thereof, and the wall vnto the fishpoole of Shelah by the kings garden, & vnto the steps that goe downe from the citie of Dauid.

17. After him fortified the Leuites, Rehun the sonne of Baui, and next vnto him fortified Hashabiah the ruler of the halfe part of Beilah in his quarter.

18. After him fortified their brethren: Bauai, the sonne of Henadab the ruler of the halfe part of Beilah:

19. And next vnto him fortified Ezer, the sonne of Ieshua the ruler of Bispah, the other portion ouer against the going by to the corner of the armour.

20. After him was earnest Baruch the sonne of Zarchai, [and] fortified another portion from the corner vnto the dooze of the house of Eliashib the hie Priest.

21. After him fortified Herimoth, the sonne of Uriah, the sonne of Hakkoz, another portion from the dooze of the house of Eliashib, euen as long as the house of Eliashib extended.

22. After him also fortified the Priests, the men of the plaine.

23. After them fortified Benjamin, and Hashub ouer against their house: after him fortified Azariah, the sonne of Baafeiah, y sonne of Ananiah, by his house.

24. After him fortified Binnui, the sonne of Henadab another portion, from the house of Azariah vnto the turning and vnto the corner.

25. Palai, the sonne of Uzai, from ouer against the corner, and the high towler, that lieth out fro the kings house, which is beside the court of the pylon. After him, Pedaiah, the sonne of Parosh,

26. And the Bethinims they diwelt in the fortreffe vnto the place ouer against the water gate, Eastwarde, and to the towler that lieth out.

27. After him fortified the Tekoites another portion ouer against the great towler, that lieth out, euen vnto the wall of the fortreffe.

28. From aboue the horsegate forth fortified the Priestes, euerie one ouer against his house.

29. After them fortified Zadok the sonne of Immer ouer against his house: and after him fortified Shemaiah, the sonne of Shechaniah the keeper of the East gate.

30. After him fortified Hananiah, the sonne of Shelemiah, & Hanun, the sonne of Zalaph, the sicut, another portion: after him fortified Bethullam, the sonne of Berechiah, ouer against his chamber.

31. After him fortified Palchiah the goldsmiths sonne, vntill the house of the Bethinims, and of the marchants ouer against the gate of Diphkad, and to the chamber in the corner.

32. And betwene the chamber of the corner vnto the shepegate fortified the goldsmiths and the marchants.

3. And Tobiah the Ammonite [was] beside him, & said, Although they builde, yet if a fore go by, he shall euen breake downe their stone wall.

4. Heare, O our God: for we are despised, and turne their shame vpon their owne head, and giue them vnto a praye in the land of their captiuitie,

7 But when Sanballat, and Tobiah, and the Arabians, and the Ammonites, & the Ashdodims heard that the walls of Jerusalem were repaired, (for the breaches began to be stopped) then they were very wroth,

8 And conspired all together to come and to fight against Jerusalem, and to hinder them.

9 Then we prayed vnto our God, and set watchmen by them, day and night, because of them.

10 And Judah saide, The strength of the beavers is weakened, and there is much earth, so that we are not able to bulide the wall.

11 Also our aduersaries had sayde, They shal not know, neither see, till we come into the muddes of them and slaye them, and cause the worke to cease.

12 But when <sup>f</sup> Iewes (which dwelt beside them) came, they tolde vs ten times, <sup>g</sup> From all places whence ye shall returne, they will be vpon vs.

<sup>g</sup> They, which brought the sayings, saide thus, when you leave your worke, and goe to rest, your enemies will asyle you.

13 Therefore let I in the lower places behinde the wall vpon the toppes of the stones, and placed the people by their families, with their swordes, their speares and their bowes.

<sup>h</sup> Ebr. is cur at hand to deliver his out of danger, and therefore seeing they should fight for the maintenance of Gods glory, and for the preservation of their owne liues, he encouraged them to play the valiant men.

14 Then I behelde, and rose vp, and said vnto the Princes, and to the rulers, and to the rest of the people, We not as frayde of them: <sup>h</sup> remember the great Lord, and fearefull, and fight for your brethren, your sonnes, and your daughters, your wiues, and your houses.

15 And when our enemies hearde that it was knowen vnto vs, then God brought their counsell to nought, and we turned all againe to the wall, every one vnto his worke.

16 And fro that day, halfe of the yong men did the labour, and the other halfe part of them held the speares, & shields, and bowes, & habergins: and the rulers stood behinde all the house of Judah.

17 They that builded on the wall, and they that bare burdens, and they that laden, did the worke with one hand, and with the other helde the sword.

18 For every one of the builders had his sword girded on his loynes, and so builded: and he that blew the trumpet, [was] beside me.

19 Then said I vnto the Princes, and to the rulers, and to the rest of the people, The worke is great and large, and we are separated vpon the wall, one farre from another.

20 In what place therefore ye heare the sound of the trumpet, <sup>k</sup> resort ye thither vnto vs: our God shall fight for vs.

21 So we laboured in the worke, and halfe of them helde the speares, from the appearing of the morning, till the shaddes came forth.

22 And at the same time saide I vnto the people, Let every one with his servant lodge within Jerusalem, that they may be a watch for vs in the night, and labour in the day.

23 So neither I, nor my brethren, nor my seruants, nor the men of the warre, (which followed me) none of vs did put off our clothes, [saue] every one put them off for washing.

CHAP. V.

<sup>l</sup> The people are oppressed and in necessity, Nehemiah remembreth it. <sup>l</sup> He tooke not the portion of others that had ruled before, least he should grieve the people.

NOWE there was a great crye of the people, and of their wiues against their brethren the Iewes.

2 For there were that saide, We, our sonnes and our daughters are many, therefore we take vp <sup>c</sup> come, that we may eate and liue.

3 And there were that said, We must gage our landes, & our vineyards, & our houses, and take vp come for the same.

4 There were also that said, we haue borrowed money for the kings tribute [vpon] our landes and our vineyards.

5 And now our flesh [is] as <sup>f</sup> the flesh of our brethren, [and] our sonnes as their sonnes: and lo, we bring into subiection our sonnes, and our daughters, as seruants, and there be of our daughters [now] in subiection, and there [is] no power in our handes: for other men haue our landes and our vineyards.

6 Then was I very angrie when I heard their crye and these wordes.

<sup>g</sup> Both because they should be men with pure, seeing how many were by them oppressed, and also because the iudgement of others, which should be as it were witness of their dealing toward their brethren.

7 And I thought in my minde, and I rebuked the princes, and the rulers, and said vnto them, You say <sup>h</sup> burthens every one vpon his brethren: and I set a great assemblie against them.

8 And I saide vnto them, we (according to our abilitie) haue redeemed our brethren the Iewes, which were solde vnto the heathen: and will you sell your brethren againe, or shall they be solde vnto vs? Then helde they their peace, and could not answer.

12 Then said they, We will restore it, and will not require it of them: we will doe as thou hast saide. Then I called the Priestes, and caused them to sweare, that they should doe according to this promise.

13 So I tooke my lappe, and saide, So let God shake out euery man that will not performe this promise from his house, and from his labour: euen thus let him be shaken out, and emptied. And all the Congregation saide, Amen, and praised the Lord: and the people did according to this promise.

14 And from the time that the king gaue me charge to be gouernour in the land of Iudah from the twentieth yere, euen vnto the thirtieth yere of king Artahashthe, [that is,] twelue yere, I, and my brethren haue not eaten the<sup>m</sup> bread of the gouernour.

15 For the former gouernours that were before mee, had bene chargeable vnto the people, and had taken of them bread and wine, besides fourtie shekels of siluer: yea, and their seruants bare rule ouer the people: but so did not I, because of the feare of God.

16 But rather I fortified [a portion] in the worke of this wall, and we bought no land, and all my seruants came thither together vnto the worke.

17 Whereouer there were [at my table] an hundreth and fiftie of the Iewes, and rulers, which came vnto vs from among the heathen that are about vs.

18 And there was prepared dayly an ore, [and] fixe chofen sheepe, and birdes were prepared for me, and [within ten] dayes wine for all [in abundance]. Yet for all this I required not the bread of the gouernour: for the bondage was grieuous vnto this people.

19 Remember mee, O my God, in goodnesse, according to all that I haue done for this people.

8 Nehemiah answered with great wisdom, and zeale to his aduersarie, 11 He is not discouraged by the false prophets.

And When Sanballat, and Tobiah, and Geshem the Arabian, and the rest of our enemies heard that I had built the wall, and that there were no mo<sup>a</sup> breaches therein [though at that time I had not set vp the doozes vpon the gates]

2 Then sent Sanballat and Geshem vnto mee, saying, Come thou that we may meeete together in the villages in the plaine of Ono: and they thought to doe me euill.

3 Therefore I sent messengers vnto them, saying, I haue a great worke to doe, and I can not come doo<sup>b</sup>ne: Why should the worke cease, whyles I leaue it, and come doo<sup>b</sup>ne to you?

4 Yet they sent vnto me foure times after this sort. And I answered them after the same maner.

5 Then sent Sanballat his seruant after this sort vnto me the fift time, with an open letter in his hand,

6 wherein was written, It is reported among the heathen, and [Gashmu] hath saide it, that thou and the Iewes thinke to rebell, for the which cause thou buildest the wall and thou wilt be their king according to these wordes.

7 Thou hast also ordeined<sup>c</sup> the Prophets to preache of thee at Ierusalem, saying, [There is] a king in Iudah: and nowe according to these wordes it shall come to<sup>d</sup> kings eares: come now therefore, and let vs take counsell together.

8 Then I sent vnto him, saying, It is not done according to these wordes that thou sayest: for thou seimest them of thine owne heart.

9 For all they afrayed vs, saying, Their handes shall be weakened from the worke, and it shall not be done: now therefore<sup>e</sup> incourage thou me.

10 And I came to<sup>f</sup> house of Shemaiah the sonne of Delaiah the sonne of Shebtababel, and he was shut vp, and he saide, Let vs come together into the house of God in the middes of the Temple, and shut the doozes of the Temple: for they wil come to slay thee: yea, in the night wil they come to kill thee.

11 Then I said, Should such a man as I, flee: who is hee, being as I am, that would go into the Temple to lue: I will not go in.

a That is, that they were topped together, as Chap. 4. 6.

b Speaking, that if he should obey their request, he would which God had appointed, should cease: forbidding hereby he would not commit our selues to the hands of the wicked.
c Or, Geshem. c As the same goeth.

d Thou hast builded, and set up false prophets, to make thy selfe king, and so to de-fraude the king of Ierusalem of that subuersion, which you owe vnto him.
e Ibr. strengthen thou mine hand.

f As though he would be stronger, to the intent that he might say vnto God with greater libertie and rectitude some reuelation, which in him was but hypocritic.
g He doubted not but God was able to preserve him, and knew that if he had obeyed this counsel, he should haue discouraged all the people: thus God giueth power to his, to resist false prophecies though they seeme to haue neuer to great vantage.

12 And lo, I perceived, that God had not sent him, but he pronounced this propheticke against me: for Tobiah and Sanballat had hired him.

13 Therefore was he hired, that I might be afraid, and do thus, and sinne, and that they might haue an euill report that they might reproche me.

14 My God, remember thou Tobiah, and Sanballat according vnto these their workes, and Roadiah the prophetesse also, & the rest of the prophets that would haue put me in feare.

15 ¶ Now withstanding the wall was finished on the five and twentieth [day] of <sup>h</sup> Eul, in two and fiftie dayes.

16 And when all our enemies heard thereof, [euen] al the heathen that were about vs, they were a frayde, and their courage fayled they: for they knew, by this worke was wrought by our God.

17 And in these daies were there many of the princes of Iudah, whose letters went vnto Tobiah, & those of Tobiah came vnto them.

18 For there were many in Iudah, that were sworne vnto him: for he was the sonne in law of Shechaniah, sonne of Arah: and his sonne Jehonathan had the daughter of Meshullam, the sonne of Berechiah.

19 ¶ Ya, they spake in his praise before me, and tolde him my words, [and] Tobiah sent letters to put me in feare.

Ecclus. 49. 13.

NOWE * When the wall was builded, and I had set by the doores, and the porters, and the singers and the Leuites were appointed,

2 Then I commanded my brother Hanani and Hananiah the prince of the palace in Jerusalem (for he was doubtlesse a faithfull man, and feared God aboue many)

3 And I said vnto them, Let not the gates of Jerusalem be opened, vntil the heate of <sup>h</sup> sunne: and while they stand by, let them shut the doores, and make them fast: and I appointed wardes of the inhabitants of Jerusalem, euery one in his ward, and euery one ouer against his house.

4 Now the citie [was] large & great, but the people [were] fewe therein, and the houses were not builded.

5 And my God put into mine heart,

60 All the Rehumims, and the sonnes of Salomons seruants [were] three hundredeth, ninetie and two.

61 And these came vp from Tel-melah, Tel-haresha, Cherub, Addon, and Immer: but they could not shew their fathers house, nor their seed, [or] if they were of Israel.

62 The sonnes of Delaiah: the sonnes of Tobiah, the sonnes of Nekoda, five hundredeth and two and fourtie.

63 And of the Priestes: the sonnes of Habaiah, & sonnes of Hakkoz, & sonnes of Barzillai, which tooke one of the daughters of Barzillai the Giliadite, to wife, and was named after their name.

64 These sought their writing of the genealogies, but it was not founde: therefore they were put from the Priest-hood.

65 And the Tirshatha said vnto the, that they should not eate of the most holy, till there rose vp a Priest with *Urim and Thummin.

66 All the Congregation together [was] two and fourtie thousand, three hundredeth and three score,

67 Besides their seruants and their maides, which were seuen thousande, three hundredeth and seuen and thirtie: and they had two hundredeth and five and fourtie singing men and singing women.

68 Their horses [were] seuen hundredeth and five and thirtie, [and] their mules two hundredeth & five and fourtie.

69 The camels foure hundredeth and five and thirtie, [and] five thousand, seuen hundredeth and twentie asses.

70 And certaine of the chiefe fathers gaue vnto the worke. The Tirshatha gaue to the treasure, a thousand & diamis of golde, fiftie basins, five hundredeth and thirtie Priestes garments.

73 And the Priestes and Leuites, and the porters and the singers and the rest of the people and the Bethunims, and all Israel dwelt in their cities: and when the seventh moneth came, the children of Israel were in their cities.

CHAP. VIII.

2 Ezra gathereth together the people, and readeth to them the Law. 12 They reioyce in Israel for the knowledge of the word of God. 15 They keep the feast of Tabernacles in boothes.

And all the people assembled themselves together, in the streete that was before the watergate, and they spake vnto Ezra the scribe, that he would bring the booke of the Lawe of Moses, which the Lorde had commanded to Israel.

2 And Ezra the Priest brought the Law before the Congregation both of men and women, and of all that could heare and vnderstand it, in the first day of the seventh moneth,

3 And he read therein in the streete that was before the watergate (from the morning vntill the midday) before men and women, and them that vnderstood it, and the eares of all the people [hearkened] vnto the booke of the Law.

4 And Ezra the scribe stood vpon a pulpit of wood, which he had made for the preaching, & beside him stood Mattheiah, and Shema, and Ananiah, and Uriah, and Mikiah, and Baaleiah on his right hand, and on his left hand Pedaiah, and Mishael, and Malchiah, and Hashum, and Hashbadana, Zechariah, [and] Meshullam.

5 And Ezra opened the booke before all the people: for he was above all the people: and when he opened it, all the people stood vp.

6 And Ezra prayd the Lorde the great God, and all the people answered, Amen, Amen. With lifting vp their hands: and they bowed themselves, and worshipped the Lorde with their faces toward the ground.

7 Also Jeshua, and Sami, and Sherebiah, Jamin, Akkub, Shabbethai, Hodiah, Baaleiah, Beita, Azariah, Jozabad, Hanan, Pelaiah, and the Leuites caused the people to vnderstand the Lawe, and the people [stood] in their place.

8 And they read in the booke of the Law of God distinctly and gaue sense, and caused them to vnderstande the reading.

9 Then Nehemiah (which is Tirshatha) and Ezra the Priest and scribe, and the Leuites that instructed the people, said vnto all the people, This day is holy vnto the Lorde your God: moune not, neither weepe: for all the people wept, when they heard the wordes of the Law.

10 He said also vnto them, Goe, [and] eate of the fat, and drinke the sweete, and sende part vnto them, for whom none [is] prepared: for this day is holy vnto our Lorde: be ye not sorie therefore: for the joy of the Lorde is your strength.

11 And the Leuites made silence throughout al the people, saying, Hold your peace: for the day is holy, be not sad therefore.

12 Then all the people went to eate and to drinke, and to sende away part, and to make great ioy, because they had vnderstand the wordes that they had taught them.

13 And on the seconde day the chiefe fathers of all the people, the Priestes and the Leuites were gathered vnto Ezra the scribe, that hee also might instruct them in the wordes of the Law.

14 And they founde written in the Lawe, (that the Lorde had commanded by Moses) that the children of Israel should dwell in boothes in the feast of the seventh moneth,

15 And that they should cause it to be declared and proclaimed in all their cities, and in Ierusalem, saying, Goe forth vnto the mount, and bring olive branches, and pine branches, and branches of myrtus, and palme branches, and branches of thicke trees, to make boothes, as it is written.

16 So the people went forth and brought [them] & made them boothes, euery one vpon the rooffe of his house, and in their courtes, and in the courtes of the house of God, and in the streete by the watergate, and in the streete

18 And hee read in the booke of the Lawe of God euery day, from the first day vnto the last day. And they kept the feast seuen dayes, and on the eight day a solenne assemblie, according vnto the manner.

CHAP. IX.

1 The people repen, and forsake their strange wiues, 5 The Levites exhort them to praise God, 6 Declaring his wonders, 26 And their ingratitude, 30 And Gods great mercies toward them.

In the foure & twentieth day of this * moneth the children of Israel were assembled with * fasting, and with sackcloth, and earth vpon them.

2 And they that were of the seede of Israel were leparated from al * strangers and they stood and confessed their finnes & the iniquities of their fathers.

3 And they stood by in their place and read in the booke of * Lawe of the Lord their God foure times on the day, & they confessed and worshipped the Lord their God foure times.

4 Then stood by vpon the staires of the Levites Ieshua, and Bani, Kadmiel, Shebaniah, Sumi, Sherebiah, Bani [and] Chenani, and cryed with a loud voyce vnto the Lord their God.

5 And the Levites saide, [euē] Ieshua and Kadmiel, Bani, Hasabniyah, Sherebiah, Hodiah, Shebaniah [and] Bethahiah, stand by, [and] praise the Lord your God for euer and euer, and let them praye thy glorious Name, O God, which excelleth aboue all thanksgiving and praise.

6 Thou art Lord alone: thou hast made heauen, and the heauen of all heauens, with all their hoste, the earth, and all things that are therein, the seas, and all that are in them, and thou preteruest them all, & the hoste of the heauen worshippeth thee.

7 Thou art, O Lord, the God, that hast chozen Abraham, and broughtest him out of * Ur in Caldea, * and madest his name Abraham,

8 And foundest his heart faithful before thee, * and madest a couenant with him, to giue vnto his seede the land of the Canaanites, Hittites, Amorites, and Perizzites, and Jebusites, and Gergashites, and hast performed thy wordes, because thou art iust.

9 * Thou hast also considered the affliction of our fathers in Egypt, & heard their crye by the red Sea,

10 And shewed tokens and wonders vpon Pharaoh, and on all his seruants, and on al the people of his land: for thou knewest that they dealt proudly against them: therefore thou madest thee a Name, as [appeareth] this day.

11 * For thou didest breake by the Sea before them, and they went thorow the muddes of the Sea on drye land: & those that pursued them, hast thou cast into the bottom as a stone, in the mightie waters:

12 And * leddest them in the day with a pillar of a cloud, and in the night with a pillar of fire to giue them light in the way that they went.

13 * Thou camest downe also vpon mount Sinai, & spakest vnto them from heauen, and gauest them right iudgements, and true lawes, ordinances and good commandements,

14 And declaredst vnto them thine holy Sabbath, and commandedst them precepts, and ordinances, and lawes, by the hand of Moses thy seruant:

15 * And gauest them bread from heauen for their hunger, * and broughtest forth water for them out of the rocke for their thirst: and * promisedst them that they should go in, and take possession of the land, for the which thou haddest lift vpon thine hand for to giue them.

16 But they and our fathers behaued them selues proudly, & hardened their necke, so that they hearkened not vnto thy commandements,

17 But refused to obey, and would not remember thy maruelous wordes that thou haddest done for them, but hardened their neckes, and had in their heads to returne to their bondage by their rebellion: but thou, O God of mercies, gracious and full of compassion, of long suffering and of great mercy, yet forsookest them not.

18 Moreover, when they made them a molten calfe (and saide, This is thy God that brought thee by out of * lande of Egypt) and committed great blasphemies,

19 Yet thou for thy great mercies forsookest them not in the wilderness: * the

*the pillar of the cloude departed not from them by day to leade them the way, neither the pillar of fire by night, to shew them light, and the way wherby they should go.

20 Thou gauest also thy good spirit to instruct them, and withheldst not thy hand from their mouth, and gauest them water for their thirst.

21 Thou didst also feed them fourtie yeeres in the wilderness: they lacked nothing: * their clothes waxed not old, and their feete swelled not.

22 And thou gauest them kingdomes and people, and scatteredst them into corners: so they possessed the lande of Sydon and the land of the king of Hethyon, & the land of Og King of Basan.

23 And thou didst multiply their children, like the starres of the heauen, and broughtest them into the land, whereof thou hadst spoken vnto their fathers, that they should go, and possesse it.

24 So the children went in, and possessed the lande, and thou subduedst before them the inhabitants of the land, [even] the Canaanites, and gauest them into their hands, with their kings and the people of the lande, that they might do with them what they would.

25 And they tooke their strong cities and the fat lande, and possessed houses, full of all goods, cellars digged out, vineyards and oliues, and trees for foode in abundance, and they did eate, and were filled, and became fat, and liued in pleasure through thy great goodness.

26 Yet they were disobedient, and rebelled agaynst thee, and cast thy law behind their backes, & slew thy prophets (which * protested among them to turne them vnto thee) and committed great blasphemies.

27 Therefore thou deliueredst them into the hand of their enemies that vexed them: yet in the time of their affliction, when they cried vnto thee, thou heardest them from the heauen, and through thy great mercies thou gauest them succours, who saued them out of the hand of their aduersaries.

28 But when they had rest, they returned to do euill before thee: therefore ledest thou them in the hands of their enemies, so that they had the dominion ouer them, yet when they conuerted and cried vnto thee, thou heardest them from heauen, and deliueredst them according to thy great mercies many times,

29 And protestedst among them that thou mightest bring them againe vnto thy lawe: but they behaued themselves proudly, and heartened not vnto thy commandementes, but sinned agaynst thy iudgements (which a man should do and line in them) and pulled alway the shoulder, and were stiffnecked, and would not heare.

30 Yet thou didst forbear them many yeeres, and protestedst among them by thy spirit, [even] by the hand of thy prophets, but they would not heare: therefore gauest thou them into the hand of the people of the landes.

31 Yet for thy great mercies thou hast not consumed them, neither forsaken them: for thou art a gracious and mercifull God.

32 Nowe therefore our God, * thou great God, mightie & terrible, that keepst couenant and * merry, let not all the affliction that hath come vnto vs, seeme a litle before thee, [that is,] to our kings, to our princes, and to our priests, and to our prophets, and to our fathers, and to all thy people since the time of the kings of Asshur vnto this day.

33 Surely thou art iust in all that is come vpon vs: for thou hast dealt truly, but we haue done wickedly.

34 And our kings and our princes, our priests and our fathers haue not done thy law, nor regarded thy commandementes nor thy protestations, wherewith thou hast protested among them.

35 And they haue not serued thee in their kingdomes, and in thy great goodness that thou shewedst vnto them, and in the large & fat lande which thou didst set before them, and haue not conuerted from their euill wayes.

36 Behold, we are seruants this day, and the land that thou gauest vnto our fathers, to eat the "fruit thereof, and the goodness thereof, beholde, we are seruants therein.

37 And it yeldeth much fruit vnto the kings who thou hast set ouer vs, because of our sinnes: and they haue dominion ouer our bodies & ouer our cattel at their pleasure, and we are in great affliction.

38 Nowe because of all this we make "a sure couenant, and write it, and our princes, our Levites [and] our priests leale vnto it.

CHAP. XII.

1 The Priests and Leuites, which came with Zerubbabel unto Ierusalem, are nombred, 27 And the wall is dedicated.

These also are the Priests and the Leuites that <sup>a</sup> went by with Zerubbabel, the sonne of Shealtiel, & Ieshua: [to wit,]

Seraiah, Jeremiah, Ezra,
2 Amariah, Balluch, Balthazai,
3 Sereniah, Rehuni, Meremoth,
4 Jaddai, Sinmethi, Abiah,
5 Hannun, Gadiah, Bilgah,
6 Shemaiah, and Joiarib, Jedaijah,
7 Sallu, Amok, Bilkiah, Jedaijah:

these were the <sup>b</sup>chiefe of the Priests, and of their brethren in the dayes of Ieshua.

8 And the Leuites, Ieshua, Binnui, Kadmiel, Sherebiah, Iudah, Mattanah: [were] ouer the thanksgiuings,
he, and his brethren.

9 And Bakbukiah and Unni, [and] their brethren [were] about them in the watches.

10 And Ieshua begate Joiakim: Joiakim also begate Eliahb, and Eliahb begate Joiada.

11 And Joiada begate Jonathan, &
Jonathan begate Jaddua.

12 And in the dayes of Joiakim were [these] the chiefe fathers of the Priests:

vnder Seraiah [was] Seraiah, vnder Jeremiah, Hananiah,

13 vnder Ezra, Beshullam, vnder
Amariah, Jehohanan,

14 vnder Pelicai, Jonathan, vnder
Shebaniah, Ioseph,

15 vnder Joram, Adna, vnder Me-
raioth, Helkai,

16 vnder Jaddai, Zechariah, vnder
Gimthoni, Beshullam,

17 vnder Abiah, Zichri, vnder Mi-
namin, [and] vnder Hoadiab, Piltai,

18 vnder Bilgah, Shammua, vnder
Shemaiah, Jehonathan,

19 vnder Joiarib, Mattenai, vnder
Jedaijah, Uzai,

20 vnder Sallai, Ballai, vnder A-mok, Eber,

21 vnder Bilkiah, Balthabiah, vnder Jedaijah, Bethaneel.

22 In the dayes of Eliahb, Joiada, and Johanan and Jaddua [were] the chiefe fathers of the Leuites written,

and the Priests in the reigne of Darius
the Persian.

23 The sonnes of Levi, the chiefe fathers [were] written in the booke of the Chronicles euen vnto the dayes of Jo-hanan the sonne of Eliahb.

24 And the chiefe of the Leuites [were] Balthabiah, Sherebiah, and Ieshua the sonne of Kadmiel, and their brethren about them to giue praye and thanks according to the ordinance of Dauid the man of God, warde ouer <sup>a</sup> agaynst warde.

25 Mattaniah and Bakbukiah, Obadiah, Beshullam, Talmon, [&] Akkud [were] porters keeping the warde at the thresholds of the gates.

26 These were in the dayes of Joiakim the sonne of Ieshua, the sonne of Jozadak, and in the dayes of Nehemiah the captain, and of Ezra the Priest and scribe.

27 And in the dedication of the walat
Ierusalem they sought the Leuites out of all their places to bring them to Ierusalem to keepe the dedication and glad-nes, both with thanksgiuings and with songs, cyrnabals, viols and with harps.

28 Then the fingers gathered themselues together both from the plain coun-trei about Ierusalem, and from the villages of <sup>b</sup> Metoppathi,

29 And from the house of Gilgal, and out of the countreys of Geba, and Azmaueeth: for the fingers had built them villages round about Ierusalem.

30 And the Priests and Leuites were purified, and cleansed the people, and the gates, and the wall.

31 And I brought by the princes of Iudah vpon the wall, and appointed two great companies to giue thanks, and the [one] went on the right hand of the wall toward the dung gate.

32 And after them went Hoshaiah,
and halfe of the princes of Iudah,

33 And Azariah, Ezra & Beshullam, 34 Iudah, Benjamin, and Shema-
iah, and Jeremiah,

35 And of the Priests sonnes with tru-pets, Zechariah the sonne of Jonathan, the sonne of Shemaiah, the sonne of Mattaniah, the sonne of Balthabiah, the sonne of Zaccur, the sonne of Asaph.

36 And his brethren, Shemaiah, and Azareel, Bilalai, Gilalai, Maai, Nethaneel, and Iudah, Hanani, with the musical instruments of Dauid the man of God: and Ezra the scribe [went] before them.

I Which was the going up to the mount Zion, which is called the citie of Dauid,

37 And to the gate of the fountaine, euen ouer agaynst them went they by by the staires of the citie of Dauid, at the going by of the wall beyonde the house of Dauid, euen vnto the water gate Eastward.

38 And the second companie of them that gaue thanks, went on the other side, and I after them, and the halfe of the people [was] vpon the wall, [and] vpon the towler of the formaces euen vnto the broad wall.

39 And vpon the gate of Ephraim, and vpon the old gate, and vpon the fish gate, and the towler of Bananeel, & the towler of Beah, euen vnto the sheepegate: and they stood in the gate of the ward.

40 So stood the two companies (of the that gaue thanks) in the house of God, & I and the halfe of the rulers with me.

41 The Priests also, Eliakim, Haafeiah, Binamin, Michaiiah, Elidenai, Zechariah, Hananiah, with trumpets, 42 And Haafeiah, and Shemaiah, & Eleazar, and Uzzi, & Jehohanan, and Malchiah, and Elam, & Ezer: and the singers sang loude, hauing Ibrahiyah which was the overlier.

43 And the same day they offered great sacrifices and reioyced: for God had giuen them great ioy, so that both the women, and the children were ioyful: & the ioy of Ierusalem was heard farre off.

44 Also at the same time were men appointed <sup>m</sup> ouer the chambers of the store for the offerings (for the first fruits, and for the tithes) to gather into them out of the fields of the citie, the portions of the Law for the Priests & the Leuites: for Iudah reioyced for the Priests and for the Leuites, that serued.

45 And both the singers and the Leuites kept the warde of their God, and the ward of the purification according to the commandment of Dauid, [and] Salomon his sonne.

46 *For in the daies of Dauid and Asaph, of old, were chiefe singers, & songs of prayse and thanksgiving vnto God.

47 And in the daies of Zerubbabel, and in the daies of Nehemiah did all Israel giue portions vnto the singers and porters, euery day his portion, and they gaue the holy things vnto the Leuites, and the Leuites <sup>n</sup> gaue the holy things vnto the sonnes of Aaron.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The Law is read, 3 They separate from them all strangers.

15 Nehemiah reioyced them that beate the Shabbar.

30 An ordinance to serue God.

And on the day did they reade in the booke of Moyses, in the audience of the people, and it was found written therein, that the Ammonite, and the Moabite * should not enter into the Congregation of God,

2 Because they met not the children of Israel with bread and with water, * but hyred Balaam against them, that he should curse them: and our God turned the curse into a blessing.

3 Now why they had heard the Law, they separated from Israel <sup>a</sup> all those that were mixed.

4 And before <sup>b</sup> this had the Priest Eliashib the ouersight of the chamber of the house of our God, being kinsman to Tobiah:

5 And he had made him a great chamber and there had they afoetime layde the offerings, the incense, and the vessels, and the tithes of come, of wine, and of oyle (appointed for the Leuites, and the singers, and the porters) & the offerings of the Priests.

6 But in all this [time] was not I in Ierusalem: for in the two and thirtieth yeere of Artaxhasthe king of Babel, came I vnto the king, & after certaine dayes I obtained of the king.

7 And when I was come to Ierusalem, I vnderstoode the euill that Eliashib had done for Tobiah, in that hee had made him a chamber in the court of the house of God,

8 And it grieved me sore: therefore I cast forth all the vessels of the house of Tobiah out of the chamber.

9 And I commanded them to cleanse the chambers: and thither brought I againe the vessels of the house of God with the meate offering and the incense.

10 And I perceiued that the portions of the Leuites had not bene giuen, and that euery one was fled to his lande, [euen] the Leuites and singers that executed the worke.

11 Then reioyced I the rulers and said, why is the house of God forsaken: And I assembled them, and let them in their place.

12 They brought all Iudah the tithes of come and of wine, & of oyle vnto the treasures.

13 And I made treasurers ouer the treasures, Shelemiah the Priest, & Zadok the scribe, & of the Leuites, Bedaiiah, & vnder their hand Hanan the sonne of S. iii. Zacur

a That is, all such, which had loyned in unlawful marriage, and also those, with whom God had hiddden them to haue societie, b That the separation was made, c He was layned in affliction with Tobiah the Ammonite and enemye of the Iewes,

d Called also Darius. Ezra. 7.1. || Or, at the yeres ende,

e Thus we see to what inconveniences the people fall into, when they are destitute of one that hath the feare of God, seeing that their chiefe gouernour was but a while absent, and yet they fell into such great absurdities: as appeared also Ezech. 3.2.1.

f Ebr. caused to heare.

m Which were chambers appointed by Hezekiah to put in the cyphers, & such things, n Ezech. 3.2.1.1.8 now were repaired againe for the same use,

1 Chro. 15.16

n That is, the tenth part of the tithes.

Zacur the sonne of Bathaniah: for they were counted faithfull, and their office was to distribute vnto their brethren.

14 Remember me, O my God, herein, and wipe not out my kindness that I haue shewed on the house of my God, and on the offices thereof.

15 In those dayes saide I in Iudah them, that trode wine presses on <sup>the</sup> Sabbath, and that brought in sheaves, and which laded asses also with wine, grapes, and figges, and all burdens, and brought them into Ierusalem vpon the Sabbath day: and I protested to them in the day that they sold vitales.

16 There dwelt men of Tyrys also therein, which brought fish & all wares, and sold on the Sabbath vnto the children of Iudah euen in Ierusalem.

17 Then reprov'd I the rulers of Iudah, and sayd vnto them, what euill thing is this that ye doe, and breake the Sabbath day?

18 Did not your fathers thus, and our God brought all this plague vpon vs, and vpon this cite: yet ye increase the wrath vpon Israel, in breakeing the Sabbath.

19 And when the gates of Ierusalem began to be darke before the Sabbath, I commaunded to shut the gates, and charged, that they should not be opened till after the Sabbath, and some of my seruantes set I at the gates, that there should no burden bee brought in on the Sabbath day.

20 So the chapmen and marchants of all marchandise remained once or twise all night without Ierusalem.

21 And I protested among them, and said vnto them, why tary ye all night about the wall? If ye do it once againe, I will lay hands vpon you. From that time came they no more on the Sabbath.

22 And I sayde vnto the Leuites that they should cleanse themselves, and that they should come and keepe the gates, to sanctifie the Sabbath day. Remember me, O my God, concerning this, and pardon mee according to thy great mercie.

23 In those dayes also I saw Ielwes that married wiues of Ashdod, of Ammon, and of Moab.

24 And their children spake halfe in the speech of Ashdod, & could not speake in the Ielwes language, and according to the language of the one people, and of the other people.

25 Then I reprov'd them, and cursed them, and smote certaine of them, & pulled of their heare, and tooke an othe of them by God, Ye shall not give your daughters vnto their sonnes, neither shall yee take of their daughters vnto your sonnes, nor for your selues.

26 Did not Salomon the King of Israel sinne by these things: yet among many nations was there no king like him: for he was beloued of his God, & God had made him King over Israel: yet strange womne caused him to sinne.

27 Shall we then obey vnto you, to doe all this great euill, and to transgresse against our God, euen to marry strange wiues?

28 And [one] of the sonnes of Joiada the sonne of Eliahaz the hie Priest was the sonne in lawe of Sanballat the Horonite: but I chaled him fromme.

29 Remember them, O my God, & defile the Priesthoode, and the couenant of the Priesthoode, & of the Leuites.

30 Then cleansed I them from all strangers, and appointed the wardes of the Priests and of the Leuites, euery one in his office,

31 And for the offering of the wood at times appointed, & for first frutes. Remember me, O my God, in goodness.

Because of the diuersitie of names, whereby they vse to name their Kings, and the supputation of yeeres wherein the Ebrewes, & the Grecians do varie, diuerse autors write diuersely as touching this Ahasuerus, but it seemeth Daniel, 6.1. & 9.1. that he was Darius King of the Medes, and sonne of Astyages, called also Ahasuerus, which was a name of honour, and signified great and chiefe, as chiefe head. ## C H A P. I.

3 King Abashuerus maketh a roppall feast, 12 Whereunto the Queene Valtis will not come, 19 For which cause shee is diuorced, 20 The kings decree touching the preeminence of man.

a Called also Darius, who was now the soueraigne Governor, and had the gouernment of the Spies, Persians and Chaldeans, some thinke he was Darius Hystaspis sonne, called also Artaxerxes.

b Dani. Chap. 6. maketh mention but of sixe scoze, leauing out the number that is vnpertite, as the Scripture in diuere places vlieth.

c That is, had rest, and quietnesse, Nehem. 1. 1.

In the daies of <sup>a</sup> Abashuerus (this is Abashuerus that reigned, from India euen vnto Ethiopia, ouer an <sup>b</sup> hundredth, and seuen & twentie prouinces)

2 In those dayes when the King Abashuerus <sup>c</sup> fate on his throne, which was in the palace of <sup>d</sup> Shushan,

3 In the thirde yeere of his reigne, he made a feast vnto all his princes and his seruants, [euen] <sup>e</sup> powder of Persia and Media, & to the captaynes & gouernours of <sup>f</sup> prouinces which were before him.

4 That hee might thelue the riches [and] glory of his kingdome, & the honoz of his great matlesse many daies, [euen] an hundredth and fourescore dayes.

5 And whē these daies were expired, the King made a feast to all the people <sup>g</sup> were found in <sup>h</sup> palace of Shushā, both vnto great and small, seuen dayes, in the court of the garden of the kings palace.

6 [Under] an hanging of white, greene, and blew [clothes,] fastened with cordes of fine linen and purple, in silver rings, and pillars of marble: the <sup>i</sup> beddes were of gold, and of silver by on a pavement of porphyre, and marble and alabaſter, and blew colour.

7 And they gaue them drinke in vessels of golde, and changed beſell after beſell, and royal wine in abundance according to the powder of the King.

8 And the drinking [was] by an order, none might <sup>j</sup> compell: for so the king had appoynted vnto all the officers of his house, that they should do according to euery mans pleasure.

9 The Queene Valtis made a feast also for the women in <sup>k</sup> royal house of King Abashuerus.

10 Upon the <sup>l</sup> seuenthy day when the King was merie with wine, he commanded Methuman, Biztha, Harbona, Bigtha, and Abagtha, Zethar, and Caras, the seuen Eunuches, (that serued in the presence of King Abashuerus)

11 To bring Queene Valtis before the king with the crowne roppall, that hee myght thelue the people and the princes her beautie: for she was faire to looke vpon.

12 But the Queene Valtis refused to come at the kings worde, <sup>m</sup> which he had giuen in charge to the eunuches: therefore the King was very angrie, and his wrath kindled in him.

13 Then the king said to the wife <sup>n</sup> me, that knewe the times (for so was the Kings maner towards all that knewe the lawe and the iudgement:

14 And the next vnto him [was] Carſena, Shethar, Admatha, Tarſhiſh, Beres, Harſena [and] Hemucan the seuen Princes of Persia and Media, which lawe the kings face, and late the first in the kingdome)

15 What shall we do vnto <sup>o</sup> Queene Valtis according to the law, because she did not according to the worde of the king Abashuerus by the commission of the eunuches:

16 The Hemucan answered before the King and the princes, The Queene Valtis hath not only done <sup>p</sup> euil against the king, but against all the princes, and against all the people that are in all the prouinces of King Abashuerus.

17 For the <sup>q</sup> acte of the Queene shall come abroad vnto all womē, so that they shal despise their husbands in their owne eyes, and shall say, The king Abashuerus commanded Valtis <sup>r</sup> Queene to be brought in before him, but she came not.

18 So shall the <sup>s</sup> princeſſes of Persia and Media this day say vnto all the Kings princes, when they heare of the acte of the Queene: thus [shall] there be much despightfullnesse and wrath.

19 If it please the King, let a roppall decree procede from him, and let it be written among the statutes of Persia, and Media (and let it not be transgressed) that Valtis come <sup>t</sup> no more before King Abashuerus: and let the king giue her roppall estate vnto her companion that is better then she.

20 And when the decree of the king which shalbe made, shall be published throughout all his kingdome (though it be <sup>u</sup> great) all the women shal giue their husbands honour, both great and small.

21 And this saying pleased <sup>v</sup> king and the princes, and the king did according to the worde of Hemucan.

22 For he sent letters into all the prouinces of the king, into euery prouince according to the writing thereof, and to euery people after their language, that euery man shoulde <sup>w</sup> beare rule in his owne house, and that he shoulde publish it in the language of that same people.

<sup>u</sup> That is, that the wife should be subiect to the husband & at his commandement.

CHAP. II.

2 After the Queene is put away, certaine yong maydes are brought to the King. 17 Ester pleased the King, and is made Queene. 22 Mordecai wisely vnto the King those that would betray him.

After these things, When the wrath of king Ahashuerosh was appeased, he remembred Ahashi, and what hee had done, & what was decreed against her.

2 And the kings seruants that ministered vnto him, saide, Let them seeke for the king beautifull yong virgins,

3 And let the King appoynt officers through all the prouinces of his kingdom, and let them gather all the beautifull yong virgins vnto the palace of Shushan, into the house of the womē, vnder the hande of hege the Kings Eunuche, keeper of the womē, to giue them their things for purification.

4 And the maide that pleased the king, let her reigne in the stead of Ahashi. And this pleased the king, and hee did so.

5 ¶ In the cite of Shushā, there was a certaine Jew, whose name was Mordecai, the sonne of Jair, the sonne of Shimei, the sonne of Kish a man of Benjamin.

6 Which had bene carryed away from Jerusalem with captiuitie that was carryed away with Iekoniah King of Iudah (whom Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel had carryed away)

7 And hee nourished Hadassah, that is Ester, his buccles daughter: for the had neither father nor mother, and the maid was fayre, and beautifull to looke on: and after the death of her father, and her mother, Mordecai tooke her for his owne daughter.

8 And when the Kings commandement, and his decree was published, and many maydes were brought together to the palace of Shushan, vnder the hand of hege, Ester was brought also vnto the kings house vnder the hand of hege the keeper of the women.

9 And the mayd pleased him, and she founde fauour in his sight: therefore hee caused her things for purification to be giuen her speedily, and her state, and seuen comely maydes to be giuen her out of the kings house, and hee gaue charge to her & to her maides of the best in the house of the women.

10 [But] Ester shewed not her people and her kindred: for Mordecai had charged her, that she should not tell it.

11 And Mordecai walked euery day before the court of the womens house, to know if Ester did wel, and what should be done vnto her.

12 And when the course of euery maide came, to go in to King Ahashuerosh, after she had bene twelue moneths according to the maner of the women (for so were the dayes of their purifications accomplished, fixe moneths wth oyle of myrre, and fixe moneths wth sweete odours and in the purifying of the women:

13 And thus went the maides vnto the King) whatsoeuer she required, was giuen her, to go with her out of the womens house vnto the Kings house.

14 In the euening she went, and on the morrow she returned into the second house of the women vnder the hande of Shaashgaz the kings eunuche, which kept the concubines: she came in to the king no more, except she pleased the King, and that she were called by name.

15 Now when the course of Ester the daughter of Abihail the vncle of Mordecai (which had taken her as his owne daughter) came, she should go in to the king, she desired nothing, but what hege the kings eunuch the keeper of the women saide: and Ester founde fauour in the sight of all the that looked vpon her.

16 So Ester was taken vnto king Ahashuerosh into his house royal in the tenth moneth, which is the moneth Tebeth, in the seventh yeere of his reigne.

17 And the King loued Ester aboue all the women, and she founde grace and fauour in his sight more then all the virgins: so that he let the crowne of the kingdom vpon her head, and made her Queene in the stead of Ahashi.

18 Then the King made a great feast vnto all his princes, and his seruants, [which was] the feast of Ester, & gaue rest vnto the prouinces, and gaue gifts, according to the powder of a King.

19 And when the virgins were gathered the seconde time, then Mordecai sat in the Kings gate.

20 Ester had not yet shewed her kindred nor her people, as Mordecai had charged her: for Ester did after the worde of Mordecai, as when she was nourished with him.

21 ¶ In those dayes when Mordecai sat in the kings gate, two of the kings eunuches, Bigthan and Teresh, which kept the doore, were wroth, and sought to lay hand on the king Ahashuerosh.

22 And the thing was knowe to Mordecai, & he tolde it vnto Queene Ester, and

CHAP. III.

1 Haman, after he was exalted, obtained of the king, that all the Jewes should be put to death, because Mordecai had not done him worship as other had.

After these things did King Ahashuerosh promote Haman the sonne of Hammedatha the Agagite, and exalted him, and let his seat above all the princes that were with him.

2 And all the kings servants that were at the kings gate, bowed their knees, & reuerenced Haman: for the king had so commanded concerning him: but Mordecai bowed not the knee, neither did reuerence.

3 Then the Kings servants which were at the kings gate saide vnto Mordecai, why transgressed thou the kings commandement?

4 And albeit they spake dayly vnto him, yet he would not heare them: therefore they told Haman, that they might see how Mordecais matters would stand: for he had tolde them, that hee was a Jewe.

5 And when Haman saue that Mordecai bowed not the knee vnto him, nor did reuerence vnto him, then Haman was full of wrath.

6 Now he thought it to litle to lay hands onely on Mordecai: and because they had shedd him people of Mordecai, Haman sought to destroy all the Jewes, that were throughout the whole kingdome of Ahashuerosh, [euen] the people of Mordecai.

7 In the first moneth [that is] the first moneth of Nissan, in the twelfth yeere of king Ahashuerosh, they cast pur [that is] a lot before Haman, from day to day, & from moneth to moneth, vnto the twelfth moneth, that is the moneth of Aban.

8 Then Haman saide vnto king Ahashuerosh, There is a people scattered, and dispersed among the people in all the prouinces of thy kingdome, & their lawes [are] diuers from all people, and they do not obserue the kings lawes: therefore it is not the kings profit to suffer the.

9 If it please the king, let it bee written that they may be destroyed, and I will pay ten thousand talents of syluer by the handes of them that haue the charge of this busines to bring it into the kings treasure.

10 Then the king tooke his ring fro his hand and gaue it vnto Haman the sonne of Hammedatha the Agagite the Jewes aduersarie.

11 And the king said vnto Haman, Let the sinner be thine, and the people to doe with them as it pleaseth thee.

12 Then were the kings scribes called on the thirteenth day of the first moneth, and there was written [according to all that Haman commanded] vnto the kings officers, and to the captaines that were ouer euery prouince, and to the rulers of euery people [and] to euery prouince, according to the writing thereof, and to euery people according to their language: in the name of king Ahashuerosh was it written, and sealed with the kings ring.

13 And letters were sent by postes into all the kings prouinces, to roote out to kill and to destroy all the Jewes, both yong and olde, children and women, in one day vpon the thirtieth day of the twelfth moneth, [which is the moneth of Aban] and to spoyle them as a pray.

14 The contentes of the writing was, that there should be given a commandement in all prouinces, [and] published vnto all people, that they should be ready against the same day.

15 And the postes compelled by the kings commandement went forth, and the commandement was given in the palace at Shuthan: and the king and Haman sate drinking, but the cite of Shuthan was in perplexitie.

2 And he came euen before the kings gate, but he might not enter within the kings gate, being clothed with sackcloth.

3 And in euery prouince, [and] place, whither the kings charge and his commission came, there was great sorrow among the Jewes, and fasting, & weeping and mourning, and many lay in sackcloth and in ashes.

CHAP. V.

1 Ester entred in to the King, & bowdeth him and Haman to a feast. 14 Haman prepared a galone for Hordetai.

AND on the third day Ester put on her royal apparell, & stood in the court of the Kings palace within, ouer against the Kings house: and the King late vpon his royal throne in the Kings palace ouer against the gate of the house.

2 And when the King sawe Ester the Quene standing in the court, he found fauour in his sight: and the King helde out the golden scepter that was in his hande: so Ester drew nere, and touched the toppe of the scepter.

3 Then sayd the King vnto her, what wilt thou, Quene Ester: and what is thy request: it shall be euen giuen thee to the halfe of the kingdome.

4 The said Ester, If it please the king, let the king & Haman come this day vnto the banquet, I have prepared for him.

5 And the king said, Cause Haman to make haste: for hee may doe as Ester hath sayde. So the king and Haman came to the banquet that Ester had prepared.

6 And the king sayd vnto Ester at the banquet of wine, what is thy petition, that it may bee giuen thee: and what is thy request: it shall euen be performed vnto the halfe of the kingdome.

7 Then answered Ester, and sayde, My petition and my request is,

8 If I have found fauour in the sight of the king, & if it please the king to giue me my petition, and to performe my request, let the king and Haman come to the banquet that I shall prepare for the, and I will doe to morrowe according to the kings saying.

9 Then went Haman forth the same day ioyfull and with a glad heart. But when Haman sawe Hordetai in the Kings gate, that he stood not vp, nor moued for him, then was Haman full of indignation at Hordetai.

10 Neuertheles Haman refrained himselfe: and when he came home, he sent, and called for his friends, & Zerech his wife.

11 And Haman tolde them of the glorie of his riches, & the multitude of his children, and all the things wherein the king had promoted him, & how that he had

9 So when Hatach came, he tolde Ester the wordes of Hordetai.

10 Then Ester said vnto Hatach, and commanded him [to say] vnto Hordetai,

11 All the kings seruants and the people of the Kings prouinces doe knowe, that whosoever, man or woman, that cometh to the king into the inner court, which is not called, there is a lawe of his, that he shall die, except him to whom the King holdeth out the golden rod, that hee may liue. Nowe I haue not bene called to come vnto the King these thirtie dayes.

12 And they certified Hordetai of Esters wordes.

13 And Hordetai said, I they should answer Ester thus, I thinke not with thy self that thou shalt escape in the Kings house, more then all the Jewes.

14 For if thou holdest thy peace at this time, comfort & deliuerance shall appeare to the Jewes out of another place, but thou and thy fathers house shall perish: and who knoweth whether thou art come to the kingdome for such a time?

15 Then Ester commanded to answer Hordetai,

16 Go, [and] assemble all the Jewes that are found in Shushan, and fast ye for me, and eate not, nor drinke in three dayes, day nor night. I also & my maides will fast like wise, and so will I goe in to the king, which is not according to the lawe:

12 Haman said moreover, Pea, Ester the Queene did let no man come in with the king to the banquet that thee had prepared, saue me: and to morrowe am I bidden vnto her also with the king.

13 But all this doeth nothing auaille me, as long as I see Mordecai the Jew sitting at the kings gate.

14 Then said Zeresh his wife and all his friends vnto him, Let them make a tree of fittie cubites hie, & to morrowe speake thou vnto the king, that Mordecai may bee hanged thereon: then shalt thou go ioyfully with the king vnto the banquet. And the thing pleased Haman, & he caused to make the tree.

CHAP. VI.

1 The king turneth ouer the Chronicles, and findeth the storie of Mordecai, 10 And commaundeth Haman, to cause Mordecai to be had in honour.

The same night the king slept not, and hee commanded to bring him booke of the records and the chronicles: and they were read before the king.

2 Then it was founde written that Mordecai had tolde of Bigtana, and Zeresh two of the kings euniches, keepers of the doore, who sought to lay hands on the king Abashuerosh.

3 Then the king said, what honour and dignitie hath bene given to Mordecai for this: And the kings seruants that ministered vnto him, saide, There is nothing done for him.

4 And the king saide, who is in the court: (Nowe Haman was come into the inner court of the kings house, that he might speake vnto the king to hang Mordecai on the tree that he had prepared for him.)

5 And the kings seruants saide vnto him, Beholde, Haman standeth in the court. And the king said, Let him come in.

6 And whyle Haman came in, the king said vnto him, what shalbe done vnto the man, whom the king will honour: The Haman thought in his heart, To whom would the king do honour more the to me?

7 And Haman answered the king, The man whom the king would honour.

8 Let them bring for him royall apparell, which the king vbleth to weare, and the horse that the king rideth vpon, and that the crowne royall may bee set vpon his head.

9 And let the rayment and the horse be deliuered by the hande of one of the Kings most noble princes, and let them apparell the man (Whom the king will honour) and cause him to ride vpon the horse through the street of the cite, and proclaime before him, Thus shall it bee done vnto the man, whome the king will honour.

10 Then the king saide to Haman, Make haste, take the rayment and the horse as thou hast saide, and doe so vnto Mordecai the Jewe, that sitteth at the kings gate: let nothing faile of all that thou hast spoken.

11 So Haman tooke the raiment and the horse, and arayed Mordecai, and brought him on horsebacke through the streete of the cite, and proclaimed before him, Thus shall it bee done to the man whom the king will honour.

12 And Mordecai came againe to the kings gate, but Haman hadsted home mourning and his head couered.

13 And Haman tolde Zeresh his wife, and all his friends all that had befallen him. Then saide his wife men, and Zeresh his wife vnto him, If Mordecai be of the seede of the Jewes, before whome thou hast begonne to fall, thou shalt not preuaile against him, but shalt surely fall before him.

14 And whyle they were yet talking with him, came the Kings euniches & halted to bring Haman vnto the banquet that Ester had prepared.

CHAP. VII.

1 The Queene biddeth the king and Haman againe to pray for her selfe and her people. 6 She accuseth Haman and he is hanged on a gallows, which he had prepared for Mordecai.

The king and Haman came to banquet with the Queene Ester.

2 And the king saide againe vnto Ester on the second day at the banquet of wine, what is thy petition, Queene Ester, that it may be given thee: & what is thy request: It shalbe euē performed vnto the halfe of the kingdom.

3 And Ester the Queene answered, and said, If I haue found fauour in thy sight, O King, and if it please the King, let my life be giuen me at my petition, and my people at my request.

4 For we are sold, I and my people, to be destroyed, to be slayne & to perishe: but if we were solde for seruants, and for handmaydes, I would haue heide my tongue: although the aduersarie could not recompense the Kings losse.

6 And Ester said, The aduersary and enemy is this wicked Haman. Then Haman was afraid before the king and the Queene.

7 And the King arose from the banquet of wine in his wrath, and went into the palace garden: but Haman stood by, to make request for his life to the Queene Ester: for he saw that there was a mischief prepared for him of the king.

8 And when the King came againe out of the palace garden, into the house where they dranke wine, Haman was fallen vpon his bed whereon Ester sat: therefore the king said, Will he force the Queene also before me in the house? As the word went out of the kings mouth, they couered Hamans face.

9 And Harbonah one of the eunuches, said in the presence of the king, Beholde, there standeth yet the tree in Hamans house fittie cubites hie, which Haman had prepared for Mordecai, that spake good for the king. Then the king sayd, Hang him thereon.

10 So they hanged Haman on the tree, that he had prepared for Mordecai: then was the kings wrath pacified.

CHAP. VIII.

1 After the death of Haman was Mordecai exalted. 14 Comfortable letters are sent vnto the Iewes.

The same daye did King Ahashuerosh giue the house of Haman the aduersarie of the Iewes vnto the Queene Ester. And Mordecai came before the king: for Ester tolde what he was vnto her.

2 And the king tooke off his ring, which he had taken from Haman, and gaue it vnto Mordecai: and Ester set Mordecai ouer the house of Haman.

3 And Ester spake yet more before the king, & fell downe at his feete weeping, and besought him that he would put away the wickednes of Haman the Agagite, and his deuil that hee had imagined against the Iewes.

4 And the king helde out the golden scepter toward Ester. The arose Ester, and stood before the king.

5 And said, If it please the King, & if I haue found fauour in his sight, and the thing be acceptable before the King, and if please him, let it be written, that the letters of the deuile of Haman the sonne of Ammedatha the Agagite may be called againe, which he wrote to destroy the Iewes, that are in all the Kinges prouinces.

6 For howe can I suffer and see the euill, that shal come vnto my people? Or howe can I suffer and see the destruction of my kindred:

7 And the King Ahashuerosh sayd vnto the Queene Ester, and to Mordecai the Iewe, Beholde, I haue giuen Ester the house of Haman, whome they haue hanged vpon the tree, because hee layd hand vpon the Iewes.

8 Write ye also for the Iewes, as it liketh you in the kings name, and seale it with the Kings ring (for the writings written in the kings name, & sealed with the kings ring, may no man reuoke)

9 Then were the Kings scribes called at the same time, euen in the thirde moneth, that is the moneth† Siuan, on the thre and twentieth day thereof: and it was written, according to all as Mordecai commaunded vnto the Iewes and to the princes, and captaines, and rulers of the prouinces, which were fro India euen vnto Ethiopia, an hundred and seuen and thentie prouinces, vnto euery prouince, according to the writing thereof, & to euery people after their speache, and to the Iewes, according to their writing, and according to their language.

10 And he wrote in the king Ahashuerosh name, and sealed it with the kings ring: and hee sent letters by postes on horsebacke (the rode on beasts of price, as brome daries and coltes of mares, in what cities soeuer they were) to gather themselves together, and to stande for their life, and to roote out, to slaye and to destroy all the power of the people and of the prouince that bered them, both children and womē, and to spoyle their goods:

12 Upon one day in all the prouinces of king Ahashuerosh, euen in the thirteenth day of the twelfth moneth, which is the moneth† Adar.

13 The copie of the writing was, howe there should be a commandement giuen in al and euery prouince, published among all the people, & that the Iewes should be readie against that day to avenge themselves on their enemies.

14 [So] the postes rode vpon beasts of price, and brome daries, and went forth with speede, to execute the kings commande:

15 And Hordetai went out from the King in royall apparell of blew, and white, and with a great crovne of gold, and with a garment of fine linen & purple, and the citie of Shushan reioyced and was glad.

16 And vnto the Iewes was come light and ioy and gladnes, and honour.

17 Also in all and every prouince, and in al & every citie & place, where the Kings commandement and his decree came, [there was] ioy & gladnesse to the Iewes, a feast & good day, and many of the people of the lande<sup>c</sup> became Iewes: for the feare of the Iewes fell vpon them.

CHAP. IX.

1 The commencement of the king the Iewes put their aduersaries to death. 2 The ten sonnes of Haman are hanged. 3 The Iewes keepe a feast in remembrance of their deliuerance.

S In the twelfth moneth, which is the moneth Adar, vpon the thirtieth day of the same, when the kings commandement & his decree drew neere to be put in execution, in the day that the enemies of the Iewes hoped to haue powder ouer them (but it turned contrary: for the Iewes had rule ouer them that hated them)

2 The Iewes gathered them selues together into their citie throughout all the prouinces of the king Abasuerosh, to lay hand on such as sought their hurt, and no man could withstande them: for the feare of them fell vpon all people.

3 And all the rulers of the prouinces, and the princes & the captaynes, and the officers of the King exalted the Iewes: for the feare of Hordetai fell vpon them.

4 For Hordetai was great in the kings house, and the report of him went through all the prouinces: for this man Hordetai wared greater and greater.

5 Thus the Iewes smote al their enemies with strokes of the sword and slaughter, and destruction, & did what they would vnto those that hated them.

6 And at Shushan the palace slew the Iewes and destroyed<sup>d</sup> five hundred men.

7 And Parthandatha, and Dalphon, and Abathia,

8 And Poratha, and Abatia, and Artadatha,

9 And Parmashta, and Arisai, and Aridai, and Eleazatha,

10 The tenne sonnes of Haman, the aduersarie of the Iewes slew they: but they laied not their hands on the spoye.

11 On the same day came the number of those that were slaine, vnto the palace of Shushan before the King.

12 And the King said vnto the Queene Ester, The Iewes haue slaine in Shushan the palace and destroyed five hundred men, and the tenne sonnes of Haman: what haue they done in the rest of the Kings prouinces: and what is thy petition, that it may be given thee: or what is thy request moreover, that it may be performed:

13 Then layde Ester, If it please the King, let it be granted also to morowe, to doe according vnto this dayes decree, that they may hang vpon the tree Hamans tenne sonnes.

14 And the King charged to doe so, & the decree was given at Shushan, and they hanged Hamans ten sonnes.

15 So the Iewes that were in Shushan, assembled themselves vpon the fourteenth day of the moneth Adar, & slew three hundred men in Shushan, but on the spoye they layed not their hand.

16 And the rest of the Iewes were in the kings prouinces assembled themselves, and tooke for their liues, and had rest from their enemies, and slew of them that hated them, <sup>h</sup> seuentie & five thousand: but they layed not their hand on the spoye.

17 [This they did] on the thirteenth day of the moneth Adar, and rested the fourteenth day thereof, and kept it a day of feasting and ioy.

18 But the Iewes that were in Shushan assembled themselves on the thirteenth day, and on the fourteenth thereof, and they rested on the fifteenth of the same, & kept it a day of feasting and ioy.

19 Therefore the Iewes of the villages that dwelt in vnballed towines, kept the fourteenth day of the moneth Adar with ioy and feasting, <sup>i</sup> euen a ioyfull day, and euery one sent presents vnto his neighbour.

20 And Hordetai wrote these words, & sent letters vnto al the Iewes that were through all the prouinces of the King Abasuerosh, [both] neere and farre,

21 Inuoyning them that they should keepe the fourteenth day of the moneth Adar, and the fifteenth day of the same, euery yere,

25 And when shee came before the King, hee commanded by letters, Let his wicked & deuile (which he imagined against the Iewes) turne vpon his owne head, and let them hang him and his sonnes on the tree.

26 Therefore they called these dayes Purim, by the name of Pur, [and] because of all the wordes of this letter, and of that which they had seene besides this, and of that which had come vnto them.

27 The Iewes [also] ordeined, and promised for them and for their seede, and for all that ioynd vnto them, that they woulde not fayle to obserue those two dayes euery yeere, according to their writing, and according to their season.

28 And that these dayes shoulde be remembered, and kept throughout euery generation and euery familie, and euery prouince, and euery citie: eue these dayes of Purim shoulde not fayle among the Iewes, & the memorall of them shoulde not perishe from their seede.

29 And the Queene Ester the daughter of Abihail and Mordecai the Iewe wrote with all authority (to confirme this letter of Purim the second time)

30 And hee sent letters vnto all the Iewes to the hundredth and seuen and twentie prouinces of the kingdome of Ahasueros, with wordes of peace and trust,

31 To confirme these daies of Purim, according to their seasons, as Mordecai the Iewe and Ester the Queene had appointed them, and as they had promised for them & selues and for their seede with fasting and prayer.

32 And the decree of Ester confirmed these wordes of Purim, and was written in the booke.

In this historie is set before our eyes the example of a singular patience. For this holy man Iob was not onely extremely afflicted in outward things and in his body, but also in his minde, and conscience by the sharpe tentations of his wife, and chiefe friends: which by their vehement wordes, and subtil disputation brought him almost to dispaire: for they set forth God as a seuerer Iudge, and mortall enemy vnto him, which had cast him off, therefore in vaine he shoulde seeke vnto him for succour. These friends came vnto him vnder pretence of consolation, and yet they tormented him more then dyd all his affliction. Notwithstanding he dyd constantly resist them, and at length had good successe. ## C H A P. I.

1 The holiness, riches, and care of Iob for his children. 10 Satan hath permission to tempt him. 13 Hee tempteth him by taking away his substance, and his children. 20 His faith and patience.

a That is, of the countrey of the Tennes, as Iamen. 4. 21. of bordering therupon: for the land was called by the name of Iob: the sonne of Dauid the sonne of Iesse. Gen. 36. 28.

b Forasmuch as he was a Gentle, & not a Jewe, and yet is pronounced vpright, and without hypocrisy, it declares that among the heathen God hath his.

c Herby is declared what is meant by an vpright and iust man, d His children and riches are declared, to commend his vertue in his prosperitie, and his patience, and constancie, when God had taken them from him.

e Hee. children. f Speaking, the Arabians, Chaldeans, & sumrans, &c. g That is, commanded them to be sanctified: meaning, that they should consider the faultes, that they had committed, and reconcile themselves for the same.

Ihere was a man in the land of Uz called Iob, and this man was an vpright and iust man, one that feared God, and eschewed euill.

2 And he had seven sonnes, and three daughters.

3 His substance also was seven thousand sheepe, and three thousand camels, & five hundred yoke of oxen, & five hundred asses, & his familie was verie great, so that this man was the greatest of all the men of the East.

4 And his sonnes went and banquetted in their houses, every one his day, and sent, and called their three sisters to eate and to drinke with them.

5 And when the dayes of their banquetting were gone about, Iob sent, and sanctified them, and rose by early in the morning, and offered burnt offerings [according] to the number of the all. For Iob thought, It may bee that my sonnes haue sinned, and blasphemed God in their hearts: thus did Iob every day.

6 Nowe on a day when the children of God came and stood before the Lord, Satan came also among them.

7 Then the Lord saide vnto Satan, whence comest thou? And Satan answered the Lord, saying, From compassing the earth to and fro, and fro walking in it.

8 And the Lord saide vnto Satan, hast thou not considered my servant Iob, howe none [is] like him in the earth: an vpright & iust man, one that feareth God, and eschewed euill.

9 Then Satan answered the Lord,

g That is, hee offered for every one of his children an offering of reconciliation, which declared his religion toward God, and for care he had toward his children. h In Chyrene it is, and blesse d God, which is sometime taken for blaspheming and cursing, as here, and 1. King. 21. 10. and 13. 9c. i While the feast lasted. k Speaking, the Angels which are called the sonnes of God, because they are willing to execute his will. l Because our infirmities can not comprehend God in his maiestie, he is set forth vnto vs as a King, that our capacitie may be able to understand that which is spoken of him. m This declares that although Satan bee aduersarie to God, yet hee is compelled to obey him, and doe him all homage, without whose permission and appointment hee can doe nothing. n This question is asked for our infirmities: for God knoweth better hee came. o Herein is described the nature of Satan, which is ever ranging for his prey. 1. Pet. 5. 8.

and sayde, Doeth Iob feare God for noought?

10 Hast thou not made an hedge about him & about his house, and about all that he hath on every side: thou hast blessed the worke of his handes, and his substance is increased in the land.

11 But stretch out nowe thine hande and touch all that he hath, [to see] if he will not blaspheme thee to thy face.

12 Then the Lord saide vnto Satan, Lo, all that he hath is in thine hande: onely vpon him selfe shalt thou not stretch out thine hande. So Satan departed from the presence of the Lord.

13 And on a day, when his sonnes and his daughters were eating and drinking wine in their eldest brothers house,

14 There came a messenger vnto Iob, and said, The oxen were plowing, and the asses feeding in their places,

15 And the shepherds came violently, and tooke them: yea, they haue slayne the seruants with the edge of the sword: but I onely am escaped alone to tell thee.

16 And whyles hee was yet speaking, another came, and sayde, The fire of God is fallen from heauen, and hath burnt by the sheepe and the seruantes, and deuoured them: but I onely am escaped alone, to tell thee.

17 And whyles he was yet speaking, another came, and sayde, The Chaldeans set out three bandes, and fell vpon the camels, and haue taken them, and haue slayne the seruants with the edge of the sword: but I onely am escaped alone to tell thee.

18 And whyles he was yet speaking, came an other, and saide, Thy sonnes, and thy daughters were eating, and drinking wine in their eldest brothers house,

19 And beholde, there came a great winde from beyonde the wilderness, and smote four corners of the house, which fell vpon the children, and they are dead, and I onely am escaped alone to tell thee.

20 This last plague declares that when one plague is past without feareth he had to be borne, God can sende vs an other farre more grievous, to trye his, and teach them obedience, p Hee searcheth thee not for thine own sake but for thy comfort: that hee rectitude by thee, q Speaking, the grace of God, which serued Iob, as a rampart against all temptations.

r This signifies that the Satan is not able to touch him, but it is God that must doe it.

s Satan noteth the vice, whereunto men are commonly subiect: that is, to iude their rebellion, & to be content with God in y<sup>e</sup> time of prosperitie, which vice is disclosed in the time of their aduersitie.

t God gently not Satan pouer ouer man to gratify him, but to declare that hee hath no power ouer man, but that which God giveth him.

u That is, want to execute y<sup>e</sup> which God hath permitted him to do: for else he can neuer goe out of Gods presence.

x That is, the Arabians, y Which thing was also done by the craft of Satan, to tempt Iob the more grievously, forasmuch as he might see, that not onely men were his enemies, but that God made waie against him.

z This last plague declares that when one plague is past without feareth he had to be borne, God can sende vs an other farre more grievous, to trye his, and teach them obedience, a Which came not of impatience, but declared that the children of God are not inflexible like blocks, but that in their patience they feel affliction, and grief of mind: yet they keepe a meane herein, and rebell not against God, as the wicked do, Eccles. 5.14. 1. tim. 6.7. b That is, into the belly of the earth, which is the mother of al. c Hereby he confesseth that God is iust, and good, although his hande bee soye upon him. d But declared that God did all thing according to iustice and equitie.

20 Then Iob arose, and a rent his garment, & shaued his head, & fel downe vpon the ground, and worshipped, 21 And saide, * Naked came I out of my mothers wombe, and naked shall I returne: b hither: the Lord hath giuen, and the Lord hath taken it: c blessed be the name of the Lord.

22 In all this did not Iob sinne, nor charge God d foolishly.

CHAP. II.

6 Satan hath permission to afflict Iob. 9 His wife tempteth him to forsake God. 11 His three friends visite him.

AND on a day the children of God came and stood before the Lord, and Satan came also among them, and stood before the Lord.

2 Then the Lord saide vnto Satan, whence comest thou: And Satan answered the Lord, and saide, From compassing the earth to and fro, and from walking in it.

3 And the Lord sayde vnto Satan, hast thou not considered my seruant Iob, howe none i s like him in the earth: a an vpright and iust man, one that feareth God, and escheweth euil: for yet he continueth in his vprightnes, although thou moudest mee against him, to destroy d him without cause.

4 And Satan answered the Lord, and saide, c Skin for skin, and all that euer a man hath, will he giue for his life.

5 But stretch nowe out thine hand, & touch his bones and his flesh, to see if he will not blasphemeth thee to thy face.

6 Then the Lord saide vnto Satan, Lo, he is in thine hand, but saue his life.

7 So Satan departed from the presence of the Lord, & smote Iob with sore b boyles, from the sole of his foote vnto his crowne.

8 And he tooke a potsherd to scrape him, & he late downe among the ashes.

9 Then sayde his wife vnto him, Dost thou i continue yet in thine vprightnesse: m Blaspheme God, and die.

a That is, the Angels, as Chap. 1.6. b Read Chap. 2.6. c Ezek. 14.14. chap. 1.1. d He proueth Iobs integrity by this that he cased not to feare God when his plagues were grievously vpon him. e That is, when thou hadst nought against him, when thou wast not able to bring the purpose to passe. f Hereby he ment that a mans owne sinne is deare vnto him rather another mans. g Speaking, his owne person. h Thus Satan can go no further in punishing then God hath permitted him. i This sore was most becomely, where with also God plagued the Egyptians, Exod. 9.9. and threatened to punish the rebellious people, Deut. 28.37. so that this temptation was most grievous: for if Iob had measured Gods favour by the vehemencie of his disease, he might haue thought that God had cast him off. i As destitute of all other helpe and meane, and wonderfully afflicted with the sorow of his wife, k Satan used the same instrument against Iob, as he did against Adam. l Speaking, what gainest thou to serue God, seeing he thus plagueth thee as though he were thine enemy? This is the most grievous temptation of the faithfull, when their faith is altogether, and when Satan goeth about to perwade them, that they trust in Gods in vaine. m For death was appointed to the blasphemers, and so thee meant that he should be soone rid out of his paine.

10 But he saide vnto her, Thou speakest like a foolish woman: what shall we receive good at the hand of God, and not a receive euil: c In all this did not Iob sinne with his lippes.

11 Nowe when Iobs three friends heard of all this euil that was come vpon him, they came euery one from his owne place, [to wit,] Eliphaz the Temanite, & Bildad the Shuhite, and Zophar the Naamathite: for they were agreed together to come to lament with him, and to comfort him.

12 So when they lift vp their eyes afarre off, they knelwe him not: therefore they lift vp their voyces and wept, and euery one of them rent his garment, and sprinkled d dust vpo their heads toward the heauen.

13 So they late by him vpon ground seuen dayes, and seuen nights, and none spake a worde vnto him: for they saue that the griefe [was] very great.

of him, as though he had bene but an hypocrite, and so iustly plagued of God for his sinnes. q This was also a ceremony, which they did in those countries as putting of their clothes in signe of sorow. r And therein they thought that he would not haue hardened to their counsel.

CHAP. III.

1 Iob complaineth and curseth the day of his birth. 11 He desireth to die, as though death were the end of all mans miserie.

AFTERWARDE Iob opened his mouth, and cursed his day.

2 And Iob cried out, & said, 3 Let my day perish, where in I was borne, & the night wher in I was laid, There is a man child conceived.

4 Let that day be darkenesse, let not God regard it from aboue, neither let the light shine vpon it,

5 But let it be darkenesse, and the shadowe of death staine it: let the cloude remaine vpon it, and let the make it fearefull as a bitter day.

6 Let darkenesse possesse that night, let it not be ioynd vnto the dayes of the yee, nor let it come into the count of the moneths.

7 Yea, desolate bee that night, and let no ioy be in it.

8 Let the that curse the day, (being ready to renue their mourning curse it.

9 Let the starres of that twilight be dimme through darkenesse of it: let it looke for light, but haue none: neither let it see the dawning of the day, out of the number of dayes, and let it not haue the light of the sunne to separate it from the night. c That is, most obscure darkenesse, which maketh them afraid of death that are in it. f Which curse the day of their birth, let them lay that curse vpon this night. g Let it be alwayes night, and neuer see day. h Eke the eye liddes of the morning.

a That is, to be patient in aduersitie as were reioyce, when he seendeth prosperitie, and so to acknowledge him to be both merciful & iust. b Doe to hide his afflictions, that his signe through impatience did not murmur against God. c Which were men of authority, wise and learned, and as the Septuagint write, Kings, came to comfort him, but when they sawe howe he was afflicted, they conceiued an euill opinion of him, as though he had bene but an hypocrite, and so iustly plagued of God for his sinnes. q This was also a ceremony, which they did in those countries as putting of their clothes in signe of sorow. r And therein they thought that he would not haue hardened to their counsel.

a The seven dayes ended, Chap. 2.13. b Here Iob becometh to feele his great imperfection in this world betwixt the first and the flesh, Rom. 7. r And after a manner peevish, yet in the end he getteth ieremie, though he was in the meane time greatly ioynded. c Opened ought not to be warr of their life, and curse it, because of the infirmities that it is subject vnto, but because they are giuen to sinne and rebellion against God.

d Let it be put out of the number of dayes, and let it not haue the light of the sunne to separate it from the night. e That is, most obscure darkenesse, which maketh them afraid of death that are in it. f Which curse the day of their birth, let them lay that curse vpon this night. g Let it be alwayes night, and neuer see day. h Eke the eye liddes of the morning.

h This is that which I followeth, declareth that when man giveth place to his passions, he is not able to say no keepe measure, but runneth headlong into all euill, excepte God call him backe.

i The behemite of his afflictions made him to utter these wordes, as though death were the ende of all miseries, and as if there were no life after this, which he speaketh not as though it were so, but the insufficiency of his wits caused him to waile out into this error of the wicked.

k He noteth the ambition of them, which for their pleasure, as it were, change the order of nature, and build in most barren places, because they woulde hereby make their names famous.

l That is, by death the crueltye of the tyrants hath ceased.

m All they that sustaine any kinde of calamitie and miserie in this world, which he speaketh as if they were the wages of their sin.

n He sheweth that the benedictions of God are not comfortable, excepte the heart be ioyfull, and the conscience quieted.

o That teacheth not how to come out of his miseries, because he dependeth not on Gods providence.

p In my prosperitie I looked euery way for a fall, as is come now to passe.

q The feare of troubles that should inuade, caused my prosperitie to seeme to me as nothing, and yet I am not exempted from trouble.

10 Because it shut not by the doores of my [mothers] wombe: nor hid for ow from mine eyes.

11 Why died I not in the birth: or why did I not, when I came out of the wombe?

12 Why did the knees preuent me: & why did I sucke the breasts?

13 For [so] should I now haue [l]yen and bin quiet, I should haue slept then, and [l]yene at rest.

14 With the Kings and counsellors of the earth, which haue builded themselves [l] desolate places:

15 Or with the princes that had gold, [l] haue filled their houses with siluer.

16 Why was I not hid, as an vtimately birth, [l] either [as] infants, [which] haue not seene the light:

17 The wicked haue there ceased fro [l] their [l] tyranny, & there they that laboured valiantly, are at rest.

18 The [l] prisoners rest together, [l] heare not the voyce of the oppressour.

19 There are small and great, and the seruant [l] is free from his master.

20 Wherefore is the light given to him that is in misery: & [l] life vnto them that haue heauie hearts?

21 Which long for death, and if it come not, they woulde euen searcho it more then treasures:

22 Which ioy for gladnes [l] and [l] reioice, when they can finde the graue.

23 Why is the light giuen [l] to the man whose way is [l] hid, & whom God hath hedged in:

24 For my fighting cometh before I eate, and my rogings are poyzed out like the water.

25 For the thing I [l] feared, is come vpon mee, and the thing that I was afraid of, is come vnto me.

26 I had no peace, neither had I quietnesse, neither had I rest, yet trouble is come.

27 Because I am not comfortable, excepte the heart be ioyfull, and the conscience quieted.

28 That teacheth not how to come out of his miseries, because he dependeth not on Gods providence.

29 In my prosperitie I looked euery way for a fall, as is come now to passe.

30 The feare of troubles that should inuade, caused my prosperitie to seeme to me as nothing, and yet I am not exempted from trouble.

3 Behold, thou hast taught many, & hast strengthened the wearie hands.

4 Thy wordes haue confirmed him that was falling, & thou hast strengthened the weake knees.

5 But now it is come vpon thee, and thou art grieved: it toucheth thee, and thou art troubled.

6 Is not this thy feare, thy confidence, thy patience, and the vprightnes of thy wayes?

7 Remember, I pray thee: who [l] euer perished being an [l] innocent: or where were the vpright destroyed?

8 As I haue seene, they [l] plow iniquitie, & sow wickednesse, reape [l] same.

9 And the blast of God they perish, and with [l] breath of his nostrilles are they consumed.

10 The roaring of the [l] Lyon, and the voyce of the Lyoness, and the teethe of the [l] Lyons whelps are broken.

11 The [l] yong perishest for lack of pray, & [l] Lyons whelps are scattered abroad.

12 But a thing was brought to mee secretly, and mine eare hath receiued a little thereof.

13 In the thoughts of the visions of the night, when sleepe falleth on men, 14 Feare came vpon me, and drede which made all my bones [l] to tremble.

15 And the winde passed before me, & made the heares of my flesh to stand vp.

16 Then [l] stoode one, & I knew not his face: an image was before mine eyes [l] in silence heard I a voyce, saying,

17 Shal ma be more [l] rust the God: shal a ma be more pure then his maker.

18 Behold, he found no steadfastnesse in his seruants, and layde follie vpon his [l] Angels.

19 Howe much more in the that dwel in houses of clay, whose foundation is in the dust, which shall be destroyed before the moeth:

20 They be destroyed from the morning vnto the euening: they perish for euer, without regarde.

21 Doeth not their dignitie go away with them: doe they not die, and that without [l] wisdom?

22 Because I am not comfortable, excepte the heart be ioyfull, and the conscience quieted.

23 That teacheth not how to come out of his miseries, because he dependeth not on Gods providence.

c Thou hast comforted others in their afflictions, and canst not now comfort thy selfe.

d This he concludeth that Iob was but an hypocrite, & had no true feare nor trust in God.

e He concludeth that Iob was reipouen, seeing that god handled him so extremely, which is the argument that the carnal men make against the choyces of God.

f They that do euill, cannot but recurre euill.

g He sheweth that God needeth no great preparation to destroy his enemies: for he can do it with the blast of his mouth.

h Though men according to their office do not punish tyrants, whom for their crueltye he comparerh to tyons, yet God doth as he is able, and his iustice will punish them.

i A thing that I knewe not before, was declared vnto me by vision: that is, that whoso euer thinketh him selfe iust, shall be found a sinner, when he cometh before God.

CHAP. IIII.

5 Iob is reprehended of impaciencie, 7 And iustified, 17 And of the presumption of his owne righteousness.

6 When Eliphaz the Temanite answered, and sayd,

7 If we say to him, Wilt thou be grieved: but who can withhold himselfe from speaking:

a Seeing this thine impaciencie,

That is, let me die at once, before I come to distress in Gods promises through mine impatience.

9 That is, that God would destroy me: that he would let his hand goe, and cut me off.

10 Then should I yet haue comfort, (though I burne with sorow, let him not spare) because I haue not denied the wordes of the holie one.

11 What power haue I that I should endure: or what is mine ende, if I should prolong my life?

12 Is my strength strength of stones: or is my flesh of brasse?

13 Is it not so, that there is in mee no helpe: and that strength is taken from me?

14 He that is in miserie, ought to be comforted of his neighbour: but men haue forsaken the feare of the Almighty.

15 My brethren haue deceiued me as a brooke, [and] as the rising of the reuers they passe away.

16 Which are blackish with yee, [and] wherein the snow is hid.

17 But in time they are dried by with heate [and] are consumed: and when it is hot they faile out of their places,

18 Or they depart from their way & course, yea, they banish and perith.

19 They that goe to Tema, considered them, [and] they that goe to Sheba, waited for them.

20 [But] they were confounded: why they hoped, they came thither and were ashamed.

21 Surely now are ye like [me] vnto it: ye haue scene [my] fearefull plague, and are afraide.

22 Was it because I saide, Bring vnto me: or giue a rewarde to mee of your substance?

23 And deliuer me from the enemies hand, or ransom mee out of the hand of tyrants?

24 Teach me, and I will holde my tongue: and cause mee to vnderstande, wherein I haue erred.

25 Holde p ftedfast are the wordes of righteousness: and what can any of you lustily reprove:

26 Doe ye imagine to reprove wordes, that the talke of the afflicted shoulde be as the winde:

27 We make your wrath to fall vpon the fatherlesse, and digge a pit for your friends.

28 Nowe therefore be content to looke vpon me: for I will not lye before your face.

29 Turne, I pray you, let there be none iniquitie: returne, I say, [and] yee shall see: yet my righteousness in that behalfe. Is there iniquitie in my tongue: doeth not my mouth teele sorowles?

CHAP. VII.

Iob beweech the sorowes and miserie of mans life.

There not an appointed time to man vpon earth: and [are not] his dayes as the dayes of an hireling.

2 As a seruant longeth for the shadow, and as an hireling looketh for the ende of his worke,

3 So haue I had as an inheritance the moneths of vanitie, and painefull nights haue bene appointed vnto me.

4 If I layd me downe, I said, where shall I arise: and measuring the evening I am euen full with tossing to and fro vnto the dawning of the day.

5 My flesh is clothed with wormes and filthinesse of the dust: my flanne is rent, and become horrible.

6 My dayes are swifter then a weathers shittle, and they are spent without hope.

7 Remember that my life is but a winde, [and that] mine eye shall not returne to see pleasure.

8 The eye that hath scene me, shall see me no more: thine eyes [are] vpon me, and I shall be no longer.

9 As the cloude vanissheth and goeth away, so he that goeth downe to the graue, shall come by no more.

10 He shall returne no more to his house, neither shall his place know him any more.

11 Therefore I will not spare my mouth, [but] will speake in the trouble of my spirit, [and] muse in the bitterness of my minde.

12 Am I a sea: or a whaledish, that thou keepst me in ward?

13 When I say, My trouble shall relieue me, [and] my bed shall bring comfort in my meditation,

14 The fearest thou me to dreames, and astonishest me with visions.

15 Therefore my soule chuseth rather to be strangled [and] to die, then to be in [my] bones.

16 I abhorre it, I shall not liue al-

Consider whether I speake as one that is hurt in this impatience through very sorow, or as an hypocrite, as you condemne me, a Hath not an hyed seruant some rest and ease: then in this my continual toylment I am worse then an hireling.

b Appoynted hath continen from moneth to moneth, and I haue looked for hope in vaine.

c This signifyeth that his disease was rare and most horrible.

d Thus he speaketh in respect of the beuities of mans life, which passeth without hope of returning.

e In consideration on whether he desireth God to haue compassion on him.

f If thou be holde me in thine anger, I shall not be able to stand in thy presence.

g Shall no more enjoy this mortal life.

h Being I can by none other means comfort my selfe, I will declare my griefe to women: and thus he speaketh as one overcome with griefe of minde.

i Am not I a poore wretch? what needest thou then to lay so much paine on me?

i So that I can haue no rest, night nor day. k He speaketh as one overcome with sorow, and not of iudgement, or of the examination of his faith.

Way:

1 Seeing my reine of life is so short, let me
have some rest
and ease.

2 Seeing that man of him
selfe is so vile,
why doest thou
give him that honour to continue against him? Job is full of all kindes
of persuasion
with God, that he might stay
his hand.

3 After all tem-tations faith
hathert forth,
and leadech
Job to repentance: yet it was not in such perfectis,
that he could byleiue hime
from reasoning
with God, because that he still cried his sayth. o That is, I shall be dead.

Way: spare me then, for my dayes [are]
but dauntie.

17 What is mā, that thou dost mag-nific him, & that thou settest thine heart
vpon him?

18 And doest visite him euery moning, and triest him euery moment?

19 How long wilt it be [yet] thou depart from mee: thou wilt not let mee alone whyles I may wallobb my spittle.

20 I haue sinned, what shall I doe vnto thee? O thou preferuer of men, why hast thou set mee [as a marke] against thee, so that I am a burthen vnto
my selfe?

21 And why doest thou not pardon my trespass: and take away mine in-iquitie: for now that I sleepe in the dust, and if thou seekest me in the morning, I shall not be found.]

CHAP. VIII.

1 Bildad the shuite, answered Job, saying,

2 How long wilt thou talke of these things: and how long shall the wordes of thy mouth [be
as] a mightie wind:

3 Doest God peruert iudgement: or doth the almightie subuert iustice:

4 If thy sonnes haue sinned against him, and he hath sent the into the place
of their iniquitie,

5 Yet if thou wilt early seeke vnto
God, and pray to the Almighty,

6 If thou bee pure and vpright, then surely hee will awake vp vnto thee, and he will make the habitation of thy rightteousnesse prosperous.

7 And though thy beginning bee small, yet thy latter ende shall greatly increase.

8 Inquire therefore, I pray thee, of the former age, and prepare thy selfe to search of their fathers.

9 (For we are but of yesterday, and are ignorant: for our dayes vpon earth [are] but a shadowe)

10 Shall not they teach thee [and] tel thee, and bteer the wordes of their heart:

11 Can a rush growe without water:
or can the grasse growe without water:

12 Though it were in greene [and] not cut downe, yet shall it wither before any other herbe.

13 So [are] the pathes of all þe forget
God, & the hypocrites hope shall perish.

14 His confidence also shall be cut off, &
his trust [shall be as] þe house of a spider.

15 He shall leane vpon his house, but it shall not stand: he shall hold him fast
by it, yet shall it not endure.

16 The [tree] is greene before the sunne, and the branches spread ouer the garden thereof.

17 The rootes thereof are wrapp'd about the fountaine, [and] are solden about the house of stones.

18 If any plucke it from his place, &
it deny, saying, I haue not seene thee,

19 Beholde, it will reioyce by this meanes, that it may growe in another moilde.

20 Beholde, God will not cast away an vpright man, neither will he take the wicked by the hande,

21 Till he haue filled thy mouth with laughter, and thy toppes with ioy.

22 They that hate thee, shall be clothed with shame, and the dwelling of the wicked shall not [remaine.]

CHAP. IX.

1 Job declarerh the mightie power of God, and that mans righte counsell is nothing.

2 When Job answered, & saide,
I knowe verely that it is so: for howe shoulde man [compare] vnto God, because he is so much more than he.

3 If he woulde dispute with him, he coule not answer him one thing of a thousand.

4 He is wise in heart, and mightie in strength: who hath bene feare against him and hath prospered:

5 He remoueth the mountaines and they feele not when he ouerthroweth them in his wrath.

6 He remoueth the earth out of her place, that the pillars thereof doe shake.

7 He commandeth the sunne, and it riseth not: he closeth by the starres, as vnder a signet.

8 He himselfe alone spreadeth out the heauens, and walketh vpon the height of the sea.

9 He maketh [the starres] Arcturus, Orion, and Pleiades, and the ci-mates of the South.

10 He doeth great thinges, and insearchable: yea, maruelous thinges without number.

h Which is to day, and to morrowe sleep
away.

i He compa-
reth the hull to a tree, which although it be remoued out
of one place,
into another,
yet flourisheth
in the afflic-tion of the good.

k That is, so that there re-
maine nothing
there to spoue
whether the tree had grown there
or no.

l To be planted in another place, where
it may growe
at pleasure.

m If thou be good, he will give thee accuse to reioyce,
& if not, that affliction shall increase.

a Job here
answereth to that point of Eliphaz and Bildads opar-
on, touching
the iustice of God and his innocencie, co-fessing God to be infinite in iustice, and man
to be nothing
in respect.

b Of a thousand thinges,
which God
could lay to his charge, man
cannot answer
him one.

c He declarerh
what is the infirmitie of man by the mightie and incomprehen-
sible power
that is in God, shewing what
he could do, if he would let forth his power.

d These are the names of certain starres,
which by his appointment,

meanerh that all starres by his knowen and vnknewen are at his appointment.

e I am not able to comprehend his workes, which are common, and daily before mine eyes much lesse in those things which are hid and secret, & he sheweth that when God doeth execute his power, he doeth it in such a way, as much as none can control him.

g God will not be appeased, for ought that man can lay for himselfe for his satisfaction, h That is, all the reason that men can lay to appease their cause.

i I should be able to answer him by eloquence? whereby he noteth his friends, that albeit they were eloquent in talke, yet they felt not in heart, that which they spake.

k Speaking, in his owne opinion, signifying, that man will sometime flatter himselfe to be righteous, which before God is abomination.

l Whiles I am in my pangs, I can not but haile forth many incontinencies, although I knowe full that God is iust.

m I am not able to feele my times so great, as I feele y weight of his plagues: and this he speaketh to condemne his himselfe, & to iustifie God.

n After he hath accused his owne wickednesse, he continueth to iustifie God and his power.

o I would stande in mine owne defence, yet God hath iust cause to condemne me, if he examine mine heart, and conscience.

p If God punish according to his iustice, he will destroy all such as are counted pite as they that are wicked.

q To wit, the wicked.

r This is spoken according to our apprehension, as though he would say, If God destroy but the wicked, as Chap. 5, why should he suffer the innocents to be so long tormented by them? t That they can not see to doe iustice.

u I thinke not to fall into these afflictions, but my sorrowes bring me to these manifold infirmities, and my conscience condemneth me, 11 Lo, when he goeth by me, I see him not: and when he passeth by, I perceive him not.

12 Beholde, when he taketh a pray, who can make him to restore it: who shall say unto him, what doest thou?

13 God will not withdraue his anger, [and] the most mightie helpe<sup>b</sup> doe house vnder him.

14 How much lesse shall I answer him: or howe shoulde I finde out my wordes with him?

15 For though I were iust, yet could I not answer, [but] I would make supplication to my Iudge.

16 If I crye, and he answer me, [yet] would I not beleue, that he heard my voyce.

17 For he destroyeth me with a tempest, and woundeth me without cause.

18 He will not suffer me to take my breath, but filleth me with bitterness.

19 If I speake of strength, behold, he is strong: if [we speake] of iudgement, who shall bring me in to pleade?

20 If I would iustifie my selfe, mine owne mouth shall condemne mee: if I would be pite, hee shall iudge me wicked.

21 Though I were pite, [yet] I know not my soule: [therefore] abhorre I my life.

22 This is one point: therefore I sayd, he destroyeth the pite and the wicked.

23 If the scourge shoulde suddenly slay, should God laugh at the punishment of the innocent?

24 The earth is giuen into the hand of the wicked: he couereth the faces of the iudges thereof: if not, where is he?

25 By dayes haue bene more swift than a poste: they haue fledde, and haue scene no good thing.

26 They are passed [as] with the most swift ships, and as the eagle that flyeth to the pray.

27 If I say, I will forget my complaint, I will cease from my wrath, and comfort me, 28 [Then] I am afraid of all my sorowes, knowing that thou wilt not iudge me innocent.

29 If I be wicked, why labour I thus in vaine?

30 If I wash my selfe with snowe water, & purge mine hands most cleane, 31 Yet shalt thou plunge me in y pit, and mine owne clothes shall make me filthie.

32 For he is not a man, as I am, that I should answer him, [if] we come together to iudgement.

33 Neither is there any vmpire that might lay his hand vpon vs both.

34 Let him take his rod away from me, and let not his feare astonish me:

35 [Then] will I speake, and feare him not: [but] because I am not so, I holde me still.

ciencie, and yet confessing God to be iust in punishing him, that Gods iudgements keepe him in awe.

CHAP. X.

1 Job is wearye of his life, and setteth out his fragilitie before God. 20 He desireth him to stay his hand, 22 A description of death.

My soule is cut off: though I live: I will leave my complaint vpon my selfe, [and] will speake in the bitterness of my soule.

2 I will say vnto God, Condemne me not: heyl me, wherefore thou contendest with me.

3 Thinkest thou it good to oppress me, [and] to cast off the labour of thine handes, and to fauour the counsell of the wicked?

4 Hast thou carnall eyes: or doest thou see as man seeth?

5 Are thy dayes as mans dayes: or thy yeeres, as the time of man,

6 That thou inquest of mine inquite, and searchest out my sinne?

7 Thou knowest that I can not doe wickedly: for none can deliuer me out of thine hand.

8 Thine hands haue made me, and fashioned me wholly round about, and wilt thou destroy me?

9 Remember, I pray thee, that thou hast made me as the clay, and wilt thou bring me into dust againe?

10 Hast thou not powdered me out as milke: & turned me to cruds like cheefe?

11 Thou hast clothed me with skinne

x Tally doeth not God destroy me at once: thus he speaketh according to the similitude of the flesh.

y Though I seeme neuer so pure in mine owne eyes, yet all is but corruption before God.

z I shall answer I would be able to couer my filthines with, shall disclose me to much more.

a Tally might make an accorde betweene God and me, speaking of impa-

b Signifying,

c I am more like to a dead man then to one that liueth.

d I will make an ample declaration of my torment, accusing my selfe and not God.

e He would not that God should proceed against him by his secret iustice, but by the ordinary means that he punisheth others.

f It is agreeable to the iustice to doe me wrong.

g I will be without compassion: I will be without grace: the wicked and condemne me?

h Doest thou this of ignorance?

i Art thou inconstant and changeable, as the times, to day a friend, to morrow an enemy?

j In these eight verses following he describeth the mercie of God in the wonderfull creation of man: and thereon groundeth that God should not shew him selfe rigorous against him.

k In these eight verses following he describeth the mercie of God in the wonderfull creation of man: and thereon groundeth that God should not shew him selfe rigorous against him.

l As a piece of clay,

and flesh, and ioyned me together with bones and sinewes.

12 Thou hast given me life, and grace: and thy visitation hath preserved my spirit.

13 Though thou hast hidde these things in thine heart, yet I knowe that it is so with thee.

14 If I have sinned, then thou wilt straightly looke vnto me, and wilt not holde me guiltlesse of mine iniquitie.

15 If I have done wickedly, woe vnto me: if I have done righteously, I will not lift vp mine head, being full of confusion, because I see mine affliction.

16 But let it increase: hunt thou me as a lyon: returne and shewe thy selfe mercifull vpon me.

17 Thou remest thy plagues against me, and thou increasest thy wrath against me: changes and armies [of soldiers] are against me.

18 Wherefore then hast thou brought me out of the wombe: Oh that I had perished, & that none eye had seene me!

19 And that I were as I had not bene, [but] brought from the wombe to the graue.

20 Are not my dayes selue: let him cease, [and] leave off from me, that I may take a litle comfort.

21 Before I goe & shall not returne, [euen] to the land of darkenesse and shadowe of death:

22 Into a lande, [I say,] darke as darkenesse it selfe, [and] into the shadowe of death, where is none order, but the light [is there] as darkenesse.

1 The wisest that God would leave off his affliction, considering his great miserie and the brentie of his life. 2 He speaketh thus in the person of a sinner, that is overcome with passions and with the feeling of Gods iudgements, and therefore cannot apprehend in that place the mercies of God and comfort of the resurrection. 3 No distinction between light and darkenesse, but where all is very darknesse it selfe.

CHAP. XI.

1 Job is vniuersally reprehended of Zophar, 7 God is incomprehensible. 14 He is mercifull to the repentant. 18 Their assurance that true goodly.

When answered Zophar the Naamathite, and said,

2 Should not the multitude of wordes be answered: or should a great talker be iustified:

3 Should men holde their peace at thy lyes: and when thou mockest others, shall none make thee ashamed:

4 For thou hast said, My doctrine is pure, and I am cleane in thine eyes.

5 But oh, that God would speake and open his lippes against thee!

6 That he might shewe thee the secrets of wisdom, how thou hast deserved double, according to right: know therefore that God hath forgotten thee for thine iniquitie.

7 Canst thou by searching finde out God: canst thou finde out the Almighty to [his] perfection:

8 The heauens are his, what canst thou do: it is deeper then the hel, how canst thou knowe it:

9 The measure thereof is longer then the earth, and it is broader then the sea.

10 If he cut off & shut vp, or gather together, who can turne him backe:

11 For he knoweth vaine men, and seeth iniquitie, and him that understandeth nothing.

12 Yet vaine man would be wise, though man [new] borne is like a wilde asse colt.

13 If thou prepare thine heart, and stretch out thine handes toward him:

14 If iniquitie be in thine hand, put it farre away, and let no wickednesse dwell in thy tabernacle.

15 Then truly shalt thou lift vp thy face without spotte, and shalt be stable, and shalt not feare.

16 But thou shalt forget thy miserie, and remember it as waters past.

17 Thine age also shall appeare more [cleare] then the noone day: thou shalt thine [and] be as the morning.

18 And thou shalt be holde, because there is hope: and thou shalt digge pits, [and] shalt lie downe safely.

19 For when thou takest thy rest, none shall make thee afraid: yea, many shall make lute vnto thee.

20 But the eyes of the wicked shall faile, and their refuge shall perish, and their hope [shall be] forsole of minde.

1 He declareth what quietnesse of conscience and successe in all things such shall haue, which turne to God by true repentance. 2 He sheweth that contrary things shall come vnto them that doe not repent.

CHAP. XII.

2 Job accuseth his friends of ignorance. 7 He declareth the might and power of God, 17 And howe he chaungeth the course of things.

When Job answered, & saide,

2 In deepe because that ye are people onely, wisdom must die with you.

3 But I have understanding as well as you, and am not inferior vnto you: yea, who knoweth not such things:

4 I am as one mocked of his

though none knewe any thing, or coude knowe but you. 5 He requereth that his friends of two faulces: the one, that they thought they had better knowledge then in deepe they had, and the other that in steade of true consolation, they did deride and despise their friends in his aduersitie.

Which is, not to stand in misgiving of the selfe: he signifyeth that man will neuer be overcome, which he requereth with an other, & therefore God must beate of the controuersie, and stop mans mouth.

That is, this perfection of God, and it may be not able to comprehend the height of the heauen, the depth of hell,

the length of the earth, the breadth of the sea, which are but creatures:

how can be attained to the perfection of the Creator?

If God should turne the state of things, and establish a new order in nature, who could controul him?

That is, without understanding, so that whatsoeuer gifts he hath afterward, come of God, and not of nature.

If thou repent, pray vnto him.

Renounce thine owne euill works,

and see that they offend not God, our

whome thou hast charge.

neighbour,

m That is, reason and understanding, & many other gifts whereby man excellently all earthly creatures. 10 That is, the fathers care and providence, whereby they care for me, and without the which I should perish straightway. 11 Though I be not fully able to comprehend these things, yet I must needs confesse that it is so. 12 I will alway walke in feare and humilitie, knowing that none is wiser before thee. 13 Job being free from all in this battell betweene the flesh and the spirit, heathen men in their afflictions, wishing rather to dye then long paine. 14 That is, without mixture of darkness and in great abundance, shewing that God hath infinite meane to punish man. 15 He wiseth that God would leave off his affliction, considering his great miserie and the brentie of his life. 16 He speaketh thus in the person of a sinner, that is overcome with passions and with the feeling of Gods iudgements, and therefore cannot apprehend in that place the mercies of God and comfort of the resurrection. 17 No distinction between light and darkenesse, but where all is very darknesse it selfe.

Proverbs 14.2.

c. The which neighbour being a mocker, and a wicked man, thinketh that no man is in Gods fauor; but he, because he hath all things that he desireth.

1. As the rich esteeme not a light, so to the that goeth out, so is he despised that falleth from prosperitie to aduersitie.

2. To whom God hath brought in with his hand, he declarerth to them that did dispute against him, that their wisdom is common to all, and such as very haire heares doe battie each.

3. For, flesh, & the hypocrite esteeme to be wise in iudging, and as well to knowe the right use wylp God hath giuen the eares, as he hath done a mouth.

g. Though my by age and continuance of time attaine to wisdom, yet it is not comparable to Gods wisdom.

10. He leadech alway the princes, as a pray, and overthoweth the mightie.

20. He taketh alway the speach from the faithfull [counseliers,] and taketh alway the iudgement of the ancient.

21. He pouereth contempt vpon princes, and maketh the strength of the mightie weake.

neighbour, who calleth vpon God, and he heareth him: the iust [and] the by-right is laughed to scorne.

5 He that is ready to fall, [is as] a lampe despised in the opinion of the rich.

6 The tabernacles of robbers doe prosper, and they are in safetie, that provoke God: whom God hath enriched with his hande.

7 Aske not the beastes, and they shall teach thee, and the foules of the heauen, and they shall tell thee:

8 Or speake to the earth, and it shall shewe thee: or the fishes of the sea, and they shall declare vnto thee.

9 Who is ignorant of all these, but that the hande of the Lord hath made these?

10 In whose hande is the soule of every liuing thing, and the breath of all mankind.

11 Doeth not the eares discern the wordes: and the mouth taste meate for it selfe?

12 Among the ancient [is] wisdom, & in the length of dayes [is] understanding.

13 With him [is] wisdom & strength: he hath counsell and understanding.

14 Beholde, he will breake downe, and it can not be built: he shutteth a man by, and he can not be loosed.

15 Beholde, he withholdeth the waters, and they dye by: but when he sendeth them out, they destroy the earth.

16 With him [is] strength and wisdom: he that is deceived, and that deceiveth, are his.

17 He causeth the counsellers to go [as] spoiled, and maketh the iudges fooles.

18 He looseth the collar of Kings, and girdeth their loynes with a girdle.

19 He leadech alway the princes, as a pray, and overthoweth the mightie.

20 He taketh alway the speach from the faithfull [counseliers,] and taketh alway the iudgement of the ancient.

21 He pouereth contempt vpon princes, and maketh the strength of the mightie weake.

22 He discovereth the deepe places from [their] darkenesse, and bringeth forth the shadowe of death to light.

23 He increaseth the people, and destroyeth them: he enlargeth the nations, and bringeth them in againe.

24 He taketh alway the hearts of the that are the chiefe over the people of the earth, and maketh them to wander in the wilderness out of the way.

25 They grope in the darke without light: and he maketh them to stagger like a drunken man.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Iob compareth his knowledge with the experience of his friends, 16 The penitent shall be saved, and the hypocrite condemned, 20 He prayeth vnto God, that he woulde not handle him rigorously.

I Ob, mine eye hath seene all this: mine eare hath heard, and vnderstand it.

2 I know also as much as you know: I am not inferior vnto you.

3 But I will speake to the Almighty, and Desire to dispute with God.

4 For in deede ye forge lyes, and all you are physicians of no value.

5 Oh, that you woulde holde your tongue, that it might be imputed to you for wisdom!

6 Nowe heare my disputation, and giue eare to the arguments of my lips.

7 Will ye speake wickedly for Gods [defence,] and talke deceitfully for his cause?

8 Will ye accept his person: or will ye contende for God?

9 Is it well that he shoulde seeke of you: will you make a lie for him, as one lyeth for a man?

10 He will surely reprove you, if ye do secretly accept any person.

11 Shal not his excellencie make you afraid: and his feare fall vpon you?

12 Pour out memories may be compared vnto ashes, [and] your bodies to bowes of clay.

13 Hold your tongues in my presence, that I may speake, and let come vpon what will.

14 Wherefore do I take my flesh in my teeth, & put my soule in mine hande?

15 Lo, though he slay me, yet will I trust in him, and I will reprove my wayes in his sight.

16 He shalbe my saluation also: for the hypocrite shall not come before him.

17 Heare diligently my wordes, and marke my talke.

18 Beholde now: [if] I prepare me to iudgement, I knowe that I shalbe iustified.

19 Who is he, that will pleade with me: for [if] I nowe holde my tongue, hypocrite as they charged him, g. That is, cleared, & not call off for my sinnes, as you reason. h. To proue that God doeth thus vnto me for my sinnes.

a. For although he knewe that God had a iustice, which was manifest in his opinion, yet he would better his affection to God, because he was not able to vnderstand the cause why he did thus vnto him.

b. You doe not well apply your medicine to the disease.

c. He condemneth their scale which had no knowledge, neither regarden they to comfort him, but alwaye graced on Gods iustice, as though it was not evidently seene in Iob, except they had vnderstand the probation thereof.

d. Pour came that as nothing.

e. Is not this a manifest signe of mine affliction, and that I doe not complaine without cause, seeing that I am thus comforted as though I should reare mine owne flesh, and put my life in danger?

f. Whereby he declarerth that he is not an hypocrite as they charged him.

1 Iob describeth the shortnesse and miserie of the life of man.
2 Hope sustaineth his goodly. 22 The condition of mans life.

MAN that is borne of woman, is of short continuance, and full of trouble.

2 He shooteth forth as a floure, and is cut downe: he vanissheth
also as a shadow, and continueth not.

3 [And] yet thou openest thine eyes vpon such one, and causest mee to enter into iudgement with thee.

4 Who can bring a cleane thing out of filthinesse: there is none.

5 Are not his dayes determined: the number of his moneths are with thee:
thou hast appointed his bounds, which he can not passe.

6 Turne from him that he may cease
vntill his desired day, as an hyrling.

7 For there is hope of a tree, if it bee cut downe, that it will yet sproute, and the branches thereof will not cease.

8 Though the roote of it were old in the earth, and the stocke thereof be dead
in the ground,

9 Yet by the sent of water it will bud,
and bring forth boughes like a plant.

11 [As] the waters passe from the sea,
and as a flood decayeth and dyeth by,

12 So man sleepeth & riseth not: for 13 Oh that thou wouldest hide me in giue me terme, and remember me.

14 If a man die, shall he liue againe:
All the daies of mine appointed time will
I waite, till my changing shall come.

15 Thou shalt call [me], and I shall answer thee: thou louest the worke of thine owne handes.

16 But nowe thou * nimbrest my steppes, [and] dost not delay my finnes.

17 Mine iniquitie is sealed by, [as] in kednesse.

rocke that is remoued from his place:

19 [As] a water breakeeth the stones,
[when] thou ouerflowest the things which growe in the dulle of the earth: so thou destroyest the hope of man.

20 Thou persecutest alway against him, so he passeth away: he changeth
his face when thou castest him away.

vnderstand concerning them, whether they shall be of lowe degree.

him, he shall be sorrowful, and [while] his soule [is] in him, it shall mourne.

CHAP. XV.

1 Eliphaz reprehendeth Iob, because he ascribeth wisdom, and purenesse to him selfe. 16 He describeth the cule that falleth on the wicked, reckoning Iob to be one of the nobler.

2 Then answered Eliphaz the Temanite, and said,

2 Shall a wise man speake
woydes of the winde, and fill his bellie with the East winde:

3 Shall he dispute with woydes not comely: or with talke that is not profitable:

4 Surely thou hast cast off feare,
and restraunst prayer before God.

5 For thy mouth declareth thine in-iquitie, seeing thou hast chosen a tongue of the craftie.

6 Thine owne mouth condemneth thee, and not I, and thy lippes testifie against thee.

alway, and what doe thine eyes meane,

13 That thou anſwerest to God at thy pleaſure, and bringest [ſuch] wordes
out of thy mouth:

14 What is man, that he ſhould be cleane: and he that is borne of woman,
that he ſhould be iuſt:

CHAP. XVI.

1 Job morned by the impotunance of his friends, 7 Countreſſe in which extremitie he was, 19 And ſaith God vnto him of his innocencie.

BUT Job answered, and ſayd,
2 I haue oft times heard ſuch things: miſerable comforters are ye all.

3 Shall there be none ende of wordes of winde: or what maketh thee bolde
ſo to anſwere?

4 I could alſo ſpeake as ye doe: (but would God your ſoule were in my ſoules ſtead) I could keepe you com-panie in ſpeaking, and could make mine
head at you,

5 But I would ſtrengthen you with my mouth, and the comfort of my lippes ſhould allwaie your ſowle.

6 Though I ſpeake, my ſowle can not be allwaied: though I reſe, what releafe haue I?

7 But now he maketh me wearie:
[God] thou haſt made all my congregation deſolate,

10 They haue opened their mouthes vpon me, and smitten me on the cheek in reproche: they gather themselves together against me.

11 God hath deliuered me to the brutish, and hath made me to turne out of the way by the hands of the wicked.

12 I was in wealth, but hee hath brought me to nought: hee hath taken me by the necke, and beaten me, and set me as a marke for himselfe.

13 His archers compassed me round about: he cutteth my reines, and doeth not spare, and pouereth my gall vpon the ground.

14 He hath broken me with one breaking vpon another, and runneth vpon me like a giant.

15 I haue sowed a sackcloth vpon my skinn, & haue abased mine home vnto the dust.

16 My face is withered with weeping, and the shadowe of death is vpon mine eyes.

17 Though [there be] no wickednes in mine hands, & my prayer be pure.

18 O earth, couer not thou my blood, and let my crying finde no place.

19 For lo, now mine witness is in the heauen, and my record is in his.

20 My friends speake eloquently against me: but mine eye pouereth out teares vnto God.

21 Oh that a man might pleade with God, as man with his neighbour!

22 For the peeres accounted come, and I shall go the way, whence I shall not returne.

23 For lo, now mine witness is in the heauen, and my record is in his.

24 My breath is corrupt: my daies are cut off, and the graue is ready for me.

25 There are none but mockers with me, and mine eye continueth in their bitterness.

26 Lay downe now [and] put me in suretie for thee: who is hee that will touch mine hand?

27 For thou hast hid thy heart from vnderstanding: therefore, shalt thou not see [them] vpon his.

28 For the eyes of his children shall fayle, that speaketh flatterie to his friends.

29 He hath also made me as byword of the people, and I am as a tabret before them.

30 Mine eye therefore is dim for grief, and all my strength is like a shadowe.

31 The righteous shall be astonished at this, and the innocent shall be moued against the hypocrite.

32 But the righteous will holde his way, and hee whose hands are pure, shall increase his strength.

33 All you therefore turne you, and come now, and I shall not finde one wise among you.

34 My dayes are past, mine enterprises are broken, [and] the thoughts of mine heart.

35 Haue changed the night for the day, and the light that appoched, for darkenes.

36 Though I hope, yet the graue shall be mine house, [and] I shall make my bed in the darke.

37 I shall say to corruption, Thou art my father, [and] to the womne, Thou art my mother and my sister.

38 Where is then now mine hope? or who shall consider the thing, that I hoped for?

39 They shall go downe into the bottom of the pit: surely it shall lie together in the dust.

40 I have no more hope in father, mother, sister, or any worldly thing: for the dust and wormes shall be to me in steade of them. All worldly hope, and prosperitie fayle, which you say, are onely signes of Gods fauour: but seeing that these things perishe, I let mine hope in God, and in the life euermlasting.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Bildad repeateth the paines of the vnfaithfull and wicked.

2 Then answered Bildad the Shuhite, and sayd,

3 When wilt thou make an end of your wordes? but cause to vnderstand, & then he will speake.

4 Wherefore are we counted as beasts, [and] are vile in your sight?

5 Thou art as one that feareth his house in his anger. Shall the earth be forsaken for thy sake, or the rocke remoued out of his place?

6 For the light of the wicked shall be quenched, and the sparke of his fire shall not shine.

7 The light shall be darke in his dwelling, and his candle shall be put out with him.

8 The steps of his strength shall be restrained, finner.

1 That is, harshly handled mee most contemptuously: for so smiting on the cheek signified.

8 Thus by his great comites he is carried away, p. haughty, q. haughty out into passions, and speake freely vnadvisedly, as though God should intreate man more gently, seeing he hath but a short time here to liue.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Iob sayeth that hee consumed away, and yet doeth patiently abide it, 10. Hee reprocheth his friends to repentance, 13. shewing that hee looketh but for death.

2 My breath is corrupt: my daies are cut off, and the graue is ready for me.

3 There are none but mockers with me, and mine eye continueth in their bitterness.

4 Lay downe now [and] put me in suretie for thee: who is hee that will touch mine hand?

5 For thou hast hid thy heart from vnderstanding: therefore, shalt thou not see [them] vpon his.

6 And answereth for thee: e. That these mine afflictions are the iust iudgements, though man knowe not the cause.

7 Then answered Bildad the Shuhite, and sayd,

8 When wilt thou make an end of your wordes? but cause to vnderstand, & then he will speake.

9 Wherefore are we counted as beasts, [and] are vile in your sight?

10 Thou art as one that feareth his house in his anger. Shall the earth be forsaken for thy sake, or the rocke remoued out of his place?

11 For the light of the wicked shall be quenched, and the sparke of his fire shall not shine.

12 The light shall be darke in his dwelling, and his candle shall be put out with him.

13 The steps of his strength shall be restrained, finner.

1 Which cost your felices last: as Chap. 12. 4. All them you take to be but beasts, as Chap. 12. 7.

2 That is, like a mad man, d. Shall God change p. order of nature for thy sake, y. dealing to thee o. therwise it be doth to all men?

3 All them the wicked is in his prosperitie, then God changeth his state, and thus is his ordinance bringing forth these fannes.

4 In steade of comfort, being now at deathes doore, he had but them that mocked at him and discouraged him. 5 I see full that they seeke but to bere me. 6 Hee reasoneth with God as a man beside himselfe, to the intent that his cause might be brought to light, d. And answereth for thee: e. That these mine afflictions are the iust iudgements, though man knowe not the cause.

restrained, and his owne counsell shall cast him downe.

f Spanning, that the wicked are in continual danger.

8 For hee is taken in the net by his feete, and hee walketh vpon the snares.

9 The greene shall take him by the heele, & the thiefe shall come vpon him.

10 A snare is laid for him in the ground, and a trappe for him in the way.

11 Fearfulness shall make him afraid on every side, and shall drine him to his feete.

12 His strength shall be famine: and destruction shall be ready at his side.

13 He shall deuoure the inner partes of his skinne, [and] the first bozme of death shall deuoure his strength.

14 His hope shall be rooted out of his dwelling, and shall cause him to goe to the King of feare.

15 Feare shall dwell in his house (because it is not his) [and] bymstone shall be scattered vpon his habitation.

16 His rootes shall be dried by beneath, and aboue shall his branch be cut down.

17 His remembrance shall perish from the earth, and he shall haue no name in the streete.

18 They shall drine him out of the light vnto darknes, and chase him out of the world.

19 He shall neither haue some nor neyher among his people, nor any posteritie in his dwellings.

20 The posteritie shall be astonished at his day, and feare shall come vpon the ancient.

21 Surely such are the habitations of the wicked, and this is the place of him that knoweth not God.

CHAP. XIX.

2 Job reponeth his friends, 15 And reciteth his miseries and grievous paines, 25 He asseureth himselfe of the generall resurrection.

UNTO Job answered, and sayd, 2 How long wil ye bere my soule, and torment me with wordes?

3 He haue now ten times reproched me, and are not ashamed: they are impudent toward me.

4 And though I had in deede erred, mine error remaineth with me.

5 But in deede if ye wil aduance your selues against me, and rebuke me for my reproche,

6 Know now, that God hath overthrowen me, and hath compassed mee with his net.

7 Beholde, I crye out of violence, but

I haue none answer: I crye, but there is no iudgement.

8 He hath hedged by my way that I can not passe, and he hath let darkenes in my pathes.

9 He hath spoyled me of mine honour, and taken the crowne away from mine head.

10 He hath destroyed me on every side, and I am gone: and he hath remoued mine hope like a tree.

11 And he hath kindled his wrath against me, and counteth me as one of his enemies.

12 His armies came together, and made their waye vpon me, and camped about my tabernacle.

13 He hath remoued my brethren farre from me, and also mine acquaintance were strangers vnto me.

14 My neighbours haue forsaken me, and my familiars haue forgotten me.

15 They that dwell in mine house, and my maides tooke me for a stranger: for I was a stranger in their sight.

16 I called my seruant, but he would not answer, (though) I prayed him with my mouth.

17 My breath was strange vnto my wife, though I prayed her for the childrens sake of mine owne body.

18 The wicked also despised me, [and] when I rose, they spake against me.

19 All my secret friends abhorred me, and they whom I loued, are turned against me.

20 My bone cleaueth to my skinne, and to my flesh, & I haue escaped with the skin of my teeth.

21 Haue pittie vpon me: haue pittie vpon me. (O ye my friends) for the hand of God hath touched me.

22 Why doe ye persecute me, as God: and are not satisfied with my flesh?

23 Oh that my wordes were noble written! oh that they were written euen in a booke.

24 [And] grauen with an yron pen in lead, or in stone for euer!

25 For I am sure, that my Redeemer liueth, and he shall stand the last on the earth.

26 And though after my skin wormes destroy this body, yet shall I see God in my flesh.

27 Whome I my selfe shall see, and mine eyes shall beholde, and none other

Herein Job declarerth plainly that he had a full hope, that both the soule and body should enioy the presence of God in the last resurrection.

Am.

[for]

g That which should nourish him, shall be consumed by famine.

h That is, some strong & violent death shall consume his strength: as the Eberwe woode signifieth, his members or partes.

i That is, with most great feare.

k Spanning, not truly come by.

l Though all the world would fauour him, yet God would destroy him and his.

m He shall fall from prosperitie to aduersitie.

n When they shall see what came vnto him.

a That is, many times, as Rebe. 4. 12.

b That is, I my selfe shall be punished for it, as yet haue not yete confessed.

c He hateth out againe into his passions, and declarerth still that his affliction cometh of God, though he be not able to feeble the cause in himselfe.

d Spanning, out of his afflictions.

e Spanning, his children, and whatsoever was deare vnto him in this world.

f Which is plucked up, and hath no more hope to grow.

g His manifold afflictions.

h Spine should hold frumme: by all these losses Job declarerth that touching the flesh he had great occasion to be moued.

i Which were hers and mine.

k Besides these great losses and most cruel bindings, he was touched in his owne person as foloweth.

l All my flesh was consumed.

m Seeing I haue these causes to complain, con-

demne me not as an hypocrite, specially ye which should comfort me.

n Is it not enough that God doeth punitively me, excepte you by reproches increase my sorowe?

o To see my body punished except ye trouble my minde?

p He protesteth that notwithstanding his sore passions his religion is perseque that he is not a blasphemour, as they imagined him.

q I doe not so insulte my selfe before my world, but I knowe that I shall come before my great iudge, who shall be my deliuerer and Saviour.

[for me, though] my reines are consumed within me.

23 But ye said, why is he persecuted: And there was a deepe matter in me.

29 Be ye afraide of the sword: for the sword will be auenged of wickednesse, that ye may knowe that there is a iudgement.

God will be reuenged of this halte iudgement, wherebye you condemne me.

CHAP. XX.

1 Zophar the Bethel, that the wicked and the couetous shall haue a short ende, 22 Though for a time they sleepe.

Then answered Zophar the Naamathite and sayd,

2 Doubtles my thoughtes cause mee to answere, and therefore I make haste.

3 I haue heard the correction of my reproch: therefore the spirit of mine vnderstanding causeth me to answere.

4 Knowest thou not this of olde: [for] since God placed man vpon the earth:

5 That the reioycing of the wicked is short, and that the ioy of hypocrites is but a moment:

6 Though his excellencie mount vp to the heauen, and his head reach vnto the cloudes,

7 Yet shall he perishe for euer, like his dung, and they which haue seene him, shall say, where is he:

8 He shall flee away as a dreame, and they shall not finde him, and shall passe away as a vision of the night,

9 So that the eye which had seene him, shall doe so no more, and his place shall see him no more.

10 His children shall flatter the poore, and his hands shall restore his substance.

11 His bones are full [of the time] of his youth, and it shall lie downe with him in the dust.

12 When wickednesse was sweete in his mouth, [and] hee hid it vnder his tongue,

13 And fauoured it, & would not forsake it, but kept it close in his mouth,

14 Then his meate in his bowels was turned: the gall of Aspes [was] in the middes of him.

15 He hath deuoured substance, and he shall bonit it: [for] God shall draine it out of his bellie.

16 He shall sucke the gall of Aspes, [and] the bipers tongue shall slay him.

17 He shall not see the riuers, [nor] the floods [and] streames of home and butter.

18 He shall restore the labour, and shall deuoure no more: euen according to the substance [shall be] his exchange, and he shall enioy it no more.

19 For he hath vndone many: he hath forsaken the poore, [and] hath spoiled houses which he builded not.

20 Surely he shall feele no quietnes in his body, [neither] shall he reserve of that which he desired.

21 There shall none of his meate be left: therefore none shall hope for his goods.

22 When he shall be filled with his abundance, he shall be in paine, [and] the hand of all the wicked shall aslaue him.

23 He shall be about to fill his bellie, [but God] shall send vpon him his fierre wrath, and shall cause to raine vpon him, euen vpon his meate.

24 He shall flee from the iron weapons, [and] the bow of Steele shall strike him through.

25 The arrow is drayne out, and cometh forth of the body, and shineth of his gall, so feare cometh vpon him.

26 All darkenes shall be hid in his secret places: fire that is not bloune, shall deuoure him, [and] that which remaineth in his tabernacle, shall be destroyed.

27 The heauen shall declare his wickednes, and the earth shall rise vp against him.

28 The increase of his house shall go away: it shall flowe away in the day of his wrath.

29 This is the portion of the wicked man from God, and the heritage [that] he shall haue [of God] for his wordes.

Against god, thinking to excuse himselfe and to escape Gods hand.

CHAP. XXI.

7 Job declareth howe the prosperitie of the wicked maketh them proude, 15 Inasmuch that they blaspheme God, 16 Their destruction is at hand, 23 None ought to be iudged wicked for affliction, neither good for prosperitie.

But Job answered, and sayd,

2 Heare diligently my words, and this shall be in steade of your consolations.

3 Suffer me, that I may speake, and when I haue spoken, mocke on.

4 Doe I direct my talke to man: If it were so, how should not my spirit be troubled:

5 Marke me, and be abashed, and answere me, and therefore my mind must needs be troubled.

Though God giue to all other abundance of his blessings, yet he shall haue no part thereof.

That is, these raueners and spoilers of the poore shall enioy their crime but for a time: for after God will take it from them and cause them to make restitution, so that it is but an exchange.

He shall leave nothing to his posteritie.

The wicked shall neuer be in rest: for one wicked man shall seek to destroy another.

Some reade, vpon his flesh, allowing to Job, whose flesh was smitten with a scable.

Some reade, of the quiter, All feare and feyghte shall light vpon him, when hee thinketh to escape.

That is, fire from heauen, or the fire of Gods wrath.

Meaning, the children of the wicked shall flow away like riuers and be dispersed in diuers places.

Thus God will plague the wicked.

How diligently markings of my woes shall be to me a great consolation.

As though he would say, I doe not talke with man, but with God, who will not a He declarereth that two things moued him to speake: to wit, because Job seemed to touch him, and because he thought he had knowledge sufficient to confute him.

b His purpose is to prouoe Job to be a wicked man, and an hypocrite, because God punished him, and changed his prosperitie into aduersitie.

c Where as the father through ambition and enuie oppressed the poore, the children through powerie and malice shall seeke fauour at the poore.

d So that the thing, which he hath taken away by violence, shall be restored againe by force.

e Speaking, that he shall carie nothing away with him, but his sinne.

f As payson that is sweete in the mouth bringeth destruction, so it cometh into the body, as all vice at the first is pleasaunt, but afterward God turneth it to destruction.

g He compared euil gotten goods to the venom of aspes, which serpent is most dangerous: noting that Jobs great riches were not truly come by, and therefore God did plague him insly for the same.

h As though he would say, I doe not talke with man, but with God, who will not lay

c He chargeth them as though they were not able to comprehend this feeling of Gods judgement, & reproveth them therefore to silence.

d God proueth against his adversaries that God punisheth not their long life, and prosperitie: so that we must not iudge God iust by what by the things that appeare to our eye.

e They haue store of childre, iustice & healthfull, & in their houses he answereth to that which Sophar alleges before.

f For being comforted with long sickness, g They desire nothing more then to be exempted from all tribulation that they shoulde beare to God: these Iob sheweth his adversaries, that if they reason on by that which is seene by common experience, the wicked that hate God, are better dealt withall, then they that loue him.

h It is not their otine, but God onely leueth it vnto them.

i God keepe me from these prosperities.

k When God recompenseth his wickednes, he shall knowe that his prosperitie was but vaine.

l I knowe surely to the wicked prosperitie, and punisheth the good.

m Concerning their bodies: and thus he speaketh according to the common iudgement.

lay your hand vpon [your] mouth.

6 Euen when I remember, I am afraid, and feare taketh hold on my flesh.

7 Wherefore do the wicked liue, [and] were olde, and grow in wealth?

8 Their seede is established in their sight with them, and their generation before their eyes.

9 Their houses are peaceable without feare, and the rod of God is not vpon them.

10 Their bullocke gendereth, and calueth not: their colt calueth, and casteth not her calfe.

11 They leaue forth their children like sheepe, and their sonnes dance.

12 They take the taber and harpe, and reioyce in the sound of the organs.

13 They spend their dayes in wealth, and suddenly they go downe to the graue.

14 They say also vnto God, Depart from vs: for we desire not the knowledge of thy wayes.

15 Who is the Almighty, & we should serue him: and what profite should we haue, if we should pray vnto him?

16 No, their wealth is not in their hand: [therefore] let the counsell of the wicked be farre from me.

17 How oft shall the candle of the wicked be put out: and their destruction come vpon them: he will deuide [their] liues in his wrath.

18 They shalbe as stubble before the winde, and as chaffe that the storme carrieth away.

19 God will lay by the sorrow [of the father] for his children: when he rewardeth him, he shall knowe it.

20 His eyes shall see his destruction, and hee shall drinke of the wrath of the Almighty.

21 For what pleasure hath hee in his house after him, when the number of his moneths is cut off?

22 Shall any teach God knowledge, who iudgeth the highest things?

23 One dieth in his full strength, being in all ease and prosperitie.

24 His beastes are full of milke, and his bones runne full of marrow.

25 And another dieth in the bitterness of his soule, and neuer eateth with pleasure.

26 They shal sleepe both in the dust, and the wormes shall couer them.

27 Wherefore, I know your thoughts, and the enterprises, [where with] ye doe me wrong.

28 For ye say, where is the prince of house: and where is the tabernacle of the wicked dwelling?

29 Say ye not: aske them that go by the way: and ye cannot denie their signes.

30 But the wicked is kept vnto the day of destruction, [ & ] they shalbe brought forth to the day of wrath.

31 Who shall declare his way to his face: and who shall rewarde him for that he hath done?

32 Yet shall he be brought to the graue, and remaine in the heape.

33 The slime balley shalbe sweet vnto him, & euery man shall drab after him, as before him there were innumerable.

34 How then comfort ye me in vaine, seeing in your answers there remaine but lies:

to an account. e He shalbe glad to lie in a slime pit, which before could not be content with a ropell palace. f Saying, that the iust in this world haue prosperitie and the wicked aduersitie.

CHAP. XXII.

a Eliphaz affirmed that Iob is punished for his sinnes. b He accuseth him of innumerable sinnes. c And that he denied Gods prouidence. d He exhorteth him to repentance.

When Eliphaz the Temanite answered, and said,

2 What a man be profitable vnto God, as hee that is vile, may be profitable to himselfe:

3 Is it any thing vnto the Almighty, that thou art righteous: or is it profitable to him, that thou makest thy wayes bright?

4 Is it for feare of thee that he will accuse thee: or go with thee into iudgement?

5 Is not thy wickednesse great, and thine iniquities innumerable?

6 For thou hast taken pledge from thy brother for nought, and spoiled the clothes of the naked.

7 To such as were wearie, thou hast not giuen water to drinke, & hast withheld bread from the hungry.

8 But the mighty man had peace, and he that was in authority, dwelt in it.

9 Thou hast cast out widowes empty, and the armes of the fatherlesse were broken.

10 Therefore snares are round about thee, and feare shall suddenly trouble thee:

11 Where darkenes that thou shouldest not see, and abundance of waters shall couer thee.

12 Is not God on his high in the heauen:

ye would say, If thou passe not for men, yet consider the bright of Gods maiestie,

e Thus they called Iob as though he were in derision, concluding that it was destroyed because he was wicked.

f Which through long travelling haue experience and tokens hereof, to wit, that the wicked do profane the goodly name of the Lord.

g Though the wicked dwell here, yet God will punish him in the last day.

h Though men do flatter him, and none dare reprove him in this world, yet death is a token, that God will bring him to an account. i He shalbe glad to lie in a slime pit, which before could not be content with a ropell palace. f Saying, that the iust in this world haue prosperitie and the wicked aduersitie.

a Though man were iust, yet God could haue no profite of this his iustice: and therefore hee will be merciful vnto him, he hath no regard to his iustice, but to his sinne.

b It is not for feare of thee that he will accuse thee: or go with thee into iudgement.

c Thou hast bene cruel and without charity, and dwelt do nothing for y poore, but for thine owne advantage.

d When thou wast in power and authority, thou dwelt not iustly, but hying.

e Thou hast not onely not shewed pittie, but oppressed them.

f That is, manifeste afflictions.

g He accuseth Iob of impietie & contempt of God, as though hee

h That lo much the more by that excellen worke thou mayest feare God, and reuerence him, i He repproueth Iob as though he denied Gods providence, & that he could not see the things that were done in this worlde, k Doue God hath punished them from the beginning, l He pouneth Gods providence by the punishment of the wicked, whom he taketh away before they can bring their wicked purposes to passe, m He answereth to that, which Iob had said, Chap. 21. 7, that the wicked haue prosperie in this worlde: desiring that he might not be partaker of the like, n He intercepeth at the destruction of the wicked for two causes: first, because God sheweth himselfe iudge of the worlde, & by this means continueth his honour and glory: secondly, because God sheweth that he hath care ouer his in that he punisheth their enemies, o That is, the state and preservation of the godly is his vnder Gods wings, p Speaking of the wicked, q He exhorteth Iob to repentance and to returne to God, r God will refuge vnto thee all thy substance, s Which shall be in abundance like dust, t That is the fauour of God, u God will deliuer his when the wicked are destroyed round about them, as in the flood and in Sodom, x God will deliuer a whole countrey from perill, euen for the iust mans sake, and behold <sup>h</sup> height of the <sup>h</sup> starres how he they are.

13 But thou sayest, how should God know: can he iudge through the darke cloude:

14 The cloudes hide him that he can not see, <sup>h</sup> he walketh in <sup>h</sup> circle of heauen.

15 Hast thou marked the way of the worlde, <sup>h</sup> wherein wicked men haue walked:

16 which were cut downe before the time, whose foundation was as a riuer that ouerflowed:

17 which said vnto God, depart from vs, <sup>h</sup> asked what the Almighty could do for them.

18 Yet hee <sup>m</sup> filled their houses with good things: but let the counsel of the wicked be farre from me.

19 The righteous shall see them, and shall reioyce, <sup>h</sup> & the innocent shall laugh them to scorn.

20 Surely <sup>o</sup> our substance is hid: but the fire hath deuoured the remnant of <sup>p</sup> them.

21 Therefore acquaint thy seife, I pray thee, <sup>q</sup> with him, and make peace: thereby thou shalt haue prosperitie.

22 Become, I pray thee, the lawe of his mouth, and laye by his wordes in thine heart.

23 If thou returne to the Almighty, thou shalt be built by, <sup>h</sup> and thou shalt put iniquitie farre from thy tabernacle.

24 Thou shalt lay by golde for <sup>h</sup> dust, and the golde of Ophir, as the flintes of the riuers.

25 Yea, the Almighty shall be thy defence, <sup>h</sup> thou shalt haue plenty of siluer.

26 And thou shalt then delight in <sup>h</sup> Almighty, and lift by thy face vnto God.

27 Thou shalt make thy prayer vnto him, and hee shall heare thee, and thou shalt render thy vowes.

28 Thou shalt also decree a thing, and hee shall establish it vnto thee, <sup>h</sup> & the light shall shine vpon thy wayes.

29 <sup>h</sup> When <sup>h</sup> others are cast downe, then shalt thou say, I am lifted by: and <sup>h</sup> God shall saue the humble person.

30 The innocent shall deliuer the <sup>h</sup> pland, and it shall be preferred by the purenes of thine handes.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 Job affirmeth that hee hath knowledg and feareth the power and censure of the Iudge, 10 And that hee is not punished onely for his finnes,

B

Ut Iob answered and said, 2 Though my talke be this day in <sup>h</sup> bitterness, and my plague greater then my grieving,

3 Would God <sup>h</sup> yet I knewe how to finde him, I would enter vnto his place.

4 I would pleade <sup>h</sup> cause before him, and fill my mouth with arguments.

5 I would know the wordes, <sup>h</sup> that hee would answer me, and would vnderstand what he would say vnto me.

6 Would he <sup>h</sup> pleade against me with <sup>h</sup> his great power: No, but he would put <sup>h</sup> strength in me.

7 There the righteous might reason with him, so I should be deliuered for euer from my Iudge.

8 Beholde, <sup>h</sup> if I go to the East, he is not there: if to the West, yet I cannot perceiue him:

9 If I to <sup>h</sup> North where he worketh, yet I cannot see him: he wil hide himselfe in the South, and I cannot behold him.

13 These are they, that abhorre the light: they knowe not the wayes thereof, nor continue in the paths thereof.

14 The murderer riseth early [and] killeth the poore and the needie: and in the night he is as a thiefe.

15 The eye also of the adulterer waiteth for the twilight, and saith, None eye shall see me, and disguileth his face.

16 They digge through houses in the darke, [which] they marked for themselves in the day: they knowe not the light.

1 Iob complaineth that he is contemned of the most contemptible, 11. 22 Because of his aduersitie and affliction, 23 Death is the houle of all flesh.

BE knowe they that are younger then I, mocke mee: yea, they whose fathers I haue refused to set with the dogges of my flockes.

2 For whereto should the strength of their handes haue serued me, [seeing] age perished in them?

3 For pouertie & famine [they were] solitarie, fleeing into the wilderness, which is darke, desolate and waste.

4 They cut vp nettles by the bushes, and y winter rootes [was] their meate.

5 They were chased forth from among men: they shouted at them, as at a thiefe.

6 Therefore they dwell in the clefts of riuers, in the holes of the earth and rocks.

7 They roared among the bushes, and vnder the thistles they gathered themselves.

8 [They were] the children of foolles and the children of vilaines, which were more vile then the earth.

9 And now am I their song, and I am their talke.

10 They abhorre me, [and] flee farre from me, and spare not to spit in my face.

11 Because that God hath loosed my corde and humbled me, s they haue loosed the ydle before me.

12 The youth rise vp at my right hand: they haue pushed my feete, & haue trode on me [as on] the paths of their destruction.

13 They haue destroyed my paths: they tooke pleasure at my calamitie, they had none helpe.

14 They came as a great breache of waters, and vnder this calamitie they come on heapes.

15 Feare is turned vpon mee: [and] they pursue my soule as the winde, and mine health passeth away as a cloude.

16 Therefore my soule is now poured out vpon me, and the dayes of affliction haue taken hold on me.

17 I pearce my bones in paine, and my sinewes take no rest.

18 For the great vehemencie is my garment changed, [which] compasseth me about as the colar of my coate.

19 He hath cast me into the mire, and I am become like ashes and dust.

20 When I cry vnto thee, thou dost not heare mee, neither regardest me: [when] I stand vp.

21 Thou turnest thy selfe cruelly against me, and art enemie vnto me with the strength of thine hand.

22 Thou takest me vp [and] causest me to ride vpon the wind, and makest my strength to faile.

23 Surely I knowe that thou wilt bring me to death, and to the house appointed for all the liuing.

24 Doubtles none can stretch his hand vnto the graue, though they cry in his destruction.

25 Did not I weepe with him that was in trouble: Was not my soule in heauines for the poore?

26 Yet when I looked for good, evil came vnto me: and when I waited for light, there came darknes.

27 My bowels did boile without rest: [for] the dayes of affliction are come vpon me.

28 I wet mourning without sunne: I stood vp in the congregation: [and] cryed.

29 I am a brother to the dragons, and a companion to the ostriches.

30 My skinne is blacke vpon me, and my bones are burnt with heate.

31 Therefore mine harpe is turned to mourning, and mine organs into voyce of them that weepe.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 Iob reciteth the innocencie of his liuing, and number of his vertues, which declareth what ought to be the life of the faithfull.

I made a covenant with mine eyes: why then shoulde I thinke on a mayd?

2 For what portion should I haue of God from aboue: and what inheritance of the Almighty from on high?

3 Is not destruction to the wicked and strange

1 My life faileth me, and I am as halfe dead.
m Speaking, sorrow.

n That is, God hath brought me into contempt.
o He feareth not this to accuse God, but to declare the vehemencie of his affliction, whereby he was caried beside himselfe.
p He compasseth his afflictions to a tempt of his wisdom.
q Or, wisdom, or Lawe.
r None can deliuer mee thence though they lament at my death.
s In stead of comforting they mocked at me.

t Not delighting in any worldly thing, no not so much as in the life of the sunne.

u Lamenting them that were in affliction, and mouing others to pitie them.
v I am like the wild beasts that desire most solitarie places.

w With the heate of affliction.

a That is, mine estate is changed, & whereto the ancient men were glad to do me reuerence, the young men now contemne me.
b Speaking, to be my they-heards, or to keepe my dogges.
c That is, their fathers died for famine before they came to age.
d Or, malous.
e Iob telleth that these that mocked him in his affliction, were like to their fathers, wicked, and lewd fellows, such as he here describeth.
f They make songs of me, & mocke at my miserie.
g God hath taken from me the force, credit, and autoitie, wherewith I kept them in subiection.
h He said to the young men who they saw him, his children, as chap. 29. s.
i Now in his miserie they were impudent and licentious.
k That is, they thought by all means how they might destroy me.
l They neede none to helpe them.
m By my calamitie they took an occasion against me.

c Job declareth that the fear of God

strange punishment to the workers of iniquitie:

4 Doeth not he beholde my wayes and tell all my steps:

5 If I haue walked in banitie, or if my foote hath made haste to decrete,

6 Let God weigh me in the iust ballance, & he shall know mine vprightnes.

7 If my steppes hath turned out of the way, or mine heart hath walked after mine eye, or if any blot hath cleaued to mine hands,

8 Let me sowe, and let another eate: yea, let my plantes be rooted out.

9 If mine heart hath bene deceived by a woman, or if I haue laide waite at the doore of my neighbour,

10 Let my wife grinde vnto another man, and let other men boile dolbne by on her:

11 For this is a wickednes, and iniquitie to be condemned:

12 Yea, this is a fire that shall deuoure to destruction, and which shall roote out all mine increase.

13 If I did contemne the iudgement of my seruant, and of my mayde, when they did contend with me,

14 What then shall I do when God standeth by: and when hee shall visite me, what shall I answer?

15 Be that hath made me in my wombe, hath he not made him: hath not hee alone fashioned vs in the wombe:

16 If I restrained the pooze of their desire, or haue caused the eyes of the widow to faile,

17 Or haue eaten my morsels alone, and fatherles hath not eaten thereof,

18 (For fro my youth he hath growne by with me as with) a father, & from my mothers wombe I haue bene a guide vnto her)

19 If I haue seene any perishe for want of clothing, or any pooze without couering,

20 If his loynes haue not blessed me, because he was warned with the fleece of my sheepe,

21 If I haue lift by mine hand against the fatherles, when I saide that I might helpe him in the gate,

22 Let mine arme fall from my shoulder, and mine arme be broken fro the bone.

23 For Gods punishment was fearefull vnto me, and I could not be deliuered from his highnes.

24 If I made golde mine hope, or haue laid to the wedge of gold, [Thou] art my confidence,

25 If I reioyced because my substance was great, or because mine hand had gotten much,

26 If I did behold the sunne, when it shined, or the moone, walking in her brightnes,

27 If mine heart did flatter me in secret, or if my mouth did kisse mine hand,

28 (This also had bene an iniquitie to be condemned: for I had denyed God above)

29 If I reioyced at his destruction that hated me, or was moued to ioy when euill came vpon him,

30 Neither haue I suffered my mouth to lince, by wishing a curse vnto his soule.

31 Did not the men of my tabernacle say, who shall giue vs of his flesh: we cannot be satisfied.

32 The stranger did not lodge in the streete, [but] I opened my doores vnto him, that went by the way.

33 If I haue hid my lince, as Adam, concealing mine iniquitie in my bosome,

34 Though I coude haue made a feard a great multitude, yet the most contemptible of the families did feare me: so I kept silence, and went not out of the doore.

35 Oh that I had some to heare me beholde my signe that the Almighty will witness for me: though mine aduersarie should write a booke against me,

36 Would not I take it vpo my shoulder, [and] bind it as a crowne vnto me:

37 I will tell him the number of my goings, and go vnto him as to a prince.

38 If my land cry against me, or the furrowes thereof complaine together,

39 If I haue eaten the fruites thereof without lince: or if I haue grieved the soules of the maisters thereof,

40 Let thistles grow in steade of wheat, and cockle in the stead of barley.

a Which came of Buz y sonne of Babeli. b As the Chaldee paraphrase readeth, Buzim. c By making himselfe innocent, and by charging God of rigour.

the sonne of Barachel the Buzite, of the familie of Ram, was kindled: his wrath, [I say,] was kindled against Iob, because he iustified himselfe more then God.

3 Also his anger was kindled against his three friends, because they could not finde an answer, [and] yet condemned Iob.

4 Now Elihu had waited till Iob had spoken: for they were more ancient in yeeres then he.

5 So when Elihu sawe, that there was none answer in the mouth of the three men, his wrath was kindled.

6 Therefore Elihu the sonne of Barachel the Buzite answered, and said, I am yong in yeeres, and ye are ancient: therefore I doubted, and was afraid to thewe yow mine opinion.

7 [For] I sate, The dayes shall speake, and the multitude of yeeres shall teache wisdom.

8 Surely there is a spirit in man, but the inspiration of the Almighty giveth understanding.

9 Great men are not [allway] wise, neither do the aged [allway] understand iudgement.

10 Therefore I say, heare me, [and] I will shew also mine opinion.

11 Beholde, I did waite vpon your wordes, [and] hearkened vnto your knowledge, whyles you sought out reasons.

12 Pea, when I had considered you, lo, there was none of you that reproveth Iob, nor answered his wordes:

13 Least ye should say, we haue found wisdom: [for] God hath cast him downe, [and] no man.

14 Yet hath hee not directed [his] wordes to me, neither will I answer him by your wordes.

15 [Then] they fearing, answered no more, [but] left off their talke.

16 When I had waited [for] they spake not, but stood still [and] answered no more.

17 [Then] answered I in my turne, and I shewed mine opinion.

18 For I am full of matter, [and] the spirit within me compelleth me.

19 Beholde, my belly is as the wine, which hath no vent, [and] like the new bottels that burst.

20 Therefore will I speake, that I may take breath: I will open my lips, and will answer.

21 I will not now accept the person of man, neither will I giue titles to man. 22 For I may not giue titles, lest my speaker should take me away suddenly, speake the very truth.

23 The Chety word signifieth, to change the name, as to call a fool a wise man: meaning, he would not cloke y<sup>e</sup> truth to flatter men.

CHAP. XXXIII.

5 Elihu accuseth Iob of ignorance. 14 He sheweth that God hath diuers means to instruct man and to vnto him from kinne. 19, 29 He afflicteth man and suddenly deliuereth him. 26 Man being deliuered, giueth thanks to God.

Wherefore, Iob, I pray thee, heare my talke and hearken vnto all my wordes.

2 Beholde now, I haue opened my mouth: my tongue hath spoken in to all my wordes.

3 By wordes [are] in the brightness of mine heart, and my lippes shall speake pure knowledge.

4 The Spirit of God hath made me, and the breath of Almighty hath giuen me life.

5 If thou canst giue me answer, prepare thy selfe [and] stand before me.

6 Beholde, I am according to thy wish in Gods stead: I am also furnished of the clay.

7 Beholde, my terrour shall not feare thee, neither shall mine hand be heauie vpon thee.

8 Doubtes thou hast spoken in mine eares, and I haue heard the voyce of [thy] wordes.

9 I am cleane, without sinne: I am innocent, & there is none iniquitie in me.

10 Lo, he hath found occasions against me, and counted me for his enemy.

11 He hath put my feete in the stocks, and looketh narrowly vnto al my pathes.

12 Beholde, in this hast thou not done right: I will answer thee, that God is greater then man.

13 Why dost thou strue against him: for he doeth not giue account of all his matters.

14 For God speaketh once or twise, and one seeth it not.

15 In dreames [and] visions of the night, when sleepe falleth vpon men, and they sleepe vpon [their] beds.

16 Then he openeth the eares of men, euen by their corrections, [which] hee hath sealed.

17 That he might cause man to turne away from [his] enterpryse, and that he might hide the pride of man.

18 And keepe backe his soule from the pit, and that his life should not passe by the sword.

What end God doeth afflictions: to heate dolours mans pride, & to turne him to euill.

m. I will neither haue regard to riches, credit, nor authority, but will change the name, as to call a fool a wise man: meaning, he would not cloke y<sup>e</sup> truth to flatter men.

a I confesse the power of God, and am one of his, therefore thou oughtest to heare me. b Because God had willed to dispute his cause with God, Chap. 16, 21, so that he might do it without feare. c Elihu saith, he will reason in Gods stead, whom he needeth not to feare, because here is a man made of the same matter that he is.

e I will not handle thee so roughly as these others haue done. d He repeateth Iobs wordes, whereby he protested his innocence in diuers places, but specially in the 12, 15, and 30 Chapter. e The cause of his iudgements is not alwayes declared to man. f Though God by sundry examples of his iudgements sheweth to man, yet is reason thereof is not knowne. g Though God should speake, yet he is not understood. h God saith he speaketh commonly, either by visions to teach by cause of his iudgements, or else by afflictions, by his messenger. i That is, determined to send vnto them. j He sheweth, that he would not to turne him to euill.

e Hearing, the ancient, which haue experience,

f It is a speciall gift of God that man hath understanding, and commonly neither of nature nor by age.

g To proue that Iobs affliction came for his sinnes,

h And flatter your selues, as though you had overcome him.

i To wit, Iob,

k He doeth al most like arguments, but without reasoning, and reproches,

l I haue conceived in my minde great matter of reason,

k That is, his painefull and miserable life.
l So them
that shall bu-
rie him.

m A man sent
of God to declare his will.
n A singular
man, as one chosen out of a thousand,
which is able to declare the great mercies of God vnto
sinners: and wherein mans
righteousness
standeth, which is through the will of Jesus Christ & by thee.

o He sheweth
charitie is a true
token of Gods
mercie toward sinners, when he causeth his woe to be preached vnto
them.

p That is, the minister shall
by the preaching of the
woe pronounce vnto
him the infirmities of his sinnes.

q He shall feele Gods fa-
uour and re-
ioyce, declaring hereby,
wherein han-
dely the true
joy of the faith-
full: and that God will restore him to health of body,
which is a token of his blessing.
r God will forgive his sinnes & accept him as iust.
s That is, done wickedly.
t But my sinne hath bin the cause of Gods wrath toward me.
u God will forgive the penitent sinner. x Speaking oft times, even as oft as a sinner doeth repent. y If thou doest of any thing, or fee occasion to speake a gainst it. z That is, to shew thee, wherein mans iudication consisteth.

19 He is also stricken with sorowe by on his bed, and the griefe of his bones [is] sore,

20 So that his life causeth him to ab-
horre bread, and his soule damnie meate.

21 His flesh sayeth that it cannot be seene, and his bones [which] were not seene, clatter.

22 So his soule dazleth to the graue,
and his life to the buriers.

23 If there be a messenger with him, [or] an interpreter, one of a thousand<sup>a</sup> to declare vnto man his righteousness,

24 Then will he haue<sup>b</sup> mercie vpon him, and will say, <sup>p</sup> Deliuere him, that he goe not downe into the pit: for I haue received a reuocation.

25 [Then] shall his flesh be<sup>c</sup> as flesh as a childe, [and] shall returne as in the dayes of his youth.

26 He shall pray vnto God, and he wil be fauourable vnto him, and he shall see his face with ioy: for he wil render vnto man his<sup>d</sup> righteousness.

27 He looketh vpon men, and if one say, I haue sinned, and peruerred right-eousnes, and it did not profite<sup>e</sup> me,

28 He wil deliuer his soule fro going into the pit, and his life shall see the light.

29 Lo, all these things will God
worke: wisely or thyse with a man,

30 That he may turne backe his soule
from the pit, to be illuminate in the light of the liuing.

31 Marke well, O Job, [and] heare me: keepe silence, and I will speake.

32 If there be<sup>f</sup> matter, and were me,
[and] speake: for I desire to iustify thee.

33 If thou hast not heare me: hold thy tongue, & I will teach thee wisdom.

CHAP. XXXIIII.

5 Elshu chargeth Job, that he called himself righteous, 12 He sheweth that God is iust in his iudgements. 24 God despoil-eth the mightie. 30 By him the hypocrite reigneth.

Moreouer Elshu answered,
and sayd,

2 Heare my wordes, ye wise men, and hearken vnto
me, ye that haue knowledge.

3 For the care tryeth the wordes, as the mouth tasteth meate.

4 Let vs seeke<sup>b</sup> iudgement among vs, and let vs know among our selues
what is good.

5 For Job hath sayd, I am righteous, and God hath taken away my iudgement.

6 Should I lye in my<sup>d</sup> right: my wound of the arrow is grieuous without my sinne.

7 What man is like Job, that drinketh
scornfullnes like water?

8 Which goeth in the companie of them that worke iniquitie, and walketh
with wicked men:

9 For he hath sayd, <sup>h</sup> It profiteth a man nothing that hee should walke
with God.

10 Therefore hearken vnto me, ye men of wisdom, God forbid that wis-kednes [should be] in God, and iniquitie
in the Almighty.

11 For he wil render vnto man [according to] his worke, and cause euery one to finde according to his way.

12 And certainly God wil not doe wickedly, neither wil the Almighty peruert iudgement.

13 Whome<sup>i</sup> hath he appointed ouer
the earth beside himselfe: or who hath placed the whole world?

14 If<sup>k</sup> he set his heart vpon [man], and gather vnto himselfe his spirit, and his breath,

15 All flesh shall perish together, and man shall returne vnto dust.

16 And if thou hast understanding, heare this [and] hearken to the voyce of my wordes.

17 Shall he that hateth iudgement, gouerne: and wilt thou iudge him wick-ked that is most iust?

18 Wilt thou say vnto a King, [Thou art]<sup>l</sup> wicked: or to princes, [We are] vngodly?

19 [How much lesse] to him that accep-teth not the persons of princes, & regardeth not the riche, more then the poore:
for they be all the worke of his hands.

20 They shall die suddenly, and the people shall be troubled at midnight, and they shall passe forth, and take away the mightie without hand.

21 For his eyes [are] vpon the wayes
of man, and he seeth all his goings.

22 There is no darknes nor shadow of death, that the workers of iniquitie might be hid therein.

23 For he wil not lay on man so much,
that he should<sup>m</sup> enter into iudgement
with God.

24 He shall breake the mightie without seeking, & shall set vp other in their steade.

c That is,
hath afflicted
me without measure.

d Should I say, I am wick-ked, being an innocent?

e I am fier punished, then

serueth.

f Which is compelled to reueile the re-uerend and fearnes of man

lowing worke.

g Speaking,
that Job was like to the wick-ked, because he seemed not to glorifie himselfe
in his iudge-
ments.

h He wretched

34 Let men of vnderſtanding tel me,
and let a wiſe man hearken vnto me.

35 Job hath not ſpoken of knowledge, neither were his wordes according to wiſedome.

36 I deſire that Job may be <sup>d</sup>tryed, vnto the ende touching the anſweres for
wicked men.

37 For hee addeth rebellion vnto his ſinne: hee clappeth his hands among vs,
and multiplieth his wordes againſt God.

38 Therefore ſhall hee be <sup>d</sup>tryed, vnto
the ende touching the anſweres for 7 If thou be righteous, what giueſt thou vnto him: or what retriueſt he at thine hand:

8 Thy wickednes [may hurt] a man as thou art: and thy righteouſnes [may proſite] the ſonne of man.

9 They cauſe many that are oppreſſed, to crye, [Which] crye out for the violence of the mightie.

10 But none ſaith, Where is God that made me, [which] giueth ſongs in the night:

11 Which teacheth vs more then the beaſtes of the earth, and giueth vs more wiſedome then the foules of the heauen.

12 Then they crye becauſe of violence of the wicked, but hee anſwereth not.

13 Surely God wil not heare vanitie,
neither will the Almighty regarde it.

14 Although thou ſayeſt [to God],
Thou wilt not regard it, yet iudge-
ment is before him: truſt thou in him.

15 But nolue becauſe his anger haſt not bliſſed, nor called to count [the euill]
with great extremitie,

16 Therefore Job openeth his mouth in vanitie, and multiplieth wordes without knowledge.

17 Therefore ſhall hee be <sup>d</sup>tryed, vnto
the ende touching the anſweres for
wicked men.

18 Therefore ſhall hee be <sup>d</sup>tryed, vnto

the ende touching the anſweres for
wicked men.

24 Therefore ſhall hee be <sup>d</sup>tryed, vnto
the ende touching the anſweres for
wicked men.

25 Therefore ſhall hee be <sup>d</sup>tryed, vnto
the ende touching the anſweres for
wicked men.

26 Therefore ſhall hee be <sup>d</sup>tryed, vnto
the ende touching the anſweres for
wicked men.

27 Therefore ſhall hee be <sup>d</sup>tryed, vnto
the ende touching the anſweres for
wicked men.

28 Therefore ſhall hee be <sup>d</sup>tryed, vnto
the ende touching the anſweres for
wicked men.

29 Therefore ſhall hee be <sup>d</sup>tryed, vnto
the ende touching the anſweres for
wicked men.

30 Therefore ſhall hee be <sup>d</sup>tryed, vnto
the ende touching the anſweres for
wicked men.

31 Therefore ſhall hee be <sup>d</sup>tryed, vnto
the ende touching the anſweres for
wicked men.

32 Therefore ſhall hee be <sup>d</sup>tryed, vnto

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 Elihu ſheweth the power of God, 6 Am his iuſtice, 9 And wherefore hee puniſheth. 13 The propretie of the wicked.

14 Eliu alſo proceeded, and ſaid,
2 Suffer me a little, and I wil inſtruct thee: for I haue
yet to ſpeak on Gods behalf.

3 I wil ſetch my knowledge afore off, and wil attribute righteouſnes vnto my Maker.

4 For truly my wordes ſhall not be faile, [and] hee that is <sup>b</sup> perſe in knowledge, [ſpeaketh] with thee.

5 Beholde, the mightie God caſteth alway none that is mightie [and] valiant of courage.

6 Hee maintaineth not the wicked,
but hee giueth iudgement to the afflicted.

7 Hee withholdeth not his eyes from the righteous, but they are <sup>b</sup> kings in the throne, where hee placeth them foreuer: thus they are exalted.

8 And if they be bound in fetters [and]
tyed with the cordes of affliction,

9 Then wil hee ſheue them their woyſes, and their ſinnes, becauſe they haue bene proude.

10 Therefore hee wil not perſeue the wicked: but to the humble and afflicted heart hee will ſhewe grace.

11 Hee preferred the godly to honour. f. Hee will moue their hearts to ſeele their ſinnes that they may come to him by repentance, as hee did to Amathy.

12 Therefore hee wil not perſeue the wicked: but to the humble and afflicted
heart hee will ſhewe grace.

13 Hee preferred the godly to honour. f. Hee will moue their hearts to ſeele their ſinnes that they may come to him by repentance, as hee did to Amathy.

14 Therefore hee wil not perſeue the wicked: but to the humble and afflicted
heart hee will ſhewe grace.

15 Hee preferred the godly to honour. f. Hee will moue their hearts to ſeele their ſinnes that they may come to him by repentance, as hee did to Amathy.

16 Therefore hee wil not perſeue the wicked: but to the humble and afflicted
heart hee will ſhewe grace.

17 Hee preferred the godly to honour. f. Hee will moue their hearts to ſeele their ſinnes that they may come to him by repentance, as hee did to Amathy.

Iai. 1. 19.

g That is, in their follie of oblation, & so shall cause of their owne destruction. h Which are maliciously bent against God and flatter themselves in their vices. i When they are in affliction they seeke not to God for succour, as Aia. 2. Chp. 1. 6. 12. Reuel. 16. 11. k They die of some vyle death and that before they come to age. l If thou hadst bene obedient to God, he would haue brought thee to libertie and wealth. m Thou art altogether after the manner of the wicked: for thou dost murmur against the iustice of God, n God doeth punish thee, lest thou shouldst forget God in thy wealth, and so perish. o Be not thou curious in seeking the cause of Gods iudgements, when he doeth prosper any. p And so murmur against God through sympathie. q The workes of God are so manifest, that a man may see them afare off and know God by the same. r Our infirmitie hindreth vs so, that we can not attaine to the perfit knowledge of God. s That is, the rain cometh of these drops of water, which he keepeth in the cloudes. t Spaining, of the cloudes, which be called t Tabernacle of God,

10 He openeth also their care to discipline, and commandeth them that they returne from iniquitie.

11 * If they obey and serue him, they shall end their dayes in prosperitie, and their yeeres in pleasures.

12 But if they wil not obey, they shall passe by the sword, and perish without knowledge.

13 But the hypocrites of heart increase wrath: [for] they call not when he bindeeth them.

14 Their soule dyeth in youth, and their life among the whozemongers.

15 Hee deliuereth the pooze in his affliction, and openeth their care in trouble.

16 Euen so would he haue taken thee out of the straight place [into] a broad place, & not shut vp beneath: and that which resteth vpon thy table, had bene full of fat.

17 But thou art full of the iudgement of the wicked, [though] iudgement and equitie maintaine all things.

18 * For Gods wrath is, lest he should take thee away in thine abundance: for no multitude of giftes can deliuer thee.

19 Will he regard thy riches: he regardeth not golde, nor all them that excell in strength.

20 * Be not carefull in the night, how hee despoyleth the people out of their place.

21 Take thou heede: looke not to iniquitie: for thou hast chosen it rather then affliction.

22 Behold, God exalteth by his power: what teacher is like him:

23 Who hath appointed to him his way: or who can say, Thou hast done wickedly:

24 Remember that thou magnific his worke, which men beholde.

25 All men see it, and men beholde it afare off.

26 Beholde, God [is] excellent, and we know him not, neither can the number of his yeeres be searched out.

27 When he restraineth the drops of water, the raine p[er]ueth down by the vapour thereof,

28 Which raine the cloudes doe drop [and] let fall abundantly vpon man.

29 Who can knowe the diuisions of the cloudes [and] the thunders of his tabernacle:

30 Behold, he spreadeth his light vpon

on it, & couereth the bottome of the sea. 31 For thereby he iudgeth the people, and quietly meate abundantly.

32 Hee couereth the light with the cloudes, and commaundeth them to goe against it.

33 * His companio sheweth him there: of, and there is anger in rising vp.

that he declareth Gods iudgements, when it doeth ouerflow any places, and the other that it maketh the land fruitful. 2 That is, one cloud to dash against another. a The cold vapour sheweth him: that is, the cloud of the iote exhalation, which being taken in the colde cloud mounteth vp toward the place where the fire is, and so anger is ingendred: that is, noise and thunder claps.

C H A P. XXXVII.

2 Thou prouest that the vnsearchable wisdom of God is manifest by his workes, 4 As by the thunders, 6 The frost, 9 The whirlewind, 11 And the raine.

A This also mine heart is agitated, and is moued out of his place.

2 Heare the sound of his voyce, and the noise that goeth out of his mouth.

3 He directeth it vnder the whole heauen, and his light vnto the endes of the worlde.

4 After it a noise soundeth: he thundereth with the voyce of his maiestie, and he wil not stay them when his voyce is heard.

5 God thundereth maruelously with his voyce: hee worketh great things, which we know not.

6 For he saith to the snowe, Be thou vpon the earth: likewise to the small raine & to the great raine of his power.

7 With the force [thereof] he shutteth by every man, that all men may know his worke.

8 Then the beasts go into the denne, and remaine in their places.

9 The whirlewind cometh out of the South, & the colde from the North winde.

10 At the breath of God the frost is giuen, and the breadth of the waters [is] made narrowe.

11 He maketh also the cloudes to labour, to water the earth, and scattereth the cloudes of his light.

12 And it is turned about by his gouernement, that they may doe whatsoeuer hee commaundeth them vpon the whole worlde:

13 whether it be for punishment, or for his land, or of mercie, he causeth it to come.

14 Hearken vnto this, O Job: stand k Raine, colde, heate, tempests & such like are sent of God, either to punish man, or to prouide the earth, or to declare his fauour toward man, as Chap. 3. 6. 1.

F. f. ii. and

1 That is, the lightning to breake forth in the cloudes? m The cloudes sometime charged into rains, n In short, of haile, or such like, o As by thy clothes should keepe thee warme, when the South wind bloweth, r After then when any other winde bloweth? o For their clearnesse, p That is, our ignorance signifying that Iob was so presumptuous that he would controll the workes of God, q Hath God merited that any should tell him when man murmureth against him? r If God would destroy a man should he repine? s The cloudes stoppeth the shining of the sunne, that man can not see it till the winde haue chased away the cloud: and if man be not able to attain to the knowledge of these things, howe much lesse of Gods iudgements? t In Hebrew, golde: meaning, saye weather and cleare as golde, u Speaking, without cause.

and consider the wonderous workes of stone thereof:

15 Diddest thou knowe when God disposed them: and caused the light of his cloud to shine?

16 Hast thou knowen the varietie of the cloud, [and] the wonderous workes of him, that is perfite in knowledge?

17 [O] how thy clothes are warme, when he maketh y<sup>e</sup> earth quiet through the South winde?

18 Hast thou stretched out the heauens, which are strong, [and] as a molten<sup>o</sup> glasse?

19 Tell vs what we shall say vnto him: [for] we can not dispose [our matter] because of darkenes.

20 Shall it be tolde him when I speake: or shall man speake when hee shall be destroyed?

21 And no man see not the light, which shineth in the cloudes, but the winde passeth and denieth them.

22 The brightnesse cometh out of the North: the praise [thereof] is to God, which is terrible.

23 [It is] the Almighty: we can not finde him out: [he is] excellent in power and iudgement, & abundant in iustice: he<sup>a</sup> afflicteth not.

24 Let men therefore feare him: [for] he will not regard any that are vile in their owne conceite.

25 Let men therefore feare him: [for] he will not regard any that are vile in their owne conceite.

CHAP. XXXVIII

God speaketh to Iob, and declareth the weakenes of man in the consideration of his creatures, by whose excellencie the power, iustice and prouidence of the Creator is knowne.

When answered the Lord vnto Iob out of the whirlewind, and sayd,

2 Who is this that darkeneth the counsaile by wordes without knowledge?

3 Girde by nowie thy loynes like a man: I will demand of thee and declare thou vnto me.

4 Where wast thou when I layd the foundations of the earth: declare, if thou hast vnderstanding,

5 Who hath layd the measures thereof, if thou knowest, or who hath stretched the line ouer it?

6 Whereupon are the foundations thereof set: or who layd the corner thereof? I seeing he could not iudge of those things which were done so long before he was borne, he was not able to comprehend all Gods workes: much lesse the secret causes of his iudgements.

7 When the starres of the morning prayed [me] together, and all the children of God reioyced:

8 [O] who hath shut by the sea with doores, when it issued and came forth [as] out of the wombe:

9 When I made the cloudes [as] a couerung thereof, and darkened [as] the swadding bands thereof:

10 When I established my commandment vpon it, and set barres and doores,

11 And said, hitherto shalt thou come, but no farther, and here shall it stay thy proude waues.

12 Hast thou commanded the morning since thy dayes: hast thou caused the morning to knowe his place?

13 That it might take hold of the corners of the earth, and that the wicked might be shaken out of it?

14 [It is] turned as clay to facion, and all stand by as a garment.

15 And from the wicked their light shall be taken away, and the hee arme shalbe broken.

16 Hast thou entred into the bottoms of the sea: or hast thou walked to seeke out the depth?

17 Haue the gates of death bene opened vnto thee: or hast thou seene the gates of the shadowe of death?

18 Hast thou percieued the breadth of the earth: tell if thou knowest all this.

19 Where is y<sup>e</sup> way where light dwelleth: and where is the place of darknes,

20 That thou shouldst receiue it in the boundes thereof, and that thou shouldst knowe the paths to the house thereof?

21 Knowest thou it, because thou wast then borne, and [because] the number of thy dayes [is] great:

22 Hast thou entred into the treasures of the snow: or hast thou seene the treasures of the hayle,

23 Which I haue hid against the time of trouble, against the day of warre and battell?

24 By what way is the light parted, [which] scattereth the East winde vpon the earth?

25 Who hath deuoted the spowles for the raine: or the way for the lightning of the thunders,

26 To cause it to raine on the earth where no man is, [and] in the wilderness where there is no man:

27 To fulfill the wilde & waste place, and

c The starres and dumme creatures are sayd to praye for Iob, because his power, wisdom & goodness is manifest and knowne therein, f Speaking, the Angels, g As though the great sea were but as a little babe in the hands of God to turne to and fro, h That is, Gods decree and commandement, as ver. 10, i To wit, to rise, since thou wast borne? k As by his using in the night bene given to wickednes, cannot ascribe the light, but hide them selves, l The earth which seemed in the night to bene no forme, by the riling of the sunne is as it were created anew, and all things therein clad with newe beautie, m If thou art not able to seeke out the depth of the sea, how much lesse art thou able to comprehend the counsell of God? n That thou mightest appoint it his way and times, o To punish mine enemies with them, as Eccl. 9. 18, Job. 10. 11, a That his workes might haue greater maiestie, and that Iob might knowe with wisdom he had to doe, b As by seeking out the secret counsell of God by mans reason, maketh it more obscure and thereby his owne folle, c Because he had wished to dispute with God, Chap. 13. d God reasometh with him to declare his reasonnes, e Seeing he could not iudge of those things which were done so long before he was borne, he was not able to comprehend all Gods workes: much lesse the secret causes of his iudgements,

CHAP. XXXIX.

The boundtie and prouidence of God, which extendeth euen to the pong rauens, giueth man full occasion to praise his condence in God. 37 Job conſidereth and humblyeth himselfe.

goates and hindes, becauſe
they bring forth their pong with moſt difficultie.

d That is,

go with yong.

e They bring forth with great difficultie.

Wilt thou hunt the praye for the lyon: or fill the appetite of the lyons whelpes.

2 When they couch in their places, [and] remaine in the couert to lye
in waite:

3 Who prepareth for the rauens his meate, When his birdes cry vnto God,
Wandering for lacke of meate:

4 Knowest thou the time when the wilde goates bring forth yong: or doest thou marke when the hyndes do calue?

5 Canst thou number the moneths that they fulfill: or knowest thou the time when they bring forth?

6 They bold themselves: they bruise their yong and call out their forowes.

7 [Yet] their yong ware fat, & grow
by with come: they go forth and returne not vnto them.

8 Who hath set the wilde asse at liber-

wilde asse:

9 [It is I] which haue made the wil-dernes his house, and the salt places
his dwellings.

10 He derideth the multitude of the ri-
tie: he heareth not the cry of the diner.

11 Hee seeketh out the mountaine for his pasture, and searcheth after euery greene thing.

12 Will the Unicorn serue thee: or will he tary by thy cribbe?

13 Canst thou binde the unicorn with his band [to labour] in the furrowe: or will he plow the balles after thee?

14 Wilt thou trust in him, because his strength is great, and cast off thy labour
vnto him?

15 Wilt thou beleue him, that he will bring home thy feede, and gather it vnto
thy barne:

16 [Hast thou giuen] pleasant wings
vnto the peacocks: or wings and fethers
vnto the ostriche:

17 Which leaueth his egges in earth
and maketh them hote in the dust.

18 And forgetteth that the foot might scatter them, or that the wilde beast might breake them.

19 He theweth himselfe cruel vnto his yong ones, [as] they were not his, [and] is without feare, as if hee trauailed in daine.

20 For God hath depriued him of wisdome, and hath giuen him no part of vnderſtanding.

21 When time is, he mounteth on hie: he mocketh the horse and his rider.

22 Hast thou giuen the horse strenght:
[or] covered his necke with neyng:

23 Hast thou made him afraid as the grasshopper: his stog neyng is fearful.

24 He diggeth in the balley, and retoyreth in [his] strength: he goeth forth to meete the harness man.

25 He mocketh at feare, & is not afraid,
and turneth not backe from the woode.

26 Though the quier rattle against him, the glittering speare and the shield.

27 Hee swalloweth the groundes for fearenes and rage, and he beleueth not that it is the noyse of the trumpet.

28 He saith among the trumpets, Ha, ha: he smelleth the battel afarre off, and the noyse of the captaines, & the shouting.

29 Shall the hauke flie by thy wis-

36 ¶ Then Iob answered the Lord, saying,

37 Beholde, I am vile: what shall I answer thee: I will lay mine hand vpon my mouth.

38 Once haue I spoken, but I will answere no more, yea, twice, but I will proceede no farther.

CHAP. XL.

<sup>a</sup> Who weake mans power is, being compared to the workes of God: <sup>10</sup> Whose power appeareth in the creation, and gouerning of the great beastes,

A Gaine the Lorde answered Iob out of <sup>a</sup> the whirlewind, and said,

2 Gird by now thy loynes like a man: I will demaund of thee, and declare thou vnto me.

3 Wilt thou disanull <sup>a</sup> my iudgement: [or] wilt thou condemne me, that thou mayest be iustified:

4 Or hast thou an arme like God: or dost thou thider with a voyce like him:

5 Decke thy selfe now with <sup>a</sup> maiestie and excellencie, and aray thy selfe with beaurtie and glorie.

6 Cast abroad the indignation of thy wrath, and beholde euery one that is proud, and abase him.

7 Looke on euery one that is arrogant, [and] bring him lowe: and destroy the wicked in their place.

8 Hide them in <sup>a</sup> dust together, [and] binde their faces in a secret place.

9 Then will I confesse vnto thee also, that thy right hand can <sup>a</sup> saue thee.

10 ¶ Beholde now <sup>a</sup> Behemoth, (whome I made <sup>a</sup> with thee) which eateth <sup>a</sup> grasse as an ore.

11 Beholde now his strength [is] in his loynes, and his force [is] in the nauill of his bellie.

12 When he taketh pleasure, his taile is like a cedar: the finewes of his stones are wrapt together.

13 His bones are like <sup>a</sup> stauers of brasse, [and] his small bones like stauers of yron.

16 Lyeth he vnder the trees in the covert of the reede and fenues:

17 Can the trees couer him with their shadowe: or can the willowes of the riuer compasse him about:

18 Behold, he spoyleth the riuer, <sup>a</sup> and halseth not: he trusteth that he can drayn by Jorden into his mouth.

19 Hee taketh it with his eyes, <sup>a</sup> and crusheth <sup>a</sup> his nose through whatsoeuer meeteth him.

20 Canst thou drayn out <sup>a</sup> Luta: <sup>a</sup> than with an hooke, <sup>a</sup> with a line which thou shalt cast downe vnto his tongue:

21 Canst thou cast an hooke into his nose: canst thou perce his iawes with an angle:

22 Will he make many <sup>a</sup> prayers vnto thee, or speake thee faire:

23 Will he make a covenant with thee: [and] wilt thou take <sup>a</sup> him as a seruant for euer:

24 Wilt thou play with him as with a birde: or wilt thou binde him for thy maides:

25 Shall the companions baket with him: shall they deuide him among the marchants:

26 Canst thou fill the basket with his skinne: or the fishpanier with his head:

27 Lay thine hand vpon him: remember <sup>a</sup> the battell, [and] do no more so.

18 He esteemeth yron as strawe, and brasse as rotten wood.

i His skin is so hard that he lieth with as great ease on the stones as in the myre.

19 The archer cannot make him flee: the stones of the sling are turned into stubble vnto him.

20 The darters are counted as straw: and he laugheth at shaking of speare.

21 Sharpe stones are vnder him, and he spreadeth sharpe things vpon the myre.

22 He maketh the depth to boyle like a pot, and maketh the sea like a pot of oymnt.

k Either he maketh the sea to boyle with his wallowing, or els he spouteth water in such abundance, as it would seeme that the sea boyled.

23 He maketh a path to shine after him: one would thinke the depth as an hoze head.

24 In the earth there is none like him: he is made without feare.

25 He beholdeth all his thinges: he is a king ouer all the children of pride.

CHAP. XLII.

6 The repentance of Job. 9 He prayeth for his friends, 12 His goods are restored double vnto him. 13 His children, age, and death.

Then Job answered the Lord, and said,

2 I know that thou canst do all things, and that there is no thought hid from thee.

3 Who is he that hideth counsell without knowledge: therefore haue I spoken that I vnderstood not, euil things to wonderfull for me, and which I knew not.

4 Heare, I beseeche thee, and I will speake: I will demand of thee, and d He sheweth that he will be Gods scholar to learne of him, declare thou vnto me.

5 I haue heard of thee by hearing of the eare, but now mine eye seeth thee.

6 Therefore I abhorre myselfe, and repent in dust and ashes.

7 Nowe after that the Lord had spoken these words vnto Job, the Lord also saide vnto Eliphaz the Temanite, By wrath is kindled against thee, and against thy two friends: for ye haue not spoken of me the thing that is right, like my seruants Job.

8 Therefore take vnto you now seven bullockes, and seven rams, and go to my seruant Job, & offer by for your selues a burnt offering, and my seruant Job shall pray for you: for I will accept him, least I should put you to shame, because ye haue not spoken of me the thing, which is right, like my seruant Job.

9 So Eliphaz the Temanite, and Bildad the Shuhite, and Zophar the Naamathite went, and did according as the Lord had saide vnto them, and the Lord accepted Job.

10 Then the Lord turned the captivity of Job, when hee prayed for his friends: also the Lord gaue Job twice so much as he had before.

11 Then came vnto him all his brethren, and all his sisters, and all they that had bene of his acquaintance before, and did eat bread with him in his house, and had compassion of him, and comforted him for all the euill, that the Lord had brought vpon him, and euery man gaue him a piece of money, and euery one an earring of golde.

12 So the Lord blessed the last dayes of Job more then the first: for hee had foureteene thousand sheepe, and fixe thousand camels, and a thousand yoke of oxen, and a thousand shee asses.

13 He had also seven sonnes, and three daughters.

14 And he called the name of one Minnah, and the name of the second Reziah, and the name of the third Keremhappuch.

15 In all the lande were no women found so faire as the daughters of Job, and their father gaue them inheritance among their brethren.

16 And after this liued Job an hundred and fourtie yeeres, and saue his sonnes, and his sonnes sonnes, [eu]en foure generations.

17 So Job dyed, being olde, and full of dayes.

The ende of the booke of Job.

l I knowe thee surely before by hearelay: but now thou hast caused me to see what thou art to me, that I may reigne my selfe ouer vnto thee.

m Thou tooke in hand an euill cause, in that thou condemnest him by his outward afflictions and not comforted him with my mercies.

n Thou had a good cause, but hasten it, vnto him. Thou haue recouered your selues to him for the sakes that you haue committed against him, he shall pay for you, and I will heare him. I haue deliuered him out of the affliction whereto he was, and that is, all his kindred, reade Chap. 19. 13.

THE ARGUMENT.

This booke of Psalmes is set forth vnto vs by the holy Ghost to be esteemed as a most precious treasure, wherein all things are contained that appertine to true felicitie: as well in this life present as in the life to come. For the riches of true knowledge, and heavenly wisdom are here set open for vs, to take thereof most abundantly. If we would knowe the great and hie maiestie of God, here we may see the brightnesse thereof shine most clearly. If we would seeke his incomprehensible wisdom, and appoche nere thereunto, and fill our hands with that treasure, here we may haue a most liuely, and comfortable taste thereof. If we would know wherein standeth our saluation, and howe to attaine to life euermore, here is Christ our onely redeemer, and mediator most euidently described. The rich man may learne the true vfe of his riches. The poore man may finde full contentation. He that will reioyce, shall knowe the true ioy, and howe to keepe measure therein. They that are afflicted and oppressed, shall see wherein standeth their comfort, and how they ought to praye God when he fendeth them deliuerance. The wicked and the persecuters of the children of God shall see how the hand of God is euer against them: and though he suffer them to prosper for a while, yet he bridleth them, in so much as they cannot touche an heare of ones head, except he permit them, and how in the end their destruction is most miserable. Briefly, here we haue most present remedies against all tentations, and troubles of mind and conscience, so that being well practised herein, we may be assured against all dangers in this life, liue in the true feare, and loue of God, and at length attaine to that incorruptible crowne of glory, which is layd vp for all them that loue the coming of our Lord Iesus Christ.

PSAL. I.

Whether it was Thomas, or any other that gathered the Psalmes into a booke, it seemeth he did for this Psalm first in manner of a preface, to exhort all godly men to studie, and meditate the heavenly wisdom. For the effect hereof is, 1 That they be blessed, which giue themselves wholly all their life to the holy Scriptures: 2 And that the wicked contempters of God, though they seeme for a while happy, yet at length shall come to miserable destruction.

Blessed is the man that doeth not walke in the counsell of the wicked, nor stand in the way of sinners, nor sit in the seat of the scornfull:

2 But his delight is in the Lawe of the Lord, and in his Lawe doeth he meditate day and night.

3 For he shall be like a tree planted by the riuers of waters, that will bring forth her fruit in due season: whose leafe shall not fade: so whatsoeuer he shall do, shall prosper.

4 The wicked [are] not so, but as the chaffe, which windeth away.

5 Therefore the wicked shall not stand in the iudgement, nor sinners in the assemble of the righteous.

6 For the Lord knoweth the way of the righteous, and the way of the wicked shall perish.

a When a mā
hath giuen
once place to
euill counsell,
or to his owne
concupiscence,
he beginneth
to forget himselfe in his sinne, and so falleth into contempe of God, which contempe is called the seat
of the scornfull,
Deut. 32.6.
Ioh. 1.8.
prou. 6.30.
b In the holy Scriptures.
Iere. 17.8.
c Gods children are so moued ouer
with his grace, that whatsoeuer
cometh vnto them, tendeth to their saluation. d Though the wicked seeme to beare the swelling in this world, yet the Lord drieth them downe that they shall not rise nor stand in the company of the righteous. e But tremble when they seele Gods wrath. f Doth appoyne and prosper, like as not to know, is to reproue and reiect.

PSAL. II.

1 The Prophet Dauid reioiceth that notwithstanding his enemies rage, yet God will continue his kingdom for euer and aduance it euen to the end of the world, 10 And therefore the exhorteth kings and Rulers, that they woulde humbly submit themselves vnder Gods yoke, because it is in vaine to resist God. Herein is figured Christes kingdom.

Why do the heathen rage, and the people murmur in vaine?

2 The Kings of the earth band themselves, and the princes are assembled together against the Lord, and against his Christ.

3 Let vs breake their bands, and cast their cordes from vs.

4 But he that dwelleth in the heaven shall laugh: the Lord shall haue them in derision.

5 Then shall he speake vnto them in his wrath, and bere them in his sore displeasure, [saying.]

6 [Euen] I haue set my King vpon Zion mine holy mountaine.

7 I will declare the decree: [that is,] the Lord hath saide vnto me, * thou art my Sonne: this day haue I begotten thee.

8 Aske of me, and I shall giue thee the heathen for thine inheritance, and the ends of the earth for thy possession.

9 Thou shalt crush the with a scepter of iron, [and] breake them in pieces like a potters bestell.

10 Be wise now therefore, ye Kings: be learned ye Iudges of the earth.

11 Serue the Lord in feare, and reioyce in trembling.

So is it applyed to Christ in his first coming and manifestation to the world, f Not only the Iewes but the Gentiles also. Reue. 2. 27. g He exhorteth all rulers to repent in time.

PSAL. III.

1 David hymen forth of his kingdome, was greatly comforted in mind for his sinnes against God. 4 And therefore calleth upon God, and earnestly holde thence his promises against the great railings and terrours of his enemies, yea, against death it selfe, which he sawe present before his eyes. 7 Finally he reioyceth for the good successe, that God gave him, and all the Church.

foune Abſalom.

4 I did call vnto the Lord with my voyce, and he heard me out of his holy mountaine. Selah.

5 I layed me downe and slept, [and] rose vp againe: for the Lord sustained me.

6 I will not be afrade for ten thousand of the people, that shoulde beſet me round about.

7 O Lord, arise: helpe me, my God:
for thou hast smitten all mine enemies
vpon the cheek bone: thou hast broken
the teeth of the wicked.

8 Saluation [belongeth] vnto the Lord, [and] thy blessing [is] vpon thy people. Selah.

PSAL. IIII.

1 When Saul persecuted him, he called vpon God, trusting most assuredly in his promises, and therefore boldly reſpoured his enemies, who wilfully resisted his dominion. 7 And finally preferreth his fauour of God before al worldly treasures,

To him that excelleth on Neginoth,
A Psalm of David.

Hear me when I call, O
God of my righteousness:
for thou hast let me at libertie,
when I was in distresse:
haue mercie vpon me and hearken vnto
my prayer.

2 O ye sonnes of men, howe long will ye turne my glory into shame, lo-
uing banitie, [and] seeking lyes: Selah.

3 For ye be sure that the Lord hath chosen to himselfe a godly man: the Lord will heare when I call vnto him.

4 Thou that art the defender of my iust cause, c Both of mind and body, d Be that thinke your felices noble in this world, e Though your enterprises please you neuer so much, yet God will bring them to nought.
f A King that walketh in his vocation.

4 Tremble, and summe not: examine your owne heart vpon your bed, and be still. Selah.

5 Offer the sacrifices of righteousnes, and trust in the Lord.

6 Many say, who will shew vs any good: [but] Lord, lift vp the light of thy countenance vpon vs.

7 Thou hast given me more ioye of heart, then they haue had, when their wheat and their wine did abound.

8 I will lay me downe, & also sleepe
in peace: for thou, Lord, onely makeſt me dwell in safetie.

here translated, as to David, signifying that he shoulde dwell as iustly alone, as if he had many about him, because the Lord is with him.

PSAL. V.

1 David oppressed with the crueltie of his enemies, and fear-ring greater dangers, calleth to God for succour, shewing howe requisite it is that God shoulde punish the malice of his aduersaries. 7 After being assured of prosperous successe, hee conceiveth comfort, 12 Concluding that when God shall deliuer him, others also shalbe partakers of the same mercies.

To him that excelleth vpon Nehiloth,
A Psalm of David.

ear me wordes, O Lord:
vnderstande my meditation.

2 Hearken vnto the voyce of my crye, my King and my God: for vnto thee doe I pray.

3 Heare my voyce in the morning,
O Lord: [for] in the morning will I direct [me] vnto thee, and I will waite.

4 For thou art not a God that loueth
wickednes: neither shall euill dwell with thee.

5 The foolish shall not stand in thy sight: for thou hateſt al them that worke iniquitie.

6 Thou shalt destroy them: speake lies: the Lord will abhorre the bloody man and deceitfull.

7 But I will come into thine house in the multitude of thy mercie: [and] in thy feare will I worship toward thine holy Temple.

8 Leade me, O Lord, in thy righte-ousnes, because of [mine] enemies:
make thy way plaine before my face.

9 For no constancie [is] in their mouth:
within, they are very corruption: their throat [is] an open sepulchre, and they flatter with their tongue.

10 Destroy them, O God: let them fall from their counsels: cast them out for the multitude of their iniquities, be-

PSAL. IX.

1 After he had giuen thanks to God for the famous victories that he had sent him against his enemies, and also proued by manifest experience how crable God was at hand in all his troubles: 14 He being now likest in danger of new enemies, beseecheth God to helpe him according to his wont, 17
And to destroy the malicious arrogance of his aduersaries.

To him that excheil upon [Muth Labben,

A Psalme of David.

I will praise the Lord with my whole heart: I will speake
of all thy marueilous workes.

2 I will be glad, and reioice in thee: I will sing praye to thy Name, O most high,

3 For that mine enemies are turned backe: they shall fall, and perish at thy presence.

4 For thou hast mainteined my right
and my cause: thou art let in the throne, [and] iudget right.

5 Thou hast rebuked the heathen:
thou hast destroyed [e] wicked: thou hast
put out their name for euer and euer.

6 O enemy, destructions are come to a perpetuall ende, and thou hast destroyed the cities: their memorials are perished with them.

7 But the Lord shall sit for euer: hee
hath prepared his throne for iudgement.

8 For he shal iudge the world in righteousnesse, [and] shall iudge the people with equitie.

9 The Lord also will bee a refuge for the [e] poore, a refuge in [due] time, [euen]
in affliction.

10 And they that knowe thy Name, will trust in thee: for thou, O Lord, hast
not failed them that seeke thee.

11 Sing praises to [e] Lord, which dwelleth in Zion: shew [e] people his workes.

12 For when he maketh inquisition for blood, he remembreth it, [and] forget-teth not the complaint of the poore.

13 Haue mercy vpon me, O Lord: cosider my trouble, [which] I suffer [of] the that hate me, thou that listest me by fro
the gates of death,

14 That I may shewe all thy praises within the [e] gates of the daughter of Zion, [and] reioice in thy saluation.

15 The heathen are [e] sunken downe
in the pit, [that] they made: in the net
that they hid, is their foote taken.

16 The Lord is knowne by execr-ting iudgement: the wicked is snared in the worke of his owne handes, [e] bigga-tion. Selah.

17 The wicked shall turne into hell,
[and] all nations that forget God.

18 For the poore shall not bee alway forgotten: the hope of the afflicted shal not perish for euer.

19 Up Lord: let not man preuaile: let the heathen be iudged in thy sight.

20 Put them in feare, O Lord, that the heathen may knowe that they are but [e] men. Selah.

PSAL. X.

1 He complaineth of the fraude, rapine, tyrannie, and all kind of wrong, which worldly men his assigning the cause thereof, that wicked men, being as it were drunken with worldly spoperitie, and therefore setting apart all feare and reuerence towards God, thinke they may do all things without controlling. 15 Therefore he calleth vpon God to sende some remedie against these desperate euils, 16 And at length com-forteth himselfe with hope of deliuerance.

Vhy standest thou farre off, O Lord, [e] hidest thee in [due]
time, [euen] in affliction:

doth persecute the poore: let thee be taken in the crafts that they haue imagined.

3 For the wicked hath [e] made boast of his owne hearts desire, [e] the countenslesseth himselfe: hee contemneth [e] Lord.

4 The wicked is so proud that he seeketh not for God: hee thinketh alwaies,
There is no God.

5 His wayes alway prosper: thy iudgements are hie aboue his sight: therefore [e] deseth he all his enemies.

6 He saith in his heart, I shall [e] neuer be moued, [e] nor be in danger.

7 His mouth is full of cursing and deceite and fraude: vnder his tongue is mischiefie and iniquitie.

8 He lieth in wait in the villages: in the house, because he neuer felt euil. d He knoweth that the wicked haue many meanes to hide their crueltie, and therefore ought more to be feared.

eis he speaketh

the secret places doth he murther the innocent: his eyes are bent against the poore.

9 He lieth in wait secretly, [even] as a Lion in his den: he lieth in wait to spoile the poore: he doth spoile the poore, when he draweth him into his net.

10 He croucheth [and] boweth: there fore heapes of the poore doe fall by his might.

11 He hath said in his heart, God hath forgotten he hideth away his face, [and] will neuer see.

12 Arise, O Lord God: lift vp thine hand: forget not the poore.

13 Wherefore doeth the wicked contemne God: he saith in his heart, Thou wilt not regard.

14 Yet thou hast seene it: for thou beholdest mischief and wrong, that thou mayest take it into thine handes: the poore committeth himselfe vnto thee: for thou art the helper of the fatherlesse.

15 Break thou the arme of the wicked & malicious: search his wickednes, [and] thou shalt find none.

16 The Lord [is] King for ever and euer: the heathen are destroyed forth of his land.

17 Lord, thou hast heard the desire of the poore: thou preparest their heart: thou bende thine eare to them.

18 To iudge the fatherlesse and poore, that earthly man [cause] to feare no more.

PSAL. XI.

1 This Psalm is cōteintly two parts. In the first David sheweth how hard assaults of tentations he susteyned, and in how great anguish of minde he was, when Shaul did persecute him. 4 Then next he reioyceth that God sent him succour in his needfullie, declaring his iustice as we see in governing the good, and the wicked men, as the whole world.

To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David.

The Lord put I my trust: how say ye then to my soule, flee to your mountain [as] a bird:

2 For lo, the wicked bende their bow, [&] make ready their arrowes vpon the string, [&] they may secretly shoot at them, which are bynight in heart.

3 For the foundations are cast downe: what hath the righteous done:

4 The Lord [is] in his holy palace: the Lords throne [is] in the heauen: his eyes [will] consider: his eyes lids will trie the children of men.

5 The Lord will trie the righteous: but the wicked and him that loueth iniquitie, doth his soule hate.

6 Vpon the wicked he shal rain snares, fire, and brimstone, and stormy tempest:

[this is] the portion of their cup. 7 For the righteous Lord loueth righteousnes: his countenance doth beholde the iust.

PSAL. XII.

1 The Prophet lamenting the miserable estate of the people, and the decay of all good order, desired God speedily to send succour to his children. 7 Then comforting himselfe and others with the assurance of Gods helpe, he commendeth the constant veritie that God obserueth in keeping his promises.

To him that excelleth vpon the eight tune.

A Psalm of David.

The Lord, for there is not a godly man left: for the faithfull are failed from among the children of men.

2 They speake deceitfully every one with his neighbour, [&] flatter with their lips, [&] speake with a double hart.

3 The Lord cut off all flattering lips: [and] the tongue that speaketh proude things:

4 Which haue said, with our tongue will we preuaile: our lips are our owne: who is Lord ouer vs:

5 For for the oppression of the needie, [&] for the sighes of the poore, I will by faith the Lord, [&] will set at liberty him, whom the wicked hath snared.

6 The wordes of the Lord are pure wordes, [as] the silver, tried in a furnace of earth, fined seven foide.

7 Thou wilt keepe them, O Lord: thou wilt preferue him from this generation for euer.

8 The wicked walke on euery side: when they are exalted, [&] it is] a shame for the sonnes of men.

Thine, though he were but one man. 5 For they suppress the goodly, and maime the wicked.

PSAL. XIII.

1 David as if were overcome with sump and new afflictions, fleeth to God as his onely refuge. 3 And so at the length being encouraged through Gods promises, he conceiveth most sure confidence against the extreme horrors of death.

To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David.

How long wilt thou forget me, O Lord: for ever how long wilt I hide thy face from me:

2 How long shall I take counsell within my self, [ha]ving wearinesse dayly in mine heart: how long shall mine enemy be exalted aboue me:

3 Behold, [and] heare me, O Lord: my God: light mine eyes, that I sleepe not in death:

4 Let mine enemy say, I haue preuailed against him: [and] they that afflict me, reioyce when I slide.

5 But

As in the destruction of Sodom and Gomorrah, which they shall bring out to the pyres, Esch. 2. 3. 4.

Which dare defend truth, & then mercie to be oppressed, & he meaneth the flatterers of the court, which hurt him more by their tongues, then with their weapons.

They thinke themselves able to perfwade whatsoeuer they take in hand.

The Lord is moued with the complaints of his, and desireth in the end from all dangers.

Because the Lords word and promises is true and unchangeable, he will performe it, and preferue the poore from this wicked generation.

That is, thine, though he were but one man.

He declared that his afflictions lasted a long time, and that his faith faileth not, changing my purpose as the sicke man doth his place.

Which might turne to Gods dishonour, if he did not defend his.

By the hypocrite of them that haue antheite, the poore are deuoured. f He calleth to God for helpe, because wickednes is so farre outgrowne that God must now helpe by neuer. g Therefore thou must needes punish this their blasphemie. h To iudge betweene right and the wrong. i For thou hast utterly destroyed him. k The hypocrites, as liars as liue not after Gods law, shal be destroyed. l God helpeth when mans helpe faileth. m Or, destroy no more man vpon the earth.

a This is the wicked counsel of his enemies to him and his companions, to bynde him from the hope of Gods promises. b All hope of succour is taken away. c Yet am I innocent and my cause good. d Though all things in earth be out of order, yet God will execute iudgement from heauen.

d The mercie
of God is the cause of our
saluation.
e Both by the
benefites past and by others
to come.

5 But I trust in thy mercie: mine heart shall reioyce in thy saluation: I will sing to the Lorde, because hee hath dealt lovingly with me.

2 Hee describeth the peruerse nature of men, which were so grown to licentiousnes, that God was brought to utter contempt. 7 For the which thing although hee was greatly grieved, yet being perswaded that God would send some present remedie, he comforteth himselfe and others.

To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David.

Mee * foole hath saide in his heart, There is no God:
they haue corrupted, & done
an abominable worke: there is none that doeth good.

2 The Lorde looked downe from heauen vpon the children of men, to see if there were any that would vnderstand, and seeke God.

3 All are gone out of the way: they are all corrupt: there is none that doeth
good, no not one.

4 Do not all the workers of iniquitie know? they eat vp my people, [as] they eat bread: they call not vpon the Lord.

5 Where they shall bee taken with feare, because God [is] in the generation of the iust.

6 Thou haue made a mocke at the counsell of the poore, because the Lorde [is] his trust.

7 Oh giue saluation vnto Israel out of Zion: when the Lorde turneth the captiuitie of his people, then Iacob shall reioyce, and Israel shall be glad.

Note that the 5. and 7. verses in this 14. Psalm of the common translation, are not in the same Psalm in the text of the Hebrue, but rather put in, more fully to expresse the manners of the wicked: and are gathered out of the 5.
140. and 10. Psalmes, and also out of the 59. of the Prophet Isaiah, and out of the 36. Psalm, and are alleged by Saint Paul, and placed together in the 3. to the Romanes.

PSAL. XV.

1 This Psalm teacheth on what condition God did chuse the Iewes for his peculiar people, and wherefore he placed his Temple among them, which was to the intent that they by living uprightly and goodly, might witness that they were his speciall and holy people.

A Psalm of David.

Lorde, who shall dwell in thy Tabernacle: who shall rest
in thine holy mountaine:

2 He that walketh by righte-ousnes, and doeth righteouslyesse,
and speaketh the truth in his heart.

3 He that slandereth not with his tongue, nor doeth euil to his neighbour, nor receiveth a false report agaynst his
neighbour.

4 In whose eyes a vile person is contemned, but he honoureth them that feare the Lord: he that sweareth to his [owne] hinderance and changeth not.

5 He that giueth not his money vnto vlurie, nor taketh reward against the innocent: he that doth these things, shall neuer be moued.

PSAL. XVIII.

1 This Psalm is the first beginning of his gratulation, and thanksgiving in the entering into his kingdom, wherein he extollet and prayeth most highly the marueilous mercies and grace of God, who hath thus preserved and defended him. 2 Also he testifies thyself the image of Christs kingdom, that the sayfull may be assured that Christ shall alwayes conquer and overcome by the unspokeable power of his father, though at the whole world should strive thereagainst.

To him that exelleth, A Psalm of David the seruante of the Lord, which spake vnto the Lord the words of this song [in the day that the Lord deliuered him from the hand of all his enemies, and from the hand of Saul] and said,

Will loue thee dearly, O Lord my strength.

2 The Lord [is] my rock, and my fortress, and he that deliuereth me, my God, [and] my strength: in him will I trust, my shield, [and] my refuge, my saluator, [and] my strength.

3 I will call vpon the Lord, which is worthy to be prayed: so shall I be safe from mine enemies.

4 The sorowes of death compassed me, and the floods of wickednesse made me afraide.

5 The sorowes of the graue haue compassed me about: the snares of death ouertooke me.

6 [But] in my trouble did I call vpon the Lord, and cried vnto my God: hee heard my voyce out of his Temple, and my crye to come before him, [euen] into his eares.

7 When the earth trembled, & quaked: the foundations also of the mountaynes moued and shooke, because hee was angrie.

8 Smoke went out at his nostrils, & a consuming fire out of his mouth: coles were kindled therat.

9 He bowed the heauens also, & came downe, & darkenes [was] vnder his feet.

10 And hee rode vpon Cherub, and did flie, & he came flying vpon the wings of the winde.

11 He made darknes his secret place, [and] his pavilion rounde about him, [euen] darkenes of waters, [and] cloudes of the aere.

12 At his brightnes of his presence his clouds passed, hailstones & coles of fire.

13 The Lord also thyned in the heauen, and the highest gaue his voyce, hailstones and coales of fire.

14 Then he sent out his arrowes & scattered them, & he increased lightnings and destroyed them.

15 And the chanel of waters were scene, & the fundatious of his worlde were discovered at thy rebuking, O Lord, at the blasting of the breath of thy nostrils.

16 He hath sent down from aboue, taken me: hee hath drawen mee out of many waters.

17 Hee hath deliuered mee from my strong enemy, & from the which hate me: for they were to strong for me.

18 They persecuted mee in the day of my calamitie: but the Lord was my stay.

19 He brought mee forth also into a large place: he deliuered me because hee favoured me.

20 The Lord rewarded mee according to my righteousness: according to the purenesse of mine handes hee recompensed me:

21 Because I kept thy wayes of the Lord, and did not wickedly against my God.

b For none can obtaine the requests of Gods, [for] hee is not his glorie with their petition. c He speaketh of the dangers and malice of his enemies, from the which God had deliuered him. d Or, cordes, or cables. e A description of the wrath of God against his enemies after hee had heard his prayers.

f He sheweth howe horrible Gods iudgements shall be to the wicked. g Darkenes signifieth the wrath of God, as the cleare light signifieth Gods fauour. h This is described at large Psal. 104. i As a king angrie with the people, but not himselfe vnto them. j Thunder, lightning, and haile. k His lightnings.

l That is, the deepe bottoms were scene, when the red sea was deuoured. m Out of sinnes and great dangers. n To wit, Saul. o Therefore God sent me succour. p The cause of Gods deliuerance is his own fauour and loue to vs. q David was sure of his righteous cause & good behaviour toward Saul and his enemies, and therefore was assured of gods fauour and deliuerance.

3. Sam. 22, 2, a hee blyth this diuinitie of names, to shew that as the wicked haue many names to hurt so God hath many wayes to helpe.

3 Here he spreketh of Gods regarding to our capacitie, who sheweth mercy to his sinners.

4 As he is said also, Leu. 2. 1. 2. 4 When their sinne is come to the full measure,

5 He attributeth it to God that he both gace the victory in the field, and also destroyed the cities of his enemies.

6 The danger neuer is many a great per Gods promise must take effect.

7 The graces good successe to all mine enterprises.

9 To defend me from dangers.

10 He attributeth the beginning, continuance and increase in will doing onely to Gods fauour.

11 David declarer that he did nothing before his vocation, but was stirred by Gods spirit.

12 To execute his iudgements.

13 Thou hast giuen them in to mine hands to be slaine.

14 They that reiect the crye of the afflicted, God will also reiect thei.

15 They crye for help: for either paine or feare cause those by power to crye.

22 For all his Lawes [were] before me, and I did not cast away his commandments from me.

23 I was bright also with him, and haue kept me from my wickednes.

24 Therefore the Lord reuarded me according to my righteousness, [and] according to the purenes of mine hands in his sight.

25 With the Godly thou wilt shewe thy selfe Godly: with the bright man thou wilt shewe thy selfe bright.

26 With the pure thou wilt shewe thy selfe pure, and with the frowarde thou wilt shewe thy selfe frowarde.

27 Thus thou wilt saue the poore people, & wilt cast downe the proud lookes.

28 Surely thou wilt light my candle: y Lord my God will lighte my darknes.

29 For by thee I haue broken through an host, and by my God I haue leaped ouer a wall.

30 The way of God is incorrupt: the word of the Lord is tryed in the fire: he is a shield to all that trust in him.

31 For who is God besides the Lord: and who is mightie saue our God?

32 God girdeth me with strength, and maketh my way bright.

33 Hee maketh my feete like hyndes feete, and setteth me vpon mine high places.

34 He teacheth mine handes to fight: to that a bowle of brasse is broken with mine armes.

35 Thou hast also giuen me the shield of thy saluatio, and thy right hand hath stayed me, and thy louing kindnes hath caused me to increase.

36 Thou hast enlarged my steps vnder me, and mine heeles haue not slid.

37 I haue pursued mine enemies, & taken them, and haue not turned againe till I had consumed them.

38 I haue wounded them, that they were not able to rise: they are fallen vnder my feete.

39 For thou hast girded me w strength to battell: them, that rose against mee, thou hast subdued vnder me.

40 And thou hast giuen me the necks of mine enemies, that I might destroy them that hate me.

41 They cried, but there was none to saue them, euen vnto the Lord, but he answered them not.

42 Then I did beate them small as the dust before the winde: I did treade them flat as the clay in the streetes.

43 Thou hast deliuered me from the contentions of people: thou hast made me the head of the heathen: a people, whom I haue not knowen, shall serue me.

44 As soone as they heare, they shall obey me: the strangers shall bee in subjection to me.

45 Strangers shall shrinke away, and feare in their prime chambers.

46 Let the Lord lue, and blessed be my strength, and the God of my saluation be exalted.

47 It is God that giueth me power to avenge me, and subdueth the people vnder me.

48 O my deliuerer from mine enemies, euen thou hast let mee by from them, that rose against mee: thou hast deliuered mee from the cruel man.

49 Therefore I will praise thee, O Lord, among the nations, and will sing vnto thy Name.

50 Great deliuerances giueth he vnto his King, and sheweth merrie to his annoynted, [euen] to David, and to his seede for euer.

1 David in the person of the people praiesh God for the victorie, attributing it to God, and not to the strength of man: wherein the holy ghost directeth the faithful to Christ, who is the perfection of this kingdome.

To him that excheeth, A Psalm of David.

The King shall reioyce in thy strength, O Lord: yea, how greatly shall he reioyce in thy saluation!

2 Thou hast giuen him his heartes desire, and hast not denied [him] the request of his lippes. Selah.

3 For thou diddest preuent him with liberrall blessings, [and] diddest set a crowne of pure golde vpon his head.

4 He asked life of thee, [and] thou gauest him a long life for euer and euer.

5 His glorie [is] great in thy saluation: dignitie and honour hast thou layde vpon him.

6 For thou hast set him [as] blessings for euer: thou hast made him glad with the ioye of thy countenance.

7 Because the King trusted in the Lorde, and in the mercie of the most high, he shall not slide.

8 Thine hand shall find out all thine enemies, [and] thy right hande shall find out them that hate thee.

9 Thou shalt make them like a fierie ouen in time of thine anger: the Lorde shall destroy them in his wrath, and the fire shall deuoure them.

10 Their fruite shalt thou destroye from the earth, and their seede from the children of men.

11 For they intended euill against thee, [and] imagined mischief, [but] they shall not preuaile.

12 Therefore shalt thou put them apart, [and] the strings of thy bowe shalt thou make ready against their faces.

13 We thou exalted, O Lorde, in thy strength: [so] will wee sing and praye thy power.

hauing ample occasion to praie thy name.

PSAL. XXII.

1 David complained because he was brought into such extremities, that he was past all hope, but after he had repented the sorowes and griefes, wherein he was heere, so he recovered him selfe from the bottomlesse pit of temptations and groweth in hope. And here vnder his owne person he setteth forth the figure of Christ, whom he did foresee by the Spirit of prophete, that he shoulde maruellously, and strangely be detested, and abused, before his father shoulde raise and exalt him againe.

To him that excheeth vpon Aileeth Hassihar,

MY God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me, and art so farre fro mine health, [ & fro ] the words of my<sup>e</sup> roaring:

2 O my God, I cry by daye, but thou hearest not, and by night, but I haue no audience.

3 But thou art holy, and doest inha- bite the prayles of Israel.

4 Our fathers trusted in thee: they trusted, and thou didst deliuer them.

5 They called vpon thee, and were deliuered: they trusted in thee, and were not confounded.

6 But I am a worme, & not a man: a shame of men, and the contempt of the people.

7 All they that see me, haue me in de- cision: they make a moue [and] nod the head, [saying,]

8 <sup>h</sup> He trusted in the Lorde, let him deliuer him: let him saue him, seeing hee loueth him.

9 But thou diddest drawe mee out of the wombe: thou gauest me hope, [eue] at my mothers breasts.

10 I was cast vpon thee, [euen] from the wombe: thou art my God from my mothers bellie.

11 Be not farre fro me, because trouble is nere: for [there is] none to helpe me.

12 Many yong bulles haue compassed mee: mightie bulles of Bashan haue closed me about.

13 They gape vpon mee with their mouthes, [as] a ramping & roaring lion.

14 I am like <sup>h</sup> water poyzed out, and al my bones are out of ioynt: mine heart is like waxe: it is molten in the muddes of my bowels.

15 My strength is dried vp like a pot- shearde, and my tongue cleaueth to my iawes, and thou hast brought mee into the dust of death.

16 For dogges haue compassed mee, [and] the assemblie of the wicked haue inclosed me: they<sup>e</sup> pearced mine handes and my feete.

17 I may tell all my bones: [yet] they behold, [and] looke vpon me.

18 They part my garments among them, and cast lottes vpon my deliuer.

Vnto thee, O Lord, lift I vp
my soule.

2 O Lord, I trust in thee:
let me not be confounded: let not mine enemies reioyce ouer me.

3 So all that hope in thee, shall not be ashamed: but let the be confounded,

that transgresse without cause.

4 Shewe me thy wayes, O Lord,
[and] teache me thy paths.

5 Leade me forth in thy truth, and teach me: for thou art the God of my sal-uation: in thee do I trust all the day.

6 Remember, O Lord, thy tender mercies, and thy louing kindnesse: for they haue bene for euer.

7 Remember not the finnes of my youth, nor my rebellions, [but] according to thy kindnesse remember thou me, [euen]
for thy goodnes sake, O Lord.

8 Gracious & righteous [is] y Lord:
therefore will he teach sinners in way.

9 He that be mecke, will bee guide in iudgement, and teache the humble
his way.

cie vpon me: for I am desolate & pooze.

17 The sorowes of mine heart [are] enlarged: draw me out of my troubles.

18 Looke vpon mine affliction & my trauell, and forgiue all my finnes.

19 Behold mine enemies, for they are many, & they hate me with cruel hatred.

20 Keepe my soule, & deliuer mee: let me not be confounded, for I trust in thee.

21 Let mine vprightnes and equitie
preserue me: for mine hope is in thee.

toward mine enemies, let them knowe that thou art y defender of my full cause.

PSAL. XXVI.

1 Dauid oppressed with many iniuries, finding no helpe in the world, calleth for aide from God, and assured of his integritie reneweth his desire toward God to be his iudge, and to defend his innocencie. 6 Finally he maketh mention of his sacrifice, which he will offer by his deliuerance, and desirith to be in the companie of the faithfull in the Congregation of God, whence he was banished by Saul, promising integritie of life, and open prayers and thanksgiving.

11 But I wil walke in mine innocencie: redeeme me [therefore], and be mercifull vnto me.

12 My foote standeth in b vprightnes: I will praise thee, O Lord, in f congregations.

PSAL. XXVII.

1 Dauid maketh this Psalm being deliuered from great perils, as appereth by the prophesies and thankelgiuing annexed.

2 Wherein he may see the constant faith of Dauid against the assaults of all his enemies, 7 And also the end wherefoe he desired to liue and to be deliuered, onely to worship God in his Congregation.

A Psalm of Dauid.

The Lord [is] my light & my saluation, who thal I feare: the Lord [is] the strength of my life, of whom shall I be afraide:

2 When the wicked, [euen] mine enemies, and my foes came vpon me to eat vp my flesh, they stumbled and fell.

3 Though an hoste pitched against mee, mine heart should not be afraide: though warre be raised against mee, I will trust in b this.

4 One thing haue I desired of the Lord, that I will require, euen that I may dwell in the house of the Lord, all the daies of my life, to behold f beautie of the Lord, and to visite his Temple.

5 For in the time of trouble hee shall hide me in his Tabernacle: in the secrete place of his pavilion shall he hide mee, and let me bp vpon a rocke.

6 And now shal he lift bp mine head about mine enemies round about mee: therefoze will I offer in his Tabernacle sacrifices of ioye: I will sing & prayle the Lord.

7 Hearken vnto my voyce, O Lord, when I crie: haue mercie also vpon me and heare me.

8 [When thou saidest,] Seeke ye my face, mine heart shalbered vnto thee, O Lord, I will seeke thy face.

9 Hide not [therefoze] thy face fro me, nor cast thy seruāt away in displeasure: f hast bene my succour: leaue me not, neither forsake me, O God of my saluatiō.

10 Though my father and my mother should forsake me, yet the Lord wil gather me bp.

11 Teache me thy way, O Lord, and leade me in a right path, because of mine enemies.

12 Giue me not vnto f lust of mine aduersaries: for there are false witnesses risen bp against me, and such as speake cruelly.

13 I should haue fainted, [except] I had beleered to see the goodnes of the Lord in the land of the liuing.

14 Hope in f Lord: be strong, & he shal comfort thine heart, & trust in the Lord.

PSAL. XXXVII.

1 Being in great feare and heauines of heart to see God dishonoured by the wicked, he desired to be rid of them, 4 And crieth for vengeance against them: and at length affirmeth himselfe, that God hath heard his prayer, 9 Vnto whose caution he commenderth all the faithful.

A Psalm of Dauid.

Not to thee, O Lord, do I crye: O my strength, bee not deafe toward me, least, if thou an- swere me not, I be like them that go downe into the pit.

2 Heare the voyce of my petitions, when I crie vnto thee, when I hold bp mine hands toward thine holy Place.

3 Draw me not away with the wicked, and with the workers of iniquitie: which speake friendly to their neighbours, when malice [is] in their hearts.

4 Releard them according to their deedes, and according to the wickednes of their inuentions: recompete them after the worke of their hands: render the their reward.

5 For they regard not the workes of the Lord, nor f operation of his hands: [therefoze] breake them down, & builde them not bp.

6 Praised [be] the Lord, for hee hath of his Church, c Let them be utterly destroyed, as psalme 114. f Because he felt the assurance of Gods helpe in his heart, his mouth was opened to sing his praises.

d Dauid assured himselfe by f spirit of prophesie that he should overcome his enemies and serue God in his tabernacle.

8 The Lord [is] their strength, & he is the strength of the deliuerances of his anointed.

9 Saue thy people, and blesse thine inheritance: feede them also, and exalt them for euer.

PSAL. XXIX.

1 The Prophet exhorteth the princes and rulers of the world, (which for the most part thinke there is no God) 2 At the least to feare him for the thunders and tempests, for feare whereof all creatures tremble. 3 And though thereby God threateneth sinners, yet to be alwayes mercifull to his, and moueth them thereby to praise his Name.

A Psalm of David.

Give vnto  $\text{J}$  Lord, ye souldiers of the mightie: giue vnto the Lord gloire and strength.

2 Giue vnto the Lord glorie [due] vnto his Name: worship the Lord in the glorious Sanctuarie.

3 The voyce of the Lord [is] vpon the waters: the God of glorie maketh it to thunder: the Lord [is] vpon the great Waters.

4 The voyce of  $\text{J}$  Lord [is] mighty: the voyce of the Lord [is] glorious.

5 The voyce of the Lord breaketh the ceders: yea, the Lord breaketh the ceders of Lebanon.

6 He maketh them also to leape like a calf: Lebanon [also] and  $\text{S}$ hirion like a yong vntoorne.

7 The voyce of the Lord denieth the flames of fire.

8 The voyce of the Lord maketh the wilderness to tremble: the Lord maketh the wilderness of  $\text{B}$ adeth to tremble.

9 The voyce of the Lord maketh the hinds to  $\text{c}$ alue, and  $\text{d}$ iscovereth the forests: therefore in his Temple doeth euery man praise of his glorie.

10 The Lord sitteth vpon the flood, & the Lord doeth remaine king for euer.

11 The Lord shall giue strength vnto his people: the Lord shall blesse his people with peace.

PSAL. XXX.

1 When David was deliuered from great danger, he renderd thanks to God enjoying others to do the like, and to learne by his example, that God is rather mercifull then seure and rigorous towards his children. 7 And also that the fall fro prosperitie to aduersitie is sudden. 8 This done, he returneth to prayer, promising to praise God for euer.

A Psalm of Iong of the house of David.

a After that Absalom had polluted it with most filthy fornication,

I will magnifie thee, O Lord: for thou hast exalted mee, & hast not made my foes to reioyce ouer me.

2 O Lord my God, I cried vnto thee, and thou hast restored me.

3 O Lord, thou hast brought by my soule out of  $\text{g}$ raue: thou hast reuimed me from them that go downe into  $\text{p}$ it.

4 Sing prayles vnto the Lord, yee his Saintes, and giue thanks before the remembrance of his holinesse.

5 For [he endureth but] a while in his anger: [but] in his fauour [is] life: weeping may abide at evening, but toy [cometh] in the morning.

6 And in my prosperitie I said, I shall neuer be moued.

7 [For] thou Lord of thy goodnes haddest made my mountaine to stande strong: [but] thou diddest hide thy face, [and] I was troubled.

8 [Then] cried I vnto thee, O Lord, and prayed to my Lord.

9 What profite [is there] in my blood, when I goe downe to the pit: shall the dust [giue] thanks vnto thee: or shall it declare thy trueth?

10 Heare, O Lord, and haue mercie vpon me: Lord, be thou mine helper.

11 Thou hast turned my mourning into ioye: thou hast loosed my sacke and girded me with gladnes.

12 Therefore shall my tongue praise thee and not cease: O Lord my God, I will giue thanks vnto thee for euer.

he would liue to praise his Name, which is the ende of mans creation. l Because thou hast preferred me, that my tongue should praise thee, I will not be vnmindfull of my duetie.

PSAL. XXXI.

1 David deliuered from some great danger, first reherceth what meditation he had by the power of faith, when death was before his eyes, his enemy being ready to take him, 2 The he affirmed that the fauour of God is alwayes ready to chuse that feare him, 3 Finally he exhorteth all the faithful to trust in God and to loue him, because he preferreth & strengtheneth them, as they may see by his example.

9 For my life is wasted with heaviness, and my peeres with mourning: my strength faileth for my paine, & my bones are consumed.

10 I was a reproch among all mine enemies, but specially among my neighbours: and a feare to mine acquaintance, who seeing me in secret, fled from me.

11 I am forgotten, as a dead man out of minde: I am like a broken vessel.

12 For I have heard the raying of great men: feare was on every side, while they conspired together against me, and consulted to take my life.

13 But I trusted in thee, O Lord: I said, Thou art my God.

PSAL. XXXII.

1. David punished with grievous sickness for his sinnes, cometh them himself, to whom God hath not imputed their transgressions. 2. And after that he had confessed his sinnes and obtained pardon. 3. He exhorteth the wicked men to sing psalms. 4. And the good to reioyce.

A Psalm of David to give instruction.

Blessed is he whose wickednes is forgiven, and whose sinne is covered.

2 Blessed is the man, vnto whom the Lord imputeth not iniquitie, and in whose spirit there is no guile.

3 When I held my tongue, my bones consumed, [or] when I roared all day,

4 [For] thine hand is heavie vpon me, day & night: [and] my moisture is turned into the drouth of summer. Selah.

5 [The] Lord acknowledgeth my sinne vnto thee, neither hid I mine iniquitie: [for] I thought, I will confesse against my leife my wickednes vnto the Lord, & he forgaueth my punishment of my sin. Selah.

6 Therefore shal every one, who is godly, make his prayer vnto thee in a time, when he may be founde: surely in flood of great waters: they shall not come neere him.

7 Thou art my secret place: thou preferrest me from trouble: thou copassest me about with thy joyful deliverance. Selah.

8 I will instruct thee, & teach thee in the way, that thou shalt goe, [and] I will guide thee with mine eye.

9 Be ye not like an horse, [or] like a mule, which understand not: whose mouthes thou dost binde with bit and bridle, lest they come neere thee.

10 Many sorowes shall come to the wicked: but he, that trusteth in the Lord, mercie shall compass him.

11 Be glad ye righteous, and reioyce in the Lord, and be ioyfull all ye, that are vpbricht in heart.

12 This is the way of salvation, [and] if men can rule brute beastes, thinke they, that God will not hyde and tame their rage: k. He sheweth that peace and ioye of conscience in the holy ghost is the fruite of faith.

PSAL. XXXIII.

1. He exhorteth good men to praise God for he hath not only created all things, & by his providence governeeth the same, but also is faithful in his promises. 2. He understandeth mans heart, and scattereth the counsel of the wicked. 3. So that no man can be preferred by any creature or mans strength: but they that put their confidence in his mercie, shall be preserved from all adversities.

5. Betweene hope & despaire, neither by silence nor crying, founde a safe: signifying, that before the sinner be reconciled to God, he feelth a perpetual torment.

6. He sheweth that as Gods mercie is the onely cause of forgiveness of sinnes, so the means thereof are repentance and confession, which proceede of faith.

7. When necessity causeth him to seeke to thee for helpe, Psal. 55. 6.

8. To wit, the waters, & great dangers.

[that is] not good [and] doeth not advantage euill.

5 Thy d mercie, O Lord, [reache]th
vnto the heauens, [and] thy faithfulness
vnto the cloudes.

6 Thy righteousness [is] like f high-tie mountaines: thy iudgements [are] like a great e deepe: thou, Lord, doest
saue man and beast.

7 Holbe excellent is thy mercie, O
God: therefore the children of men trust
vnder the shadowe of thy wings.

8 They shall bee s satisfied with the fame of thine house, and thou shalt give them drinke out of the riner of thy pleasures.

9 For with thee [is] the well of life,
[and] in thy light shall we see light.

10 Extend thy louing kindnesse vnto them that h knowe thee, and thy righteousnesse vnto them that are vpright
in heart.

11 Let not the i foote of pride come against mee, and let not the hande of the wicked men moue me.

12 There they are fallen that worke iniquitie: they are cast downe, and shall not be able to rise.

13 O Lord, Gods children haue enough of all things both concerning this life and the life to come. h He knoweth who are Gods children, to wit, they that know him, and leade their liues by light. i Let not the proude annun-
ce him selfe
against me,
neither the power of the wicked vniue saye.

PSAL. XXXVII.

1 This Psalm containeth exhortation and consolation for the weake, that are grieued at the prosperitie of the wicked, and the affliction of the godly. 7 For holbe prosperously loener
the wicked be liue for the time, he doeth affirme their felicitie to be halne and transitory, because they are not in the fauour of God, but in the ende they are wretched as his enemies, 11
And holbe miserably that the righteous fearne to liue in the world, yet his end is peace, and he is in the fauour of God, he is deliuered from the wicked and persecuers.

A Psalm of David.

a Hee admon-isheth his neither to beware of the prosperous
state of a wicked, neither to desire to be like them to make our state the better, b For Gods
iudgement
cutteth
downe
their state in a moment,

Reat not a thy selfe because of the wicked men, neither be en-uious for the euill doers.

2 For they shall soone be cut downe, and shall be as the chaff, which the winde shall waie away.

dothne like grasse, and shall wither as the Greene herbe.

3 Trust thou in the Lord & do good,
dwell in the lande, and thou shalt be fed assuredly.

4 And delite thy selfe in the Lord, and he shall give thee thine hearts desire.

5 Commit thy way vnto the Lord, &
trust in him, & he shall bring it to passe.

6 And he shall bring forth thy righte-ousnes as the light, and thy iudgement
as the noone day.

7 Waite patiently vpon f the Lord and hope in him: feare not thy selfe for him which prospereth in his way: [no] for the man that bringeth [his] enterprises to passe.

8 Cease fro anger, & leaue off wrath:
feare not thy selfe: also to euill.

9 For euill doers shall be cut off, & they that waite vpon the Lord, they shall inherite the land.

10 Therefore yet a litle while, & the wicked shall not [appeare,] and thou shalt looke after his place, and hee shall not be found.]

11 But * mecke men shall possesse the earth, and shall haue their desire in the multitude of peate.

12 The wicked practise against the iust, & gnatheth his teeth against him.

13 [But] the Lord shall laugh him to scorn: for he seeth, f his day is coming.

14 The wicked haue dauben [their sword, and haue bent their bowe, to cast downe the poore and needy, and to slay
such as be of vpright conuerlation.

15 [But] their sword shall enter into their owne heart, and their bowes shall be broken.

16 A small thing vnto the iust man is better, then great riches to the wicked [and] mightie.

17 For the armes of the wicked shall be broken: but the Lord vpholdeth the iust men.

18 The Lord knoweth the dayes of vpright men, and their inheritance shall be perpetual.

19 They shall not be confounded in the perilous time, & in the dayes of famine
they shall haue nough.

20 But the wicked shall perish, & the enemies of the Lord shall be consumed as the f fatte of lambes: [euil] with the smoke shall they consume away.

1 God knoweth what dangers hang ouer his, and by what means to de-liuer them, m For God will giue them contented mindes, and that which shall be necessary, n They shall vanishe away suddenly: for they are fed for the day of slaughter.

To trust in God, and doe
according to his will, are sure tokens,
that his prou-
idence will ne-
uer faile vs,
d Hee not leave by thine owne wickedness, but shew God, and he will finish
his waye in thee.

e As the hope of the day light
cauleth vs not to be offended
with the darknes of night:
so ought we patiently to trust that God will cleare our cause & refect
vs to our right,
f When God
suffereth i wicked to prosper,
it seemeth to s
flesh that he fa-uourably their doings, Job, 21.7. 8c.

g Speaking, &
cept he moderate his affections, he shall be led to doe as they doe.
h Hee correcteth
the impieencie
of our nature,
which can not abide till the fallnes of Gods
time be come,
March. 5.5.

i The godly
are assured that the power and craft of i wicked shall not preuaile against the, but fall on their owne
necks, & therefore ought you
to be content to abide Gods time, &
in the meane
while beware
of their times, &
offer by their ceases as a satisfaction of their obedience.

k For they are deceiued as
with thornes
from heauen,
and haue sufficient, when the wicked haue
neuer enough
but cure him-selves.

o God so fur-
nether him
with his blef-sing, that he is able to helpe
others.

p God profe-
red the iust
full, because they walke in his wayes
with an vngi-
te confcience.

q When God
doeth exerce
his faith with diuers tenta-
tions.

r Though the iust man be,
yet Gods blef-
sings are exceeded to his iustitie, and though God
suffer some iust
man to lacke
temporall benefits, yet he recompenseth
him with spi-
rituall treasures.

s They shall continually be preferred vnder
Gods
winges, & haue
at least inward
rest.

t These three pointes are regards of the faithfull, that their calke be godly, & Gods into be in their heart, and that their life be vngi-
te.

u For though
it be sometime
so expeient
both for Gods glory and their saluation, yet
he will appoyne
their cause, and revenge their wrong.

x So that the propheticke of the wicked is
but as a cloud,
which vani-
sheth away in a moment.

y He reioy-
ceth the faithfull
to marche diligently to the examples both of gods mercies,
and also of his iudgements.

z He comforteth
that the patient
hope of the godly
is neuer in vaine,
but in the ende
hath good successe,
though for a time
God proue them
by sinny tenta-
tions.

1 Dauid lying sicke of some grei-
uous disease, acknowledgeth
him selfe to be chastised of the Lord for his sin-
nes, and therefore prayeth
God to turne
away his wrath,
5 He uttereth
the

21 The wicked borroweth and payeth not againe: but the righteous is merci-full, and quieth.

22 For such as bee blessed [of God,] shall inherite the lande, and they that be cursed of him, shall be cut off.

23 The pathes of man are directed by the Lord: for he loueth his way.

24 Though he fall, he shall not be cast off: for the Lord putteth vnder his hande.

25 I haue bene yong, and am old: yet
I salve neuer the righteous forsaken,
nor his seede begging bread.

26 But he is euer mercifull and tender, & his seede enioyeth the blessing.

27 Free from euill and doe good, and dwell for euer.

28 For the Lord loueth iudgement, and forsaketh not his Saints: they shall be preferred for euermore: but the seede
of the wicked shall be cut off.

29 The righteous men shall inherite
the land, and dwell therein for euer.

30 The mouth of the righteous will speake of wisdom, and his tongue will talke of iudgement.

31 [For] the law of his God [is] in his heart, [and] his steppes shall not slide.

32 The wicked watcheth the righteous, and seeketh to slay him.

33 But the Lord will not leaue him in his hande, nor condemne him, when he is iudged.

34 Waite thou on the Lord, & keepe
his way, & hee shall exalt thee, that thou shalt inherite the land: when the wicked men shall perish, thou shalt see.

35 I haue seene the wicked strong, & spreading himselfe like a greene bay tree.

36 Yet he passed away, & loe, he was gone, and I sought him, but hee coulde
not be found.

37 Marke þ bright man, & beholde
the iust: for þ end of that man is peace.

38 But the transgressours shall be destroyed together, [and] the ende of the wicked shall be cut off.

39 But the saluation of the righteous men shall be of the Lord: he shall be their strength in the time of trouble.

40 For the Lord shall helpe them, and deliuer them: he shall deliuer them from the wicked, and shall saue them, because they trust in him.

greatnes of his griefe by many wordes and circumstances, as wounded with y arrows of Gods ire, forsaken of his friends, euill entreated of his enemies. 22 But in the end with firme confidence he commendeth his cause to God, and hopefull
speedie helpe at his hand.

A Psalm of Dauid for remembrance.

Lord, rebuke me not in thine anger, neither chastise me in thy wrath.

2 For thine arrows haue
light vpo me, & thine hand lieth vpo me.

3 There is nothing solid in my flesh,
because of thine anger: neither is there rest in my bones because of my sinne.

4 For mine iniquities are come ouer mine head, [and] as a weigheburden
they are too heauie for me.

5 My woundes are purified, and corrupt because of my foolishnesse.

6 I am bowed, [and] crooked verie
fore: I go [mourning all] the day.

7 For my reines are full of burning,
and there is nothing sound in my flesh.

8 I am weakened and fore broken: I roare for very griefe of mine heart.

9 Lord, [I praye] my whole desire before thee, & my sighing is not hid from thee.

10 Mine heart & panteth: my strength
faileth me, and the light of mine eyes,
when they are not mine owne.

11 My louers and my friendes stande aside from my plague, and my kinfolde stand a fawre off.

12 They also, that seeke after my life,
lay snares, and they that go about to do me euill, talke wicked thinges and imagine deceit continually.

13 But as a deafe man heard not,
and [am] as a dumme man, [which] openeth not his mouth.

14 Thus am I as a mutt, heareth not,
& in whose mouth [are] no reproofes.

15 For on thee, O Lord, do I waite:
I will heare [me,] my Lord, my God.

16 For I said, heare me, least they re-ioyce ouer me: for [when] my foote slip-peth, they extoll themselues against me.

17 Surely I am ready to [fall], and my soule [is] euer before me.

18 When I declare my payne, [and]
am loy for my sinne,

19 The mine enemies are aliue, and are mightie, & they that hate me wrongfully are many.

20 They also, that rewarde euill for good, are mine aduersaries, because I and therefore patiently waite for the helpe of God. 1 That is, if they see that thou succour me not in time, they will mocke and triumph, as though thou hadst forsaken me. 10 I am without hope to recouer my strength. 11 In my greatest miserie they most reioyce,

2 To put himself and others
in minde of Gods cheritement for sinne.

3 He desireth
not to be crysted from Gods
raie, but that he woulde so moderate his payne, that he might be able to beare it.

4 The sickness,
wherewith
thou hast visited me.

5 Dauid ac-
knowledgeth
God to be iust
in his punishments, because his sinnes had deserued much more.

6 He confesseth
his sinnes,
Gods iustice, &
maketh prayer
for his refuge.

7 Hee rather goues place to mine owne
lusts, then to the will of God.

8 Or, blacke, as one that is disfigured & consumed with sickness.

9 This example warneth vs
neuer to despise, be the reymment neuer
so great: but alwayes to expect Gods vng-der trust for saluation.

10 Euen, as above, is referred to his meaning, that he was deliue-
red of all helpe
and counsell.

11 My sight
faileth me for very payne.

12 Partly for fear, & partly for yde that denied all du-
tie and friendship.

13 For I can
haue no comfort before me,
if they see that thou succour me
not in time, they will mocke and triumph, as though thou hadst
forsaken me.

14 In my grea-

15 In my greatest miserie
they most reio-
ce.

16 In my grea-

Chap. 1. 6. 47.

b Albeit he had appointed himselfe patiently to haue taken Gods leysure, per the vengeance of his paine caused him to breathe his purpoit.

c Though while the wicked ruled, he thought to haue kept silence, yet his zeale caused him to change his minde.

d He confesseth that he grudged against God, considering the greatness of his sorowes, and the humours of his life.

e Per Daud offended in p that he reasoned with God, as though that he were too seuerely towarde his weak creature.

f Spake me not a mocking stocke to p wicked, w say me not up with the wicked, when they are put to shame.

g Seeing my troubles came of thy prouidence, I thought to haue embowed them patiently.

h Though mine open plagues light me euermore upon thee, yet thy fierce curie continually freeth me. i The word signifieth all that be desired, as health, force, strength, beauty, & in whatsoeuer he hath desire, so that the rod of God rather atway all that is desired in this world,

PSAL XXXIX.

1 Daud betwixt such great griefe and bitterness of minde he was driven to these outrageous complaints of his miseries. 2 For he confesseth that when he had determined silence, that he hath forth yet into words that he would not, though the greatness of his griefe. 3 When he requesteth certaine requies which take of the infirmities of man. 4 And miserie with them many prayers: but all by these a minde wonderfully troubled, that it may plainly appeare how he did strive mightily against death and desperation.

To the excellent musician Jeduthun, A Psalm of Daud.

I Thought, I will take heede to my waies, that I sime not with my tongue: I will keepe my mouth bideled, while the wicked is in my sight.

2 I was dumme and spake nothing: I kept silence euen from good, and my lozowe was heart shired.

3 Mine heart was hate within me, [f] while I was musing, & fire kindled, and I spake to my tongue, [saying,]

4 Lord, let me know mine ende, & the measure of my dayes, what it is: let me know how long I haue to liue.

5 Behold, thou hast made my dayes as an hand bredth, & mine age as nothing in respect of thee: surely every man in his best state is altogether vanitie. Selah.

6 Doubtlesse man walketh in a shadowe, and disquieteth himselfe in vaine: he heapech by [riches,] and cannot tell who shall gather them.

7 And now Lord, what wait I for: mine hope is euen in thee.

8 Deliuere me from all my transgressions, and make mee not a rebuke vnto thee: foolish.

9 I should haue bene dumme, and not haue opened my mouth, because thou diddest it.

10 Take thy plague away fro me: for I am consumed by stroke of thine had.

11 When thou with rebukes dost chastise man for iniquitie, thou as a mothe makest his beautie to consume: surely euery man [is] vanitie. Selah.

12 Heare my prayer, O Lord, & hearken vnto my cry: make not silence at my teares, for I am a stranger with thee, [and] a sojourner as all my fathers.

13 Stay thine anger from me, that I may not be consumed: & thy hand, that I may not be destroyed: for thy hand hath made me, & thy hand shall destroy me.

PSAL XL.

1 Daud deliuered from great danger, both magnific & praise the grace of God for his deliuerance, & commendeth his prouidence towards all mankind. 2 When north he promise to giue himselfe wholly to Gods seruice, & to declare his love to God is truly worshipped. 3 Afterward he giueth thanks and praieseth God, and hauing complained of his enemies, with good courage he calleth for ayde and succour,

To him that excelleth. A Psalm of Daud.

I waited patiently for p Lord, and he inclined vnto mee, and heard my crye.

2 He brought me also out of the horrible pit, out of the myrie clay, & set my feete vpon the rocke, and ordered my goings.

3 And he hath put in my mouth a new song of praise vnto our God: many shall see it and feare, and shall trust in the Lord.

4 Blessed [is] the man that maketh the Lord his trust, & regardeth not the proude, nor such as turne aside to lyes.

5 O Lord my God, thou hast made thy wonderfull wordes [to] many, that none can counte in order to thee thy thoughtes towarde vs: I would declare, and speake of them, but they are more then I am able to expresse.

6 Sacrifice and offering thou diddest not desire: [for] mine cares hast thou prepared burnt offering & sinne offering hast thou not required.

7 Then said I, Loc, I come: [for] in the rolle of p booke it is writte of me, & I desired to do thy good wil, O my God: yea, thy law is within mine heart.

9 I haue declared thy righteousness in the great Congregation: lo, I wil not reframe my lips: O Lord, I knowest.

10 I haue not hid thy righteousness within mine heart, [but] I haue declared thy truth & thy saluation: I haue not concealed thy merry and thy trust from the great Congregation.

11 Withdraw not thy tender mercie from me, O Lord: let thy mercie & thy truth alway prelesse me.

12 For innumerable troubles haue compassed mee: my finnes haue taken such holde vpon mee, that I am not able to looke vp: [yea,] they are more in number then the heares of mine head.

obey thee, being assured that I was written in the booke of thine electe for this ende. h In the Church assembled in the Sanctuary, i Daud here numbeth three degrees of our saluation: Gods mercie, whereby he princi- pally by his righteousness, which signifieth his continual protection and his truth, whereby appeareth his constant fauour. so that hereof proceedeth our saluation.

PSAL. XLI.

1 David being grievously afflicted, blessed them that pitie his case, 9 And complaint of the treason of his owne friends and familiars as came to passe in Iudas, John 13. 18. After hee feeling the great mercies of God greatly chiding him, and not suffring his enemies to triumphe against him, 13 Sincely most heartie thanks vnto God.

To him that excelleth. A Psalm of Dauid.

Blessed is he that iudgeth wisely of the poore: the Lord shall deliuer him in the time of trouble.

2 The Lord will keepe him, and preserve him aliu: he shall be blessed vpon the earth, and thou wilt not deliuer him vnto the wil of his enemies.

3 The Lord will strengthen him vpon the bed of sorrow: thou hast turned al his bed in his sickness.

4 Therefore I said, Lord haue mercie vpon me: heale my soule, for I haue sinned against thee.

5 Mine enemies speake euill of mee, [saying,] why he shall he die, and his name perish:

6 And if he come to see me, he speaketh lies, [but] his heart heapeeth iniquitie within him, [and when] hee cometh forth, he telleth it.

7 All they that hate me, whisper together against me: [eu]en against mee doe they imagine mine hurt.

8 A mischief is light vpon him, and he that iudgeth, shall no more rise.

9 Bea, my familiar friend, whom I trusted, which did eat of my bread, hath lifted vp the heele against me.

10 Therefore, O Lord, haue mercie

vpon me, and raise me vp: so I shall rewarde thee.

11 By this I know that thou fauourest me, because mine enemy doeth not triumphe against me.

12 And as for me, thou vpholdest me in mine integritie, and doest set me before thy face for euer.

13 Blessed be the Lord God of Israel worlde without ende. k So be it, euen so be it.

k By this repetition he sheweth by the sayfull to praye God.

PSAL. XLII.

1 The Prophet grievously complaineth, that being letted by his persecutors, he could not be present in the congregation of Gods people, protesting that although hee was separated in body from the, yet his heart was thitherward affectioned, 7 And last of all he sheweth, that he was not so farr ouercome with these sorowes and thoughts, 8 But that he continually put his confidence in the Lord.

To him that excelleth. A Psalm to giue instruction, committed to the sonnes of Korah.

2 My soule thirsteth for God, [eu]en for the liuing God: when shall I come and appeare [before] the presence of God:

3 My teares haue bene my meate day and night, while they daily lay vnto me, where is thy God:

4 When I remembered these things, I poynded out my berie heart, because I had gone with multitude, [ & ] ledde them into the house of God with voice of singing, [and] praise, [as] a multitude that keepeth a feast.

5 Why art thou cast down, my soule, & vnquiet within me: wayte on God: for I will yet giue him thanks for the helpe of his presence.

6 My God, my soule is cast downe within me, because I remember thee, from the land of Iordan, & hermonim, [and] from the mount Hizar.

7 [One] deep calleth another deepe by noise of thy water spouts: all thy waues & thy floods are gone ouer me.

8 The Lord will graunt his louing kindnesse in the day, & in the night shall I sing of him, [eu]en a prayer vnto the God of my life.

9 I will say vnto God, [which is] my rock, why hast thou forgotten me: why goe I mourning, when the enemy oppresseth me:

1 When David was rebuked by the Prophet Nathan, for his great offences, he did not onely acknowledge the same to God with prostration of his natural corruption and iniquity, but also left a memoriall thereof to his posteritie. 2 Therefore first he desired God to forgive his sinnes, 10 And to renew in him his holy Spirit, 13 Which promyseth that he will not be vniuersall of those great crimes, 18 Finally fearing least God would punish the whole Church for his fault, he requirerh that he would rather increase his graces towards the same.

To him that excelleth. A Psalme of David, when the Prophet Nathan came vnto him, after he had gone in to Bath-sheba.

a To reprove him because he had committed so heinous sinnes, and then in the same without repentance more then a whole peere.

b As his sinnes were manifest and great, so he requirerh that God would give him the feeling of his excellent and abundant mercies.

c Thy sinnes shalbe so fast in me, that I haue neede of some singular kinde of washing.

d Thy conscience accuseth me, so that I can haue no rest, till I be reconciled. e When thou givest sentence against sinners, they must needs confesse thee to be iust and then felix sinners. f He confesseth that God, who is the purest of hearts, may iustly destroy man, who of nature is a sinner, much more him whome he had instructed in his heavenly wisdom.

Hue mercie vpon me, O God, according to thy louing kindenesse: according to the multitude of thy compassions put away mine iniquities.

2 Wash me thoroughly from mine iniquitie, and cleanse me from my sinne.

3 For I know mine iniquities, and my sinne is euer before me.

4 Against thee, against thee onely haue I sinned, & done euill in thy sight, that thou mayst be iust when thou speakest, [and] pure when thou iudgest.

5 Behold, I was borne in iniquitie, & in sinne hath my mother conceived me.

6 Beholde, thou art truest truth in the imbraded affections: therefore hast thou taught me wisdom in the secretes of mine heart.

7 Purge me with hyssope, and I shall be cleane: wash me, and I shall be whiter then snow.

8 Make me to heare joy and gladnes, [that] the bones, [which] thou hast broken, may reioyce.

9 Hide thy face from my sinnes, and put away all mine iniquities.

10 Create in me a cleane heart, O God, & renew a right spirit within me.

11 Cast mee not away from thy presence, and take not thine holy Spirit from me.

12 Restore to me the ioy of thy salvation, and stablish mee with thy free Spirit.

13 [Then] shall I teach thy wayes vnto the wicked, and sinners shalbe conuerted vnto thee.

14 Deliuer me from blood, O God, [which art] the God of my salvation, [for] my tongue shall sing ioyfully of thy righteousness.

15 Open thou my lippes, O Lord, & my mouth shall shewe forth thy praise.

16 For I desired not sacrifice, though I woulde giue it: thou delitest not in burnt offering.

17 The sacrifices of God are a contrite spirit: a contrite and a broke heart, O God, thou wilt not despise.

18 Be favourable vnto Zion for thy good pleasure: builde the walles of Jerusalem.

19 Then shalt thou accept the sacrifices of righteousness, [euē] the burnt offering and oblation: then shall they offer calves vpon thine altar.

And for mercie. p He prayeth for the whole Church, because though his sinne it was in danger of Gods iudgement. q That is, iust and lawfull, as they to their right end, which is the exercise of faith and repentance.

1 David described the arrogant tyrannie of his aduersarie Doeg: who by false iurmes caused Ahimelech with the rest of the Priests to be slaine. 2 David prophesied his destruction, 6 And encouraged the faithfull to put their confidence in God, whose iudgements are most sharpe against his aduersaries. 7 And finally beremembred thankes to God for his deliverance. Saul, who both secretly and openly sought his destruction, from whence he appealeth to Gods iudgement, 10 Shew-ing that the iust shall reioyce, when they see the punishment of the wicked to the glory of God.

To him that excelleth. Destroy not. A Psalm of David on Micham.

It is true: O Congregation, speake ye iustly: O sonnes of men, iudge ye vprightly:

2 Hea, rather ye imagine mischief in [your] heart: <sup>b</sup>your hands execute crueltie vpon the earth.

3 The wicked are strangers from the wombe: [euen] from the belly haue
they erred, and speake lies.

4 Their poison is euen like the poison of a serpent: like the deafe <sup>d</sup>adder [that] stoppeth his eare.

5 Which heareth not the voyce of the inchanter, though he be most expert in charming.

6 Breake their <sup>e</sup>teeth, O God, in their mouthes: break the iawes of the vong lions. O Lord.

7 Let them <sup>f</sup>melte like the waters,

let them passe away: When he shooteth
his arrowes, let them be as broken.

8 Let him consume like a snayle that melteth, [and] like the vntimely fruite of a woman, that hath not seene the sunne.

9 As rawe flesh before your pottes seele [the fire] of thornes: [so] let him carrie them away as with a whirlewinde
in [his] wrath.

10 The righteous shall <sup>b</sup>reioyce when he seeth the vengeance: hee shall walke
his feete in the <sup>c</sup>blood of the wicked.

11 And men shall say, <sup>k</sup>Verely there is fruite for the righteous: doubtles there is a God that iudgeth in the earth.

P S A L. LIX.

1 David being in great danger of Saul, who sent to slay him in his bed, prayeth vnto God: 3 Declareth his innocencie, 3 their furie, 5 Desiring God to destroy all those that sinne of malicious wickednes. 11 Whom though he heere aloue for a time to exercise his people, yet in the end he will consume them in his wrath, 13 That he may be knowne to be the God of Iacob to the end of the world. 16 For this he singeth prayes to God, assured of his mercie.

To him that excelleth. Destroy not. A Psalm of David

PSAL. LXVI.

1 Hee proueth all men to praise the Lord, and to confide in his workes. 2 He sheweth forth the power of God to assuage the rebels. 3 And sheweth how God hath deliuered Israel from great bondage and afflictions. 4 Hee promisseth to giue sacrifice. 5 And proueth all men to heare what God hath done for him and to praise his Name.

To him that excelleth. A song, of Psalm.

Reioyce in God, all ye inhabitants of the earth.

2 Sing forth the glorie of his name: make his prayse glorious.

3 Say vnto God, Howe terrible art thou in thy workes! though the greatness of thy power shall thine enemies be in subiection vnto thee.

PSAL. LXVII.

1 A prayer of the Church to obtaine the fauour of God and to be lightened with his countenance. 2 To the ende that his way and iudgements may be knowne throughout the earth. 3 And finally be declared the king come of God, which should be vniuersally exalted at the coming of Christ.

To him that excelleth on Neginoth. A Psalm, of song.

God be mercifull vnto vs, and blesse vs, [and] cause his face to shine among vs. Selah.

2 That they may knowe thy way vpon earth, [and] thy sauing health among all nations.

PSAL. LXIX.

<sup>a</sup> The complaint, prayers, fervent seale and great anguish of David is set forth as a figure of Christ at his members: 1 The malicious cruelty of the enemies, 22 And their punishment also, 26 Where Iudas and such traitours are accused, 30 He gathereth courage in his affliction, and offereth praises vnto God, 32 Which are more acceptable then all sacrifices: whereof all the afflicted may take comfort, 35 Finally he doth prouoke all creatures to praises, prophesying of the kingdom of Christ, 36 the persecution of the Church, where all the faithful, 37 And their seale shall dwell for euer.

To him that excellen vpon Shoshannim.
A Psalm of David.

SAUE me, O God: for the waters are entred euen to [my] soule.

2 I stick fast in the deepe myre, where no: say [is]: I am come into deepe waters, and the streames run ouer me.

3 I am wearie of crying: my throte is dry: mine eyes fade, whiles I waite for my God.

4 They that hate me without a cause, are mo then [that] heares of mine head: they that would destroy me, [and] are mine enemies: falsly, are mightie, so that I restored that which I tooke not.

5 O God, thou knowest my foolishnes, & my fautes are not hid from thee.

6 Let not them that trust in thee, O Lord God of hostes, be ashamed of them, & though I be guiltie to thee ward, yet am I innocent to ward them.

me: let not those that seeke thee, be confounded through me, O God of Israel.

7 For thy sake haue I suffered reproo: shame hath couered my face.

8 I am become a stranger vnto my brethren, euen an aliant vnto my mothers sonnes.

9 For the seale of thine house hath eaten me, and the rebukes of them that rebuked thee, are fallen vpon me.

10 I wept and my soule fasted, but that was to my reproo.

11 I put on a sacke also: and I became a prouerbe vnto them.

12 They that late in the gate, spake of me, and the drunkards sang [of me].

13 But Lord, [I make] my prayer vnto thee in an acceptable time, [euen] in the multitude of thy mercie: O God, heare me in the truth of thy saluation.

14 Deliuer me out of the myre, that I sinke not: let me be deliuered from them that hate me, & out of the deepe waters.

15 Let not water flood vnto me, neither let the deepe swallow me by: and let not the pit shut her mouth vpon me.

16 Heare me, O Lord, for thy louing kindnes is good: turne vnto me according to [the] multitude of thy tender mercies.

17 And hide not thy face from thy seruant, for I am in trouble: make haste [and] heare me.

18 Dwell neere vnto my soule [and] redeeme it: deliuer me because of mine enemies.

19 Thou hast knowen my reproo: and my shame, and my dishonour: all mine aduersaries [are] before thee.

20 Rebuke hath broken mine heart, and I am full of heauines, and I looked [for some] to haue pittie [on me], but there was none: and for comforters, but I found none.

21 For they gaue me gall in my meat, and in my thirst they gaue me vineger to drinke.

22 Let their table be a snare before them, and their prosperitie [their] ruine.

23 Let their eyes be blinded that they see not: and make their loynes alway to tremble.

24 Poure out thine anger vpon them, and let thy wrathfull displeasure take them.

25 Let their habitation be voyde, [and] let none dwell in their tents.

28 Let them be put out of the booke of life, neither let them be written with the righteous.

29 When I am poore and in heauines, thine helpe, O God, shall exalt me.

30 I wil praise thy Name of God with a song, and magnifie him with thanksgiving.

31 [This] also shall please the Lorde better then a yong bullocke, that hath homes and hooves.

32 The humble shall see [this, and] they that seeke God, shall be glad, and vpon heart shall lue.

33 For the Lorde heareth the poore, and despiseth not his<sup>a</sup> pylones.

anger, and hast turned backe from the fiercenesse of thy wrath.

4 Turne vs, O God of our saluation,
and release thine anger toward vs.

5 Wilt thou bee angrie with vs <sup>d</sup> for ever : and wilt thou prolong thy wrath
from one generation to another :

6 Wilt thou not turne againe [ and ] quicken vs, that thy people may reioyce
in thee :

7 Shew vs thy mercie, O Lord, and graunt vs thy saluation.

8 I will hearken what the Lord God will say : for hee will speake <sup>f</sup> peace vnto his people, and to his Saints, that they turne not againe to folle.

9 Surely his saluation is neere to them that feare him, that glorie may dwell in our land.

<sup>e</sup> He will sende all prosperitie to his Church, when he hath sufficiently corrected them, also by his punishments the faithfull shall learne to beware that they returne not to take offences,

10 Mercie and truth shall meeete : <sup>g</sup> Though for a time God
righteousnes and peace shall kisse [ one another. ]

11 Truth shall bud out of the earth,
and righteousness shall looke downe
from heauen.

12 Yea, the Lord shall giue good things, and our lande shall giue her increase.

13 Righteousnes shall go before him,
and shall let her steeppes in the way.

PSAL LXXXVI.

<sup>1</sup> Dauid sope afflicted and forsaken of all, prayeth feruently for deliuerance : sometimes rehearsing his miseries, <sup>5</sup> Sometimes the mercies received, <sup>11</sup> Desiring also to be instructed of the Lord, that he may feare him & glorifie his Name, <sup>14</sup> He complaينت all of his aduersaries, and requereth to be deliuered from them.

A prayer of Dauid,

1 My <sup>a</sup> Soule, <sup>b</sup> thine eare, O Lord,
[ and ] heare mee : for I am
poore and needie.

2 Preserve thou my soule,
for I am <sup>b</sup> mercifull : my God, saue thou thy seruant, that trusteth in thee.

3 Be mercifull vnto me, O Lord : for
I <sup>c</sup> crie vpon thee continually.

4 Reioyce the soule of thy seruant : for vnto thee, O Lord, do I lift vp my soule.

5 For thou, Lord, art good and <sup>c</sup> mercifull, & of great kindnes vnto all them,
that call vpon thee.

6 Give care, Lord, vnto my prayer,
and hearken to the voyce of my supplication.

7 In the day of my trouble I will call
vpon thee : for thou hearest me.

8 Among the gods there is none like thee, O Lord, and there <sup>c</sup> is none [ that can do ] like thy workes.

9 All nations, whom thou hast made,
shall come and <sup>d</sup> worshipping before thee, O
Lord, and shall glorifie thy Name.

10 For thou art great and doest won-derous things : thou art God alone.

11 Teach mee thy way, O Lord,
[ and ] I will walke in thy truth : kint mine heart vnto thee, that I may feare thy Name.

12 I will prayse thee, O Lord my God, with all mine heart : yea, I will glorifie thy Name for ever.

13 For great is thy mercie toward me,
and thou hast deliuered my soule from
the lowest graue.

14 O God, <sup>e</sup> proud are risen against me, and the assemblies of violent men
besett me,

of whose kingdome he hath prophesied. <sup>h</sup> He considered himselfe ignorant till God had taught him, and his heart variable and separate from God, till God ignoie it to him, and confirme it in his obedience. <sup>i</sup> That is,
from most great danger of death : out of the which none, but onely the mightie hande of God, could deliuer him.

<sup>a</sup> Dauid persecuted of Dauid, thus prayer, leauing
the same to the Church as a manuement,
howe to seeke
redresse against their miseries.

<sup>b</sup> I am not enemie to them,
but pitie them,
though they be
cruel toward me.

<sup>c</sup> Which was a sure token
that he beleue-ued that God
would deliuer
him.

<sup>d</sup> He doth con-fesse that God
is good to all,
but onely mer-
cifull to poore
sinners.

<sup>e</sup> By crying continually, he sheweth how
me may not be weary, though
God grant not forthwith our request, but that we must earnestly, and often call vpon
him.

<sup>f</sup> He condem-neth all idoles,
so much as they can do no
workes to declare that they are Gods.

<sup>g</sup> This prayer that Da-uid prayeth in
the name of Christ the

k He sweeth
that there can be no moderation
in quiet
where pious tyrants
reign, & that the lacke of Gods feare is as a punishment
to all vice and cruelty.
l He besteth
not of his owne virtues,
but confesse
that God of his free goodness hath cured
them mercifull
into him and given him power
against his enemies, as to one of his owne household.

haue<sup>k</sup> fought my soule, and haue not set thee before them.

15 But thou, O Lord, art a pitifull God and mercifull, slowe to anger and great in kindnes and trueth.

16 Turne vnto me, and haue mercie
vpon me: giue thy strength vnto thy seruant, and laue the<sup>e</sup> sonne of thine handmaide.

17 Shew a token of [thy] goodnes toward me, that they which hate me, may see it, and be ashamed, because thou, O
Lord, hast holpen me & comforted me.

18 The holy Ghost promitteth that the conuiction of the Church, which was in murther after the captiuitie of Babylon, should be restored to great excellencie, & so that there should be nothing more comfortable, then to be nombred among the members thereof.

PSAL. LXXXVII.

A Psalm of long committed to the sonnes of Korah.

God layde [his] foundations
among the holy mountaines.
2 The Lord loueth the gates of Zion aboute all the habitations of Iacob.

3 Glorious things are spoken of thee,
O cite of God. Selah.

4 I will make mention of Rahab and Babel among them that know me:
beholde Palestina and Tyrys with Ethiopia, There is he borne.

5 And of Zion it shall be said, Many are borne in her: and he, [euen] the most high shall stablish her.

6 The Lord shall count, when hee
writeth the people, he was borne there.
Selah.

7 Afbell the fingers as the players
on instruments [shall praise thee:] all
my<sup>s</sup> springs [are] in thee.

8 Afbell the fingers as the players

my<sup>s</sup> springs [are] in thee.

my life dralveth neere to the graue.

4 I am counted among them that go downe vnto the pit, [and] am as a man
without strength:

5 Free among<sup>e</sup> dead, like the flaine lying in the graue, whome thou remem-berst no more, and they are cut off from thine<sup>e</sup> hand.

6 Thou hast layed mee in the lowest pit, in darkenes, [and] in the deepe.

7 Thine indignation ieth vpon me, and thou hast dered mee with all thy<sup>e</sup>
waues. Selah.

8 Thou hast put away mine<sup>e</sup> acquaintance farre from me, [and] made me to be abhorred of them: I am shut vp, and cannot get forth.

9 Mine eye is sorrowful through mine affliction: Lord, I call dayly vpon thee:
I stretch out mine handes vnto thee.

10 Wilt thou shewe<sup>e</sup> a miracle to the dead: or shall the dead rise [and] praise thee. Selah.

11 Shall thy louing kindnes be declared in the graue: or thy faithfulness in destruction:

12 Shall thy wonderous workes be known in the darke: and thy righte-ousnes in the land<sup>e</sup> of obliuion:

13 But vnto thee haue I cryed, O
Lord, and earely shall my prayer come before thee.

14 Lord, why dost thou reiect my soule, [and] hidest thy face from me:

15 I am afflicted and at the point of death: from [my] youth I suffer thy terrors, doubting [of my life.]

16 Thine indignations go ouer mee,
and thy feare hath cut me off.

17 They came round about me dayly
like water, [and] compassed me together.

18 My louers and friends haue thou put away from me, [and] mine acquaintance<sup>e</sup> hid themselves.

19 My life should utterly be cut off euery moment, & Ebr. were in darkenes,

PSAL. LXXXIX.

1 I will many workes doeth the Prophet praise the goodnes of God, 23 For his testament and covenant, that he had made betwene him and his elect by Iesus Christ the sonne of Da-uid: 28 Then doeth hee complaine of the great raine, and obsolation of the kingdom of David, so that to the outward appearance the promises was broken, 45 Finally hee prayeth to be deliuered from his afflictions, making mention of the promises of mans life, and confirming himselfe by Gods
promises.

A Psalm to giue instruction, of Eham the Ezrahite.

I will sing the mercies of the Lord for ever: with my mouth will I declare thy trueth from generation to generation.

q To Samuel & to others, to assure that David was thy chosen one.

r Whom
I haue both chosen and giuen him strength to execute his office, as verse 21.

2 For I<sup>b</sup> saide, Mercie shall be set by for euer: thy trueth shalt thou<sup>c</sup> stablish
in the very heauens.

3 I<sup>d</sup> haue made a covenant with my chosen: I haue sborne to Dauid my seruant.

4 Thy seede will I stablish for euer, and set by thy throne from generation to generation. Selah.

5 O Lord, euen the<sup>e</sup> heauens shall praise thy wondrous worke: yea, thy trueth in the<sup>f</sup> Congregation of Saints.

6 For who is equall to the Lord in the heauen: & who<sup>g</sup> is like the Lord among the<sup>h</sup> sonnes of the gods?

7 God is verie terrible in the assembly of the<sup>i</sup> Saints, and to be reuerenced about all, [that are] about him.

8 O Lord God of hostes, who is like vnto thee, [which art] a mighty Lord,
and thy trueth [is] about thee!

9 Thou rulest the raging of the sea:
when the waues thereof arise, thou stillest them.

10 Thou hast beaten downe Rahab
as a man slaine: thou hast scattered thine enemies with thy mighty arme.

11 The heauens are thine, the earth
also is thine: thou hast laide the foundation of the world, and all that therein is.

12 Thou hast created the North and the South: <sup>k</sup> Tabor and Hermon shall reioyce in thy Name.

13 Thou hast a nightie arme: strong is thine hand, [ & high is thy right hand].

14 Righteousnes and equitie [are] the stablishment of thy throne: mercie
and trueth go before thy face.

15 Blessed [is] the people, that can reioyce [in thee]: they shall walke in the light of thy<sup>o</sup> countenance. O Lord.

16 They shall reioyce continually in thy Name, and in thy righteousness shall they exalt themselves.

17 For thou art the<sup>p</sup> glorie of their strength, and by thy fauour our hornes shalbe exalted.

18 For our<sup>q</sup> shield [appertaineth] to the Lord, and our King to the holy one of Israel.

19 Thou spakest then in a vision vnto
thyne Holy one, & saydest I haue laied helpe vpon one that is<sup>r</sup> mighty: I haue exalted one chosen out of the people.

20 I haue found Dauid my seruant:

with mine holy oyle haue I anointed
him.

21 Therefore mine hand shall be established with him, and mine arme shall strengthen him.

22 The enemy shall not oppresse him,
neither shall the wicked hurt him.

23 But I will<sup>s</sup> destroy his foes before his face, and plague them that hate him.

24 By trueth also and my<sup>t</sup> mercie [shall be] with him, and in my Name shall his<sup>u</sup> home be exalted.

25 I will let his hand also in the sea and his right hand in the<sup>v</sup> floods.

26 He shall cry vnto me, Thou art my<sup>w</sup> Father, my God and the rocke of my saluation.

27 Alfo I will make him my first borne, higher then<sup>x</sup> kings of the earth.

28 For mercie will I keepe for him
for euermore, & my covenant shall stand fast with him.

29 His seede also will I make to endure<sup>y</sup> for euer, and his throne as the dayes of heauen.

30 [But] if his children forsake my lawe, and walke not in my iudgements:

31 If they breake my statutes, and keepe not my commandements:

32 Then will I visite their transgression with the rod, & their iniquitie with strokes.

33 Yet my louing kindnes will I not take from him, neither will I falsifie
my trueth.

34 By covenant will I not breake, nor<sup>z</sup> alter the thing that is gone out of my lippes.

35 I haue sborne once by mine holines, & I will not faile Dauid, saying,

36 His seed shall endure for euer, and his throne [shall be] as<sup>aa</sup> firmme before me.

37 He shall be established for euermore
as the moone, and [as] a faithfull Witnes in the heauen. Selah.

38 But thou hast reiected and abhorred, thou hast bene angrie with thine Anointed.

39 Thou hast<sup>ab</sup> broken the couenant
of thy seruant, [ & profaned his<sup>ac</sup> crowne [casting it] on the ground.

40 Thou hast broken downe all his walles: thou hast layed his fortresses in ruine.

41 All that go by the way, spoile him:

Though there shall be enemies en-mies against Gods king-
dome, yet he promitteth to o-uercome them.

I will mercifully per-forme my promises to him,
notwithstanding his inimi-
ties and offences.

His power,
glorie and estate.

He shall enjoy the land
round about.

His excellent magnitie shall appeare herein that he shall be named the
sonne of God,

and the first
borne, wherein
he is a figure of Christ.

Though for the times of the people the state of this kingdome de-cayed: yet God referred till he had accomplished this promises in Christ.

2 Sam. 7. 14.

Though the faithfull answer not in all points to their question, yet
God will not breake his couenant with
them.

For God in promising back
respect to his mercie and not to mans power
in performing.

1 Ebr. 11. 11
vnto Dauid
which is a mar-
ner of othe.

As long as the sunne and
moone endure,
they shall be intreates to me of this promises.

Reuente of

conclusion of things, & by their complaines to God as though he saw not performance of his promises. And thus discharging his car-ge on God, he relieth out and impudencie.

By this he meaneth the horrible dissipation and renting of the kingdome, which was vnder Jeroboam: & by this the spirit of propheticall & than speaketh of the great miseries, which came vpon afterward to passe at the captiuitie of Babylon.

wreth to call the Psalms.

b Thou hast
bene as an

e Though man thinke his life long, which is in deede most short,
yea, though it were
a thousand yeres:
yet in Gods sight it is as nothing, and as the watch that lasteth
but three houres.

f Thou castest them away suddenly as
with a flood,

he is a rebuke vnto his neighbours.

42 Thou hast let by the right hande of his enemies, [and] made all his ad-uersaries to reioyce.

43 Thou hast also turned the edge of his sword, and hast not made him to stand in the battell.

44 Thou hast caused his dignitie to decay, and cast his thyrone to the ground.

45 The dayes of his youth hast thou shortened, [and] couered him with shame.
Selah.

46 Lord, how long wilt thou hide thy selfe, for ever: shall thy wrath burne
like fire?

47 Remember of what time I am:
wherefore shouldest thou create in vaine
all the children of men?

48 What man liueth, and shall not see death: shall he deliuer his soule from the hand of the graue: Selah.

49 Lord, where are thy former mercies, [which] thou swarest vnto Dauid
in thy trouth?

50 Remember, O Lord, the rebuke of thy seruants, which I beare in my bosome of all the mightie people.

51 For thyne enemies haue reproched [thee], O Lord, because they haue repro-ched the footesteps of thine Anointed.

52 Praised [be] the Lord for ever:
more, So be it, euen so be it.

PSAL XC.

1 Spokes in his prayer letteth before vs the eternall fauour of God toward his, 3 Who are neither admonished by the heuenitie of their life, 7 Who by his plagues to be thankfull, 12
Therefore Spokes prayeth God to turne their heares and continue his mercies toward them, and their posteritie for euer.

A prayer of Moses, the man of God.

Before thou hast bene our habitation from generation to generation.

2 Before the mountaines were made, and [before] thou hadst formed the earth, and the world, euen from euermlasting to euermlasting thou art [our]
God.

3 Thou turnest man to destruction:
again thou sayest, Returne, ye sonnes
of Adam.

4 For a thousande yeres in thy sight
[are] as yesterday when it is past, and [as] a watch in the night.

5 Thou hast overflowed them: they are [as] a sleepe: in the morning he groweth
like the grasle:

6 In the morning it flourisheth, and groweth, [but] in the evening it is cut downe, and is as chaff, which is blowne away

as with a flood.

downe and withereth.

7 For we are consumed by thine anger, and by thy wrath are we troubled.

8 Thou hast let our iniquities before thee, [and] our secret finnes in the light of thy countenance.

9 For all our dayes are past in thine anger: we haue spent our yeres as a thought.

10 The time of our life [is] threescore
yeres and ten, and if they be of strength, fourscore yeres: yet thy strength [is] but labour and sorrow: for it is cut off quickly, and we slee away.

11 Who knoweth the power of thy wrath: for according to thy feare [is] thine anger.

12 Teach vs so to number our dayes, that we may applie [our] heartes vnto
wildome.

13 Returne (O Lord, how long?)
and be pacified toward thy seruants.

14 Fill vs with thy mercie in the morning: so shall we reioyce and be glad all our dayes.

15 Comfort vs according to the dayes that thou hast afflicted vs, [and] according to the yeres that we haue seene euill.

16 Let thy worke be seene towarde thy seruants, and thy glorie vpon their children.

17 And let the beautie of the Lord
our God be vpon vs, and direct thou
the worke of our handes vpon vs, euen direct the worke of our handes.

As well to their posteritie, as to them, so Spokes prayeth for the posteritie, p. Meaning, that it was obserued, when he ceased to do good to his Church, q. For except thou guide vs in thine holy spirit, our enterprises can haue no good successe.

PSAL CXI.

1 Here is described in what assurance he liueth that putteth his whole trust in God, and committeth himselfe wholly to his protection in all tentations, 14 A promise of God to those that loue him, know him and trust in him, to deliuer them, and giue them immortall glorie.

Who so dwelleth in the secret

because he hath knowen my Name.

15 He shall call upon me, and I will heare him: I will be with him in trouble: I will deliver him, and glorifie him.

16 With long life will I satisfie him,
and shewe him my saluation.

PSAL XCII.

1 This Psalm was made to be sung on the Sabbath, to stirre up the people to acknowledge God and to praise him in his workes: the Prophet rejoyceth therein. 2 But the wicked is not able to consider that the wogoly, when he is most flor-ishing, shall most speedily perill. 12 In the end is described the felicitie of the iust, planted in the house of God to praise
the Lord.

A Psalm of song for the Sabbath day.

IS is a good thing to praye
the Lord, and to sing unto
thy Name, O most high,
2 To declare thy louing
kindnes in the morning, and thy truth
in the night,

3 Upon an instrument of ten strings, and upon the viole with the song upon
the harpe.

4 For thou, Lord, hast made me glad by thy workes, [and] I will reioyce in the workes of thine hands.

5 O Lord, holwe glorious are thy workes: thy thoughts are very deepe.

6 An unwise man knoweth it not,
and a foole doeth not vnderstand this.

7 When wicked growe as grass, and the wicked consider not Gods workes, nor his iudgements against them, and therefore must daily perill,

and at the workes of wickednes do flourish, that they shall be destroyed for ever.

8 But thou, O Lord, art most high for evermore.

9 For lo, thine enemies, O Lord: for lo, thine enemies shall perill: all the workes of iniquitie shall be destroyed.

10 But thou shalt exalt mine home, like the buicomes, [and] I shall be anointed
with fresh oyle.

11 Mine eye also shall see [my desire] against mine enemies: and mine eares shall heare [my wishe] against the wicked, that rise up against me.

12 The righteous shall flourish like a palme tree, [and] shall growe like a cedar in Lebanon.

13 Such as be planted in the house of the Lord, shall flourish in the courtes of our God.

14 They shall still bring forth fruite in [their] age: they shall be fat & flourishing.

15 To declare that the Lord my rocke is righteous, and that none iniquitie is in him.

PSAL XCIII.

1 He prayeth the power of God in the creation of the world, and beareth vnto all people which lift them up against his maiestie, 5 And prouoketh to consider his promises.

The Lord reigneth, [and] is clothed with maiestie: the Lord is clothed, [and] girded
with power: the worlde
also shall be established, that it cannot be moued.

2 Thy throne is established of olde:
thou art from everlasting.

3 The floods haue lifted by, O Lord:
the floods haue lifted by their boye: the floods lift by their waues.

4 The waues of the sea [are] maruelous through the noise of many waters, [yet] the Lord on high is more mightie.

5 Thy testimonies are verie sure: honours becommeth thine house, O Lord, for ever.

gent mercie also appeareth in f he hath given his word & covenant.

PSAL XCIII.

1 He prayeth vnto God against the violence and arrogancie of hypocrites, 10 Warning them of Gods iudgements. 12 Then doeth he comfort the afflicted by the good stile of their afflictions, as he felt in himselfe, and did see in others, and by the ruine of the wicked, 22 Whom the Lord will destroy.

Lord God the auenger, O God the auenger, shewe thy selfe clearly.

2 Exalt thy selfe, O Judge of the worlde, [and] render a reward to the proude.

3 Lord, how long shall the wicked, how long

f Thy iudgments are most evident against
the wicked,
and passe our reach.

g Thou wilt strengthen the wicked with power,
and bleste them
to all felicitie.

h Though the
faithfull seeme
to wither and
be cut downe
yet they shall growe againe
and flourish in the Church of God, as the cedars do in moor Lebanon.

i The children
of God shall bear a power as beasts nature,
and their age
shall bring forth most richly fruite.

a As God by his power and wisdom hath made and gouerneth the worlde: so mult the same
be our defence
against all enemies and dangers.

b Likewise
thou shalt and governest the worlde.

c Gods power
appeareth in ruling the fi-
erous waters,
d Besides Gods power
and wisdom
in creating and governing, his

gent mercie also appeareth in f he hath given his word & covenant.

g Those office
it is to take vengeance on
the wicked.

h Sheweth the effect that thou art Judge of the worlde to punish the wicked.

PSAL. XCV.

1 An earnest rehotation to praise God. 4 For the gouernment of the worlde, and the election of his Church. 8 An admonition not to followe the rebellion of the olde fathers, that tempted God in the wilderness: 11 Of the which they might not enter into the land of promise.

Gome, let vs reioyce vnto the Lord: let vs sing aloud vnto the rocke of our saluation. 2 Let vs come before his face with praye: let vs sing loude vnto him with Psalmes.

3 For the Lord [is] a great God, and a great King about all gods.

4 In whole hand [are] all the deepe places of the earth, and the heights of the mountaines [are] his:

5 To whom the Sea [belongeth:] for he made it, and his hands formed the drye land.

6 Come, let vs worship and fall downe, and kneele before the Lord our maker.

7 For he is our God, & we are the people of his pasture, and the sheepe of his hand: to day, if ye will heare his voyce,

8 Harden not your heart, as [in] Meribah, [and] as in the day of Massah in the wilderness.

9 Where your fathers *tempted me, pzooued me, though they had seene my worke.

10 For tenn yeeres haue I contended with this generation, and sayd, They are a people that erre in heart, for they haue not knowne my wayes.

11 Wherefore I sware in my wrath, [sayng,] Surely they shall not enter into my rest.

[Or] in strife: whereof the place was so called. [Or] temptation, reade Exod. 17. 7. Exod. 17. 2. nomb. 14. 22. 8 They were without iudgement and reason, that is, into the land of Canaan, where he promised them rest.

PSAL. XCVI.

1 An exhortation both to the Iewes and Gentiles to praise God for his merite. And this specially ought to be referred to the king come of Christ.

Sing vnto the Lord a newe song: sing vnto the Lord, all the earth.

2 Sing vnto the Lord, [and] praye his Name: declare his saluation from day to day.

3 Declare his glorie among all nations, [and] his wonders among all people.

4 For the Lord [is] great and much to be prayled: he is to be feared about all goddes.

5 For al the goddesses of the people [are] hee hath appointed.

a He sheweth that Gods service standeth not in dead ceremonies, but chiefly in the sacrifice of piety and thanksgiuing. b Euen the Angels (who in respect of me are thought as Gods) are nothing in his sight: much lesse the woldes, which mans braine misreth.

c All things are gouerned by his prouident hand.

d Now these three wordes be significant one thing: meaning, that they must wholly giue themselves to serue God.

e That is, the flocke whom he gouerneth with his owne hand. He teacheth wherem they are Gods flocke: that is, if they heare his voyce.

f By the conuincing of Gods word.

a The Prophet sheweth that the time shall come, that all nations shall haue occasion to praise the Lord for the reuelling of his Gospel. b Seeing he will reuile himselfe to all nations contrary to their owne expectation, they ought all to worship him contrary to their owne imaginations, and onely as hee hath appointed.

¶ Moles:

long shall the wicked triumph: 4 They prate [and] speake fiercely: all the workers of iniquitie vaunt themselves.

5 They knit downe thy people, O Lord, and trouble thine heritage.

6 They slay the widow & the stranger, and murder the fatherles.

7 Yet they say, The Lord shall not see: neither will the God of Iacob regard it.

8 Understand ye brutish among the people: & ye fooles, when wil ye be wise:

9 He that planted the eare, shall he not heare: or he that formed the eye, shall he not see?

10 O he that chastiseth the nations, shall he not correct he that teacheth man knowledge, [shall he not knowe:]

11 The Lord knoweth the thoughtes of man, that they are vaine.

12 Blessed [is] the man, whom thou chastisest, O Lord, and teachest him in thy Lawe, 13 That thou maiest giue him rest fro the dayes of euill, whiles the pit is digged for the wicked.

14 Surely the Lord will not faile his people, neither will he forsake his inheritance.

15 For iudgement shall returne to iustice, and all the vpright in heart [shall follo]we after it.

16 Who will rise vp with me against the wicked: [or] who will take my part against the workers of iniquitie:

17 If the Lord had not holpen mee, my soule had almost dwelt in silence.

18 When I saide, My foote slideth, thy mercie, O Lord, stayed me.

19 In the multitude of my thoughts in mine heart, thy comforts haue reioyced my soule.

20 Hath the throne of iniquitie fellowship with thee, which forgett wrōg for a laide:

21 They gather them together against the soule of the righteous, & condemn the innocent blood.

22 But the Lord is my refuge, and my God [is] the rocke of mine hope.

23 And he will recompense them their wickednesse, and destroy them in their owne malice: yea, the Lord our God shall destroy them.

1 When I thought there was no way but death. 2 In my trouble and distress I euer found thy present helpe. 3 Though the wicked Iudges pretend iustice in oppressing the Church, yet they haue not that authority of God. 4 It is a great token of Gods iudgement, when the purpose of the wicked is broken, but most, when they are destroyed by their owne malice.

[Or, vanities.

c Then the idols, of what louer made
not the hea-
uens, are not
God.

d God cannot be knowne,
but by his strength and glorie: the signes whereof appeare in his sanctuarie.

e As by experience we see that it is onely
due vnto him.

f By offering vp your selues
wholly vnto
God, declare that you worship him onely.

g The proph-etie that the

1 An earnest exhortation to all creatures to praise the Lord for his power, merite and sweetie in his promises by Christ, his righteousness hath he reucaled in the sight of the nations.

3 He hath<sup>d</sup> remembered his merite and his trusty towards the house of Israel: all the ends of the earth haue scene
the saluation of our God.

4 All the earth, sing ye loude vnto the Lord: crie out and reioyce, and sing
psayles.

5 Sing psayle to the Lord vpon the harpe, [euen] vpon the harpe with a singing voyce.

6 With<sup>e</sup> shalmes and sound of trumpets sing loud before<sup>f</sup> the Lord the King.

7 Let the sea roare, & all that therein
is, the world, & they that dwell therein.

8 Let the floods clap their hands,

My soule, praise thou the Lord,

2 My soule, praise thou the Lord, and forget not all his benefites.

3 Which forgiveth all thine iniquitie,

6 The Lord executeth righteousness and iudgement to all that are oppressed.

7 He made his wayes knowne vnto Holes, [and] his workes vnto the children of Israel.

8 The Lord is full of compassion and mercy, slow to anger, & of great kindness.

9 He will not alway chide, neither keepe his anger for euer.

10 Hee hath not dealt with vs after our sinnes, nor rewarded vs according to our iniquities.

11 For as high as the heauen is above

West: so farre hath hee remoued our sinnes from vs.

13 As a father hath compassion on his children, so hath the Lord compassion on them that feare him.

14 For he knoweth whereof we bee

PSAL. CIII.

1 An excellent Psalm to praise God for the creation of the world, & the gouernance of the same by his marvellous prouidence, 33 Wherein the Prophet prayeth against the wicked, who are occasions that God diminisheth his blessing.

M

My soule, praise thou the Lord:
O Lord my God, thou art
exceeding great, thou art clothed with glory and honour.

2 Which couereth himselfe with light as with a garment, [ & ] spre-deth the heauens like a curtaine.

3 Which layeth the beames of his chambers in the waters, and maketh the cloudes his chariot, and walketh by on the wings of the winde.

4 Which maketh the spirits his messengers, [ & ] a flaming fire his ministers.
5 He set the earth vpon her fundations, so that it shall neuer moue.

6 Thou coueredst it with the deepe as with a garment: the waters would stand about the mountaines.

7 But at thy rebuke they flee: at the voyle of thy thunder they haue away.

8 And the mountaines ascend, [ and ] the baileis defende to the place which thou hast established for them.

9 But thou hast set them a bounde, which they shall not passe: they shall not returne to couer the earth.

10 Hee sendeth the springs into the baileis, which run betwene the moun-taines.

11 They shall giue drinke to all the beasts of the field, and the wilde asses shall quench their thirst.

12 By these springs shall the fowles of the heauen dwell, and sing among the branches.

13 He watereth the mountaines from his chambers, [ and ] the earth is filled with the fruit of thy workes.

14 He causeth grasse to growe for the cattell, and hearbe for the vse of man, that he may bring forth bread out of the earth.

15 And wine [ that ] maketh glad the heart of man, [ and ] ioye to make the face to shine, and bread [ that ] strengtheneth mans heart.

16 The high trees are satisfied, [ euen ]
the cedars of Lebanon, which he hath planted,

planted,

17 That the birdes may make their nests there: the stork dwelleth in the firre trees.

18 The high mountaines [ are ] for the goates: the rockes [ are ] a refuge for the conies.

19 Hee appointed the moone for certaine seasons: the sunne knoweth his going downe.

20 Thou makest darkenesse, and it is night, wherein all the beasts of the forrest creepe forth.

21 The lions roare after their pray,
and seeke their meate at God.

22 When the sunne riseth, they retire,
and couch in their denues.

23 Then goeth man forth to his worke, and to his labour until the euening.

24 O Lord, how manifold are thy workes! in wisdom hast thou made the
all: the earth is full of thy riches.

25 [ Sois ] this sea great and wide:
[ for ] therein [ are ] things creeping innumerable, both finall beasts and great.

26 There go the shippes, yea, [ that ] Lulatham, whom thou hast made to play therein.

27 All these waite vpon thee, O thou mayest giue them fooode in due season.

28 Thou giuest it to them, [ and ] they gather it: thou openest thine hand, [ and ] they are filled with good things.

29 But if thou hide thy face, they are troubled: if thou take away their breth, they die and returne to their dust.

30 Again if thou sende forth thy spirit, they are created, and thou renewest
the face of the earth.

31 Glorie be to the Lord for euer: let
the Lord reioyce in his workes.

32 Hee looketh on the earth and it trembleth: he toucheth the mountaines, and they smoke.

33 I will sing vnto the Lord [ all ] my life: I wil praise my God, while I liue.

34 Let my wordes be acceptable vnto him: I will reioyce in the Lord.

35 Let the sinners be consumed out of the earth, and the wicked all there be no more: O my soule, praise thou the Lord. Praise ye the Lord.

Prayle

a Forasmuch as the Israelites were exempted from the common condemnation of the world, and were elected to be Gods people, the Prophet wil- leth them to shew themselves mindful by thanks giuing.

b By the strength and face, he meaneth the Ark where God declared his power and his presence.

c Which he hath wrought in the deliuerance of his people.

d Because his power was shewed as kindly declared, as if he should haue declared it by mouth.

e The promises which God made to Abraham to be his God, and the God of his seede after him, he renewed and repeated it againe to his seede after him.

f He sheweth that they should not enjoy the land of Canaan by any other means, but by reason of his covenant made with their fathers.

g That is, the King of Egypt and the King of Sear, Gen. 12. 17. 30. 31.

h Those whom I haue sanctified to be my people.

i Spanning the old fathers, to whom God bound himselfe plainly, who were seedes forth of his body.

k Either by sending scarcitie, or by taking away the strength and nourishment thereof. l So long he suffered aduersitie, as God had appointed, and till hee had reied sufficiently his patience. m That the wise princes of the countrey should be at Iosephs commandment and learne wisdom at him.

Raise the Lord, [and] say by- on his Name: declare his workes among the people.

2 Sing vnto him, sing prayse vnto him, [and] talke of all his wonderous workes.

3 Reioyce in his holy Name: let the heart of them that seeke the Lorde, reioyce.

4 Seeke the Lord and his strength: seeke his face continually.

5 Remember his marvellous workes, that he hath done, his wonders and the iudgements of his mouth,

6 Hee seede of Abraham his seruant, ye children of Iacob, which are his elect.

7 He is the Lord our God: his iudgements are through all the earth.

8 He hath alway remembered his covenat [and] promises, that he made to a thousand generations,

9 [Euen] that which he made with Abraham and his othe vnto Izhak:

10 And [since] hath confirmed it to Iacob for a law, [and] to Israel for an euertlasting covenant, 11 Saying, Vnto thee wil I giue the land of Canaan, for lot of your inheritance.

12 Albeit they were fewe in number, [yea,] very fewe & strangers in the land,

13 And walked about from nation to nation, from one kingdome to another people,

14 [Yet] suffered hee no man to doe them wrong, but repressed Kings for their sakes, saying,

15 Touch not mine annoynted, and do my Prophets no harme.

16 Moreover hee called a famine vpon the land, [and] utterly brake the staffe of bread.

17 [But] he sent a man before them: Ioseph was sold for a slave.

18 They held his feete in the stocks, [and] he was layd in yrons,

19 Until his appointed time came, [and] the counsell of the Lord had tryed him.

20 The king sent and loosed him: [eue] the Ruler of the people deliuered him.

21 He made him lord of his house, and ruler of all his substance,

22 That hee should binde his princes vnto his will, and teach his Ancients wisdom.

23 Then Israel came to Egypt, and k. Either by sending scarcitie, or by taking away the strength and nourishment thereof. l So long he suffered aduersitie, as God had appointed, and till hee had reied sufficiently his patience. m That the wise princes of the countrey should be at Iosephs commandment and learne wisdom at him.

Iacob was a stranger in the lande of Ham.

24 And he increased his people exceedingly, and made them stronger then their oppressours.

25 He turned their heart to hate his people, and to deale craftily with his seruants.

26 [Then] sent he Moses his seruant, [and] Aaron whom he had chosen.

27 They shewed among them the message of his signes, & wonders in the land of Ham.

28 Hee sent darkenesse, and made it darke: and they were not disobedient vnto his commission.

29 He turned their waters into blood, and slew their fish.

30 Their land brought forth frogs, [euen] in their Kings chambers.

31 Hee spake, & there came swarmes of flies, [and] lice in all their quarters.

32 Hee gaue them haile for raine, [and] flames of fire in their land.

33 He smote their vines also and their figge trees, and brake downe the trees in their coastes.

34 Hee spake, and the grasshoppers came, and caterpillers innumerable,

35 And did eate vp all the grasse in their lande, and deuoured the fruite of their ground.

36 He smote also all the first borne in their lande, [euen] the beginning of all their strength.

37 Hee brought them forth also with siluer and golde, and there was none feeble among their tribes.

38 Egypt was glad at their departing: for the feare of them had fallen vpon them.

39 He spred a cloude to be a covering, and fire to giue light in the night.

40 They asked, and hee brought quailles, and hee filled them with the bread of heauen.

41 He opened the rocke, and the waters flowed out, [and] ran in the drie places [like] a riuier.

42 For he remembered his holy promises to Abraham his seruant,

43 And hee brought forth his people with ioy, [&] his chosen with gladnes,

44 And gaue them the landes of the heathen, and they took the labours of the people in possession, 45 That they might keepe his statutes, and obserue his Lawes. Praise ye the Lorde.

n So it is in God, either to moue the hearts of the wicked to loue vs, or to hurt gods children.

o Spanning, of fess and Aaron.

p So that this vermine came not by fortune, but as God had appointed and his Prophet Moses spake.

q It was strange to see raine in Egypt, much more it was fearful to see haile.

r He sheweth that all creatures are armed against man, who God is his enemy: as at his commandment the grasshoppers destroyed the land.

s When these enemies felt gods plaguies, his children by his prouidence were exempted.

t For gods plaguies caused them rather to depart with the Israelites then with their ciues.

u For so necessary, but for satisfying of their lust.

x Which hee confirmed to the posteritie, in whom after a sort the deauil & enjoy the promises.

y When the Egyptians lamented and were destroyed.

z This is the end, when God prefereth his Church, because they should worship him, and call vpon him in this world.

PSAL. CVI.

2 The people differ so vnder Antiochus to magnifie the goodnes of God among the iust and repentant: 4 Desiring to be brought againe into the lande by Gods mercifull visitation. 8 And after the manifold maruelles of God wrought in their deliuerance forth of Egypt, and the great ingratitude of the people rehearsed, 47 They pray and desire to be gathered from among the heathen, so the intent they may praye the Name of the God of Israel.

Pray ye the Lord.

Raise ye the Lorde because he is good, for his mercy endureth for ever. 2 Who can expresse the noble actes of the Lorde, [or] shew forth all his praye:

3 Blessed are they that keepe iudgement, and do righteoulines at all times.

4 Remember me, O Lord, with the fauour of thy people: visite mee with thy saluation.

5 That I may see the felicitie of thy chosen, & reioyce in the top of thy people, and glorie with thine inheritance.

6 We haue sinned with our fathers: we haue committed iniquitie, [and] done wickedly.

7 Our fathers vnderstode not thy wonders in Egypt, neither remembered they þ multitude of thy mercies, but rebelled at the Sea, [even] at the red Sea.

8 Neuertheless he saued them for his Names sake, that hee might make his power to be knowne.

9 And he rebuked the red Sea, and it was dried vp, and he ledde them in the deepe, as in the wilderness.

10 And he saued them from the aduersaries hande, and deliuered them from the hand of the enemye.

11 And the Waters covered their oppressours: not one of them was left.

12 Then beleued they his wordes, [and] sang praye vnto him.

13 But incontinently they forgate his workes: they waited not for his counsel.

14 But lusted with concupiscence in the wilderness, and tempted God in the desert.

15 Then he gaue them their desire: but he sent leanness into their soule.

16 They enuied Moles also in þ tents, [and] Aaron the holy one of the Lord.

17 Therefore the earth opened and swallowed vp Dathan, and covered the companie of Abiram.

18 And the fire was kindled in their assemblie: the flame burnt vp þ wicked.

19 The abundance that God gaue them, polluted not, but made them vne away, because God curse it. 1 By the greatnes of the punishment the heynous offence may be considered: for they that rise against Gods ministers, rebell against him.

19 They made a calse in Horeb, and worshipped the molten image.

20 Thus they turned their glorie in to the similitude of a bullock, that eateth grasse.

21 They forgate God their Saviour, which had done great things in Egypt.

22 Wonderful workes in the land of Ham, & fearefull things by the red Sea.

23 Therefore hee minded to destroy them, had not Moles his chosen stande in the breach before him to turne away his wrath, lest he should destroy them.

24 Also they contemned that pleasant land, [and] beleued not his wordes, 25 But murmured in their tents, [and] hearkened not vnto the voice of þ Lord.

26 Therefore he lifted vp his hand against the, to destroy the in þ wilderness.

27 And to destroy their seed among the nations, and to scatter them through out the countries.

28 They toynd themselves also vnto Baal-peor, and did eate the offerings of the dead.

29 Thus they prouoked him vnto anger with their owne inuentions, and the plague brake in vpon them.

30 But Phinehas stood vp, and executed iudgement, and the plague was stayed.

31 And it was imputed vnto him for righteousness from generation to generation for ever.

32 They angered him also at the waters of Meribah, so that Moles was punished for their sakes.

33 Because they deied his spirit, so that he spake vnadvisedly with his lips.

34 Neither destroyed they the people, as the Lord had commanded them.

35 But were mingled among the heathen, and learned their workes.

36 And serued their idoles, which were their ruine.

37 Bea, they offered their sonnes, and their daughters vnto deuils.

38 And shed innocent blood, [even] the blood of their sonnes, & of their daughters, who they offered vnto the idoles of Canaan, & the land was defiled w blood.

39 Thus were they stained with their owne workes, and went a whoring with their owne inuentions.

40 Therefore was the wrath of þ Lord kindled against his people, & hee abhor-

to sinne. 4 Hee bereth holie monstrous a thing idolatry is, which can burne vs to things adioyning to nature, whereas Gods worke can not obteyne most small things. 5 Then true chastitie is to cleane vnto any and vnto God, k He bereth that all idolaters renounce God to bee their glorie, when in steade of him they worship any creature, much more wood, stone, metall, or caltice.

l If Moses by his intercession had not obtained Gods fauour against their rebellions.

m That is, Canaan, which was as it were an earnest penne of the heauynly inheritance.

n That is, he sauer. Some time also it meaneth to punish.

o Which was the moie of the Apostles.

p Sacrifices offered to the dead idoles.

q Signifying, that whatsoeuer man inuentioneth of himselfe to serue God by, is detestable and prouoketh his anger.

r When all other neglected Gods glorie, hee in his zeale killed the adulterers, and preuented Gods wrath.

Non. 2. 12. 1 This act declared his lively faith, and for his faiths sake he was accepted.

Non. 20. 13. 2 It is notable a Prophet of God escape not punishment though others prouoked him to sinne, howe much more shall they be subiect to Gods iudgement, which cause Gods children red his owne inheritance.

41 And he gaue them into the hande of the heathen: and they that hated the, were lords ouer them.

42 Their enemies also oppressed the, & they were humbled vnder their hand.

43 Many a time did he deliuer them, but they prouoked him by their counsels: therefore they were brought dolne by their iniquitie.

44 Yet he saue when they were in affliction, and he heard their crye.

45 And he remembered his couenant toward them, and repented according to the multitude of his mercies,

46 And gaue them fauour in the fight of all them that led them captiues.

47 Saue vs, O Lord our God, and gather vs from among the heathen, that wee may praise thine holy Name, and glorie in thy praise.

48 Blessed be the Lord God of Israel for euer and euer, and let all the people say, So be it. Praise ye the Lord.

PSAL CVII.

1 The Prophet exhorteth all those that are redeemed by the Lord, and gathered vnto him, to giue thanks, 2 For this mercifull prouidence of God, governing all things at his good pleasure, 3 Sending good and euill, prosperitie and aduersitie to hying men vnto him. 4 Therefore as the righteous thereto receiue, so shall the wicked haue their mouthes stopped.

Praise the Lord, is good: for his mercie endureth for euer.

2 Let them, which haue bene redeemed of the Lord, shew how he hath deliuered them from the hand of the oppressour.

3 And gathered them out of the lands, from the East and from the West, from the North and from the South.

4 When they wandred in the desert, and wilderness out of the way, [and] found no cite to dwell in,

5 Both hungrie [and] thirstie, their soule fainted in them.

6 Then they cried vnto the Lord in their trouble, [and] he deliuered them from their distresse.

7 And led the forth by the right way, that they might go to a cite of habitatio.

8 Let them therefore confesse before the Lord his louing kindnes, & his wonderfull workes before the sonnes of men.

9 For he fastidied the thirstie soule, and filled the hungry soule with goodnes.

10 They, that dwell in darkenes and in the shadowe of death, being bound in miserie and yron,

11 Because they rebelled against the wordes of the Lord, and despised the counsell of the most high,

12 Whē he humbled their heart with heauinesse, [then] they fell dolne and there was no helper.

13 Then they cryed vnto the Lord in their trouble, [and] he deliuered them from their distresse.

14 He brought the out of darkenesse and [out of] the shadowe of death, and brake their bands asunder.

15 Let the [therefore] confesse before the Lord his louing kindnes, & his wonderfull workes before the sonnes of men.

16 For hee hath broken the gates of brasle, & blast y barres of yron alunder.

17 Fooles by reason of their transgression and because of their iniquities are afflicted.

18 Their soule abhorreth all meate, and they are brought to deaths doore.

19 Then they crye vnto the Lord in their trouble, [and] he deliuereth them from their distresse.

20 He sendeth his word and healeth them, and deliuereth them from their graues.

21 Let them [therefore] confesse before the Lord his louing kindnes, & his wonderfull workes before the sonnes of men.

22 And let them offer sacrifices of praise, and declare his workes with reioycing.

23 They that go dolne to the sea in ships, and occupy by great waters,

24 They see the workes of the Lord, and his wonders in the deepe.

25 For hee commandeth and raiseth the storme winde, and it lifteth vp the waues thereof.

26 They mount vp to the heauen, [and] descend to the deepe, so that their soule melteth for trouble.

27 They are tossed to and fro, and stagger like a drunken man, and all their cunnings is gone.

28 Then they crye vnto the Lord in their trouble, [and] he bringeth them out of their distresse.

29 He turneth the storme to calme, so that the waues thereof are still.

30 When they are quieted, they are glad, & hee bringeth them vnto the haven, where they would be.

y The Prophet sheweth that neither by menaces, nor promises we can come to God, except hee be altogether newly reformed, and that his mercie ouercome and hide our malice. 2 But God is changeable in himselfe, but that then he seemeth to us to repent, while he altereth his punishment, & forgiveth vs. 3 As the Church, which is dispersed, and give vs confidence vnder the crosse, that with one consent we may all praise thee.

a This notable sentence was in the beginning vsed, as if some of you were of the long, which was accustomed to see. b As this was true in the Jewes, so is there none of Gods elect, that feele not his helpe in their needfull. c Or, from the sea: meaning the red sea, which is on the South part of the land. d He sheweth that there is none affliction so grievous, out of which God will not deliuer his, and also exhorteth them, that are deliuered, to be minfull of so great a benefite.

n When their art and meanes faile them, they are compello to confess that only Gods prouidence both protect them. o Though before every way seemed to fight one against another, yet at his commandment they are as still, as though they were frosen.

f He declareth
that the curse
of God is upon p extortion-
ers: who thinking to curse their children by their unlawfull gotten goods, are by Gods iust
iudgement deprived of all.

g Thus punisheth the Lord
to the third and fourth generation the wicked-
nes of the parents in their wicked children.

h He sheweth
that God ac-

fering, so shew
thy self in effect.

m Speaking,
that he hath
no stay nor assurance in his word.

n For bringing,
that came of sorrow, he was leane, and his natural mo-
dure failed
him.

o The more griuous that Satan afflicted him, the more earnest
and instant
was he in prayer.

p They shall gaine nothing
by cursing me,

11 Let the extortioner catche all that he hath, and let the stranger spoyle his labour.

12 Let there be none to extend mercie vnto him: neither let there be any to shewe mercie vpon his fatherles children.

13 Let his posteritie bee destroyed, [and] in the generation following let their name be put out.

14 Let the iniquitie of his fathers be had in remembrance with the Lord:
and let not the sinne of his mother bee
done away.

15 But let them all way be before the Lord, that he may cut off their memory all from the earth.

16 Because hee remembred not to shew mercy, but persecuted the afflicted and poore man, and the sorrowfull bea-ted to slay him.

17 As hee loued cursing, so shall it come vnto him, [and] as hee loued not blessing, so shall it be farre from him.

18 As hee clothed him selfe with cursing like a rayment, so shall it come into his bowels like water, and like oyle into his bones.

19 Let it bee vnto him as a garment to couer him, & for a girdle, wherewith
he shall be allway girded.

20 Let this bee the rewarde of mine aduersarie: from the Lord, and of the,
that speake euill against my soule.

21 But thou, O Lord my God, deale with me according vnto thy Name: deliver me, (for thy mercie is good)

22 Because I am poore and needie, &
mine heart is wounded within me.

23 I depart like the shadowe that de-clineth, and am shaken off as the grahopper.

24 My knees are weake through fasting, and my flesh hath lost all fatnes.

25 I became also a rebuke vnto the:
they that looked vpon mee, shaken their heads.

26 Helpe me, O Lord my God: saue
me according to thy mercie.

27 And they shall knowe, that this is thine hande, [and that] thou, Lord, hast done it.

28 [Though] they curse, yet thou wilt blesse: they shall arise and bee confounded, but thy seruant shall reioyce.

29 Let mine aduersaries be clothed with shame, & let the couer them selues
with their confusion, as with a cloke.

30 I will giue thanks vnto the Lord greatly with my mouth, and praise him

among the multitude.

31 For he will stand at the right hand of the poore, to saue him from them that would: condemne his soule.

Hereby he sheweth that he had not to doe with them, that were of liue power,
er, but with the iunges and priuers of the woyle.

6 He hath shewed to his people the power of his workes in giuing vnto the heritage of the heathen.

d As God promised to take the care of his Church in effect both he declare himselfe true in the government of the same.

e They onely are wise, that feare God, and none haue vnderstanding, but they that obey his word.

f To wit, his commandments, as verse 7.

10 The beginning of wisdom [is] the feare of the Lord: all they that obserue them, haue good vnderstanding: his praye endureth for ever.

PSAL. CXII.

1 Hee prayeth the felicitie of them that feare God, 10 And condemneth the cursed fate of the contemners of God.

Prayse ye the Lord.

Blessed [is] the man, that feareth the Lord, [and] believeth greatly in his commandments.

a He meaneth that reverent feare, which is in the children of God, whic causeth them to belie onely in the worke of God.

b The Godly shall haue abundance and contentment, because their heart is satisfied in God onely.

c The faithful in all their aduersities know that all shall goe well with them: for God will be mercifull and iust.

d He denieth what is the fruit of mercede: to leaue freely and not for gain, and so to measure his doings, that he may be able to helpe where need requirerh, and not to bestow all on himselfe.

e The godly pinch not niggardly, but distribute liberally, as the necessitie of the poore requirerh, and as his power is able.

2 His seede shall be mightie vpon earth: the generation of the righteous shall be blessed.

3 Riches and treasures [shall be] in his house, and his righteousness endureth for ever.

4 Vnto the righteous ariseth light in darkenesse: [he is] mercifull and full of compassion and righteous.

5 A good man [is] mercifull and lowly, [and] will measure his affaires by iudgement.

6 Surely he shall neuer be mooued: [but] the righteous shall be had in everlasting remembrance.

7 He will not be afraid of euill tidings: [for] his heart is fixed, [and] believeth in the Lord.

8 His heart is stablished: [therefore] he will not feare, until he see [his desire] vpon his enemies.

9 He hath distributed [and] giuen to the poore: his righteousness remaineth for ever: his home shall be exalted with glorie.

10 The Wicked shall see it and be angry: hee shall gnash with his teeth, and consume away: the desire of the Wicked shall perish.

f His power and prosperous estate, g The blessings of God vpon his children shall cause the wicked to die for enuie.

PSAL. CXIII.

1 An exhortation to prayse the Lord for his prouidence, 7 In that that contrarie to the course of nature hee woorketh in his Church.

Prayse ye the Lord.

Praise, O ye seruants of the Lord, praise the Name of the Lord.

2 Blessed be the Name of the Lord from hence forth for ever.

3 The Lords Name is praised from the rising of the sunne vnto the going downe of the same.

4 The Lord is high above all nations, [and] his glorie above the heavens.

5 Who is like vnto the Lord our God, that hath his dwelling on high!

6 Who abaseth him selfe to beholde [things] in the heauen and in the earth.

7 He raiseth the needie out of the dust, [and] lifteth by the poore out of the dung,

8 That he may set him with the princes, euē with the princes of his people.

9 He maketh the barren woman to dwell with a familie, [and] a toyfull mother of children. Praise ye the Lord.

to high honour, and giuing the barren children, he sheweth that God woorketh not onely in his Church by ordinarie means, but also by miracles.

PSAL. CXIII.

1 How the Israelites were deliuered forth of Egypt, and of the wonderfull miracles that God wrought at that time. Which put vs in remembrance of Gods great mercie toward his Church, who, when the course of nature faileth, preferreth his miraculoso.

When Israel went out of Egypt, [and] the house of Jacob from the barbarous people.

2 Judah was his sanctification, [and] Israel his dominion.

3 The Sea sawe it and fled: Jordan was turned backe.

4 The mountaines leaped like rammes, [and] the hills as lambs.

5 What ayled ther, O Sea, that thou fleddest: O Jordan, why wast thou turned backe?

6 He mountaines, [why] leaped ye like rammes, [and ye] hills as lambs:

7 The earth trembled at the presence of the Lord, at the presence of the God of Jaakob,

8 which turneth the rocke into waterpools, [and] the flint into a fountaine of water.

his people to be inensible, when they see his power and maiestie: c That is, caused miraculously water to come out of the rocke in moat abundance, Exod. 17, 6.

PSAL. CXV.

1 A prayer of the faithfull appalled by idolatrous tyrants against whome they desire that God would succour them, 7 Trusting most constantly that God will preferre them in this their neede, seeing that he hath adopted and recruited them to his fauour, 18 Promising finally that they will not be vnmindfull of so great a benefite, if it would please God to heare their prayer, and deliuer them by his omnipotent power.

a By this often repetition he stirreth vp our cold dutie to praise God, seeing his workes are so wonderfull, and that we are created for the same cause. b If Gods glorie shine through all the world, & there, of all ought to be praised, what great commendation were it to his people, among whom chiefly it shinerh, if they should not earnestly extoll his Name? c By preferring the poore to his people, among whom chiefly it shinerh, if they should not earnestly extoll his Name? d Dought them that is, caused miraculously water to come out of the rocke in moat abundance, Exod. 17, 6.

a Because God promised to deliver them, not for their sakes, but for his name, Isa. 48. 11.

Not vnto vs, O Lord, not vnto vs, but vnto thy Name gloue the gloire, for thy louing mercie [and] for thy trueths sake.

2 Wherefore shall the heathen saye, where is now their God:

3 But our God is in heaue: he doeth whatsoeuer he will.

4 Their idoles are siluer and gold, euen the worke of mens hands.

5 They haue a mouth & speake not: they haue eyes and see not.

6 They haue eares and heare not: they haue noses and smell not.

7 They haue handes and touche not: they haue feete and walke not: neyther make they a sounde with their throte.

8 They that make them are like vnto them: so are all that trust in the.

9 O Israel, trust thou in the Lord: for he is their helpe and their chiefe.

10 O house of Aaron, trust ye in the Lord: for he is their helpe and their chiefe.

11 Ye that feare the Lord, trust in the Lord: for hee is their helper and their chiefe.

12 The Lord hath bene mindefull of vs: he will blesse, he will blesse y<sup>e</sup> house of Israel, he will blesse y<sup>e</sup> house of Aaron.

13 He will blesse them that feare the Lord, both small and great.

14 The Lord will increase his graces toward you, euen toward you & toward your children.

15 He are blessed of the Lord, which made the heauen and the earth.

16 The heauens, euen the heauens are the Lords: but he hath giuen the earth to the sonnes of men.

17 The dead praise not the Lord, neither any that go downe into y<sup>e</sup> place of silence.

18 But we will praise the Lord from henceforth & for euer. Praise ye y<sup>e</sup> Lord.

a And therefore both will gouerne and continue all things then, k And they declare through his sufficiency, so that y<sup>e</sup> world serueth him nothing, but to them his fatherly care toward men. l Though the dead set forth some gloire, yet he meaneth here, that they praise him not in his Church and Congregation.

PSAL CXVI.

1 David being in great danger of death in the desert of Babylon, perceiving the great and inestimable loue of God toward him, magnified such great mercies, 13 And protesteth that he will be thankfull for the same.

Loue the Lord, because he hath heard my voyce [and] my prayres.

2 For he hath inclined his eare vnto mee, when I did call [vpon]

him] in my dayes.

3 When the thraes of death copassed me, and the griefes of the graue taught me: when I found trouble & sorowe.

4 Then I called vpon the Name of the Lord, [saying,] I beseeche thee, O Lord, deliver my soule.

5 The Lord is mercifull & righteous, and our God is full of compassion.

6 The Lord preferreth the simple: I was in miserie and he saved me.

7 Returne vnto thy rest, O my soule: for y<sup>e</sup> Lord hath bin beneficiall vnto thee.

8 Because thou hast delivered my soule from death, mine eyes fro teares, [and] my feete from falling.

9 I shall walke before the Lord in the land of the liuing.

10 I beleened, therefore did I speake: [for] I was loze troubled.

11 I was in mysfear, Al me are lyars.

12 What shall I render vnto y<sup>e</sup> Lord for all his benefites toward me:

13 I will take the cup of saluation, & call vpon the Name of the Lord.

14 I will pay my vowes vnto y<sup>e</sup> Lord, euen now in y<sup>e</sup> presence of al his people.

15 Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his Saints.

16 Behold, Lord: for I am thy seruāt, I am thy seruāt, [&] the sonne of thine handmaide: thou hast broke my bonds.

17 I will offer to thee a sacrifice of praise, & will call vpon the Name of the Lord.

18 I will pay my vowes vnto y<sup>e</sup> Lord, euen now in y<sup>e</sup> presence of al his people.

19 In the courts of the Lords house, euen in the mids of thee, O Ierusalem.

Prayse ye the Lord.

i I perceive that God hath a care ouer his, so that he both disposeth their death, and taketh an account. k I will thank him for his benefites: for that is a iust payment, to confesse that we owe all to God.

PSAL CXVII.

i He exhorteth the Gentiles to praise God, because hee hath accomplished all well to them as to the Iewes, the promes of life euertalking by Iesus Christ.

A nations, praise yee the Lord: all yee people, praise him.

2 For his louing kindnes is great toward vs, and the trueth of the Lord endureth for euer. Praise ye the Lord.

PSAL CXVIII.

i David reieted of Saul and of the people, at the which he appointed obtained the kingdom. 4 For the time he dwelt all them, that feare the Lord, to be thankfull. And vnder his person in all this was Christ liuely set forth, who should bee of his people relected.

Praise

b That is, in euery time to take helpe, which was his, & he was in distress.

c He theweth forth the fruit of his loue in calling vpon him, confessing him to be iust and mercifull, and to helpe them that are destitute of alie & comfort.

d A thing most unexpected before, now rest vpon the Lord: for he hath bin beneficiall toward thee.

e The Lord will preferre me, and saue my life.

f I felt all these things, & therefore was moved by faith to confesse them.

g In my great distress I thought God would not regard me, which is but lye and vanitie, yet I overcame this temptation, and felt the contrary.

Because God by creating David King, shewed
his mercie toward his affected Church,

P

Rayle yee the Lorde, because hee is good : for his mercie [endureth] for euer.

2 Let Israel now saye,
That his mercie [endureth]

for euer.

3 Let the house of Aaron now saye,
That his mercie [endureth] for euer.

4 Let them, that feare the Lorde, now saye, That his mercie [endureth]
for euer.

5 I called vpon the Lorde in trouble,
[and] the Lord heard me, [and] let mee [at] large.

6 The Lorde [is] with me : [therefore] I will not feare what man can do vnto me.

7 The Lorde [is] with mee among them that helpe mee : therefore shall I see [my desire] vpon mine enemies.

8 It is better to trust in the Lorde,
then to haue confidence [in] man.

9 It is better to trust in the Lorde,
then to haue confidence in princes.

10 All nations haue compassed mee :
but in the Name of the Lord shall I destroy them.

11 They haue compassed mee, yea,
they haue compassed me : but in the Name of the Lorde I shall destroye
them.

12 They came about mee like bees, [but] they were quenched as a fire of thornes : for in the Name of the Lorde
I shall destroye them.

13 O Thou hast thrust foze at mee, that I might fall : but the Lorde hath holpen me.

14 The Lord [is] my strength and force : for he hath bene my deliuerance.

15 The voyce of ioye and deliuerance [shall be] in the tabernacles of the righteous, [saying,] The right hande of the Lorde hath done valiantly.

16 The right hande of the Lorde is exalted : the right hande of the Lorde hath done valiantly.

17 I shall not dye, but liue, & declare the workes of the Lord.

18 The Lorde hath chastened mee foze, but hee hath not deliuered mee to death.

19 Open yee vnto mee the gates of righteousnes, [that] I may go into the,
[and] praise the Lord.

20 This is the gate of the Lord : the righteous shall enter into it.

21 I will praise thee : for thou hast
hearde me, and hast bene my deliuerance.

22 The stone, [which] the builders refused, [is] the head of the corner.

23 This was the Lords doing, [and] it is marvellous in our eyes.

24 This is the day, [which] the Lord hath made : let vs reioyce & be glad in it.

25 O Lord, I pray thee, saue now : O
Lord, I pray thee now giue prosperitie.

26 Blessed [be] hee, [that] cometh in the Name of the Lord : we haue blessed you out of the house of the Lord.

27 The Lord [is] mightie, and hath giuen vs light : binde the sacrifice with cordes vnto the hornes of the altar.

28 Thou art my God, and I will praise thee, [euen] my God : therefore I will exalt thee.

29 Praise ye the Lord, because he is good : for his mercie [endureth] for euer.

with aide and
succour.
e For the knowledge of Gods word is a singular token of his fauour.

57 O Lord, [that art] my<sup>a</sup> portion, I haue determined to keepe thy wordes.
58 I made my supplicatio in thy presence with my whole heart: bee merci-full vnto me according to thy promise.
59 I haue considered my<sup>b</sup> wayes, & turned my fecte into thy testimonies.
60 I made haste and delayed not to keepe thy commandements.
61 The bandes of the wicked haue robbed me: [but] I haue not forgotten thy Lawe.
62 At midnight will I rise to giue thanks vnto thee, because of thy righteous iudgements.
63 I am<sup>c</sup> a companion of all them that feare thee, and keepe thy precepts.
64 The earth, O Lord, is full of thy mercie: teach me thy statutes.

TETH.

a Having pro-

b So Jeremie
saith, that before the Loyde
touched him,
he was like a
rafte vntamed:
so that the vte
of Gods words
is to call vs

65 O Lord, thou hast delt<sup>a</sup> graciously with thy seruant according vnto thy wordes.
66 Teache me good iudgement and knowledge: for I haue beleued thy co-
mandements.
67 Before I was<sup>b</sup> afflicted, I went astray: but now I keepe thy word.
68 Thou art good & gracious: teach me thy statutes.
69 The proude haue imagined a lye against me: [but] I will keepe thy precepts with my whole heart.
70 Their heart is fat as greale: [but]
my delite is in thy Lawe.
71 It is<sup>c</sup> good for mee that I haue bene afflicted, that I may learne thy statutes.
72 The Law of thy mouth is better vnto mee, then thousandes of golde and silver.

I O D.

a Because god
leaueth not his worke, that he hath begun,
he desireth a
newe grace:
that is, that he would continue
his mercies.
b When God
blesseth his grace toward any, hee dispo-
sith to others
that hee forgiueth
not them that trust in him.
c Ebr. in truth,

73 Thine handes haue<sup>a</sup> made me &
facioned mee: giue mee vnderstanding [therefore,] that I may learne thy co-
mandements.
74 So they that<sup>b</sup> feare thee, seeing me shall reioyce, because I haue trusted
in thy word.
75 I know, O Lord, that thy iudge-ments are<sup>c</sup> right, and that thou hast afflicted me<sup>d</sup> iustly.
76 I pray thee that thy mercie may comfort me according to thy promises vnto thy seruant.
77 Let thy tender mercies come vnto

to me, that I may<sup>e</sup> liue: for thy Lawe [is] my delite.

78 Let the proude bee ashamed: for they haue dealt wickedly: and falsly with mee: [but] I meditate in thy precepts.

79 Let such as feare thee<sup>a</sup> turne vnto me, and they that know thy testimonies.

80 Let mine heart be bynight in thy statutes, that I be not ashamed.

CAPH.

81 My soule<sup>a</sup> fainteth for thy saluation: [yet] I waite for thy word.

82 Mine eyes faile for thy promises,
saying, when wilt thou comfort me?

83 For I am like a bottel in smoke:
[yet] do I not forget thy statutes.

84 How many are the dayes of thy seruant: when wilt thou execute iudge-ment on them that persecute me?

85 The proude haue<sup>a</sup> digged pits for me, which is not after thy Lawe.

86 All thy commandements are<sup>b</sup> true:
they persecute me falsly: helpe me.

87 They had almost consumed<sup>c</sup> me vpon the earth: but I forooke not thy precepts.

LAMED.

89 O Lord, thy worde endureth for<sup>a</sup>
euer in heauen.

90 Thy truth<sup>b</sup> [is] from generation to generation: thou hast layde the foundation of the earth, and it abideth.

91 They<sup>c</sup> continue [euen] to this day
by thine ordinances: for all [are] thy ser-uantes.

92 Except thy Law had bene my de-lite, I shoude now be perished in mine affliction.

93 I will neuer forget thy precepts:
for by them thou hast quickened me.

94 I am<sup>a</sup> thine, saue me: for I haue sought thy precepts.

95 The wicked haue wayted for me to destroy me: [but] I will consider thy testimonies.

96 I haue seene an ende of all perfection: [but] thy commandement [is] exceeding large.

vnderstande his worde. d There is nothing so perfect in earth, but it hath an ende: onely Gods worde lasteth for euer.

MEM.

97 Oh how loue I thy Law! it is a<sup>a</sup> he sweeth word, except we exercise our selues therein and practise it.

98 By thy commandementes thou hast made me wisser then mine enemies: for they are euer with me.

b Whosouer doeth submit himselfe onely to Gods word, shall not onely be safe against the practises of his enemies, but also learne muche wisdome, when they that practise it, and are men of experience.

99 I haue had more vnderstanding then all my teachers: for thy testimonies [are] my meditation.

100 I vnderstande more then they the ancient, because I kept thy precepts.

101 I haue refrayned my feete from euery euill way, that I myght keepe thy word.

102 I haue not declined fro thy iudgements: for thou didest teach me.

103 Howe sweet are thy promises vnto my mouth: yea, more then honie vnto my mouth.

c So when of our felices we can doe nothing, but when God doeth inwardly instruct vs with his Spirit, we feele his graces sweeter then honie.

104 By thy preceptes I haue gotten vnderstanding: therefore I hate all the wayes of falschode.

N V N.

105 Thy worde [is] a lantern vnto my feete, and a light vnto my path.

106 I haue vborne & wil performe it, that I wil keepe thy righteous iudgements.

107 I am very sore afflicted: O Lord, quicken me according to thy word.

108 O Lord, I beseeche thee accept thy free offerings of my mouth, & teach me thy iudgements.

109 My soule is continually in mine hand: yet do I not forget thy Lawe.

110 The Wicked haue layde a snare for me: but I shaued not from thy precepts.

111 Thy testimonies haue I taken [as] an heritage for euer: for they are the top of mine heate.

112 I haue applied mine heart to fulfill thy statutes alway, [euen] vnto the ende.

I esteemed no worldly things, but made thy worde mine inheritance.

S A M E C H.

113 I hate vaine inuentions: but thy Lawe do I loue.

114 Thou art my refuge and shielde, [and] I trust in thy word.

115 Away from me, ye wicked: for I wil keepe thy commandementes of my God.

116 Stablish me according to thy promises, that I may liue, & disappoynt mee not of mine hope.

117 Stay thou me, & I shal be safe, & I wil delite continually in thy statutes.

118 Thou hast troden downe all them that depart from thy statutes: for their deceit [is] vaine.

d The crafty practises of them y cōsume the lawe, shal be brought to nought.

119 Thou hast taken away all wicked of the earth [like] dross: therefore I loue thy testimonies.

120 My flesh trembleth for feare of thee, & I am afrade of thy iudgements. obediēce, but cause mee to feare, considering mine owne wickednes, which feare causeth repentance.

121 I haue executed iudgement and iustice: leaue me not to mine oppressors.

122 And where for thy seruant in that, which is good, [and] let not the proude oppress me.

123 Mine eyes haue sayled [in] waiting for thy saluation, and for thy iust promises.

124 Deale with thy seruant according to thy mercie, and teach me thy statutes.

125 I am thy seruant: graunt mee therefore vnderstanding, that I may knowe thy testimonies.

126 It is time for thee Lord to worke: [for] they haue destroyed thy Lawe.

127 Therefore loue I thy commandementes aboue golde, yea, aboue most fine golde.

128 Therefore I esteeme all thy precepts most iust, & hate all false wayes.

129 Thy testimonies [are] wonderful: therefore doeth my soule keepe them.

130 The entrance into thy wordes sheweth light, [and] giueth vnderstanding to the simple.

131 I opened my mouth and panted, because I loued thy commandementes.

132 Look vpon me and be mercifull vnto me, as thou blest to doe vnto those that loue thy Name.

133 Direct my steppes in thy worde, and let none iniquitie haue dominion ouer me.

134 Deliuer mee from the oppression of men, and I wil keepe thy precepts.

156 Great are thy tender mercies, O Lord: quicken mee according to thy iudgements.

157 My persecutors and mine oppressors are many: yet doe I not sharme from thy testimonies.

158 I saue the transgressours and was grieved, because they kept not thy word.

159 Consider, O Lord, howe I

thy precepts: quicken me according to thy louing kindnesse.

160 The beginning of thy word is truth, and all the iudgements of thy righteousness endure: for euer.

S C H I N.

161 Princes haue persecuted me without cause, but mine heart stood in awe of thy wordes.

162 I reioyce at thy word, as one that findeth a great spoyle.

163 I hate falsehood and abhorre it, but thy Lawe do I loue.

164 Seuen times a day do I prayse thee, because of thy righteous iudgements.

165 They that loue thy Lawe, shall haue great prosperitie, & they shall haue none hurt.

166 Lord, I haue trusted in thy saluation, and haue done thy commandments.

167 My soule hath kept thy testimonies: for I loue them exceedingly.

168 I haue kept thy precepts and thy testimonies: for all my wayes are before thee.

but see thee alwayes before mine eyes, as the iudge of my doings.

T A V.

169 Let my complaint come before thee, O Lord, and giue me vnderstanding, according vnto thy word.

170 Let my supplication come before thee, and deliuer mee according to thy promises.

171 My lips shall speake praise, when thou hast taught me thy statutes.

172 My tongue shall intreate of thy word: for all thy commandments are righteous.

173 Let thine hande helpe me: for I haue chosen thy precepts.

174 I haue longed for thy saluation, O Lord, and thy Lawe is my delight.

175 Let my soule liue, & it shall praise thee, & thy iudgements shall helpe me.

176 I haue gone astray like a lost sheepe: seeke thy seruant, for I doe not forget thy commandments.

PSAL. CXXI.

a This Psalm teacheth that the faithfull ought onely to looke for helpe God, 7 Who onely doeth mainteine, preserve and prosper his Church.

I will lift vp mine eyes vnto the mountaines, from whence mine helpe shall come.

2 Mine helpe cometh from the Lord, which hath made the heauen and the earth.

3 He wil not suffer thy foote to slippe: for he keepeth thee, wil not slumber.

4 Beholde, hee that keepeth Israel, wil neither slumber nor sleepe.

5 The Lord is thy keeper: the Lord is thy shadowe at thy right hand.

6 The sunne shall not smite thee by day, nor the moone by night.

7 The Lord shall preserve thee from all euill: he shall keepe thy soule.

8 The Lord shall preserve thy going out, and thy coming in fro hence forth and for euer.

A song of degrees.

They trust in the Lord, [shall be as mount Zion, which] can not bee removed, [but] remaineth for ever.

2 As the mountaines [are] about Ierusalem: so [is] the Lord about his people from henceforth and for ever.

3 For the rod of the wicked shall not rest on the lot of the righteous, lest the righteous put forth their hande vnto wickednesse.

4 Doe well, O Lord, vnto those that be good and true in their hearts.

5 But these that turne aside by their crooked wayes, [they shall the Lord leade vnto the workers of iniquitie: [but] peace [shalbe] vpon Israel.

PSAL CXXVII.

1 This Psalm was made after the returne of the people from Babylon, and the word that he meant of their deliverance was wonderfull after the seuerie penes of captiuitie forspoken by Ieremie chap. 25, 12 & 19, 10.

A song of degrees of Psalm of David.

When the Lord brought againe the captiuitie of Zion, wee were like them that dreame.

2 Then was our mouth filled with laughter, & our tongue with joy: then sayde they among the heathen: The Lord hath done great things for them.

3 The Lord hath done great things for vs, [whereof] we reioyce.

4 O Lord, bring againe our captiuitie, as the riuers in the South.

5 They that sow in tears, shall reape in ioy.

6 They went weeping & caried precious seede: [but] they shall returne with ioy and bring their sheaues.

PSAL CXXVII.

1 He knoweth that the whole estate of the world, hath domesticall and politicall flammes by Gods mere prouidence & blessing, 2 And that to haue children well murdered is an especiall grace and gift of God.

A song of degrees of Psalm of Salomon.

Keep the Lord buyde the house, they labour in bayne that build it: except the Lord keepe the citie, [keeper] watcheth in bayne.

2 It is in bayne for you to rise early, [and] to lye downe late, [and] eate the bread of sorrowe: [but] hee will surely eat his labour, or euen with griefe of minde.

surely giue rest to his beloued.

3 Behold, children are the inheritance of the Lord, [and] the fruite of wombe [his] reward.

A song of degrees.

Blessed [is] every one that feareth the Lord, and walketh in his wayes.

2 When thou eatest the labours of thine handes, thou shalt be blessed, and it shall be well with thee.

3 Thy wife [shalbe] as the fruitefull vine on the sides of thine house, [and] thy children like the olive plants round about thy table.

4 Lo, surely thus shall the man be blessed, that feareth the Lord.

5 The Lord out of Zion shall bless thee, & thou shalt see the wealth of Ierusalem all the dayes of thy life.

crease of children, he promitteth to enrich the faithful with this gift. d Because of the spirituall blessing, which God hath made to his Church, these temporal things shalbe graunted. e For except God blessed his Church publicly, this priuate blessing were nothing.

PSAL CXXIX.

1 He admonisheth the Church to reioyce though it be afflicted. 4 For by the righteous Lord it shall be delivered, 6 And the enemies for all their glorious theyre, shall suddenly be destroyed.

A song of degrees.

They haue often times afflicted me from my youth [may] Israel noibe say

2 They haue oftentimes afflicted me from my youth: but they could not preuaile against me.

3 The plowes plowed vpon my backe, [and] made long furrowes.

4 [But] the righteous Lord hath cut the cordes of the wicked.

5 They that hate Zion, shall bee all ashamed and turned backeward.

6 They [shalbe] as the grasse on the house toppes, which withereth afore it cometh forth.

7 The enemies that lift themselves most high, and as it were approach nere to the sunne, are consumed with the heat of Gods wrath, because they are not grounded in godly humilitie.

e Not tempting them to labour, but making their labours comfortable, and as it were a rest. f That is, increased with strength and verities from God: for these are signes of Gods blessings, and not the number.

a God appoynteth not our life, except it be righteous, according to his word. b The woman flourisheth in the happy, which live in wealth and idleness: but the holy Ghost appoynteth them self, that live of the meane profit of their labours. c Because Gods fauour, appereth in none outward thing more than in increase of children.

d Because of the spirituall blessing, which God hath made to his Church, these temporal things shalbe graunted. e For except God blessed his Church publicly, this priuate blessing were nothing.

a The Church noibe as afflicted ought to remember, howe her condition hath ruer bene such from the beginning: to be molested most grievously by the wicked, yet in time it hath euer bene delivered.

b Because God is righteous, he cannot but plague his aduersaries, and deliuer his, as oren out of the plowes. c The enemies that lift themselves most high, and as it were approach nere to the sunne, are consumed with the heat of Gods wrath, because they are not grounded in godly humilitie.

7 Whereof the mouer filleth not his hand, neither the glaiuer his lap:
8 Neither they, which go by, say, The blessing of the Lord be vpon you, or, we blesse you in y<sup>e</sup> name of y<sup>e</sup> Lord.

PSAL. CXXX.

1 The people of God from their bottomlesse miseries do cry vnto God, and are heard. 2 They confesse their finnes and flee vnto Gods mercie.

A song of degrees.

Unto the deepe places haue I called vnto thee, O Lord.
2 Lord, heare my voyce: let thine eares attende to the voyce of my prayers.

3 If thou, O Lord, straitly markest iniquities, O Lord: who shall stand:
4 But mercie is with thee, that thou mayest be feared.

5 I haue waited on the Lord: my soule hath waited, and I haue trusted in his worde.

6 My soule [waiteth] on the Lord more the the morning watch watcheth for the morning.

7 Let Israel waite on the Lord: for with the Lord [is] mercy, & with him [is] great redemption.

PSAL. CXXXI.

1 Dauid charged with ambition and grieuie desire to reigne, protesteth his humilitie and modestie before God, and teacheth all men, what they should do.

A song of degrees of Psalm of Dauid.

Lord, mine heart is not haughty, neither are mine eyes lofty, neither haue I walked in great matters: & hid fro me.

2 Surely I haue behaued my selfe, like one waied from his mother, & kept silence: I am in my selfe as one that is wayned.

3 Let Israel wait on the Lord from henceforth and for euer.

PSAL. CXXXII.

1 The faithfull, grounding on Gods promises made vnto Dauid, desire that he would establish the same, both as touching his posteritie and the building of the Temple, to pray there as was foretolden, Deut. 12.5.

A song of degrees.

Remember Dauid with all his affliction.

3 I will not enter into the tabernacle of mine house, nor come vpon my palace, or, bed,

4 Nor suffer mine eyes to sleepe, nor mine eye lids to slumber,

5 Until I finde out a place for the Lord, an habitation for the mightie God of Iacob.

6 Lo, we heard of it in Ephraim, [and] found it in the fieldes of the forest.

7 We will enter into his Tabernacles, [to] worship before his footstool.

8 Arise, O Lord, [to come] into thy rest, thou, & the Arke of thy strength.

9 Let thy priests be clothed wth righteousness, and let thy Saints reioyce.

10 For thy seruant Dauides sake refuse not the face of thine Anointed.

11 The Lord hath sworne in truth vnto Dauid, and he will not shrinke fro it, saying, Of the fruite of thy body wilt I set vpon thy throne.

12 If thy sonnes keepe my covenant, and my testinomes, that I shall teache them, their sonnes also shall sitte vpon thy throne for euer.

13 For the Lord hath chosen Zion, [and] loued to dwell in it, saying,

14 This is my rest for euer: here will I dwell, for I haue a delite therein.

15 I will surely blesse her vitales, [to] will satisfie her poore with bread,

16 And will clothe her priests with saluation, and her Saints shall shoute for ioye.

17 There will I make the home of Dauid to dwell: [for] I haue ordeyned a light for mine Anointed.

18 His enemies will I clothe wth shame, but on him his crowne shall flourish.

19 His enemies will I clothe wth shame, but on him his crowne shall flourish.

PSAL. CXXXIII.

1 This Psalm containeth the commendation of brotherly loue among the seruants of God.

A song of degrees of Psalm of Dauid.

Behold, how good and howe comely a thing it is, brethren to dwell euen together.

2 [It is] like to the precious ointment vpon the head, that runneth downe vpon the beard, [euen] vnto Aarons beard, which went downe on the border of his garments:

3 [And] as the dewe of Hermon, which falleth vpon the mountaines of Zion: for there the Lord appointed the blessing, and life for euer.

4 The oymnt was a figure of the graces, which came from Christ the heauy vnto his Church. 5 y<sup>e</sup> Hermon and Zion he meantly the plentifull country about Ierusalem. 6 Where there is such congoie.

The common house was that of the house of David.

Ephraim: that is, in Beth-lehem a plentiful place.

But after we persecuted that thou wouldest place it in Ierusalem, which was barren as a foyell and compassed aboute only wth hills.

That is, Ierusalem, because that afterwarde his Arke should remoue thence other place.

Let the effect of thy grace both appeare in the priestes and in the people.

As thou hast made promises to Dauid, so continue it to his posteritie, that he should keepe thy lawes.

Because thou cannot be accused but in Christ, it followeth that the promises were spiritual.

Opening, for his owne sake, and not for the plentifulnes of the place: for he promitteth to blesse it, declaring that it was barren.

That is, with my protection, whereby they shalbe safe.

Though his force for a time seemed to be broken, yet he promitteth to restore it.

P S A L M. CXXXV.

1 Do earnestly all the faithful, of what estate forever they be, to praise God for his marvellous works. 12 And specially for his great praise his people, whom he hath declared his marvellous, 13 And the communion of all believers and their fathers.

Praise ye the Lord.

1 The people of God in their banishment seeing Gods true religion decay, liued in great anguish and sorowe of heart: the which grieue the Children due to little paine, 3 That they rather increase the same dayes with tauntes, reproches and blasphemies against God. 7 Wherefore the Israelites beseech God, first to punish the Edomites, who persecuted the Babylonians against them, 8 And moued by the spirit of God, prophesie the destruction of Babylon, where they were banished for 70. annuall.

Blessed be they that weep, and there we wept, while we remembred Zion.

des<sup>b</sup> thereof.

3 Then they that led vs captiues, required of vs songs and mirth, when we had hanged by<sup>c</sup> our harpes, saying, Sing vs<sup>c</sup> one of the songs of Zion.

4 How hath we lining, said we, a song of the Lord in a strang land:

5 If I forget thee, O Ierusalem, let my right hand forget<sup>d</sup> to play.

6 If I do not remember thee, let my tongue cleaue to the roofof my mouth: yea, if I preferre not Ierusalem to my<sup>e</sup> chiefe ioy.

7 Remember the children of Edom, O Lord, in the day of Ierusalem, which said, Rase it, rase it to the foundation thereof.

8 O daughter of Sabel, worthy to be destroyed, blessed shall he be that re-wardeth thee, as thou hast serued vs.

9 Blessed shall he bee that taketh and dasheth thy children agaynst the stones.

g Gods religion in their country was so grievous, that no ioy coule make them glad, except it were restored. f According as Ezk:iel 25, 13, 14 Jeremie 49, 7, ver. 10. predicted: and S:adiah ver. 1, 10. beweech that the Edomites, which came of Edom, conspire with the Babylonians against their brethren and kinsfolke, g When thou dost dwell with Ierusalem. h He alludeth to Isaies prophesie, chap. 13, 16. ver. 16. promising good successe to Cyrus and Darius, whose ambition moued to fight against Babylon: but God vsed them as his tools to punish his enemies.

PSAL. CXXXVIII.

1 David with great courage passed the goodness of God toward him, the which is so great, 4 That it is known to foreign princes, who shall praise the Lord together with him.

6 And he is assured to haue like comfort of God in the time following, as he hath had heretofore.

A Psalm of David.

I will praise thee with my whole heart: [euen] before the gods will I praise thee.

2 I will worshipping towarde thine holy<sup>b</sup> Temple and praise thy Name, because of thy louing kindness and for thy truth: for thou hast magnified thy Name about all thinges by thy worde.

3 When I called, then thou heardest mee, [and] hast increased strength in my soule.

4 All the<sup>d</sup> Kinges of the earth shall praise thee, O Lord: for they haue heard the wordes of thy mouth.

5 And they shall sing of the wayes of the Lord, because the glorie of the Lord is great.

6 For the Lord is high: yet he be- holdeth the lowly, but the proude he knoweth<sup>e</sup> a farre off.

7 Though I walke in the muddes of trouble, yet wilt thou reuue me: thou wilt stretch forth thine hande vpon the wrath of mine enemies, and thy right hande shall saue me.

8 The Lord will<sup>f</sup> performe his worke towarde me: O Lord, thy mer- cie [endureth] for euer: forsake not the workes of thine handes.

9 I thinke that he is farre off. f Though mine enemies rage neuer so much, yet the Lord, which hath begun his worke in me, will continue his grace to the ende.

PSAL. CXXXIX.

1 David to cleanse his heart from all hypocrisie beweech that there is nothing to him, which God seeth not, 13 Which he confirmeth by the creation of man. 14 After declaring his zeale and feare of God, he protesteth to be enemy to all them that contemne God.

To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David.

O Lord, thou hast tryed me and knowen [me.]

2 Thou knowest my sitting and my rising: thou vnderstandest my thought a farre off.

3 Thou<sup>c</sup> compassed my pathes, and my lying downe, and art accustomed to all my wayes.

4 For there is not a worde in my tongue, [but] lo, thou knowest it who lyest, O Lord.

5 Thou holdest me strait behind and before, and layest thine<sup>d</sup> hande vpon me.

6 Thy knowledge is too wonder- full for me: it is so high that I can not attaine vnto it.

7 Whither shall I goe from thy Spirit: or whither shall I flee from thy presence:

a Euen in the presence of Angels and of the, that haue authority as- signing men. b Both the Temple and ceremoniall seruice at Chriftes com- ming were abolished: so that now God will be wor- shipped onely in spirit and truth, John 4, 23.

c Thou hast strengthened me against mine outward and inward enemies. d At the wordes shall confesse that thou hast wonderfully preferred me, and perfo- med thy pro- mes.

e Distance of place can not hinder God to shew merite to vs, as to iudge the wicked, though they be farre off.

f Distance of place can not hinder God to shew merite to vs, as to iudge the wicked, though they be farre off.

g The confit- tions that neither our actions, thoughts, or any part of our life can be hid to God, though he seeme to be farre off, b So that they are euidently knowne to thee.

c Thou know- est my mean- ing before I speake.

d Thou to gett with me with thine hande, that I can turne no way but where thou appointest me: from the power and knowledge.

f Thy power

me to prouoke God by rebellion.

q That is, continue thy fauour towards me to the ende.

8 If I ascende into heauen, thou art
there: if I lye downe in hell, thou art
there.

9 Let me take the wings of the morning, [and] diuel in the bittermost parts
of the sea:

10 Yet thither shal thine hand leade
me, and thy right hand holde me.

11 If I say, Yet the darkenes shall hide me, euen the night [shall be] light about me.

12 Yea, the darkenes hideth not from thee: but y night shyneth as the day: the darkenes and light are both alike.

13 For thou hast possessed my reins:
thou hast couered mee in my mothers
wombe.

14 I wil praise thee, for I am feare-fully & wonderously made: maruelous [are] thy workes, and my soule knoweth
it well.

15 My bones are not hid from thee,
though I was made in a secret place,
and facioned beneath in the earth.

16 Thine eyes did see mee, when I was without forme: for in thy booke were all things written, [which] in continuance were facioned, whet there was none of them [before.]

17 Holbe deare therefore are thy thoughts vnto me. O God! holbe great is the summe of them!

18 If I should count them, they are more then the sande: when I wake, I am still with thee.

19 Oh that thou wouldest slaye, O God, the wicked and bloodie men, [to whom I say, Depart ye from me.

20 Which speake wickedly of thee,
[and] being thine enemies are lifted vp in baite.

21 Do not I hate the, O Lord, that hate thee: & do not I earnestly confende with those that rise vp against thee?

22 I hate the is an unfained hatred,
as they were mine bitter enemies.

23 Try me, O God, and knowe mine heart: proue me & knowe my thoughts.

24 And consider if there be any way of wickednes in me, and leade me in the way for euer.

Eluer me, O Lorde, from the euill man: preferue me
from the cruell man:

2 Which imagine euill things in [their] heart, [and] make warre continually.

3 They haue sharpened their togues like a serpent: adders poyson [is] in their lippes. Selah.

4 Keepe me, O Lorde, from the handes of the wicked: preferue me from the cruell man, which purpoeth
to cause my steps to slide.

5 The proude haue laid a snare for me and spred a net with cordes in my pathway, & set gremies for me. Selah.

6 Therefore I said vnto the Lord, Thou art my God: heare O Lord, the boyce of my prayers.

7 O Lorde God the strength of my saluation, thou hast couered mine head
in the day of battell.

8 Let not the wicked haue his desire,
O Lorde: perfourne not his wicked thought, [least] they be proude. Selah.

9 As for the chiefe of them, that compass me about, let the mischief of their owne lippes come vpon them.

10 Let roles fall vpon them: let him cast them into the fire, & into the deepe pits, that they rise not.

11 For the backbiter shall not be established vpon the earth: euill shall hunt the cruell man to destruction.

12 I know that the Lord wil auenge
the afflicted, and iudge the poore.

13 Surely the righteous shall praise thy name, and the iust shall dwell in thy presence.

plagues shall light vpon him in such sort, that he shall not escape. k That is,
shall be defended and preferred by thy fatherly prouidence and care.

PSAL CXL

1 David being grievously persecuted vnder Saul, onely fleeth vnto God to haue succour, 3 Desiring him to hyde his affections, that he may patiently abide till God take vengeance of his enemies.

A Psalm of David.

Lorde, I call vpon thee:
haste thee vnto me: heare my voice, when I cry vnto thee.

2 Let my prayer be directed in thy light as incense, & lifting vp of mine handes as an euening sacrifice.

3 Set a watch, O Lorde, before my mouth, [and] keepe the doore of my lippes.

4 Incline not mine heart to euil, that I should commit wicked workes with men that worke iniquitie: and let mee

a Which per-secuteth me of malice and without cause.

b That is, by their false con-uulsions and lyes they kindle the hatred
of the wicked
against me.

c He sheweth
what weapons
the wicked use,
when power
and force faile
them.

d He declareth
what is the remedy of the godly, when they are oppressed by the wickedlings.

e He collecteth
to God with truly faith, being assured of
his mercies,
because he had before time
proued, that God helpe
him euer in his dangers.

f For it is in Gods hande to ouerthrow the counsell and enterprises of
the wicked.

g It seemeth
that he allu-
deth to Saul,

h To wit,
God: for Da-uid saith that they were re-
probate, and that there was no hope of repentance
in them.

i Gods
plagues shall light
vpon him in such sort, that he shall not escape.

k That is,
shall be defended
and preferred by thy fatherly prouidence and care.

a He willeth
that there is none other refuge in our necessities, but onely to flee
vnto God for comfort of
soule.

b He meaneth
his earnest
zaale and ge-
dure, which he uses in prayer:
aluding to the sacrifices
which were by Gods commaundement offered in the olde Lawe.

c He directeth God to keepe his thoughtes and wayes of his
from thinking of executing vengeance.

d Let not their prosperitie al-lure me to be wicked as they are.
e We could adore all corrections that came of a loving heart.
f By patience
I shall see the wicked lo-
sharply handled, that I shall for this
pray for them.
g The people,
which followed their un-godly rulers in persecuting
the Prophet,
shall repent,
e & turne to God
when they see their wicked
rulers punished. h There appeareth that Dauid was miraculously deliuered out of many deethes, as 2. Co. 1. 9, 10. i Into Gods net, whereby he catcheth the wicked in their owne malice. k So that none of them escape.

not eate of their<sup>d</sup> delicacies.

5 Let the righteous smite me: [for that is] a benefite: and let him repprooue me, and it shall be a precious oyle, f that not breake mine head: for w<sup>h</sup> in a while I shall euen pray in their miseries.

6 When their iudges shall be cast downe in stonie places, they shall heare
my wordes, for they are swete.

7 Our bones ye scattered at the graues mouth, as he that helveth
wood o<sup>r</sup> diggeth in the earth.

8 But mine eyes looke vnto thee, O Lord God: in thee is my trust: leaue not my soule destitute.

9 Keepe me from the snare, [which] they haue layde for me, and from the gremies of the workers of iniquitie.

10 Let the wicked fall into his nettes together, whyles I escape.

h There appeareth that Dauid was miraculously deliuered out of many deethes, as 2. Co. 1. 9, 10. i Into Gods net, whereby he catcheth the wicked in their owne malice. k So that none of them escape.

PSAL CXLII.

1 The Prophet neither alowed with feare, nor carped away with anger, nor forced by desperation, would hit Dauid:
but with a quiet minde directed his earnest prayer to God,
who did preferre him.

A Psalm of Dauid, to giue instruction, and a prayer, when he was in the caue.

HE cryed vnto the Lorde with my voyce: With my voyce I prayed vnto the Lord.

2 I poured out my meditation before him, [and] declared mine affliction in his presence.

3 Though my spirit was in perplexitie in me, yet thou knowest my path: in the way wherein I walked, haue they princely layde a snare for me.

4 I looked vpon my right hande, and behelde, but there was none that would knowe me: all refuge failed me,
[and] none cared for my soule.

5 [The] cryed I vnto thee, O Lord, [and] saide, Thou art mine hope, [and]
my portion in the land of the liuing.

6 Hearken vnto my crye, for I am brought very low: deliuer me from my persecutors, for they are to strōg for me.

7 Bring my soule out of prison, that I may praise thy Name: [then] shall the righteous come about me, when thou art beneficiall vnto me.

h There was fol-
den or wrapped in me:
meaning, as a thing that could haue
none issue,
[Or] sought
for my soule.
h Though all
meanes failed
him, yet he knewe that God would neuer forsake
him.
c For he was out of all hope
before he had reioyce at my wonderfull deliuerance, o<sup>r</sup> to set a crowne vpon mine head.

PSAL CXLIII.

1 An earnest prayer for remission of sinnes, acknowledging that the enemies did thus cruelly persecute him by Gods
iust iudgement. 8 He desired to be restored to grace, 10
To be gouerned by his holy Spirit, that he may spende the remnant of his life in the true feare and seruice of God.

A Psalm of Dauid.

Hearken vnto my supplication: and where me in thy truth-[and] in thy righteousnesse.

2 And enter not into iudgement with thy seruant: for in thy sight shall none
that liueth be iustified.

3 For the enemy hath persecuted my soule: he hath smitten my life downe to the earth: he hath layde me in the dark-nesse, as they that haue bene dead long age.

4 And my spirit was in perplexitie in me, [and] mine heart within me was amazed.

5 [Yet] do I remember the time<sup>a</sup> past:
I meditate in all thy works, [yea], I do meditate in the workes of thine hands.

6 I stretch forth mine handes vnto thee: my soule desireth after thee, as the thirstie land. Selah.

7 Heare me speedily, O Lorde, [for] my spirit faileth: hide not thy face from me, else I shall be like vnto them that goe downe into the pit.

8 Let me heare thy louing kindnes in the morning, for in thee is my trust:
shewe me the way, f I should walke
in, for I lift vp my soule vnto thee.

9 Deliuer me, O Lorde, from mine enemies: [for] I hid me with thee.

10 Teach me to do thy will, for thou art my God: let thy good Spirit leade me vnto the lande of righteousnesse.

11 Quicken me, O Lorde, for thy Names sake, [and] for thy righteousnes
bring my soule out of trouble.

12 And for thy mercie<sup>a</sup> slay mine enemies, and destroy all them that op-presse my soule: for I am thy seruant.

1 Let thine holy Spirit counsel me both to come forth of these great cares and troubles. i I hid my selfe vnder the shadow of thy wings, that I might be defended by thy power. k He confesseth that both the knowledge and obedience of Gods will cometh by the Spirit of God, who teacheth vs by his word, giueth understanding by his spirit, f frameth our heartes by his grace to obey him.
c That is iustly and righte- f for so soone as we decline from Gods will, we fall into error. m Which shalbe a signe of thy f whereby kindnesse toward me, n Resigning my selfe wholly vnto thee, and trusting in thy protection.

PSAL CXLIII.

1 He praised the Lord with great affection and humilitie for his kingly mercies, 8 for his victories obtained, 9 De-mouring helpe and the destruction of the wicked, 10 Promising to acknowledge the same with songs of praise, 12
And declaring to whom the felicitie of any people consisteth.

A Psalm of Dauid.

Praised be the Lorde my strength, which teacheth mine hands to fight, [and] my knees to battell.

2 He is my goodnes, my fortresse,
my tolwe and my deliuerer, my shield,
and in him I trust, which subdueth
my enemies.

h There was followed hath made me a honourable warrior,
and mightie
conquerour.
i Ebr. my de-
liuerer vnto me: for the Prophet can not fauise him selfe with any words,

my

h<sup>e</sup> the confelcted that neuer by his owne au-
toritie power
nor policie his Kingdome
was quiet, but
by the secret
grace of God.
c God giue
to God mit
grace is to con-
fesse our felicitie
of so excellent benefits, and that he bestow-
eth them vpon
vs of his free
mercie.
d He desireth
God to continue his graces and to send helpe for the present neces-
sitie.
e By these maner of spea-ches he sheweth that all the lets in the world can not hinder
Gods power,
which he apprehended by faith.
f That is, deli-uer me from the tumults
of them that shoulde be im-
people, but are corrupt in their iudgement &
concupiscences, as though they were strangers.
g For though they shake
handes, yet
they keepe not
promises.
h That is, a rare and excellent song, as
thy great benefits deserue.
i Though wicked kinges be called Gods seruaunts, as Cyrus, Isa. 45. 1. so much as to execute his iudgements: yet Dauid because of Gods promises, and they, that rule gouern, are properly so called, because they serue not their owne affections, but for Gods glorie. k He de-sireth God to continue his benefits toward his people, counting the protection of children and their good education among the chiefest of Gods benefits.
l That the deep corners of our houses may be full of those for the great abundance of thy blessings. m He attributeth not only the great commodities, but even the least also to Gods fauour. n And if God giue not to all his children all these blessings, yet he recompenseth them with better things.

PSAL. CXLV.

This Psalm was composed when the kingdome of Dauid florished. 1 Wherein he describeth the wonderful prouidence of God, as well in gouerning man, as in preserving all the rest of his creatures. 17 He praisth God for his iustice and mercie. 18 Especially for his louing kindnesse to mankinde that call vpon him, that feare him, and loue him: 21
For the which he promitteth to praise him for euer.

A Psalm of Dauid of praise.

Yh<sup>e</sup> God and King, I wil extoll thee, and wil blesse thy Name for euer and euer.

I wil blesse thee daily,

and praise thy Name for euer and euer.

worthy to be praised, and his greatnesse
is incomprehensible.

Generation shall praise thy works
vnto generation, & declare thy power.

I wil meditate of the beautie of thy glorious maiestie, and thy wonderfull works.

And they shall speake of the power of thy fearefull Actes, and I will declare thy greatnesse.

They shall breake out into the mention of thy great goodnes, and shall sing
aloude of thy righteousness.

PSAL. CXLVI.

1 David declareth his great zeale that he hath to praise God,
2 And teacheth, not to trust in man, but onely in God almighty, 7 Which delivereth the afflicted, 9 Defender
the strangers, comforteth the fatherlesse, and the widowes, 10 And reigneth for ever.

Praise ye the Lord.

Praise thou the Lord, O my
soule.

2 I will praise the Lord
during my life: as long as I have any being, I will sing unto my God.

3 But not your trust in princes, [nor] in the sonne of man, for there is none
helpe in him.

4 His breath departeth, [and] he returneth to his earth: the his thoughts perish.

5 Blessed [is] he, that hath the God of Jaakob for his help, whose hope [is] in the Lord his God.

6 Which made heaven and earth,
the sea, and all that therein is: which keepeth his fidelitie for ever:

7 Which executeth iustice: for the oppressed: which giueth bread to the hun-grie: the Lord looketh the prisoners.

8 The Lord giueth sight to the blind:
the Lord raiseth vp the crooked: the Lord loueth the righteous.

9 The Lord keepeth the strangers:
he releueth the fatherlesse and widow:
but he overthroweth the way of the wicked.

10 The Lord shall reign for ever:
O Zion, thy God [endureth] from generation to generation. Praise ye the Lord.

a He stretch
up himselfe,
and all his affections to praise God.
b That God
may haue the whole praise.
c Wherein he showeth all his confidence, shewing
that of nature
we are more inclined to put our trust
in creatures,
then in God
the Creator.
d As these daine opinions whereby they flattered
them selves,
and so imagined to be enterprised.
e The encouragement of godly
to trust onely
in the Lord,
both for that
his power is able to deliver them from
all danger,
and for his promises
like his will
is more ready
to doe it.
f His faith
and patience
for as long as he receiveth, but as long as he punisheth the aduersaries, that he may be knowne to be Judge of the world. g
Though he willeth them
by affliction,
hunger, imprisonment
and such like
yet his fatherly
love, and pious nature
suffereth
them, rather to his these are signes of his love. h
Appearing
all them, that are of believe of worthy means
and succour.
i He directeth
the Church
that God reigneth
for ever for the preservation of the same.

PSAL. CXLVII.

1 The Prophet praith the bountie, wisdom, power, iustice and prouidence of God upon all his creatures, 2
But specially vpon his Church, which he gathereth together after their dispersion, 19 Declaring his wofde and iudgements to vnto the, as he hath done to none other people.

Praise ye the Lord, for it is good to sing vnto our God:
for it is a pleasant thing, [and]
praise is comely.

2 The Lord doeth buyd
vp by Jerusalem, [and] gather together
the dispersed of Israel.

3 He breaketh those that are broken
in heart, and bindeth vp their sores.

a He stretch
wherein we ought to exercise our fel-
icity continually,
and to take
our pastime:
to wit, in praising God.
b Because the Lord is the founder of the Church, he can not be destroyed, though
the members thereof be dispersed, and
seeme, as it were, for a time to be cut off. c With affliction of sorrowe for sinne.

4 He counteth the number of the starres, [and] calleth them all by their names.

5 Great [is] our Lord, and great [is] his power: his wisdom is infinite.

6 The Lord releueth the meeke, [and]
abasheth the wicked to the ground.

7 Sing vnto the Lord with praise:
sing vpon the harpe vnto our God, 8 Which couereth the heauen with cloudes and prepareth raine for the earth, and maketh the grasse to growe
vpon the mountaines:

9 Which giueth to beasts their foode,
[and] to the yong rauens that crye.

10 He hath not pleasure in the strength of an horse, neither delitteth he in the legges of man.

11 But the Lord delitteth in them that feare him, and attend vpon his mercie.

12 Praise the Lord, O Jerusalem:
praise thy God, O Zion.

13 For he hath made the barres of thy gates strong, [and] hath blessed thy children within thee.

14 He setteth peace in thy borders,
[and] satisfieth thee with the flour of wheat.

15 He sendeth forth his commandement vpon earth, [and] his worde runneth very swiftly.

16 He giueth snow like wooll, [and] scattereth the hoare frost like ashes.

17 He casteth forth his ice like moseis: who can abide the colde thereof?

18 He sendeth his worde and melteth them: he causeth his winde to blowe,
[and] the waters flowe.

19 He sheweth his word vnto Jaakob, his statutes and his iudgements vnto Israel.

20 He hath not dealt so with any nation, neither haue they knowen his iudgements. Praise ye the Lord.

1 Though it
seeme to man
incredible, that God should assigne his Church, being so dispersed,
yet nothing
is too hard to him, that can number and
name all the starres.
e For the more high that the wicked climb, & greater is their
fall in the end,
f He sheweth
by the examples of Gog
magis power
in goodnesse
and wisdom, &
h we can neuer
want most iust
occasion to praise God.
g For their crying is as it were a confe-
sion of their need, which can not be re-lieued, but by God onely: &
then if God
shew him selfe
minimall of the most contemptible foules,
can he suffer
them to be
with famine,
whome he hath assured of life
euertlasting?
h Though to be lawfull
means is both profitable and pleasant to God,
yet to put our
trust in them,
is to debauch
God of his honour.
i He doeth not onely furnish his Church
with all things necessary, but preferreth also
the same, and
maketh it strong against all outward force. k His secret working in all creatures
is as a commandment
to hearken
unto and to give them
moving and force.
l For immediately
and without restraining
all things
obey him.
m As before he called Gods secret working in all his creatures his word: so he meaneth
here, by his word, the doctrine of
life euertlasting,
which he hath left to his Church, as a most precious treasure.
n The cause
of this difference is Gods
free mercie,
which hath elected his
in some Christ Iesus
to saluation:
e his
iust iudgement,
whereby he hath appointed
the reprobate
to eternal damnation.

PSAL. CXLVIII.

1 He prouoketh all creatures to praise the Lord in heauen and earth and all places, 14 Specially his Church, for the praise that he hath giuen to the same: after that he had chosen them and ingored them into him.

Praise ye the Lord.

Praise ye the Lord from the heauen: praise ye him in the high places.

2 Praise ye him, all ye
his

a Because they are members of the same body, he letteth them before our eyes,
which are most willing hereunto,
and by their praise, obedience teach us to doe our dutie.

b In that Gods glorie
shineth in these infinite creatures, this their beautie
is as a continuall praising
of God.

c Not that there are di-
uers heauens,
but because of the spheres
and of the creation of the fixt starres
and planetes,
he compo-
seth by this waye the hallowe heauen.

d That is, the raime, which is in the middle region of the aire, which he here compre-henderh under
the name of
the heauens,
e Meaning
the great and monstrous fires, as typhons and such like.

f Which come not by chance or fortune, but by Gods appointed ordinance.

g For the greater gifts that any hath re-ceiued, and the more high that one is preferred, the more bounde is he to praise God for the same: but neither high nor lowe condition or degree can be exempted from this dutie. h That is, the dignitie, power, and glorie of his Church, i By reason of this covenante made with Abraham.

his Angels: praise him, all his armie.
3 Praise ye him, <sup>b</sup>sunne and moone:
praise ye him all bright starres.

4 Praise ye him, <sup>c</sup>heauens of hea-uens, and <sup>d</sup>waters, that be aboue the heauens.

5 Let them praise the Name of the Lorde: for he commanded, and they were created.

6 And he hath established them for euer and euer: he hath made an orde-nance, which shall not passe.

7 Praise ye the Lorde from the earth,
[ye] <sup>e</sup>dragons and all depths:

8 <sup>f</sup>Fire and haile, snowe and vapours, stormie winde, which execute his
worde:

9 Mountaines and all hilles, fruitful
trees and all cedars:

10 Beastes and all cattell, creeping
things and feathered fowles:

11 <sup>g</sup>Kings of the earth and al people,
princes and all iudges of the worlde:

12 Strong men and maidens, also olde
men and children:

13 Let them praise the Name of the Lorde: for his Name onely is to be exalted, [and] his praise aboue the earth and the heauens.

14 For he hath exalted the <sup>h</sup>home of his people, [which is] a praise for all his Saintes, [even] for the children of Israel, a people [that is] nere vnto him.
Praise ye the Lorde.

PSAL CXLIX

1 An exhortation to the Church to praise the Lorde for his victorye and conquest, that he giueth his Saintes against all mans power.

Praise ye the Lorde.

Sing vnto the Lorde: a new song: let his praise [be heard] in <sup>g</sup>congregation of Saintes.

2 Let Israel reioyce in him that <sup>e</sup>made him, and let the children of Zion reioyce in their King.

3 Let them praise his Name with the flute: let them sing praises vnto him with the timbrell and harpe.

4 For the Lorde hath pleasure in his people: he will make the meeke glorious by deliuerance.

5 Let the Saintes be ioyfull with glorie: let them sing loude vpon their beddes.

6 Let the high Actes of God bee in their mouth, and a two edged sword in their handes.

7 To execute vengeance vpon the heathen, [and] corrections among the people:

8 To binde <sup>f</sup>their Kings in chaines,
and their nobles with fetters of yron,

9 That they may execute vpon them
the iudgement that is <sup>g</sup>written: this honour shall be to all his Saintes. Praise ye the Lorde.

against his enemies: and it giueth no libertie to any to reuenge their priuate injuries. f Not onely the people, but the Kings that were their enemies, shoulde be destroyed. g Verily God binde the handes and mindes of all his to enterprise no farther then he appointeth.

PSAL CL

1 An exhortation to praise the Lorde without cease by al maner of wayes, for all his mightie and wonderfull wayes.

Praise ye the Lorde.

Praise ye God in his <sup>a</sup>Sanctuarie: praise ye him in the firmament of his powder.

2 Praise ye him in his mightie Actes: praise ye him
according to his excellent greatnesse.

3 Praise ye him in the sounde of the trumpet: praise ye him vpon the viole and the harpe.

4 Praise ye him with timbrell and flute: praise ye him with virginals and organs.

5 Praise ye him with sounding cymbales: praise ye him with high found-ding cymbales.

6 Let every thing that hath <sup>b</sup>breath praise the Lorde. Praise ye the Lorde.

but under Christ the use thereof is abolished in the Church.
that all the order of nature is bound to this dutie, & much more Gods children, who ought neuer to cease to praise him, till they be gathered into that kingdome, which he hath prepared for his, where they shall sing euermolting praise.

e For God as he is the Creator of the soule
and body, so will be that both thus serue
him, and that his people be continually subiect vnto
him, as to their
most lawfull
King.

d He alludeth
to that continual rest & qui-etnes which they shoulde
haue, if they would suffer

THE ENDE OF THE PSALMES.

The

The *Prouerbes of Salomon.

THE ARGUMENT.

THe wonderful loue of God toward his Church is declared in this booke: forasmuch as the summe and effect of the whole Scriptures is here set forth in these briefe sentences, which partly contein doctrine, and partly maners, and also exhortations to both. Whereof the nine first Chapters are as a preface full of graue sentences, and deepe mysteries, to allure the hearts of men to the diligent reading of the parables that follow: which are left as a most precious iewel to the Church, of those three thousand parables mentioned, 1.King.4.32, and were gathered and committed to writing by Salomons seruants and indited by him.

CHAP. I.

1 The power and life of the word of God. 2 Of the feare of God and knowledge of his word. 3 Of the man not content to the intifings of sinners. 4 Of wisdom complaineth that she is contemned. 5 The punishment of them that contemne her.

a That is, what we ought to knowe and followe, and what we ought to refuse, b speaking, the word of God wherein is the onely true knowledge, c To learne to submit our selues to the correction of those that are wise, d By listing fully, and rendering to euery man p which appertainer vnto him, e To such as haue no discretion to refuse correction to rule themselves, f As he heareth that these parables containing the effect of religion as touching maners and doctrine not appertaine to the simple people: so doth he declare that the same is also necessary for them that are wise and learned, Psal. 111. 10. eccles. 1. 16. g He speaketh vnto in name of God, which is the vniuersall father of all creatures, or in the name

The Parables of Salomon the sonne of Dauid King of Israel.

2 To know wisdom, and instruction, to vnderstand the wordes of knowledge.

3 To receiue instruction to doe wisely, [by] d iustice and iudgement and equitie.

4 To giue vnto the simple sharpnes of wit, [and] to the child knowledge and discretion.

5 A wise man shall heare and increase in learning, & a man of vnderstanding shall attaine vnto wise counsels.

6 To vnderstand a parable, and the interpretation, the wordes of the wise, and their darke sayings.

7 *The feare of the Lorde [is] the beginning of knowledge: [but] fooles despise wisdom and instruction.

8 My sonne, heare thy fathers instruction, and forsake not thy mothers teaching.

9 For they shall be a comely ornament vnto thine head, and [as] chames for thy necke.

10 *My sonne, if sinners doe intife thee, consent thou not.

11 If they say, Come with vs, we wil lay waite for blood, [and] lie in wait for the innocent without a cause:

12 We will swallowe them by attine like a graue euen whole, as those that go downe into the pit:

13 We shall finde all precious riches, [and] fill our houses with spoyle:

14 Cast in thy lot among vs: we wil

of the pastor of the Church, who is as a father. h That is, of the Church, wherein the faithfull are begotten by the incorruptible seede of Gods word, i Euen increase of grace. k To wit, the wicked, which haue not the feare of God, k He speaketh not onely of the beheading of blood with hand, but of all craftie practises which tend to the detriment of our neighbour. l As the graue is neuer satise, so the auarice of the wicked and their cruelty hath no end.

all haue one purse:

15 My sonne, walke not thou in the way with them: reframe thy foot from their path.

16 For their feete runne to euill, and make haste to shed blood.

17 Certainly [as] without cause the net is spred before the eyes of all that hath wing:

18 So they lay waite for blood, [and] lie in wait for their liues.

19 Such are the wayes of euery one that is greedy of gain: he would take away the life of the owners thereof.

20 *Wisdom crieth without: she bitereth her voyce in the streetes.

21 She calleth in the hie streete, among the preale in the entrings of the gates, [and] bitereth her wordes in the cite, [saying.]

22 O ye foolish, howe long will ye loue foolishnes, and the storefull take their pleasure in soynne: and the fooles hate knowledge:

23 Turne you at my correction: lo, I wil poure out my mind vnto you, [and] make you vnderstand my wordes)

24 Because I haue called, and ye refused: I haue stretched out mine hand, and none would regarde.

25 But ye haue despised all my counsel, and would none of my correction.

26 I wil also laugh at your destruction, [and] inmocke, when your feare cometh.

27 When your feare cometh like sudden desolation, and your destruction shall come, like a whirle wind: when affliction and anguish shall come vpon you.

28 Then shall they call vpon me, but I wil not answere: they shall seeke me early, but they shall not finde me.

29 Because they hated knowledge, and did not chuse the feare of the Lorde.

30 They would none of my counsel, [but] y despised all my correction.

* Because they sought not with an affection to God, but for ease of their owne grief, y shewing that without faith obedience we cannot call vpon God aright.

* This word Prouerbe, or parable signifyeth a graue and notable sentence, wherebye to be kept in memory, and is sometime taken in the cull part for a mocke, or scoffe.

in the networke where the wicked are allured to ioyne together, because they haue euery one part of the spoyle of the innocent. n That is, hath nothing at all to doe with them. o He sheweth that there is no cause to moue those wicked to spoyle the innocent, but their auarice and cruelty. p Whereby he concludeth that the courteous man is a murderer. q This wisdom is the eternall word of God.

r So that none can preteigne ignorance. s Wisdomethelye kinde of men: the foolish, or simple, which erre of ignorance, the mockers, that can not suffer to be taught, and the fooles which are vnto men in worldly lutes, and hate the knowledge of goodlines. t This is spoken according to our capacity, signifying that the wicked, which mocke and iest at Gods wordes, shall haue the full reward of their mocking. u That is, your destruction, on which thing you feare.

2 <sup>a</sup> That is, the feel what ch
monie there
wicked life shal
gine them.
a That is, the prosperitie, and sensualityte
wherein they reliue.

31 Therefore shall they eate of the fruite of their owne way, and be filled with their owne deuises.

32 For<sup>c</sup> eate flattereth the foolish, and the prosperitie of fooles destroyeth them.

33 But he that obeyeth me, shall dwell safely, and be quiet from feare of euill.

CHAP. II.

1 <sup>a</sup> Wisdome exhorteth to obey her, 5 She teacheth the feare of God, 6 She is giuen of God, 10 She preferreth from wickednesse.

M <sup>a</sup> Some, if thou wilt receiue
my wordes, & <sup>b</sup> hide my commandments within thee,

2 And cause thine eares to hearken vnto wisdome, [and] encline
thine heart to vnderstanding,

3 [For if thou callest after knowledge,
[and] criest for vnderstanding:

4 If thou seekest her as silver, and
searchest for her as for<sup>d</sup> treasures,

5 Then shalt thou vnderstande the feare of the Lord, and finde the knowledge of God.

6 For the Lord giueth wisdome, out of his mouth; commeth knowledge and vnderstanding.

7 He <sup>e</sup> preferreth the state of the righte-teous: he is <sup>f</sup> a shield to them that walke
vp rightly,

8 That they may keepe the wayes of iudgement: and he preferreth the way of his Saints)

9 Then shalt thou vnderstand righteteousnes, and iudgement, and equitie, [and] euery good path.

10 <sup>g</sup> When wisdome entrecth into thine heart, and knowledge deliecth thy
soule.

11 <sup>h</sup> Then shall <sup>i</sup> counsaile preferre thee, [and] vnderstanding shall keepe
thee,

12 And deliuer thee from the euill way, [and] from the man that speaketh
froward things,

13 [And from] them that leane the wayes of righteousnes to walke in the wayes of darknes:

14 Which reioyce in doing euill, [and]
delite <sup>k</sup> in the vrowardnes of the wicked,

15 whose wayes are crooked & they are leuid in their paths.

16 And it shall deliuer thee from the strange woman, euen from the stranger, which flattereth with her wordes,

17 Which forsaketh the <sup>l</sup> guide of her youth, and forgetteth the <sup>m</sup> couenant of her God.

18 Surely her <sup>n</sup> house tendeth to death, and her paths vnto the <sup>o</sup> dead.

19 All they that go vnto her, returne not againe, neither take they hold of the wayes of life.

20 Therefore walke thou in the way of good men, and keepe the wayes of the righteous.

21 For the iust shal dwell in the land,
and the bypight men shall remaine in it.

22 But the wicked shalbe cutt off from the earth and the transgressours shalbe rooted out of it.

CHAP. III.

1 The wordes of God giueth life, 5 Trust in God, 7 Feare him, 9 Honour him, 11 Suffer his correction, 22 To them that followe the wordes of God, all things shall suc-ceede well.

M <sup>a</sup> Sonne, forget not thou my lawe, but let thine heart
keepe my comandements.

2 For they shall increase the length of thy <sup>b</sup> dayes and the yeeres
of life, and thy prosperitie.

3 Let not <sup>c</sup> mercie and truth forsake thee: binde them on thy <sup>d</sup> necke, [and] write them vpon the table of thine heart.

4 So shalt thou finde fauour & good vnderstanding in the sight of God and man.

5 <sup>e</sup> Trust in the Lord with all thine heart, and leane not vnto thine owne
wisdome,

6 In all thy wayes acknowledge him, and he shall direct thy wayes.

7 <sup>f</sup> Be not wise in thine owne eyes:
[but] feare the Lord, and depart from euill.

8 [So] health shall be vnto thy <sup>g</sup> nauel,
and marow vnto thy bones,

9 <sup>h</sup> Honour the Lord with thy riches, and with the first frutes <sup>i</sup> of all thine increase.

10 So shall thy barnes be filled with abundance, and thy presses shall <sup>j</sup> burst with newe wine.

11 <sup>k</sup> My sonne, refuse not the chastiening of the Lord, neither be grieved with his correction.

12 <sup>l</sup> For the Lord correcteth him, whom he loueth, euen as <sup>m</sup> father [doth]
the childe in <sup>n</sup> whome he deliecth.

13 Blessed [is] the man that findeth wisdome, and the man that getteth vnder-standing.

14 For the marchandise thereof is better then the marchandise of silver, and the gaine thereof [is] better then golde.

15 It is more precious then pearles:
and all things that thou canst desire, are not

n To them that are dead in body and soule.

not to be compared vnto her.

16 Length of dayes [is] in her right hande, <sup>h</sup> [and] in her left hande riches and glorie.

17 Her wayes [are] wayes of pleasure, and all her paths prosperitie.

18 She is a tree <sup>i</sup> of life to them that lay holde on her, and blessed [is] he that retaineth her.

19 The Lord by wisdom hath laid the <sup>k</sup> fundation of the earth, and hath stablished the heauens through vnderstanding.

20 By his knowledg the depths are broken vp, and the cloudes drop downe the dewe.

21 My sonne, let not these things depart from thine eyes, <sup>l</sup> but obserue wisdom, and counsel.

22 So they shall be life to thy soule, and grace vnto thy <sup>m</sup> necke.

23 Then shalt thou walke safely by thy way, and thy foote shall not stumble.

24 If thou sleepest, thou shalt not be afraid, and when thou sleepest, thy sleepe shall be sweete.

25 Thou shalt not feare for any sudden feare, neither for the destruction of the wicked, when it cometh.

26 For the Lord shall be for thine assurance, <sup>n</sup> & shall preserve thy foote from taking.

27 C Withholde not the good from <sup>o</sup> the owners thereof, though there be powder in thine hand to doe it.

28 Say not vnto thy neighbour, Go and come againe, and to morowe will I giue thee, <sup>p</sup> if thou nolde haue it.

29 C Intend none hurt against thy neighbour, seeing he doeth diuell <sup>q</sup> with- out feare by thee.

30 C Strive not with a man causelesse, when he hath done thee no harme.

31 C Be not <sup>r</sup> enuious for the wicked man, neither chuse any of his wayes.

32 For the freward [is] abomination vnto the Lord: but his <sup>s</sup> secretes [is] with the righteous.

33 The curse of the Lorde [is] in the house of the wicked: but he blessing the habitation of the righteous.

34 With the scornfull <sup>t</sup> he scorneth, but he giveth grace vnto the humble.

35 The wise shall inherite glorie: but foolles dishonour, <sup>u</sup> [though] they be exalted.

CHAP. II.

1 Wisdom and her fruites ought to be searched. 2 The way of the wicked must be refused. 3 By the word of God the heart, eyes and course of life must be guided.

Hear, O ye children, the instruction of a father, & giue eare to learne vnderstanding.

2 For I doe giue you a good doctrine: <sup>v</sup> [therefore] forlake ye not my lawe.

3 For I was my fathers sonne, tender and deare in the sight of my mother.

4 When he <sup>w</sup> taught me, and sayd vnto me, Let thine heart holde fast my wordes: keepe my commandments, and thou shalt liue.

5 Get wisdom: get vnderstanding: forget not, neither decline from <sup>x</sup> wordes of my mouth.

6 Forlake her not, and she shall keepe thee: lone her and she shall preserve thee.

7 Wisdom [is] the beginning: get wisdom [therefore]: and aboute all thy possession get vnderstanding.

8 Exalt her, and she shall exalt thee: the shall bring thee to honour, <sup>y</sup> if thou embrace her.

9 She shall giue a comely ornament vnto thine head, <sup>z</sup> [yea,] she shall giue thee a crowne of glorie.

10 O Deare, my sonne, and receiue my wordes, and the peeres of thy life shall be many.

11 I haue <sup>a</sup> taught thee in the way of wisdom, [and] led thee in the paths of righteousness.

12 When thou goest, thy gate shall not be strait, and when thou runnest, thou shalt not fall.

13 Take holde of instruction, <sup>b</sup> [and] leaue not: keepe her, for she is thy life.

14 Enter not into the way of the wicked, and walke not in the way of euil men.

15 Auoyde it, <sup>c</sup> [and] go not by it: turne from it, and passe by.

16 For they can not <sup>d</sup> sleepe, except they haue done euil, and their sleepe departeth, except they cause <sup>e</sup> some to fall.

17 For they eate the bread of <sup>f</sup> wickednes, and drinke the wine of violence.

18 But the way of the righteous shineth as the light, that <sup>g</sup> shineth more and more vnto the perfit day.

19 The way of the wicked [is] as the darkenes: they know not wherein they shall fall.

20 O My sonne, hearken vnto my wordes, <sup>h</sup> incline thine eare vnto my sayings.

21 Let them not depart from thine eyes, <sup>i</sup> but keepe them in the middes of thine heart.

<sup>v</sup> He speaketh this in the person of a preacher and minister which is as a father vnto the people, <sup>1.8.</sup>

<sup>x</sup> He speaketh that we must first begin at Gods wordes, if so be we will that other things prosper with vs, contrary to the iudgement of the worlde, which make it their last study, <sup>y</sup> of els rare not for it at all.

<sup>z</sup> Salomons daughter wher care his father had to bring him up in the true feare of God: for this was Dauids instruction.

<sup>e</sup> Signifying that the godly increase rapidly in knowledge and perfection, till they come to full perfection which is when they shall be ioynt to their head in the heuens.

f He beweth
to what incouenience the vile persons and fluggards
come, by calling them vni-
chaste, as the men of Belial
and flande-
rous.
g Ebr. speaketh.
h Thus all his gesture con-
dueth to vici-
kednes.

12 The vnchastie man [and] the wicked man walketh with a frowarde mouth.

13 Hee maketh a signe with his eyes: he signifieth with his feete: he is instructeth with his fingers.

14 Lewde things [are] in his heart: he imagineth euill at all times, [and] ratleth by contentions.

15 Therefore shall his destruction come speedily: he shalbe destroyed suddenly without recoverie.

16 These fewe things doth the Lord hate: yea, his soule abhorreth leuen:

17 The hautie eyes, a lying tongue, and the hands that shed innocent blood,

18 An heart that imagineth wicked enterprises, <sup>h</sup> feete that be swift in running to mischief.

19 A false witnes that speaketh lyes, and him that ratleth by contentions among brethren.

20 By somme, keepe thy fathers commaundement, and forsake not thy mothers instruction.

21 Binde them alway upon thine heart, [and] tye them about thy necke.

22 It shall lead thee, when thou walkest: it shall watch for thee, when thou sleepest, [and] when thou wakest, it shall talke with thee.

23 For the <sup>k</sup> commaundement [is] a lanternne, and instruction a light: and corrections for instruction [are] the way of life,

24 To keepe thee from the wicked woman, [and] from the flatterie of the tongue of a strange woman.

25 Desire not her beautie in thine heart, neither let her take thee with her eye liddes.

26 For because of the whorish woman [a man is brought] to a morsell of bread, and a woman will hunt for the precious life of a man.

27 Can a man take fire in his bosome, and his clothes not be burnt:

28 Or can a man go upon coles, and his feete not be burnt:

29 So he that goeth in to his neighbours wife, shall not be innocent, who soeuer toucheth her.

30 When do not despise a thiefe, when he stealeth, to satisfie his soule, because he is hungrie.

31 But if he be founde, he shall restore leuen folde, [or] he shall giue all the substance of his house.

32 But he that committeth adulterie with a woman, he is destitute of vnderstanding: he that doeth it, destroyeth his olivie soule.

33 He shall finde a wound and dishonour, and his reproch shall neuer be put away.

34 For ielousie [is] the rage of a man: therefore he will not spare in the day of vengeance.

35 Hee can not beare the sight of any ranfome: neither wil he consent, though thou augment the giftes.

CHAP. VII.

1 An exhortation to wisdom 2 to the word of God, 3 Which will preserve vs from the harlot, 6 Which manners are described,

MY sonne, keepe my wordes, and hide my commaundements with thee.

2 Keepe my commaundements, and thou shalt lue, and mine instruction as the apple of thine eyes.

3 Binde them vpon thy fingers, [and] write them vpon the table of thine heart.

4 Say vnto wisdom, Thou art my sister: and call vnderstanding [thy] kinswoman.

5 That they may keepe thee from the strange woman, [even] from the stranger that is smooth in her wordes.

6 As [I was] in the windolwe of mine house, [I looked through my window]

7 And [I saw among the fooles, and] considered among the children a young man destitute of vnderstanding.

8 Who passed through the streete by her corner, and went toward her house,

9 In the twilight in the evening, when the night began to be blacke and darke.

10 And beholde, there met him a woman with an harlots behauiour, and subtil in heart.

11 She is babling and loud: whose feete cannot abide in her house.

12 Nowe [she is] without, nowe in the streetes, and lyeth in waite at euery corner.

13 So she caught him and kissed him, and an impudent face layde vnto him.

14 I haue peace offerings: this day haue I payed my vowes.

15 Therefore came I forth to meeete thee, that I might seeke thy face: and I haue found thee.

16 She is the wounde by some cloke of holines, till she has gotten him in her snares. Which clearly that harlots outwardly will seeme holy and religious: both because they map the better deceiue others, and also thinking by obseruing of ceremonies and offerings to make satisfaction for their sinnes.

+ Ebr. failed in heart.
q That is, death appoynted to by p. l. a. uide.
r He beweth that man by nature lechereth his death, that hath abused his wife, and so concluded neither Gods Law nor the Law of nature admitteth any ranfome for the adulterie.

a By this be-warefulle of wordes be mean-
eth, that nothing ought to be so deare unto vs, as the word of God,
nor that we looke on any thing more, nor minding any thing so much.
b Salomon
direct this parable to declare their folie, that suffer themselves to be abused by har-
lots.
c He beweth
that there was almost none so impudent, but they were as fraide to be seene, and also their olivie corrections by accuse them,
which caused
them to seeke
the night to couer their fli-
ghtes.
d Or, garment,
Or, hid.
e He beweth
that the harlot
inquire at home
to make good
cheere with: or els the wounde by some cloke of holines, till she has gotten him in her snares.
f Which clearly that harlots outwardly will seeme holy and religious: both because they map the better deceiue others, and also thinking by obseruing of ceremonies and offerings to make satisfaction for their sinnes.

¶ Or, carued
worke.

16 I haue deckt my bed With ornaments, carpets and laces of Egypt.

17 I haue perfumed my bed with myrrhe, aloes, and cinnamon.

18 Come, let vs take our fill of loue vntill the morning: let vs take our pleasure in dalliance.

19 For mine husband is not at home: he is gone a iourney farre off.

20 He hath taken With him a bagge of siluer, [and] wil come home at the day appointed.

21 Thus with her great craft she caused him to yeelde, and with her flattering lippes the entised him.

22 And hee followed her straight waies, as an oxe that goeth to slaughter, and as a foole to the stocks for correction.

23 Till a dart strike through his liver, as a bird hasterh to the snare, not knowing that he is in danger.

24 Heare me now therefore, O children, and hearken to the wordes of my mouth.

25 Let not thine heart decline to her wapes: wander thou not in her pathys.

26 For the hath caused many to fall downe wounded, [and] the strong men [are] all slaine by her.

27 Her house is the way vnto the graue, which goeth downe to the chambers of death.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Wisdome declareth her excellencie, 11 Riches, 15 Power, 22 Eternitie. 32 She exhorteth all to loue and follow her.

Death not a Wisdome crye: And vnderstanding bitter her boyce:

2 She standeth in the top of the high places by way in the place of the pathys.

3 She crieth besides the gates before the cite at the entrie of the doores.

4 O men, I call vnto you, and [bitter] my voice to the children of men.

5 O ye foolish men, vnderstand Wisdome, & ye, O fooles, be wise in heart.

6 Giue eare, for I will speake of excellent things, and the opening of my lippes, shall teach things that be right.

7 For my mouth shall speake truth, and my lippes abhorre wickednes.

8 All the wordes of my mouth [are] righteous: there is no lewdnes, nor frowardnes in them.

9 They are all plaine to him that will vnderstand, and streight to them that would finde knowledge.

10 Receiue mine instruction, and not siluer, and knowledge rather then fine golde.

11 For wisdome is better then precious stones: and all pleasures are not to be compared vnto her.

12 I wisdome dwell with prudence, and I finde forth knowledge [and] counsels.

13 The feare of the Lorde [is] to hate euill: as pride, and arrogancie, and the euill way: and a mouth that speaketh lewde things, I do hate.

14 I haue counsell & wisdome: I am vnderstanding, [and] I haue strength.

15 By me, Kings reigne, and princes deere iustice.

16 By me princes rule, and the nobles, [and] all the iudges of the earth.

17 I loue them that loue me: and they that seeke me earnestly, shall finde me.

18 Riches and honour [are] with me: [euil] durable riches and righteousness.

19 My fruit is better then gold, [euil] then fine gold, and my reuenies [better] then fine siluer.

20 I cause to walke in the way of righteousness, [and] in the middes of the pathys of iudgement.

21 That I may cause them that loue me, to inherit substance, and I will fill their treasures.

22 The Lord hath possessed mee in the beginning of his way: [I was] before his workes of olde.

23 I was set vp from euerlasting, from the beginning [and] before the earth.

24 When there were no depths, was I begotten, when there were no fountaines abounding with water.

25 Before the moountaines were settled: [and] before the hilles, was I begotten.

26 He had not yet made the earth, nor the open places, nor the height of the dust in the world.

27 When he prepared the heauens, I was there, when he set the compass vpon the deepe.

28 When he established the cloudes aboue, when he fastened the fountaines of the deepe,

29 when he gaue his decree to the sea, that the waters shoulde not passe his commaundement: when he appointed the foundations of the earth,

30 Then was I with him [as] a nourisher, and I was daily his delight, reioycing all way before him,

God his father, and created, preseruet, and fill woorthily with him, as Job, 5, 17.

d That is, except a man haue wisdom, which is the true knowledge of God, he can neither be prudent nor good counsellor. e So that he that doeth not haue euill, feareth not God. f Whereby he declareth that honours, dignitie, or riches come not of mans wisdom or industrie, but by the prouidence of God.

g That is, finally the way of God diligently, and with a desire to please, h Signifying, that he chiefly meaneth the spiritual creatures and heavenly riches.

i For there can be no true iustice or iudgement, which is not directed by this wisdom. k He declareth hereby, the diuinitie and eternitie of this wisdom, which he maye which is praised through this booke: meaning therefore by the eternall sonne of God Iesus Christ, whose Saint Iohn calleth the word that was in the beginning. Ioh. 1, 1.

l He declareth the eternitie of the soune of God, which is meant by this word Caldees, who was before all time, and euer present with the Father.

m Some reade a chiefe worker: Signifying that this Wisdom euen Christ Iesus, was equal with g Which thing he goeth to the pasture, goeth willingly to his owne destruction, h Which goeth cheerfully, not knowing that he shall be crucified, i Ebre it is for his life.

i Neither wit nor strength can deliuer them that fall into the hands of the barlot, Chap. 2, 18.

Chap. 1, 20. a Solomon declareth that man is cause of his owne perdition, and that hee can preuent no ignorance, forasmuch as God calleth to all men by his word, & by his workes to follow him and to flee from vice.

b Where the people most resort, which was the place of iustice.

c Speaking, that the word of God is easie vnto all, that haue a desire vnto it, and which are not blinded by the grince of this world.

n. Either chy is declared that the worke of the creation was no paine, but a solace vnto the wisdome of God.

o. By earth he meareth man, which is the worke of God in whome wisdom toke pleasure: in so much as for many take the Diuine wisdom toke man's nature, and dwelt among vs, and filled vs with unspokeable treasures: and this is that solace and pastime wherof is here spoken.

31 And tooke my<sup>a</sup> solace in the compass of<sup>o</sup> his earth: and my delite [is] with the children of men.

32 Therefore wolde hearken, O children, vnto me: for blessed [are] they that keepe my wayes.

33 Heare instruction, and be ye wise, and refuse it not: blessed [is] the man that heareth me, watching dayly at my gates, [and] giving attendance at the postes of my doores.

34 For he that findeth me, findeth life, and shall obtayne fauour of the Lord.

35 But he that sinneth against mee, hurteth his owne soule: [and] all that hate me, loue death.

36 And this is that solace and pastime wherof is here spoken.

CHAP. IX.

a. Wisdom calleth all to her feast. 7 The scooner will not be corrected, 10 The feare of God. 13 The editions of the barlot.

Wisdom hath builde her house, [and] herben out her seven pillars.

2 She hath killed her be-tales, drawen her wine, and prepared her table.

3 She hath sent forth her maidens [and] cryeth vpon the highest places of the cite, [saying,]

4 Who so is simple, let him come hither, [and] to him that is destitute of wisdom, she saith,

5 Come, [and] eate of my meate, and drinke of my wine [that] I haue drawen.

6 Forsake your way, ye foolish, and ye shall liue: and walke in the way of wisdom, and ye shall vnderstanding.

7 Hee that reproveth a scooner, purchaseth to himselfe shame: and he that rebuketh the wicked, [getteth] himselfe a blot.

8 Rebuke not a scooner, least he hate thee: but rebuke a wise man, and hee will loue thee.

9 Giue admonition to the wise, and he will be the wiser: teache a righteous man, and he will increafe in learning.

10 The beginning of wisdom is the feare of the Lord, and the knowledge of holy things, [is] vnderstanding.

11 For thy dayes shall be multiplied by me, and the yeeres of thy life shall be augmented.

12 If thou be wise, thou shalt be wise for thy selfe, [and if] thou be a scooner, thou shalt haue the chiefe profite and commoditie thereof.

thou alone shalt suffer.

13 A foolish woman [is] trouble some: she [is] ignozant, and knoweth nothing.

14 But she sitteth at the doore of her house on a seat in the places of the cite,

15 To call them that passe by her way, that go right on their way, [saying,]

16 Who so is simple, let him come hither, and to him that is destitute of wisdom, she saith also,

17 Stollen waters are sweete, and hid bread is pleasant.

18 But he knoweth not, that the dead [are] there, [and that] her ghestes [are] in the depth of hell.

19 And this is that solace and pastime wherof is here spoken.

CHAP. X.

In this Chapter and all that follow vnto the thirtieth, the wise man exhorteth by diuers sentences, which he calleth parables, to followe vertue, and flee vice: and sheweth also what profite cometh of wisdom, and what hindrance proceedeth of foolishnes.

THE PARABLES OF SALOMON.

A wise sonne maketh a glad father: but a foolish sonne [is] an heaume to his mother.

2 The treasures of wisdom profit nothing: but righteousness deliuereth from death.

3 The Lord will not sanall the soule of the righteous: but hee calteth away the substance of the wicked.

4 A slouthfull hand maketh poore: but the hand of the diligent maketh rich.

5 Hee that gathereth in summer, [is] the sonne of wisdom: [but] hee that sleepeth in harvest, [is] the sonne of confusion.

6 Blessings [are] vpon the head of the righteous: but iniquitie shall couer the mouth of the wicked.

7 The memoriall of the iust [shal] be blessed: but the name of the wicked shall rotte.

8 The wise in heart will receiue commandements: but the foolish in talkes shall be beaten.

9 He that walketh by right, walketh boldly: but he that peruertereth his wayes, shall be knownen.

10 Hee that winketh with the eye, worketh sorowe, and he that is foolish in talke, shall be beaten.

11 The mouth of a righteous man is a wellspring of life: but iniquitie couereth the mouth of the wicked.

12 Hated shireeth by contentions: but loue couereth all trespasses.

g That is,
God will finde
him out to pun-
nish him.

13 In the lippes of him that hath vnderstanding wisdom is found, and a rod shalbe for the backe of him that is desitute of wisdom.

14 Wise men lay by knowledge: but the mouth of the foole [is] a present destruction.

15 The riche mans goods are his strong citie: [but] the feare of the needie [is] their pouertie.

16 The labour of the righteous [tendeth] to life: [but] the reuenues of the wicked to sinne.

17 He that regardeth instruction, [is in] the way of life: but he that refuseth correction, goeth out of the way.

18 Hee that dissembleth hatred with lying lips, and he that inuenteth slander, is a foole.

19 In many wordes there can not want iniquitie: but hee that refrayneth
his lippes, is wise.

20 The tongue of the iust man [is as] finned siluer: [but] the heart of the wicked [is] little worth.

21 The lippes of the righteous doe feed many: but fooles shall die for want of wisdom.

22 The blessing of the Lorde, it ma-keth rich, and he doth adde<sup>k</sup> no sorrowes with it.

23 [It is] as a pasture to a foole to do wickedly: but wisdom [is] vnderstand-ing to a man.

24 That which the wicked feareth, shall come vpon him: but [God] will grant the desire of the righteous.

25 As the whicke winde passeth, so [is] the wicked no more: but the righteous [is as] an enlerlasting foundation.

26 As vineger [is] to the teeth, and as smoke to the eyes, so [is] the mouth full to them that lend him.

27 The feare of the Lorde increaseth
the dayes: but the yceres of the wicked shall be diminished.

28 The patient abiding of the righteous, shalbe gladnes: but the hope of the wicked shall perish.

29 The way of the Lord [is] strength to the vpright man: but feare shalbe for the workers of iniquitie.

30 The righteous shall<sup>a</sup> neuer be remoued: but the wicked shall not dwell
in the land.

31 The mouth of the iust shalbe fruit-full in wisdom: but the tongue of the froward shall be cut out.

32 The lippes of the righteous know what is acceptable: but the mouth of the wicked [speaketh] froward things.

CHAP. XI.

Alles<sup>a</sup> balances<sup>a</sup> [are] an abomination vnto the Lord: but a perfit<sup>b</sup> weight pleaseh him.

2 When pride cometh, then commeth<sup>b</sup> shame: but with the lowly [is] wisdom.

3 The brightnes of the iust shall guide them: but the frowardnes of the transgressors shall destroy them.

4 Riches auail not in the day of wrath: but righteousness deliuereth from death.

5 The righteousness of the vpright shal direct his way: but the wicked shall fall in his owne wickednes.

6 The righteousness of the iust shall deliuer them: but the transgressors shall be taken in [their] owne wickednes.

7 When a wicked man dyeth, [his] hope perisheth, and the hope of the vniust shall perish.

8 The righteous escapeth out of trouble, and the wicked shall come in his stead.

9 An<sup>a</sup> hypocrite with [his] mouth

the citie is exalted: but it is subuerted by the mouth of the wicked.

12 He that despiseth his neighbour, is desitute of wisdom: but a man of vnderstanding will<sup>c</sup> keepe silence.

13 He that goeth about [as] a slanderer, discouereth a secret: but he that is of a faithfull heart, concealeth a matter.

CHAP. XIII.

A wise sonne <sup>a</sup> will obey <sup>b</sup> the instruction of his father: but a scorner will heare no rebuke. 2 A man shall eate good things by the fruite <sup>c</sup> of his mouth: but the soule of the trespassers [shall suffer] violence.

3 He that keepeth his mouth, keepeth his life: but he that openeth his lippes, destruction [shalbe] to him.

4 The sluggard <sup>b</sup> lusteth, but his soule hath nought: but the soule of the diligent shall haue plenty.

5 A righteous man hateth lying words: but the wicked causeth slander and shame.

6 Righteousnes preferneth <sup>d</sup> by bright of life: but wickednes ouerthroweth the sinner.

7 There is that maketh himselfe riche, and hath nothing, [and] that maketh himselfe poore, hauing great riches.

8 A man <sup>e</sup> will giue <sup>f</sup> his riches for the raunson of his life: but <sup>g</sup> poore <sup>h</sup> cannot heare the repoche.

9 The light of the righteous reioyceth: but the tandle of the wicked shalbe put out.

10 Onely by pride <sup>i</sup> doeth [man] make contention: but with the well aduised [is] wisdom.

11 The riches of vanitie shall diminish: but he that gathereth with <sup>j</sup> the hand, shall increas[e] [them].

12 The hope that is deferred, [is] the fainting of the heart: but when the desire commeth, [it is as] a tree of life.

Chap.16.25.

12 * There is a way that seemeth right to a man : but the issues thereof [are] the wayes of death.

13 Euen in laughing the heart is sorrowfull, and the end of that mirth [is] heavines.

14 The heart that declineth, shall be faciate with his owne wayes : but a good man shall depart from him.

15 The foolish will beleue every thing : but the prudent will consider his steppes.

16 A wise man feareth, and departeth from euill : but a foole rageth, and is carelesse.

17 He that is hastie to anger, committeth follie, and a busie body is hated.

18 The foolish do inherite follie : but the prudent are crowned with knowledge.

19 The euill shall bow before good, and the wicked at the gates of the righteous.

20 The pooze is hated euen of his owne neighbour : but the friends of the rich [are] many.

21 The sinner despiseth his neighbour : but he that hath mercie on the pooze, [is] blessed.

22 Do not they erre that imagine euill, but to them that thinke on good things, [shalbe] mercie, and trueth.

23 In all labour there is abundance : but the talke of the lippes [bringeth] onely want.

24 The crowne of the wise [is] their riches, [a]nd [a] folly of foolles [is] foolishnes.

25 A faithfull witnes deliuereth soules : but a deceiver speaketh lyes.

26 In the feare of the Lord [is] an assured strength, and his children shall haue hope.

27 The feare of the Lord [is as] a wellspring of life, to auoide the snares of death.

28 In the multitude of the people [is] the honour of a King, and for the want of people [commeth] the destruction of the prince.

29 He that is slowe to wrath, [is] for great wisdom : but hee that is of an hastie minde, exalteth follie.

30 A found heart [is] the life of the flesh : but enuie [is] the rotting of the bones.

31 He that oppresseth the pooze, reprooueth him that made him : but he honoureth him, that hath mercie on the pooze.

32 The wicked shalbe cast away for his malice : but the righteous, his hope in his death.

33 wisdom resteth in the heart of him that hath vnderstanding, and is knowen in the muddes of foolles.

34 Justice exalteth a nation, but sinne is a shame to the people.

35 The pleasure of a King [is] in a wise seruant : but his wrath shalbe toward him that is lewde.

CHAP. XV.

A Soft answer putteth away wrath : but giteuous wordes stirre by anger.

2 The tongue of the wise bleth knowledge aright : but the mouth of foolles babbleth out foolishnes.

3 The eyes of the Lord in euery place behold the euill and the good.

4 A wholesome tongue [is as] a tree of life : but the frowardnes thereof [is] the breaking of the mind.

5 A foole despiseth his fathers instruction : but he that regardeth correction, is prudent.

6 The house of the righteous [hath] much treasure : but in the reuenues of the wicked [is] trouble.

7 The lippes of the wise do spread a broad knowledge : but the heart of the foolish doeth not so.

8 The sacrifice of the wicked [is] an abomination to the Lord : but the prayer of the righteous [is] acceptable vnto him.

9 The way of the wicked [is] an abomination vnto the Lord : but he loneth him that followeth righteousness.

10 Instruction [is] euill to him that forsaketh the way, and he that hateth correction, shall die.

11 Hell and destruction [are] before the Lord : howe much more the hearts of the sonnes of men.

12 A stomer loneth not him that rebuketh him, neither wil he go vnto the wise.

13 A topfull heart maketh a cheerful countenance : but by the sorowle of the heart the mind [is] heauie.

14 The heart of him that hath vnderstanding, seeketh knowledge : but the mouth of the foole [is] fed with foolishnes.

15 All the dayes of the afflicted [are] euill : but a good conscience [is] a continual feast.

16 Better [is] a little with the feare of the Lord, then great treasure and trouble therewith.

17 Better [is] a dinner of greene herbes where loue [is], then a stalled oxe and hated therewith.

18 An angrie man stirreth by strife, but in foolishness as they are comit thereto by, and put to silence, for, and the mercie of the people is a sentence for sinne.

but he that is slowe to wrath, appealeth strife.

19 The way of a slouthfull man [is] as an hedge of thornes: but the way of the righteous is plaine.

20 A wife sonne reioyeth the father: but a foolish man despiseth his mother.

21 Foolishnes [is] ioy to him that is destitute of vnderstanding: but a man of vnderstanding walketh vprightly.

22 without counsell thoughts come to nought: but in the multitude of counsellers there is stedfastnes.

23 A ioy [commeth] to a man by the answere of his mouth: and howe good [is] a word in due season.

24 The way of life [is] on high to the prudent, to auoide from hell beneath.

25 The Lord will destroy the house of the proud men: but he will stablish the borders of the widowbe.

26 The thoughts of the wicked are abomination to the Lord: but the pure [haue] pleasant wordes.

27 he that is greedie of gaine, troubleth his owne house: but he that hateth gifts, shall liue.

28 The heart of the righteous studieth to answere: but the wicked mans mouth babbleth euill things.

29 The Lord is farre off from the wicked: but hee heareth the prayer of the righteous.

30 The light of the eyes reioyeth the heart, and a good name maketh the bones fat.

31 The care that hearkeneth to the correction of life, shall lodge among the wise.

32 he that refuseth instruction, despiseth his owne soule: but he that obeyeth correction, getteth vnderstanding.

33 The feare of the Lord [is] the instruction of wisdom: and before honour [goeth] humilitie.

CHAP. XVI.

The preparations of the heart [are] in man: but the answere of the tongue [is] of the Lord.

2 All the wayes of a man [are] cleane in his owne eyes: but the Lord pondereth the spiritus.

3 Commit thy workes vnto the Lord, and thy thoughts shall be directed.

4 The Lord hath made all things for his owne sake: yea, euen the wicked for the day of euill.

5 All that are proud in heart, [are] an abomination to the Lord: though [hand] ioyne in hand, hee shall not be unpunished.

6 By mercie & trueth iniquitie shall be forgiven, and by the feare of the Lord they depart from euill.

7 When the wayes of a man please the Lord, he will make also his enemies at peace with him.

8 Better is a little with righteousness, then great reuenues without equitie.

9 The heart of man purpoiseth his way: but the Lord doeth direct his steps.

10 A diuine sentence [shalbe] in the lippes of the King: his mouth shall not transgresse in iudgement.

11 A true weight and balance are of the Lord: all the weights of the bagge [are] his worke.

12 It is an abomination to Kings to commit wickednes: for the throne is stablished by iustice.

13 Righteous lippes are the delite of Kings, and the King loveth him that speaketh right things.

14 The wrath of a King [is as] messengers of death: but a wise man will pacifie it.

15 In the light of the Kings countenance [is] life: and his fauour [is] as a cloude of the latter raine.

16 How much better is it to get wisdom then golde: and to get vnderstanding is more to be desired then siluer.

17 The path of the righteous is to decline from euill, [and] he keepeth his soule, that keepeth his way.

18 Pride [goeth] before destruction, and an high mind before the fall.

19 Better it is to be of humble minde with the lowly, then to denide & spolie with the proud.

20 he that is wise in his busines, shall finde good: and hee that trusteth in the Lord, he is blessed.

21 The wile in heart shall be called prudent: and the sweetenes of the lippes shall increase doctrine.

22 Understanding [is] a wellspring of life vnto them that haue it: and the instruction of foolles [is] follie.

23 The heart of the wile gudgeth his mouth wisely, and addeth doctrine to his lippes.

24 Fawe wordes [are as] an honie combe, sweetenes to the soule, & health to the bones.

9 He that couereth a transgression, seeketh loue: but hee that repeateth a matter, separateth the <sup>o</sup> prince.

10 A reproofe entureth more into him that hath vnderstanding, then an hun- dred stripes into a foole.

11 A lechurious person seeketh onely

euill, and a cruel messenger shall be sent against him.

12 [It is better] for a man to meete a beare robbed of her whelpes, then a <sup>f</sup> foole in his folie.

13 * He that reibardeth euill for good, euill shall not depart from his houle.

14 The beginning of strife [is as] one that openeth the waters: therefore of the contention be medled with, leaue off.

15 * He that iustifieth the wicked, and he that condemneth the iust, euen they both are abomination to the Lord.

16 Wherefore is there a <sup>s</sup> price in the hand of the foole to get wisdom, and [he hath] none heart:

17 A friend loueth at all times: and a brother is borne for aduersitie.

18 A man destitute of vnderstanding toucheth the hand, & becommeth sure- tie for his neighbour.

19 He loueth transgression, that loueth strife: [and] he that exalteth his <sup>g</sup> gate, seeketh destruction.

20 The frowarde heart findeth no good: & he that hath a naughtie tongue, shall fall into euill.

21 He that begetteth a foole, [getteth] himselfe sorrow, and the father of a foole can haue no ioye.

h The minde can well beare the infirmities of the booke, but when the spirit is wounded, it is a thing most hard to susteine, i Specially him liberally to speake and discourse of them that are most in estimation, k He that speaketh first is best heard of by iudges, but when his adversary iniquity ouer the matter, it turneth to his shame, l If a controuersie cannot otherwise be decided, it is best to call for the hands of wise & strong iudges, m Appenly the controuersie, which are to flout that cannot overcome the peace, n Which for the strength thereof will not be overcome, o By the using of the tongue well of evil, commeth the fruit thereof either good or bad, p He that is opened is a virtuous woman in marriage, is blessed of the Lord, as Chap. 19. 14.

standing: but that his heart may be <sup>b</sup> discovered.

3 When the wicked commeth, then commeth contempt, and with the vile man reproche.

4 The wordes of a mans mouth are like deepe waters, and the wellspring of wisdom is like a flowing ruer.

5 It is not good to accept the person of the wicked, to cause the righteous to fall in iudgement.

6 A foolles tippes come with strife, and his mouth calleth for stripes.

7 A foolles mouth [is] his owne destruction, and his tippes [are] a snare for his soule.

8 The wordes of a tale bearer [are] as flatterings, and they go downe into the bowels of the bellie.

9 Hee also that is slouthfull in his worke, is euen the brother of him that is a great waster.

10 The name of the Lord [is] a strong towre: the righteous runneth vnto it, and is exalted.

11 The riche mans riches [are] his strong cite: and as an he wall in his imagination.

12 Before destruction the heart of a man is haughtie, and before glorie goeth lowlinesse.

13 He that answereth a matter before he heare it, it is folie and shame vnto him.

14 The spirit of a man will susteine his infirmite: but a wounded spirit, who can beare it?

15 A wise heart getteth knowledge, and the eare of a wise seeketh learning.

16 A mans gift enlargeth him, and leadeeth him before great men.

17 He that is first in his owne cause, [is] iust: then commeth his neighbour, and maketh inquirie of him.

18 The lot causeth contentions to cease, and maketh a partition among the mightie.

19 A brother offended [is] harder to vnnie, then a strong city, and their contentions [are] like the barre of a palace.

20 With the fruite of a mans mouth shall his belly be satisfied, and with the increase of his tippes shall he be filled.

21 Death and life [are] in the power of the tongue, and they that loue it, shall eate the fruite thereof.

22 Hee that findeth a wife, findeth a good thing, and receiueth fauour of the Lord.

23 The poore speaketh [with] prayers: but the rich answereth roughly.

24 A man that hath friends, ought to shewe him selfe friendly: for a friend is neerer <sup>a</sup> than a brother.

CHAP. XIX.

Better <sup>a</sup> is the poore that walketh in his vprightness, then he that abuleth his tippes, and is a foole.

2 For without knowledge the minde is not good, and he that hasteth with his feete, sinneth.

3 The foolishnesse of a man peruerteth his way, and his heart createth against the Lord.

4 Riches gather many friends: but the poore is separated from his neighbour.

5 A false witnes shall not be buprished: and he that speaketh lyes, shall not escape.

6 Many reuerence the face of a prince, and every man [is] friend to him that giveth gifts.

7 All the brethren of the poore doe hate him: howe much more will his friends depart farre from him: though he be instant with wordes, [yet] they will not.

8 He that possesseth vnderstanding, loueth his owne soule, and keepeth himselfe to finde goodnesse.

9 A false witnes shall not be buprished: and he that speaketh lyes, shall perishe.

10 Pleasure is not comely for a foole, much lesse for a seruant to haue rule ouer princes.

11 The discretion of a man deferreth his anger: and his glorie [is] to passe by an offence.

12 The Kings wrath [is] like the roaring of a lyon: but his fauour [is] like the deliue vpon the grasse.

13 A foolish sonne [is] the calamitie of his father, and the contentions of a wife [are] like a continuall dropping.

14 House and riches [are] the inheritance of the fathers: but a prudent wife [commeth] of the Lord.

15 Slouthfulnesse causeth to fall a sleepe, and a deceitfull person shall be affamished.

16 He that keepeth the commandement, keepeth his owne soule: but he that despiseth his wayes, shall dye.

18 Chasten thy sonne while there is hope, and let not thy soule spare for his murmuring.

19 A man of much anger shall suffer punishment: and though thou deliuer him, yet will his anger come againe.

20 Heare counsell, and receiue instruction, that thou mayest be wise in thy latter end.

21 Many deuices [are] in a mans heart: but the counsell of the Lord shall stande.

22 That that is to be desired of a man, [is] his goodnesse, and a poore man is better then a lyer.

23 The feare of the Lord [leadeth] to life: and he that is filled therewith, shall continue, [and] shall not be visited with euill.

24 The slouthfull hideth his hand in his bosome, and will not put it to his mouth againe.

25 Smite a scorner, and the foolish wil beware: and reprove the prudent, and he will vnderstand knowledge.

26 He that destroyeth his father, [or] chaleteth away his mother, [is] a lewde and shameful childe.

27 By sonne, heare no more the instruction, that causeth to erre from the wordes of knowledge.

28 A wicked vnto the mocketh at iudgement, and the mouth of the wicked shall be filled with iniquitie.

29 Indgements are prepared for the scorers, and stripes for the backe of the fooles.

CHAP. XX.

Vine [is] a mocker, & strong drinke [is] raging: and who soeuer is deceived thereby, [is] not wise.

1 The feare of the King [is] like the roaring of a lion: he that prouoketh him vnto anger, [is] smitten against his owne soule.

2 It [is] a mans honour to cease from strife: but euery foole will be meddling.

3 The slouthfull will not plowe, because of winter: therefore shall he beg in sommer, but haue nothing.

4 The counsell in the heart of man [is] like deepe waters: but a man that hath vnderstanding, will drabe it out.

5 Many men will boast, euery one of his owne goodnes: but who can finde a faithfull man?

6 He that walketh in his integritie, [is] iust: [and] blessed shall his children be after him.

7 A King that sitteth in the throne of iudgement, chaleteth away all euil with his eyes.

8 Who can say, I haue made mine heart cleane, I am cleane from my sinne?

9 Divers weightes, and diuers measures, both these are euen abomination vnto the Lord.

10 A childe also is knowen by his doings, whether his worke be pure and right.

11 The Lord hath made both these, euen the eare to heare, and the eye to see.

12 Loue not sleepe, lest thou come vnto pouertie: open thine eyes, [and] thou shalt be satisfied with bread.

13 It is naught, it is naught, saith the byer: but when he is gone apart, he boasteth.

14 There is golde, and a multitude of precious stones: but the toppes of knowledge [are] a precious iewel.

15 Take his garment, that is suretie for a stranger, and a pledge of him for the stranger.

16 The bread of deceite [is] sweete to a man: but afterward his mouth shall be filled with grauel.

17 Establish the thoughts by counsell: and by counsell make warre.

18 He that goeth about [as] a slanderer, discouereth secrets: therefore meddle not with him that flattereth with his lippes.

19 He that curseth his father or his mother, his light shall be put out in obscure darkenes.

20 An heritage [is] hastily gotten at the beginning, but the end thereof shall not be blessed.

21 Say not thou, I will recompense euill: but waite vpon the Lord, and he shall saue thee.

22 Divers weightes [are] an abomination vnto the Lord, and deceitful balances [are] not good.

23 The steps of man [are] ruled by the Lord: howe can a man then vnderstand his owne way?

24 It is a destruction for a man to deuoure that which is sanctified, and after the vobles to inquire.

CHAP. XXI.

The Kings heart [is] in the hand of the Lord, [as] the riuers of waters: he turneth
it whither soeuer it pleaseth
him.

2 Euery way of a man [is] right in his owne eyes: but the Lord pondereth
the hearts.

3 To doe iustice & iudgement is more acceptable to the Lord then sacrifice.

4 A hauntie looke, and a proud heart, [which is] the light of the wicked, [is]
sinne.

5 The thoughtes of the diligent doe surely bring abundance: but whoeuer is hasty, [commeth] surely to po-uerty.

6 The gathering of treasures by a deceyfull tongue [is] vanitie tolled to and fro of them that seeke deathe.

7 The robberie of the wicked shall destroy them: for they haue refused to execute iudgement.

8 The way of some [is] peruerced and strange: but of the pure man, his worke [is] right.

9 It is better to dwell in a corner of the house toppie, then with a contentious woman in a wide house.

10 The soule of the wicked witheth euill: [and] his neighbour hath no fa-uour in his eyes.

11 When the scorner is punished, the foolish is wise: and when one instructeth
the wise, he will receiue knowledge.

12 The righteous teacheth the house of the wicked: but God iouerthoweth
the wicked for their euill.

13 He that stoppeth his eare at the crying of the poore, he shall also crye and not be heard.

14 A gift in secret pacifieth anger,

and a gift in the bosome great wrath.

15 It is ioye to the iust to doe iudge-ment: but destruction [shall be] to the workers of iniquitie.

16 A man that wandereth out of the way of wisdom, shall remaine in the congregation of the dead.

17 He that loneth pastime, [shalbe] a poore man: [and] he that loneth wine and oyle, shall not be riche.

18 The wicked [shall be] a ransome for the iust, and the transgressour for the righteous.

19 It is better to dwell in the wil-dernesse, then with a contentious and angrie woman.

20 In the house of the wise is a pleasant treasure and oyle: but a foolish man denoureth it.

21 He that followeth after righteous-nesse and mercy, shall finde life, righteous-nesse, and glorie.

22 A wise man goeth by into the cite strength of the confidence thereof.

his tongue, keepeth his soule from afflictions.

gancie wrath.

25 The desire of the slothfull slayeth him: for his hands refuse to worke.

26 He coueteth euermore greedily,
but the righteous giueth, & spareth not.

27 The sacrifice of the wicked [is] an abomination: how much more when he bangereth it with a wicked minde.

28 A false witnes shall perish: but he that heareth, speaketh continually.

29 A wicked man hardeneth his face:
but the iust, he will direct his way.

30 There is no wisdom, neither understanding, nor counsaile against the Lord.

TEINE TO THE WISE, It is not good to haue respect of any person in iudgement.

24 He that saith to the wicked, Thou art righteous, him shal the people curse, and the multitude shall abhorre him.

25 But to them that rebuke him, shal be pleasure, and vpon them shall come the blessing of goodnes.

26 They shall kille the lippes of him that answereth byright wordes.

28 See not a witnesse against thy neighbour without cause: for wilt thou deceiue with thy lippes:

29 * Say not, I will do to him, as he hath done to mee, I will recompence euery man according to his worke.

30 I passed by the fieldes of the slouthfull, and by the vineyarde of the man destitute of vnderstanding.

31 And lo, it was all growlen ouer with thornes, [and] netteis had couered the face thereof, and the stone wal thereof was broken downe.

The glorie of God [is] to conceale a thing secret: but the Kings honour [is] to searcho out a thing.

3 The heauens in height, and the earth in deepenes, and the kings heart can no man searcho out.

4 Take the dyssell from silver, and there shall proceede a vessell for the sinner.

5 Take away the wicked from the king, and his throne shal be stablished in righteousness.

6 Boast not thy selfe before the king, and stand not in the place of great men.

whome thine eyes haue seene.

8 Go not forth hastily to strife, least thou knowe not what to do in the ende thereof, when thy neighbour hath put thee to shame.

9 Debate thy matter with thy neighbour, and discouer not the secret to another.

10 Lest he that heareth it, put thee to shame, and thine infamie do not beale.

11 A word spoken in his place, [is like] apples of golde with pictures of silver.

12 Hee that reproveth the wife, [and] the obedient care, [is as] a golden earring and an ornament of fine golde.

13 As the colde of the snowe in the time of harvest, [so is] a faithfull messenger to them that sende him: for he refresheth the soule of his masters.

14 A man that boasteth of false liberallie, [is like] cloudes and winde without raine.

15 A prince is pacified by staying of anger, and a soft tongue breaketh the bones.

16 [If] thou haue founde homie, eate that [is] sufficient for thee, least thou be ouer full, and vomite it.

17 Withdraw thy foote fro thy neighbours house, least he be wearie of thee, and hate thee.

18 A man that beareth false witness against his neighbour, [is like] an hammer and a sword, and a sharpe arrowe.

19 Confidence in an unfaythfull man in time of trouble, [is like] a broken toothe and a slyding foote.

20 He that taketh away the garment in the cold season, [is like] vinegar poured vpon nitre, or [like] him that singeth songs to an heauie heart.

21 * If he that hateth thee be hungry, giue him bread to eate, and if he be thirstie, giue him water to drinke.

22 For thou shalt lay coles vpon his head, & the Lord shall recompence thee.

AS the snowe in the sommer, and as the raine in the haruest [are] not meete, [so] is honour vnseemely for a foole.

2 As the sparrow by fleeing, and the swalow by flying [escape], [so] the curse [that is] causelesse, shall not come.

3 Unto the houle [belongeth] a whip, to the asse a ydole, and a rod to the fooles backe.

4 Answer not a foole according to his foolishnes, lest thou also be like him.

5 Answer a foole according to his foolishnes, lest hee be wise in his owne conceite.

6 Hee that sendeth a message by the hand of a foole, [is] as he that cutteth off the feete, and dumbeth iniquitie.

7 As they that lift vp y legges of the lame, [so] [is] a parable in a fooles mouth.

8 As the closing vp of a [precious] stone in an heape of stones, [so] [is] he that giueth glorie to a foole.

9 As a thorne standing by in the hand of a drunkeard, [so] [is] a parable in the mouth of fooles.

10 The excellent that formed all things, both rewardeth the foole and rewardeth the transgressors.

11 As a dogge turneth againe to his owne bonnit, [so] a foole turneth to his foolishnes.

12 Seest thou a man wise in his owne conceite? more hope [is] of a foole then of him.

13 The slouthfull man saith, A Lyon [is] in the way: a Lyon [is] in the streetes.

14 As the dooze turneth vpon his hinges, [so] [doeth] the slouthfull man vpon his bed.

15 The slouthfull hideth his hand in [his] bosome, [and] [is] grieved him to put it againe to his mouth.

16 The sluggard is wiser in his owne conceite, then seuen [men] that can render a reason.

17 He that passeth by a medleth with the strife [that] belongeth [not] vnto him, [is] as one that taketh a dog by eares.

18 As hee that smiteth him selfe mad, casteth firebrands, arrowes and mortall things,

19 So [dealeth] the deceitfull man with his friend and faith, Am not I in sport: without wood the fire is quenched, and without a talebearer strife ceaseth.

21 As the cole [maketh] burning coles, and wood a fire, [so] the contentious man [is] apt to kindle strife.

22 The wordes of a talebearer [are] as flatterings, and they go downe into the bowels of the bellie.

23 As silver doleth ouerlayd vpon a potherd, [so] are burning lippes, and an euill heart.

24 He that hateth, will counterfette with his lips, but in his heart he layeth by deceite.

25 Though he speake fauourably, beleeue him not: for there are [seuen] abominations in his heart.

26 Hatred may be couered by deceite: [but] the malice thereof shalbe discovered in the congregation.

27 He that diggeth a pit, shall fall therein, and he that roleteth a stone, it shal returne vnto him.

28 A false tongue hateth the afflicted, and a flattering mouth causeth ruine.

2 Let another man praise thee, and not thine owne mouth: a stranger, and not thine owne lippes.

3 A stone [is] heauie, and the sande weightie: but a fooles wrath [is] heauier then them both.

4 Anger [is] cruell, and wrath [is] raging: but who can stand before eniue?

5 Open rebuke [is] better then secret loue.

6 The woundes of a loue [are] faithfull, and y kisses of an enemie [are] pleasant.

7 The person that is full, despiseth an homie combe: but vnto the hungrie soule euery bitter thing is sweete.

8 As a bird that wandereth from her nest, [so] [is] a man that wandereth from his owne place.

9 As oyntment and perfume reioyce the heart, [so] [doeth] the sweetenesse of a mans friend by heartie counsell.

10 Thine owne friend and thy fathers friend forsake thou not: neither enter in to thy brothers house in y day of thy calamitie: for better is a neighbour [that is] neere, then a brother farre off.

2. For the transgression of the land, there are many princes there-

3. A poore man, if he oppresse þe poore, is like a raging rayne, that [leaueth] no

4. They that forsake the Law, praise

the Wicked: but they that keepe þe Law, set themselves against them.

5. Wicked men vnderstand not iudge-derstand all things.

6. Better is the poore that walketh in his vprightnesse, then he that peruer-

7. He that keepeth þe Law, [is] a childe

the gluttons, shameth his father.

8. He that increaseth his riches by vsu-rie and interest, gathereth them for him:
that will be mercifull vnto the poore.

9. He that turneth alway his care from be abominable.

10. He that causeth the righteous to go astray by an euill way, shall fall into his owne pit, and the vpright shall inherite good things.

11. The rich man is wise in his owne conceite: but the poore that hath vnder-

12. When righteous men reioyce,

3 A man that loueth wisdom, reioyceth his father: but he that feedeth harlots, wasteth [his] substance.

4 A King by iudgement mainteyneth the country: but a man [receiuing] giftes, destroyeth it.

5 A man that flattereth his neighbour, spreadeth a net for his steppes.

6 In the transgression of an euil man [is] his snare: but the righteous doeth thing and reioyce.

7 The righteous knoweth the cause of the poore: but [the] wicked regardeth not knowledge.

8 Scornefull men bring a titie into a snare: but wise men turne away wrath.

9 If a wife man contend with a foolish man, whether he be angrie or laugh, there [is] no rest.

10 Bloodie men hate him that is by right: but the iust haue care of his soule.

11 A foole peruertheth out all his minde: but a wise man keepeth it in till afterward.

12 Of a prince that hearkeneth to lies, all his seruantes are wicked.

13 The poore and the bluer meete together, [and] the Lord lighteneth both their eyes.

14 * A King that iudgeth the poore in trueth, his throne shall be established for euer.

15 The rod and correction giue wisdom: but a childe set at libertie, maketh his mother ashamed.

16 When the wicked are increased, transgression increaseth: but the righteous shall see their fall.

17 Correct thy sonne, and he will giue thee rest, and will giue pleasures to thy soule.

18 <sup>d</sup> Where there [is] no vision, the people decay: but he that keepeth the Law, [is] blessed.

12 There is a generation that are pure in their owne conceit, and yet are not washed from their filthines.

13 There is a generation, whose eyes are haunte, and their eye lids are lifted vp.

14 There is a generation, whose teeth are as woodes, and their chawes as kennes to eate by the afflicted out of the earth, & the poore from among men.

15 The horse leache hath two daughters, which cry, Gue, gue. There be 18 There be three things hid from me: yea, four that I know not.

19 The way of an eagle in the ayre, the way of a serpent vpon a stone, the way of a ship in the middes of the sea, and the way of a man with a maide.

20 Such is the way also of an adurous woman: she eateth and wipeth
her mouth, and saith, I haue not committed iniquitie.

21 For three things earth is moued:
yea, for foure it cannot susteine it selfe:

22 For a seruant when he reitgeth,
and a foole when he is filled with meat,

23 For the hateful woman, when she is married, and for a handmaid that is heire to her mistres.

24 These be foure small things in the earth, yet they are wise and full of wisdom:

25 The pfinities a people not strong,
yet prepare they their meate in sommer:

26 The comes a people not mightie,
yet make they their houses in the rocke:

27 The grasshopper hath no King,
yet go they forth all by bandes:

28 The spider taketh hold with her hands, and is in Kings palaces.

29 There be three things that order well their going: yea, foure are comely in going,

30 A lyon which is strong among beasts, & turneth not at the sight of any:

31 A lustie grayhounde, and a goate, and a King against whom there is no
rising vp.

32 If thou hast bene foolishly in lifting hedly, lay thine hand vpon thy mouth.

Ecclesiastes, or the Preacher.

THE ARGUMENT.

Salomon, as a preacher and one that desired to instruct all in the way of saluation, describeth the deceitful vanities of this worlde, that man should not be addicted to any thing vnder the sunne, but rather inflamed with the desire of the heavenly life: therefore he confuteth their opinions, which set their felicity, either in knowledge, or in pleasures, or in dignitie & riches, shewing that mans true felicity consisteth in that that he is vnited with God, and shall enioye his presence: so that all other things must be reiected, saue in as much as they furtherers to attaine to this heavenly treasure, which is sure and permanent; and cannot be found in any other saue in God alone.

17 And I gaue mine heart to knowe wisdom and knowledg, madnes and foolishnes: I knowe also that this is a vberation of the spirit.

18 For in the multitude of wisdom [is] much<sup>m</sup> griefe: and he that increaseth knowledg, increaseth sorowe.

CHAP. II.

pleasures, sumptuous buildings, riches and possessions are but vanitie. 15 The wise and the foole haue both one ende, touching the bodily death.

ISaide in mine heart, Go to now, I will proue thee with toy: therefore take thou pleasure in pleasant things: and behold, this also is vanitie.

2 I said of laughter, Thou art mad: and of ioy, what is this that thou doest:

3 I thought in mine heart: to giue my selfe to wine, and to lead mine heart in wisdom, and to take hold of follie, till I might see where is that goodnesse of the children of men, which they enioy vnder the sunne, the whole number of the dayes of their life.

4 I haue made my great workes: I haue built me houses: I haue planted me vineyards.

5 I haue made me gardens and orchards, and planted in them trees of all fruite.

6 I haue made me cisterns of water, to water therewith the woods that grow with trees.

7 I haue gotten seruants and maids, and had children borne in the house: also I had great possession of beues, and sheepe aboue all that were before me in Ierusalem.

8 I haue gathered vnto mee also silver and golde, and the chiefe treasures of kings and prouinces: I haue prouided me men fingers and women fingers, and the delites of the sonnes of men, as a woman taken captiue, and women taken captiues.

9 And I was great, and increased above all that were before me in Ierusalem: also my wisdom remained with me.

10 And whatsoever mine eyes desired, I withheld it not from them: I withheld not mine heart from any ioy: for mine heart reioyced in all my labour: and this was my portion of all my traualle.

11 Then I looked on all my workes that my handes had wrought, and on the traualle that I had laboured to do: and beholde, all is vanitie and vberation of the spirit: and there is no profite vnder the sunne.

12 And I turned to beholde wisdom, and madnes and folie: for who is the man that will come after the king in things, which men now haue done?

13 Then I sawe that there is profite in wisdom, more then in folie: as the light is more excellent then darkness.

14 For the wise mans ries are in his head, but the foole walketh in darkness: yet I know also that the same condition faileth to them all.

15 Then I thought in mine heart, It befalleth vnto me, as it befalleth to the foole: why therefore do I then labour to bee more wise? And I saide in mine heart, that this also is vanitie.

16 For there shall be no remembrance of the wise, nor of the foole: for euer: for that that now is, in the dayes to come shall all be forgotten. And how dyeth the wise man, as doeth the foole?

17 Therefore I hated life: for I worke that is wrought vnder the sunne is grievous vnto mee: for all is vanitie, and vberation of the spirit.

18 I hated also all my labour, wherein I had traauayled vnder the sunne, which I shall leaue to the man that shall be after me.

Spanning of the firmament of clouds, which he had bought for the children borne in their seruitude, were the matters.

That is, whatsoever men take pleasure in.

Which were the most beautiful of them that were taken in warre, as Judges 5.30. Some understand by these wordes, no women but instruments of musicke.

For all this God did not take his gift of wisdom from me.

This was the fruit of all my labour, a certaine pleasure met with care, which becometh vanitie in the next verse.

I thought with myselfe whether it were better to follow wisdom, or mine owne affections and pleasures, which he calleth madnes.

Or compare with the king, Pro. 17.24.

The foolishness, which the foole can not for lacke of wisdom.

For both die and are forgotten, as ver.

16.01 they both alike haue prosperitie or aduersitie.

Spanning in this world, or the worshipers rich that men forget a wise man, being dead, as though as they be a foole.

h. The prophet that if any could haue attained to felicitie in this world by labour and studie, he chiefly should haue obtained it, because he had gifts and aides of God thereunto above all other.

i. Span of nature hath a desire to knowe, and yet is not able to come to the perfection of knowledge, which is the punishment of sinne, to humble him, and to teach him to depend onely upon God.

k. Span is not able by all his diligence to cause things to go otherwise then they do: neither can he number the faults that are committed, much lesse remedie them.

l. That is, vaine things, which serued vnto pleasure, wherein was no commoditie, but griefe and trouble of conscience.

m. Wisdom and knowledg cannot be come by without great paine of body and minde: for when a man hath attained to the best, yet is his mind neuer fully content: therefore in this world is no true felicitie.

a. Salomon maketh this discourse with himselfe, as though he would reue whether there were contentation in ease and pleasures.

b. Heb. draw my flesh to wine.

c. Albeit I gaue my selfe to pleasures, yet I thought to keepe wisdom and the feare of God in mine heart, and gouerne mine affaires by the same.

d. Ebr. do.

e. Ebr. paradises.

19 And who knoweth whether he shall be wife or foolish: yet shall he have rule over all my labour, wherein I have travailed, & wherein I have shed my selfe wife vnder þe sunne. This is also vanitie.

20 Therefore I went about to make mine heart<sup>a</sup> abhorre all þe labour, wherein I had travailed vnder the sunne.

21 For there is a man whose travaile is in wisdom, and in knowledge, and in equite: yet to a man that hath not travailed herein, shall he give his portion: this also is vanitie and a great griefe.

22 For what hath man of all his travaile and griefe of his heart, wherein he hath travailed vnder the sunne?

23 For all his dayes are forowles, & his travaile griefe: his heart also taketh not rest in the night: which also is vanitie.

24 There is no profit to man, but that he eat & drinke, and delite his soule with the profit of his labour: I saw al to this, that it was of the hand of God.

25 For who could eat, and who could haste to outward things more then I?

26 Surely to a man that is good in his sight, God giveth wisdom, & knowledge, and ioy: but to the sinner he giveth paine, to gather, and to heape to give to him that is good before God: this is also vanitie, and veracion of the spirit.

CHAP. III.

1 All things have their time. 14 The workes of God are perfect, and can be feared. 17 God shall iudge both the iust, and uniuert.

2 A time to be borne, and a time to die: a time to plant, and a time to plucke by that which is planted.

3 A time to slay, and a time to heale: a time to breake downe, and a time to build.

4 A time to weepe, and a time to laugh: a time to mourne, and a time to daunce.

5 A time to cast away stones, and a time to gather stones: a time to embrace, and a time to be farre from embracing.

6 A time to seeke, and a time to lose: a time to keepe, and a time to cast away.

7 A time to rent, and a time to sowe: a time to keepe silence, & a time to speake.

8 A time to loue, and a time to hate: a time of warre, and a time of peace.

9 What profit hath he that worketh, of the thing wherein he travaileth?

10 I haue seene the travaile that God hath giue to the sonnes of men<sup>b</sup> to humble them thereby.

11 He hath made euery thing beautiful in his time: also he hath set the world in their heart, yet cannot man finde out the worke of God hath wrought from the beginning euen to the ende.

12 I know that there is nothing good in them, but to reioyce, and to do good in his life.

13 And also that euery man eateth & drinketh, and seeth the commoditie of all his labour: this is the gift of God.

14 I knowe that whatsoever God shall do, it shall be for euery: to it can no man adde, and fro it can none diminish: for God hath done it, that they shoulde feare before him.

15 What is that that hath bene: that is now: and that that shall bee, hath no bin: for God requireth that which is past.

16 And moreover I haue seene vnder the sunne the place of iudgement, where was wickednes, and the place of iustice, where was iniquity.

17 I thought in mine heart, God will iudge the iust and the wicked: for time is there for euery purpose and for euery worke.

18 I considered in mine heart the state of the children of men that God had purged them: yet to see to, they are in themselves as beasts.

19 For the condition of the children of men, and the condition of beasts are euen as one condition vnto them. As the one dyeth, so dyeth the other: for they haue all one breath, and there is no excellencie of man aboue the beast: for all is vanity.

20 All go to one place, and all was of the dust, and all shall returne to the dust.

21 Who knoweth whether the spirit of man attende vppward, and the spirit of the beast descend downeward to the earth?

22 Therefore I see that there is nothing better then that a man should reioyce in his sayes, because that is his portion. For who shall bring him to see what shall be after him?

cannot comprehend that which hath beleeued herein. 1 By the often repetition of this sentence, as Chap. 2, 24, and 3, 12, 23, and 5, 17, and 8, 15, he declareth that man by reason can comprehend nothing better in this life then to use the gifts of God soberly and comfortably: for to knowe further is a speciall gift of God, reuelled by his Spirit.

CHAP. IIII.

1 The innocents are oppressed. 4 Spies labours are full of abuse and vanitie. 9 Spies societie is necessary. 12 A young man poore and wise, is to be preferred to an olde king that is a fool.

b Read Chap. 1, 12.

c God hath giuen man a desire, and affection to seeke out the things of this world, and to labour therein.

d Read Chap. 2, 24, and these places declare that he should do all things with sobriety, and in the feare of God, for as much as hee giueth not his gifts to the intent that they should be abused.

e That is, man shall neuer be able to let Gods worke, but as he hath decreed minde, so it shall come to passe.

f God send such such, that which he past to returne.

g Meaning, with God, howsoever man neglect his dutie.

h And made them pure in their first creation.

i Span is not able by his reason, and iudgement to put difference betweene man and beast, as touching these things whereunto both are subject: for the eye cannot iudge any difference of a man being dead, then of a beast, which is dead: yet by the worde of God and faith

we easily know the veritie, as verse 21.

k Meaning, that reason

cannot comprehend that which hath beleeued herein. 1 By the often repetition of this sentence, as Chap. 2, 24, and 3, 12, 23, and 5, 17, and 8, 15, he declareth that man by reason can comprehend nothing better in this life then to use the gifts of God soberly and comfortably: for to knowe further is a speciall gift of God, reuelled by his Spirit.

l The innocents are oppressed. 4 Spies labours are full of abuse and vanitie. 9 Spies societie is necessary. 12 A young man poore and wise, is to be preferred to an olde king that is a fool.

SO I turned, and considered all the oppressions that are wrought vnder the sunne, & beholde, the teares of the oppressed, and none comforteth them: and lo, the strength [is] of the hand of them that oppresse them, & none comforteth them.

2 Wherefore I prayed the <sup>b</sup> dead which now are dead, about the liuing, which are yet aliue.

3 And I count him better then them both, which hath not yet bene: for hee hath not seene the euill woorks which are wrought vnder the sunne.

4 Also I behelde all trauaile, and all perfection of woorkes that this is the enuie of a man agaynst his neighbour: this also [is] vanitie and vexation of spirit.

5 The foole foldeth his handes, and eateth by his owne flesh.

6 Better is an handfull with quietnes, then two handfulls with labour and vexation of spirit.

7 Againe I returned, and saue vanitie vnder the sunne.

8 There is one alone, [and there is] not a seconde, which hath neither some nor brother, yet [is] there none ende of all his trauaile, neither can his eye be satisfied with riches: neither doth he think, for whom doe I trauaile and defraude my soule of pleasure: this also is vanitie, and this is an euill trauaile.

9 Two are better then one: for they haue better wages for their labour.

10 For if they fall, the one will lift by his fellow: but two into him [that is] alone: for he falleth, and there [is] not a seconde to lift him vp.

11 Also if two sleepe together, then shall they haue heate: but to one holwe should there be heate:

12 And if one overcome him, two shal stand against him: and a threefold coard is not easily broken.

13 Better is a poore and wise childe, then an old and foolish King, which wil no more be admonished.

14 For out of the prison he cometh forth to reigne: when as he that is bozne in his kingdome, is made poore.

15 I beheld at the tining, which walke vnder the sunne, with the seruaunt & childe, which shall stand by in his place.

16 There is none end of all the people,

[nor] of all that were before them, and they that come after, shall not reioyce in him: surely this is also vanitie and vexation of spirit.

17 Take heede to thy <sup>m</sup> foote when thou entrest into the house of God, and bee more neere to heare then to giue the sacrifice of <sup>n</sup> foolles: for they knowe not that they do euill.

CHAP. V.

1 Not to speake lightly, chiefly in Gods matters. 2 The couetous can neuer haue enough. 3 The labourers liue in sweete. 4 Span when he dyeth, taketh nothing with him. 5 To liue topfully, & with a contented mind is the gift of God.

BE not rash with thy mouth, nor let thine heart be hasty to utter a thing before God: for God [is] in the heavens, and thou art on the earth: therefore let thy wordes be fewe.

2 For as a draeme cometh by the multitude of businesse: so the boyre of a foole [is] in the multitude of wordes.

3 When thou hast bowed a bolue to God, deferre not to pay it: for he deliveth not in foolles: pay [therefore] that thou hast bowed.

4 It is better that thou shouldest not bolue, then that thou shouldest bolue and not pay it.

5 Suffer not thy mouth to make thy flesh to lyme: neither say before the Angel, that this is ignorance: wherefore shall God be angry by thy boyre, and destroy the woorkes of thine hands:

6 For in the multitude of dreames, & vanities [are] also many wordes: but feare thou God.

7 If in a country thou seekest the oppression of the poore, and the defrauding of iudgement and iustice, be not astonished at the matter: for he that is higher then the highest, regardeth, and [there bee] higher then they.

8 And the abundance of the earth is ouer all: the King [also consisteth] by the field that is tilled.

9 He that loneth siluer, shall not be satisfied with siluer, and he that loneth riches, shall be without the fruit [therof]: this also is vanitie.

10 When goods encrease, they are encreased that eat them: and what good cometh to the owners thereof, but the beholding thereof with their eyes:

fer him to sleepe.

12 There is an euill sickness [that] I haue seene vnder the sunne: [to wit,] riches referred to the owners thereof for their euill.

13 And these riches perish by euill traualle, and hee begetteth a sonne, and in his hand is nothing.

14 As hee came forth of his mothers bellie, he shall returne naked to go as he came, and shall beare away nothing of his labour, which hee hath caused to passe by his hand.

15 And this also is an euill sickness [that] in all poynts as hee came, so shal he go, and what profit hath he that he hath traualled for the wind?

16 Also al his dayes he eateth in darkness with much griefe, and in his sorrow and anger.

17 Behold then, what I haue seene good, that it is comely to eate, and to drinke, and to take pleasure in all his labour, wherein hee traualleth vnder the sunne, the whole number of the dayes of his life, which God giueth him: for this is his portion.

18 Also to every man to whome God hath giuen riches and treasures, and giueth him powder to eate thereof, and to take his part, and to enioy his labour: this is the gift of God.

19 Surely hee will not much remember the dayes of his life, because God answereth to the ioy of his heart.

CHAP. VI.

The miserable estate of him to whom God hath giuen riches, and not the grace to vse them.

here is an euill, which I sawe vnder the sunne, and it is much among men:

2 A man to whome God hath giuen riches and treasures & honor, & hee wanteth nothing for his soule of all that it desireth: but God giueth him not powder to eate thereof, but a strange man shal eate it vp: this is vanitie, and this is an euill sickness.

3 If a man beget an hundred children, and liue many yeeres, & the dayes of his yeeres be multiplied, and his soule be not satisfied with good things, and hee be not buried, I say that an vntimely fruit is better then hee.

4 For hee cometh into vanitie and goeth into darkness: and his name shall be couered with darkness.

5 Also hee hath not seene the sunne, nor knowen it: therefore this hath more rest then the other.

6 And if hee had liued a thousand yeeres wise told, and had seene no good, shall not all go to one place?

7 All the labour of man [is] for his mouth: yet the soule is not filled.

8 For what hath the wise man more then the fool: what hath the poore that knoweth how to walke before & liuing?

9 The light of the eie is better then to walke in the luts: this also is vanitie, and vexation of spirit.

10 What is that that hath bene: the name thereof is now named: and it is knowen that it is man: & hee cannot strue with him that is stronger then hee.

CHAP. VII.

Diuers precepts to followe that which is good, and to avoid the contrarie.

Surely there be many things that increase vanitie: [and] what auaideth it man?

2 For who knoweth what is good for man in the life [and] in the number of the dayes of the life of his vanitie, seeing hee maketh them as a shadowe? For who can helpe vnto man what shall bee after him vnder the sunne?

3 A good name [is] better then a good ointment, and the day of death, then the day that one is borne.

4 It is better to goe to the house of mourning, then to goe to the house of feasting, because this is the ende of all men: and the liuing shall lay it to his heart.

5 Anger is better then laughter: for by a sad looke the heart is made better.

6 The heart of the wise [is] in the house of mourning: but the heart of foolles [is] in the house of mirth.

7 Better it is to heare the rebuke of a wise man, then that a man should heare the song of foolles.

8 For like the nose of the thornes vnder the pot, so [is] the laughter of foolle: this also is vanitie.

9 Surely oppression maketh a wise man mad: and the reward destroyeth the heart.

10 The ende of a thing is better then the beginning thereof, [and] the patient in spirit is better then the proude in spirit.

11 Be not thou of an hasty spirit to be angry: for anger resteth in the bosome of his desire and affection, f That knoweth to vse his goodnes well in the iudgement of ment. g To be content with that which God hath giuen, is better then to followe the desires that nature can be filled. h Speaking, God who will make him to seele that he is mortall.

There is no state, wherein man can liue to haue peritue quenes in his life. iob. 14. 2. Gal. 4. 4. 4. Prou. 23. 1. of fooles.

12 Say not thou, why is it that the former dayes were better then these: for thou doest not enquire wisely of this thing.

13 Wisdome is good with an inheritance, and excellent to them that see the sunne.

14 For man shall rest in the shadow of wisdome, and in the shadowe of sinner: but the excellencie of the knowledg of wisdome giueth life to the possessers thereof.

15 Behold the worke of God: for who can make straight that which hee hath made crooked:

16 In the day of wealth bee of good comfort, and in the day of affliction consider: God also hath made this contrarie to that, to the intent that man should find nothing after him.

17 I haue seene all thinges in the dayes of my banitie: there is a iust man that perisheth in his iustice, and there is a wicked man that continueth long in his malice.

18 We not thou iust ouermuch, neither make thy selfe ouerwise: wherefore shouldest thou be desolate?

19 We not thou wicked ouermuch, neither be thou foolishly: wherefore shouldest thou perish not in thy time?

20 It is good that thou lay holde on this: but yet with draw not thine hand from that: for he that feareth God, shall come forth of them all.

21 Wisdome shall strengthen the wise man more then ten mightie princes that are in the citie.

22 Surely there is no man iust in the earth, that doth good and sinneth not.

23 Gue not thine heart also to all the wordes that men speake, least thou doe heare thy seruant cursing thee.

24 For oftentimes also thine heart knoweth that thou likewise hast cursed others.

25 All this haue I prooued by wisdome: I thought I will be wise, but it went farre from me.

26 It is farre off, what may it bee: and it is a profound deepenesse, who can finde it?

27 I haue compassed about, [both] I and mine heart to knowe & to enquire and to search wisdome and reason, and to knowe the wickednes of follice, and the foolishnes of madnesse.

28 And I find more bitter then death

the woman whose heart is as nettles and snares, and her hands as bands: he that is good before God, shall be deliuered from her, but the sinner shall be taken by her.

29 Beholde, sayth the preacher, this haue I founde, [seeking] one by one to finde the count:

30 And yet my soule seeketh, but I finde it not: I haue founde one man of a thousand: but a woman among them all haue I not found.

31 Only so, this haue I founde, that God hath made man righteous: but they haue sought many inventions.

CHAP. VII.

To obey princes and Magistrates. 17 The workes of God passe mans knowlege.

Who is as the wise man: and who knoweth the interpretation of a thing: the wisdome of a man doeth make his face to shine: and the strength of his face shall be changed.

2 I aduertise thee [to take heede to the mouth of the King, & to the worde of the othe of God.

3 Halfe not to go footstap of his sight: stande not in an euill thing: for hee will do whatsoeuer pleaseeth him.

4 Where the worde of the King is, there is power, and who shall lay vnto him, what doest thou?

5 He that keepeth the commandement, shall knowe none euill thing, and the heart of the wise shall knowe the time & iudgement.

6 For to euery purpose there is a time and iudgement because the mulierie of man is great, vpon him.

7 For hee knoweth not that which shall be: for who can tell him when it shall be?

8 Man is not lord over the spirite to reueine the spirite: neither hath hee power in the daye of death, nor deliuerance in the battell, neither shall wickednes deliuer the possessers thereof.

9 All this haue I seene, and haue giuen mine heart to euery worke, which is wrought vnder the sunne, [and I saw] a time that man ruleth ouer man to his owne hurt.

10 And likewise I sawe the wicked buried, and they returned, & they that came from the holie place, were yet forgotten in the citie where they had done right: this also is banitie.

1 Where iustice is delayed there sinneth reigneth.

Worke is not executed speedily, therefore the heart of the children of men is fully set in them to do euill.

12 Though a sinner doe euill an hundred times, and God prolongeth his dayes, yet I know that it shall be well with them that feare the Lorde, and do reuerence before him.

13 But it shall not be well to the wicked, neither shall he prolong his dayes: he shall be like a shadow, because he feareth not before God.

14 There is a vanitie, which is done vpon the earth, that there be righteous men to whome it cometh according to the worke of the wicked: and there be wicked men to whom it cometh according to the worke of the iust: I thought also that this is vanitie.

15 And I prayed ioy: for there is no goodnesse to man vnder the sunne, saue to eate and to drinke and to reioyce: for this is adioyned to his labour, the dayes of his life that God hath giuen him vnder the sunne.

16 When I applied mine heart to knowe wisdome, and to behold the busines that is done on earth, that neither day nor night peeces of man take sleepe,

17 Then I behelde the whole worke of God, that man cannot finde out the worke that is wrought vnder the sunne: for the which man labourereth to seeke it, and cannot find it: yea, & though the wise man thinke to knowe it, he cannot finde it.

CHAP. IX.

1 By no outward thing can man knowe whome God loueth, or hateth. 2 No man knoweth his end. 3 Wisdome excelleth strength.

I haue surely giue mine heart to all this, and to declare all this, that the iust, and the wise, and their workes are in the hand of God: and no man knoweth either loue or hatred of all that is before them.

2 All things come alike to all: and the same condition is to the iust and to the wicked, to the good and to the pure, and to the polluted, and to him that sacrificeth, and to him that sacrificeth not: as is the good, so is the sinner, he that sweareth, as he that feareth an oath.

3 This is euill among all that is done vnder the sunne, that there is one condition to all, and also the heart of the sonnes of men is full of euil, and madness is in their hearts whiles they liue, and after that, they go to the dead.

4 Surely whosoener is ioyned to all the liuing, there is hope: for it is better to a liuing dog, then to a dead lyon.

5 For the liuing know that they shall die, but the dead knowe nothing at all: neither haue they any more a rewarde: for their remembrance is forgotten.

6 Also their loue, and their hatred, & their enuie is now perished, & they haue no more portion for euer, in all that is done vnder the sunne.

7 So, eate thy bread with ioye, and drinke thy wine with a cheereful heart: for God now accepteth thy workes.

8 At all times let thy garments be white, and let not oyle be lacking vpon thine head.

9 Reioyce with the wife whome thou hast loued all the dayes of the life of thy vanitie, which God hath giuen thee vnder the sunne all the dayes of thy vanitie: for this is thy portion in the life, and in thy transiende wherem thou labourst vnder the sunne.

10 At that thine hand shall finde to do, doe it with all thy power: for there is neither worke nor inuention, nor knowledge, nor wisdome in the graue whither thou goest.

11 I returned, and I saue vnder the sunne that the rare is not to the swift, nor the battel to the strong, nor yet bread to the wise, nor also riches to men of vnderstanding, neither yet fauour to men of knowledge: but time and chance cometh to them all.

12 For neither doth man knowe his time, [but] as the fishes, which are taken in an euill net, and as the birds that are caught in the snare: so are the children of men snared in the euill time when it falleth vpon them suddenly.

13 I haue also seene this wisdome vnder the sunne, and it is great vnto me.

14 A little citie and few men in it, and a great King came against it, and compassed it about, and builded fortres against it.

15 And there was founde therein a poore and wise man, and hee deliuered the citie by his wisdome: but none remembered this poore man.

16 Then said I, Better is wisdome then strength: yet the wisdome of the poore is despised, and his wordes are not heard.

17 The wordes of the wise are more heard

c He noteth the Epicurus, and carnall men, which mure their belly their god, and had no pleasure but in this life, building rather to be an abier, and vile person in this life, then a man of aueritie, and so to die, which is ment by the dog and lion. d They flatter themselves to be in Gods fauour, because they haue all things in abundance. e Reioyce, be merry, & spare for no cost, thus speake the wicked belly gods. f Ebr. regarde the life. heard in quietnesse, then the crye of him that ruleth among fooles.

18 Better is Wisdome then Weapons of War: but one sinner destroyeth much good.

CHAP. X.

1 The difference of foolishnes and wisdom, 11 A slanderer is like a serpent that cannot be charmed, 16 Of foolish Kings, and drunken princes, 17 And of good Kings and princes.

DEAD flies cause to stinke, and putrefie the ointment of the apothecarie: so doeth a little folie him that is in estimation for wisdom, and for glory.

2 The heart of a wise man is at his right hand: but the heart of a foole is at his left hand.

3 And also whē the foole goeth by the way, his heart faileth: & he telleth unto all that he is a foole.

4 If the spirit of him that ruleth, rise by against thee, leave not thy place: for gentleness pacifieth great finnes.

5 There is an euil that I haue seene vnder the sunne, as an error that proceedeth from the face of him that ruleth.

6 Follie is set in great excellencie, and the rich let in the lowe place.

7 I haue seene seruantes on horses and princes walking as seruants on the ground.

8 He that diggeth a pit, shal fall into it, and hee that breaketh the hedge, a serpent shal bite him.

9 He that remoueth stones, shal hurt himselfe thereby, and hee that cutteth wood, shal be in danger thereby.

10 If the yron be blunt, and one hath not whet the edge, he must then put too more strength: but the excellencie to direct a thing is wisdom.

11 If the serpent bite, when hee is not charmed: no better is a babler.

12 The words of the mouth of a wise man haue grace: but the lips of a foole deuoure himselfe.

13 The beginning of the words of his mouth is foolishnes, and the latter end of his mouth is wicked madnesse.

14 For the foole multiplieth words, saying, I can knoweth not what shall be: and who can tell him what shall be after him?

15 The labour of the foolish doeth weary him: for he knoweth not to go in to the cite.

16 Wo to thee, O land, when thy king is a childe, and thy princes eate in the morning.

17 Blessed art thou, O lande, when thy king is the sonne of nobles, and thy princes eate in time, for strength and not for drunkenesse.

18 By slouthfulness the rooffe of the house goeth to decay, and by the idleness of the hands the house droppeth through.

19 They prepare bread for laughter, and wine comforteth the living, but siluer and vereth to all.

20 Curse not the King, nor not in thy thought, neither curse the rich in thy bed chamber: for the foule of the heauē shal carry the voice, and that which hath wings, shal declare the matter.

CHAP. XI.

1 To be liberrall to the poore, 4 That to doubt of Gods providence, 8 All worldly prosperitie is but vanitie, 9 God will iudge all.

EAT thy bread vpon the waters: for after many dayes thou shalt finde it.

2 Giue a portion to seuen, and also to eight: for thou knowest not what euil shalbe vpon the earth.

3 If the cloudes be full, they will poure forth raine vpon the earth: and if the tree doe fall towarde the South, or towarde the North, in the place that the tree faileth, there it shal be.

4 He that obserueth the winde, shal not soyle, and he that regardeth the cloudes, shal not reape.

5 As thou knowest not which is the way of the spirit, nor holdest the bones doe growe in the wombe of her that is with childe: so thou knowest not the worke of God that worketh all.

6 In the morning soyle thy seed, and in the evening let not thine hande rest: for thou knowest not whether shal prosper, this or that, or whether both shal be alike good.

7 Surely light is a pleasant thing: and it is a good thing to the eyes to see the sunne.

8 Though a man liue many yeres, yet he shall remember the dayes of darkness, because they are many, all that connecth is vanity.

9 Reioyce O yong mā in thy youth, and let thine heart cheere thee in the daies of thy youth: & walke in the wayes of thine heart, and in the sight of thine eyes: but knowe for all these things, God will bring thee to iudgement.

10 Therefore take away griefe out of thine heart, and cause euil to depart from thy flesh: for childhood and youth are vanitie.

An excellent Song which was Salomons.

THE ARGUMENT.

IN this Song, Salomon by most sweete and comfortable allegories & parables describeth the perfit loue of Iesus Christ, the true Salomon and King of peace, and the faithful soule or his Church, which he hath sanctified and appointed to be his spouse, holy, chaste and without reprehension. So that here is declared the singular loue of the bridegrome towards the bride, and his great and excellent benefices wherewith he doeth enrich her of his pure bountie and grace without any of her deseruings. Also the earnest affection of the Church which is inflamed with the loue of Christ desiring to be more and more ioyned to him in loue, and not to be forsaken for any spot or blemish that is in her.

CHAP. I.

1 The familiar talke and mystical communication of the spiritual loue betwene Iesus Christ and his Church. 5 The domesticall enemies that persecute the Church.

a This is spoken in the person of the Church, or of the faithful soule, encompassed with the desire of Christ, who is the louely. b The feeling of thy great benefices.

Let him kisse me with the kisses of his mouth: for thy loue is better then wine.

2 Because of thy saour of thy good ointments, thy name [is as] an ointment payed out: therefore the virgins loue thee.

3 Draw me: we will run after thee: the king hath brought me into his chambers: we will reioyce and be glad in thee: we will remember thy loue more then wine: the righteous doe loue thee.

4 I am blacke, O daughters of Jerusalem, but comely, as the fruites of Cedar, [and] as the curtains of Tyre. f The Church confesseth her spot & sinne, but hath confidence in the fauour of Christ. g Cedar was a kinde of tree, of which came the Arabians that dwelt in tents. h Which were all her most precious honours & treasures.

c They that are pure in heart and conuerfation.

5 I charge you, O daughters of Jerusalem: by the roses and by the hyndes of the field, that ye stirre not by, nor waken [my] loue until he please.

e This is referred to the Church of Israel, which was led by the wilderness fourty yeeres, Heb. powder, f By the bed is meant the temple, which Salomon made.

6 Who is she that cometh by out of the wilderness like pillars of smoke perfumed with myrrhe and incense, [and] with all the spices of the merchant?

7 Beholde his bed, which is Salomons: these are strong men [are] rounde about it, of the valiant men of Israel.

g He allueth to the watch, which kept eye Temple, h Or, charit.

8 They all handle the sword, [and are] expert in war, every one [hath] his sword by his thigh for the feare by night.

9 King Salomon made him selfe a palace of the trees of Lebanon.

10 He made the pillars thereof of silver, [and] the pavement thereof of gold, the hangings thereof of purple, whose middes was paied with the loue of the daughters of Jerusalem.

h All ye, that are of the number of the faithful, i Christ become man was crowned by the loue of God with the glorious crowne of his diuinitie, 11 Come forth, ye daughters of Zion, and beholde the King Salomon with the crovne, wherewith his mother crowned him in the day of his marriage, and in the day of the gladnesse of his heart.

CHAP. III.

1 The prayes of the Church, 7 She is without blemish in his sight, 9 The loue of Christ towards her.

BEholde, thou art faire, my loue: beholde, thou art faire: thine eyes [are like] doves among thy lockes: thine heare is like the flocke of goates, which looke downe from the mountaine of Seilad.

a Because Christ delighteth in his Church, he commendeth all that is in her, Chap. 6.4. b He hath respect to the multitude of the faithful, which are many in number,

2 Thy teeth [are] like a flocke of sheepe in good order, which go by fro the washing: which euery one bring out vnmimes, and none is barren among them.

3 Thy lippes are like a threde of scarlet and thy talke is comely: thy temples [are] within thy lockes as a piece of a pomegranate.

4 Thy necke is as the towler of David built for defence: a thousand shildes hang therein, [and] all the targates of the strong men.

5 Thy two breastes [are] as two yong roes that are vnmimes, feeding among the lilies.

6 Until the day breake, and the shad-dolues flee away, I will goe into the mountaine of myrrhe and to the mountaine of incense.

7 Thou art all faire, my loue, & there is no spot in thee.

8 Come with mee from Lebanon, [my] spouse, [euen] with mee from Lebanon, [and] looke from the top of Amanah, from the top of Shehur and Hermon, from the denmes of the hyons [and] from the mountaines of the leopardes.

d Christ promyseth his Church to call his faithful fro all the corners of the world.

9 My sister, [my] spouse, thou hast wounded mine heart: thou hast wounded mine heart with one of thine eyes, [and] with a chaine of thy necke.

e Christ calleth his Church sister in respect that he has taken the flesh of man, f In that he made his Church heartfull, and rich, he loved his gittes in her, g Because of thy confession and thanksgiving,

10 My sister, [my] spouse, howe faire is thy loue: howe much better is thy loue then wine: and the saour of thine oymments then all spices:

11 Thy lippes, [my] spouse, droppe [as] home combs: home and milke are vnder thy tongue, and the saour of thy garmentes [is] as the saour of Lebanon.

12 My sister my spouse [is as] a garden inclosed, as a spring shut by, [and] a fountaine sealed by.

13 Thy plantes [are as] an orchard of pomegranates with sweete fruites, [as] camphire, spikenarde, h The Church confesseth that all her glorie, and beautie cometh of Christ, who is the true fountaine of all grace.

14 [Euen] spikenarde, and saffran, calamus, and cinnamon with all the trees of incense, myrrhe and aloes, with all the chiefe spices.

15 A fountaine of the gardens, O well of liuing waters, and the springs of Lebanon.

i She desireth Christ to comfort her, and to poure the graces of his spirit vpon her, which spirit is meant by the Spirit & Sonnti wonder.

16 Arise, O North, and come O South, [and] blowe on my garden that the spices thereof may flouie out: let my welbeloued come to his garden, and eate his pleasant fruite.

CHAP. V.

1 Christ calleth his Church to the participation of all his treasures, 2 She heareth his voyce, 3 She confesseth her nakednes, 10 She prayeth Christ her husband.

I Am come into my garden, my sister, my spouse: I gathered my myrrhe with my spice: I ate myne honey combe with mine hony, I dranke my wine with my milke: eate, O friends, drinke, and make you merry, O welbeloued.

a The garden signifieth the kingdom of Christ wher he prepareth the banquet for his elect,

2 I sleepe, but mine heart waketh, [it is] the voyce of my welbeloued that knocketh, [saying,] Open but mee, my sister, my loue, my doore, my v. Desires for

b The spouse saith that she is troubled with the cares of worldly things, which is mende by sleeping,

c Declaring long patience of the Lox toward sinners, d The house confesteth her nakednes, and chat of her selfe shee hath nothing: of feeling that she is once made cleane, she puniteth not to defile her selfe againe. f Hee, my bowels were moved towards him.

e The house which should be animated of Christ, that not made him to be kinne to him with her good works, f These are the false teachers, which wound the conscience with their traditions.

g Shee askech of them which are goodly (so) almost as the Lawe and saluation should come out of Zion and Jerusalem, what they should direct her to Christ. h Thus sape they of Jerusalem, i Shee desireth Christ to be of perfect beautie and comelines, h Eb. Tarshish.

k Hearing of the excellencie of Christ, the faithfull desire to knowe howe to finde him, for mine head is full of dew, & my lockes with the drops of the night.

3 I haue put of my coate, howe shal I put it on: I haue washed my feete, how shal I defile them:

4 My welbeloued put in his hande by the hole of y<sup>e</sup> doore, and mine heart was affectioned toward him.

5 I rose vp to open to my welbeloued, and mine handes did droppe dolbvn myrche, and my fingers pure myrche vpon the handels of the barre.

6 I opened to my welbeloued: but my welbeloued was gone, and past: mine heart was gone when hee did speake: I sought him, but I could not finde him: I called him, but hee answered me not.

7 The watchmen that went about the citie, founde me: they smote me [ & ] wounded mee: the watchmen of the walles tooke away my bayle from me.

8 I charge you, o daughters of Jerusalem, if you finde my welbeloued, that you tell him that I am sicke of loue.

9 O the fairest among women, what is thy welbeloued more then [ o ] ther welbeloued: what is thy welbeloued more then another louer, that thou doest to charge vs:

10 My welbeloued is white and ruddie, the chiefest of ten thousand.

11 His head is as fine gold, his locks curled, and blacke as a rauen.

12 His eyes are like dones vpon the riuers of waters, which are washt with milke, and remaine by the full vessels.

13 His cheekes are as a bed of spices, and as sweet flowers, and his lippes like lillies dropping dolbvn pure myrche.

14 His hands [ as ] rings of golde set with the<sup>e</sup> chrysolite, his bellic like white yuorie couered with sapphires.

15 His legges are as pillars of marble, set vpon sockets of fine golde: his countenance as Lebanon, excellent as the cedars.

16 His mouth is as sweete things, and he is wholly delectable: this is my welbeloued, and this is my louer, o daughters of Jerusalem.

17 O fairest among women, whether is thy welbeloued gone: whether is thy welbeloued turned aside, that wee may seeke him with thee:

CHAP. VI.

2 The Church assureth her selfe of the loue of Christ, 3 The prayes of the Church, 8 She is but one and vnited.

My welbeloued is gone dolbne into his garde to the beddes of spices, to feede in the gardens, and to gather lillies.

2 I am my welbeloueds, and my welbeloued is mine, who feedeth among the lillies.

3 Thou art beautifull, my loue, as Tirzah, comely as Jerusalem, terrible as an armie with banners.

4 Turne away thine eyes from me: for they ouercome mee: thine heare is like a flocke of goats, which looke dolbvn from Gilead.

5 Thy teeth [ are ] like a flocke of sheepe, which go by from the washing, which euery one bring out swinnes, and none is baren among them.

6 Thy temples are within thy locks as a piece of a pomegranate.

7 There are threescore Queenes and fourescore concubines, and of the damels without number.

8 But my doue is alone, and my vnited, she is the onely daughter of her mother, and shee is deare to her that bare her: the daughters haue seene her and counted her blessed: euen the Queenes and the concubines, and they haue prayed her.

9 Who is shee that looketh forth as the morning, faire as the moone, pure as the sunne, terrible as an armie with banners!

10 I went dolbne to the garden of nuttes, to see the frutes of the valley, to see if the vine budded, and if the pomegranates flourished.

11 I knew nothing, my soule let me as the charets of my noble people.

12 Returne, returne, o Shulamite, returne: returne that we may beholde thee, what that thou see in Shulamite, but as the company of an armie:

CHAP. VII.

1 The beautie of the Church in all her members, 10 She is assured of Christs loue towards her.

O we beautifull are thy garments with shoes, o princes daughter! the toynts of thy thighs are like iebels: the worke of y<sup>e</sup> hand of a cunning workman.

2 Thy navel is as a round cup that wanteth not licour: thy belly is as an heape of wheat copassed about wth lillies.

3 Thy two breasts are as two yong roes that are swinnes.

4 Thy neck is like a towre of yuorie: thine eyes [ are like ] the fish pooles in Bethbon

a That is, is churche here in earth among men.

b Which was a faire & strong citie. i. King.

c This belongeth the exceeding loue of Christ toward his Church. Chap. 4. 1. 17.

d Opening, & the giftes are infinite which Christ giueth to his Church: o that his faithful be many in number, e He sheweth that the beginning of the Church was small, but that it grew up to a great multitude.

f He went downe into the Synagogue to see what frutes came of the Lawe, and the Prophets.

g I founde nothing but rebellion, h I came as suitt as the nobles of my people in their charrets.

ded the sense and meaning thereof. And according as God gaue them vnderstanding of things, they applied the promises particularly for the comfort of the Church and the members thereof, and also denounced the menaces against the enemies of the same: not for any care or regard to the enemies, but to assure the Church of their safeguard by the destruction of their enemies. And as touching the doctrine of reconciliation, they haue more clearly intreated it then Moses, and set forth more lively Iesus Christ, in whom this covenant of reconciliation was made. In all these things Isaiah did excell all the Prophets, and was most diligent to set out the same, with most vehement admonitions, reprehensions, and consolations: euer applying the doctrine, as he saw that the disease of the people required. He declared also many notable prophecies which he had receiued of God, as touching the promises of the Messiah, his office, & his kingdom. Alfo of the fauour of God toward his Church, the vocation of the Gentiles, and their vnion with the Iewes, Which are as most principall poyntes contained in this booke, and a gathering of his sermons that hee preached. Which after certaine dayes that they had stand vpon the Temple doore (for the manner of the Prophets was to set vp the summe of their doctrine for certaine dayes that the people might the better marke it, as Isa. 8. 1. and Habak. 2. 2.) the Priests tooke it downe and reserued it among their registers: and so by Gods prouidence these booke were preferred as a monument to the Church for euer. As touching his person & time, he was of the Kings stocke (for Amoz his father was brother to Azariah King of Iudah, as the best writers agree) and prophesied more then 64. yeeres from the time of Vzziah vnto the reigne of Manasseh, whose father in lawe he was (as the Ebrewes write) & of whom he was pur to death. And in reading of the Prophets past, because of the certaintie thereof, and that they coule not but come to passe, because God had ordeined them in his secreete counsell, and so reuieled them to his Prophets.

CHAP. III.

1 For the sinne of the people God will take away the wise men, and giue them foolish princes. 24 The countenance of the gouernours. 26 The pride of the women.

man humbled himselfe: therefore spare them not.

10 Enter into the rocke, and hide thee in the dust fro before p feare of the Lord, and from the glory of his maiestie.

11 The hie looke of man shalbe humbled, and the loftinesse of men shall be abased, and the Lord onely shalbe exalted in that day.

12 For the day of the Lord of hostes [is] vpon all the proude and hauntie, and vpon all that is exalted: and it shall be made lowe.

13 Euen vpon all the ceders of Lebanon, that are hie and exalted, and vpon all the oaks of Bashan,

14 And vpon all p high mountaines, and vpon all the hilles that are lifted vp.

15 And vpon euery hie towler, and vpon euery strong wall,

16 And vpon all the shippes of Tarshish, and vpon all pleasant pictures.

17 And the haughtinesse of men shall be brought lowe, and the loftinesse of men shalbe abased, and the Lord shall onely be exalted in that day.

18 And the idoles will bee bitterly destroyed.

19 Then they shal go * into the holes of the rockes, and into the caues of the earth, from before the feare of the Lord, and from the glory of his maiestie, when he shall arise to destroy the earth.

20 At that day shall man cast away his siluer idoles, and his golden idoles (which they had made them selues to worship them) * to the moles and to the backes,

21 To go into the holes of the rockes, and into the toppes of the ragged rockes from before the feare of the Lord, and from the glorie of his maiestie, when he shall rise to destroy the earth.

22 Cease you from the man whose breath is in his nostrils: for wherem is he to be esteemed:

prudent and the aged,

3 The captaine of fiftie, and the honorable, and the counsellor, and p cunning artificer, and the eloquent man.

4 And I will appoynt d children [to be their princes, and babes shall rule ouer them.

5 The people shall be oppressed one of another, and euery one by his neighbour: the children shall presume against the ancient, and the vile against the honorable.

6 When euery one shall take hold of his brother of the house of his father, [I say.] Thou hast clothing: thou shalt be our prince, and let this fall bee vnder thine hand:

7 In p day he shall s sweare, saying, I can not bee an helper: for there is no bread in mine house, nor clothing: therefore I make me no prince of the people.

8 Doubtlesse Ierusalem is fallen, and Iudah is fallen downe, because their tongue and woordes [are] against the Lord, to prouoke the eyes of his glory.

9 The t<sup>r</sup>yal of their countenance testified against them, yea, they declare their finnes, as Sodom, they hide them not. wo bee vnto their soules: for they haue rewarded euill vnto themselves.

10 Say ye, Surely it shall be well with the iust: for they shall eate the fruit of their woordes.

11 Wo bee to the wicked, it shall be euill [with him:] for p reward of his hands shall be giuen him.

12 Children [are] extortioners of my people, and women haue rule ouer the: O my people, they that leade thee, cause thee to erre, and destroy the way of thy pathes.

13 The Lord standeth vp to pleade, yea, he standeth vp to iudge the people.

14 The Lord shall enter into iudgement with the Ancients of his people & the princes therof: for ye haue eaten by the vineyard: the poyle of the poore [is] in your houses.

15 What haue ye to doe, that ye beate my people to pierces, and grinde the faces of the poore, sayth the Lord, euen the Lord of hostes:

16 The Lord also saith, Because the daughters of Zion are hauntie, & walke in foolies and effeminate, p Praying, that the rulers and gouernours had destroyed his Church, and not preferred it according to their duty. n That is, ye shewed all crueltie against them. o He menaceth the people because of their arrogancie and pride of their women, which gaue them liues to all wantonnesse and dissolucion.

c By these he meaneth that God shoulde take away euery thing that was in estimation, and wherem they had any occasion to vaunt themselves.

d Not onely in age, but in wit, maners, knowledge, and strength.

e For lacke of good regiment and order.

f He sheweth that this plague shalbe loyalties, that cause erre to the common manner of men, which by nature are ambitious, none shal be founde able vnto willing to be their gouernour, g I care shall rather cause him to cause swaite himself, then to take such a dangerous charge vpon him.

h Then God shall examine their verities, wherupon they shal see inimicidie face, he shall find the marke of their impietie in their fore head.

i Ye p are goodly assured that God will defend you in the midbes of this trouble.

k Because the wicked people were more aduer to their princes, then to the commandments of God, he sheweth that he woulde giue them such princes, by whom they shoulde haue no helpe, but that shoulde be manifest tokens of his wrath, because they thought he had destroyed his Church, and not preferred it according to their duty.

n That is, ye shewed all crueltie against them.

o He menaceth the people because of their arrogancie and pride of their women, which gaue them liues to all wantonnesse and dissolucion.

as they goe, & making a tinkeling with their feete,

heads of daughters of Zion balde, and the Lord shall discover their secret parts.

18 In that day shall the Lord take away the ornament of the slippers, and the calles, and the round tyers,

19 The sweete balles, and the bracelets, and the bonnets,

20 The tyres of the head, and the slippes, and the head bands, and the ta-

22 The costly apparel and the balles,
and the wimples, & the crisping pinnes, 23 And the glasses and the fine linen,
and the hoodes, and the launes.

24 And in steade of sweete savour,
there shall be stinke, and in steade of a girdle, a rent, and in steade of dressing of the heare, baldnes, and in steade of a stomacher, a girding of sackcloth, [and] burning in stead of beautie.

thynesse of the daughters of Zion, and purge the blood of Ierusalem out of the middles thereof by the spirit of iudge-ment, and by the spirit of burning.

5 And the Lord shall create vpon euery place of mount Zion, & vpon the assemblyes thereof, a cloud & smoke by day, &
the shining of a flaming fire by night: for vpon all the glory [shall be] a defence.

people, 8 Of their auarice, 11 Their drunkenness, 13 Of their captiuitie.

NO WE WILL sing to my be-loued a song of my beloued to his vineyard. My beloued had a vineyard in a berie
fruitfull hill,

2 And he hedged it, and gathered out
the stones of it, & he planted it in the best plants, & he built a towre in the mids therof, & made a wine presse therein: the
he looked for it should bring forth grapes:
but it brought forth wilde grapes.

3 Nowe therefore, O inhabitants of Ierusalem and men of Iudah, iudge, I pray you, betwene me, & my vineyard.

4 What could I haue done any more to my vineyard that I haue not done vnto it? Why haue I looked for it should bring forth grapes, and it bringeth forth wilde grapes?

5 And nowe I tell you what I will do to my vineyard: I shall take away
the hedge therof, and it shall be eaten by:
I will breake the wal therof, and it shall be troden downe:

6 And I will lay it waste: it shall not be cut, nor digged, but briers & thornes shall grow vp: I will also command the clouds that they raine no raine vpon it.

7 Surely the vineyard of the Lord of hostes [is] the house of Israel, & the men of Iudah [are] his pleasant plant, of cry of poore.

o Which containeth about ten pottels: so that every acre
should but yeeld one pottel.

p Which cleareth an hundred pottels, o An Ephah containeth ten pottels, and is in these things as much as bath is in iours.

p That spare
no paine nor diligence to followe their lusts.

q Which are never weare
of their rioting
and excessive pleasures but use all means
to promote to
the same.

r They regard
not the present
care of God over them, nor for what end he hath created
them.

s That is, shall certainly go:
for so the prophets use to speak, as though a thing
which shall come to passe,
were done already.

t Because they would not obey
the word of God.

u Speaking, the angel shall summon to them that shall be for iudgement
and there, and yet for all this great destruction
it shall never be satiate.

x God comfort-
eth the poore
lambs of his Church, which had bene strangers in other countries, promising that they shoulde
dwell in chole
places againe,
whereof they had bene depri-
ued by the fat,
and cruell op-
ressions.

y Which use
all allures,
occasions, and excuses to burden their conscience in sin.
z He sheweth
what are the woords of the wicked, when they are menaced with Gods
iudgements.

a Pet. 3.4.
c Which are not ashamed

of sinne, nor care for honestie, but are growen to a desperate impie-tie.

b Which are contenters of all doctrine and admonition.

c Which are never weare, but they their strength, and brag in gluttonie and drunkenness.

d Both
they and their posteritie, so that nothing shall be left,

11 Wdo vnto them, that rife by care-ly to followe drunkennes, and to them that continue vntill night, till the wine
do inflame them.

12 And the harpe and viole, timbrell,
and pipe, and wine are in their feastes:
but they regarde not the worke of the Lorde, neither consider the worke of his handes.

13 Therefore my people is gone into captiuitie, because they had no knowledge, and the glory thereof are men famished, & the multitude thereof is dried by with thirst.

14 Therefore hell hath enlarged it selfe, and hath opened his mouth, without measure, and their glorie, and their multitude, & their pompe, & he that reioiceth among them, shall descend into it.

15 And man shall be brought downe,
and man shall be humbled, even the eyes of the poude shall be humbled.

16 And the Lord of hosts shall exalted in iudgement, and the holy God shall be sanctified in iustice.

17 Then shall the lambs feede after their manner, and the strangers shall eate
the desolate places of the fat.

18 Wdo vnto them, that dwell in iniquitie with cordes of vanity, and sinne, as
with cart ropes:

19 Which say, Let him make speede:
let him hasten his worke, that wee may see it: and let the counsell of the holy one of Israel dwell nere and come, that we may know it.

20 Wdo vnto them that speake good of euill, and euill of good, which put dark-nesse for light, and light for darkenesse, that put bitter for sweete, and sweete for sowre.

21 Wdo vnto them that are wise in their owne eyes, and prudent in their owne sight.

22 Wdo vnto them that are mightie to drinke wine, & to them that are strong
to polvise in strong drinke:

23 Which iustifie the wicked for a reward, and take away the righteousness of the righteous from him.

24 Therefore as the flame of fire de-uoureth the stubble, and as the chaffe is consumed of the flame: so their root shall bee as rottenness, and their budde shall rife by like dust, because they haue

cast off the Lawe of the Lord of hostes, and contemned the word of the holy one
of Israel.

25 Therefore is the wrath of the Lorde kindled against his people, and he hath stretched out his hande vpon them, and hath smitten them that the mountaines doe tremble: and their earkases were digne in the middes of the streetes, and for al this his wrath was not turned abay, but his hande was stretched out still.

26 And hee will lift by a signe vnto
the nations afarre, and will haste vnto them from the ende of the earth: and beholde, they shall come hastily with speede.

27 None shall faint nor fall among them: none shall slumber nor sleepe, neither shall the girdle of his loynes be loosed, nor the latchet of his shooes be broken:

28 Whose arrowes shall be sharpe, & all his bowes bent: his horse hoofts shall be thought like flint, and his wheeles
like a whirle winde.

29 His roaring shall be like a lyon, &
he shall roare like lyons whelpes: they shall roare, and lay holde of the pray:
they shall take it away, and none shall deliuer it.

30 And in that day they shall roare
vpon them, as the roaring of the sea:
and if they looke vnto the earth, behold
darkenes, and sorrow, and the light shall be darkened in their skie.

CHAP. VI.

1 Isaiah sheweth his vocation by the vision of the divine man Speaking, that Christ is not only God, but man also, because he shall be nourished as other men, till the age of discretion.

16 For afoze y child shall haue knowlledge to escheue the euill, & to chuse the good, the land, that thou abhorrest, shall be forsaken of both her Kings.

17 The Lord shall bring vpon thee, & vpon thy people, and vpon thy fathers houle (the dayes that haue not come fro the daye that Ephraim departed from Iudah) [euē] the King of Alshur.

18 And in that day shall the Lord visite for the flie that is at the vttermost part of the floods of Egypt, & for y bee which is in the land of Alshur,

22 And for the abundance of milke, that they shall giue, he shall eate butter: for butter and hony shall euery one eate, which is left within the land.

23 And at the same daye euery place, wherein shall be a thousande vines, shall be at a thousand [pieces] of siluer: [so] it shall be for the briers and for the thornes.

24 With arrowes & with bolbe shall one come thither: because all the lande shall be briers and thornes.

25 But on al the mountaines, which shall be digged with the mattocke, there shall not come thither the feare of briers and thornes: but they shall be for the sending out of bullockes and for the treading of sheepe.

¶ As they that go to seche bulbe beates among the bushes, z The maintaines contrary to their wont, shall be killed by such as shall see to them for succour.

CHAP. VIIII.

1 The captiuitie of Israel and Iudah by the Assyrians, 6 The insideltie of the Iewes, 9 The destruction of the Assyrians, 12 A child the stone of stumbling to the wicked, 15 The woep of God must be inquired at.

a That thou might write in great letters to the intent it may be more easily read, b Speaking after the common facion: because all men might read it.

Recover, the Lord said vnto me, Take thee a great role, and write in it a mans penne, Make speede to the poyle: haste to the pay.

2 Then I tooke vnto me faithfully witnesses to recorde, Uriah the Priest, & Zechariah the sonne of Iederechiah.

3 After, I came vnto the Prophetesse, which conceived, and bare a sonne. Then said y Lord to me, Call his name, Baher-halal hath-baz.

4 For before the child shall haue knowlledge to crie, My father, and my mother, he shall take away the riches of Damascus and the spoyle of Samaria, before the king of Alshur.

5 And the Lord spake yet againe vnto me, saying,

6 Because this people hath refused the waters of Shiloah that runne softly, and reioyce with Rezin, and the sonne of Remaliah,

7 Holbe therefore behold, the Lord bringeth by vpon them the waters of the Riuer mightie and great, [euē] the King of Alshur with all his glozie, & he shall come by vpon all their riuers, and goe ouer all their bankes,

8 And shall breake into Iudah, and shall ouerflowe and passe through, and shall come by to the necke, and the stretching out of his wings shall fill y breadth of thy lande, ¶ Immanuel.

9 Gather together on heapes, O ye people, and ye shall be broken in pieces, and hearken all ye of farre countreys: gird your selues, and you shall be broken in pieces: gird your selues, and you shall be broken in pieces.

10 Take counsell together, yet it shall be brought to nought: pronounce a decree, yet shall it not stande: for God is with vs.

11 For the Lord spake thus to me in taking of mine hande, and taught me, that I should not walke in the way of this people, saying,

12 Say ye noi, A confederacie to all them, to whome this people hath a confederacie, neither feare you their feare, nor be afrayde of them.

13 Sanctifie the Lord of hostes, and let him be your feare, and let him be your dread,

14 And he shall be as a Sanctuarie: [but] as a stumbling stone, and as a rocke to fall vpon, to both the houses of

Because the thing was of great importance, he tooke these two witnesses, which were of credit with the people, wherby he see this by vpon the doore of the temple, altho Uriah was a flattering hypocrite, z King, 16, 17, d Speaking, to his wife, and this was done in a willen, ¶ Or, make speede to the poyle: haste to the pay.

e Before any childre be able to speake, f Uriah is y arme of Assyria, g Which was a fontaine at the foote of mount Zion, out of the which ranne a small riuer through the citie: meaning that thep of Iudah, distrusting their owne power, which was small, desired such power and riches as they saw in Syria y Israel h That is, the Assyrians, which dwell beyonde Euphrates.

i He shall reade to ydome them, k He speaketh this to thep fish, m Christ, in whome the faithful were comforted, n Who would not suffer his Church to be destroyed utterly.

o To wit, y are enemies to the Church, as the Assyrians, Egyptians, &c. ¶ To encourage me that I should not feare for the insideltie of this people, and to neglect mine office, n Consent not ye that are godly, to the league and friendship that this people seeketh with strangers and idolaters, o Speaking, that they should not feare the thing that they feared, which haue no hope in God, p In putting your trust only in him, in calling vpon him in aduersitie, patiently looking for his helpe, and fearing to doe any thing contrary to his will, q He will beferm you which are his elect, and reiceiv all the rest, which is meant of Christ against whome the Iewes should stumble and fall, Luke 2:34. rom 9:33. 1 pet. 2:7, 8.

your hearts.
f Hearing, the
that were willing to heare
and obey the
word of God,
whom y would heard as though they were monsters and not worthy to live.

c This was a consolation in their troubles,
knowing that nothing could come vnto the,
but by the will
of the Lord.
u And were the wicked thus,
Should not Gode people
seeke furrow
only at him?
x That is, will they refuse to be taught of
the Prophet,
who is mouth
of God, & seeke
helpe at y dead,
which is the illusion of Satan?

y Seeke remedie in the
word of God
where his will
is declared.
z They haue
no knowledge,
but are blind
leaders of the blind, a That is,
in Iudah, where they should haue
had rest, if they had not thus griuously offended God, b In whom afore they
put their trust.
c They shall thinke that heaven and earth
and all creatures
are bent against them to trouble
them.

CHAP. IX.

1 Theocation of the Gentiles. 6 A prophesie of Christ. 14 The destruction of the tenne Tribes for their pride and contempt of God.

Et the darkenesse shall not be according to the affliction, that it had when at the first he touched lightly the land of Zebulun and the land of Naphtali, nor afterwarde when hee was more grievous by the way of the sea beyond Iordan in Galile of the Gentiles.

2 The people that walked in darkenesse, haue seene a great light: they that dwelled in the lande of the shadowe of death, vpon the hart the light shined.

a He comforteth y Church
againe after these great
cheatinings,
promising to redoe them to great glory in Gethlath.
b And twise
Israel was punished, first by Egyphtianslauery, which was a light scourge in respect
of that which they suffered afterward by Salomon. After which hee carried the Israelites
away captiues.

g Matth. 4. 15, 16.

Israel, [and] as a snare and as a net to the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

15 And many among the shall stumble, and shall fall and shall be broken and shall be snared and shall be taken.

16 Bind by the testimony: seale by the Law among my disciples.

17 Therefore I will waite vpon the Lord: he hath hid his face from the house of Iacob, and I will looke for him.

18 Behold, I and the childre whom the Lord hath giuen me, [are] as signes and as wonders in Israel, by the Lord of hostes, which dwelleth in mount Zion.

19 And when they shall say vnto you, Enquire at them that haue a spirit of diuination, and at the soothsayers, which whisper and murmur, "Should not a people enquire at their God: from the living to the dead:

20 To the Lawe, and to the testimony, if they speake not according to this worde: [it is] because there [is] no light in them.

21 Then he that is afflicted and famished, shall goe to and fro in it: and when he shall be hungry, he shall eue eat him selfe, and curse his king & his gods, and shall looke by ward,

22 And when hee shall looke to the earth, behold trouble, and darkenesse, verberation [and] anguish, and he [is] drine to darkenesse.

3 Thou hast multiplied the nation, [and] not increased their ioy: they haue reioyced before thee according to the ioy in haruett, [and] as men reioyce when they deuide a spoyle.

4 For the yoke of their burthen, and the staffe of their shoulder, and the rod of their oppressour hast thou broken as in the day of Midian.

5 Surely euery battell of the warre: our [is] with noyle, and with tumbling of garments in blood: but [this] shall be with burning, and deuouring of fire.

6 For vnto vs a Child is borne, [and] vnto vs a sonne is giuen: & the gouernment is vpon his shoulder, and he shall call his name, wonderfull, Counsellor, the mightie God, The euerlasting Father, The prince of peace.

7 The increase of [his] gouernement and peace shall haue none end: he shall sit vpon the throne of Dauid, and vpon his kingdome, to order it, and to stablish it with iudgement and with iustice, from henceforth, [eu]n for euer: the zeale of the Lord of hostes will perfourme this.

8 The Lord hath sent a worde in to Iacob, and it hath lighted vpon Israel.

9 And all the people shall knowe, [eu]n Ephraim, and the inhabitant of Samaria, that say in the pride and presumption of the heart,

10 The bricke are fallen, but we will builde it with beuen stones: the wilde figge trees are cut downe, but we will change them into ceders.

11 Nevertheless the Lord will raise by the aduersaries of Rezin against him, and ioyn his enemies together.

12 Aram before and the Philistines behinde, and they shall deuoure Israel with open mouth: [yet] for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand [is] stretched out still.

13 For the people turneth not vnto him that smiteth them, neither doe they seeke the Lord of hostes.

14 Therefore will the Lord cut off from Israel head and taile, branch and rush in one day.

15 The ancient and the honourable man, he is the head: and the Prophet that teacheth lyes, he is the taile.

16 For the leaders of the people cause them to erre: and they that are ledde by them, are deuoured.

17 Therefore shall the Lord haue

8 Their nomber was greater when they

tivity: then
when they returned, but

red miraculously from his enemies, but

of Samaria, which were mockers and contemners of Gode promises & menaces,
n We were

emy overcame
vs, but we will make our
selues so strong,
that we will neither care for our enemies,
nor feare gods
cheatinings.

o Rezin King
of Syria, who was in league
with Israel,
was slaine by the Assyrians
after whose death, Rezin,
that is, y Syrians were against Israel, which on the other side were allyed by y Philistines, no pleasure in their yong men, neither will hee haue compassion of their fatherlesse and of their widowes: for every one is an hypocrite and wicked, and every mouth speaketh follie: [yet] for al this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand [is] stretched out still.

18 For wickednes burneth as a fire: it deuoureth the briers and the thornes and wil kinde in the thicke places of the forest: and they shall mount vp [like] the lifting vp of smoke.

19 By the wrath of f<sup>r</sup> Lozde of hostes shall the land be darkened, and the people shall be as the meate of the fire: no man shall spare his brother.

20 And he shall snatch at the right hand, and be hungey: and he shall eate on the left hande, and shall not be satisfied: every one shall eate the flesh of his owne arme.

21 Banasseh, Ephraim: and Ephraim Banasseh, [and] they both shall be against Iudah: [yet] for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand [is] stretched out still.

CHAP. X.

1 Of wicked lawmakers, 5 God will punish his people by the Assyrians and after destroy them. 20 The remnant of Israel shall be saved.

We bnto them that decree wicked decrees, and write greivous things,

2 To keepe backe f<sup>r</sup> poore from iudgement, and to take away the iudgement of the poore of my people, that widowes may be their pray, and that they may spolie the fatherlesse.

3 What will ye do now in the day of visitation, and of destruction, which shall come from f<sup>r</sup> farre: to whom will ye flee for helpe: and where will ye leaue your glorie?

4 Without me [every one] shall fall among them that are bounde, and they shall fall downe among the flaine: [yet] for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand [is] stretched out still.

5 O Aslhur, the rodde of my wrath: and the staffe in their handes is mine indignation.

6 I will sende him to a dissembling nation, and I will giue him a charge against the people of my wrath to take f<sup>r</sup> spolie [to] take the pray, [to] treade the under feete like the mire in the streete.

7 But he thinketh not so, neither doeth his heart esteeme it so: but he imagineth to destroy and to cut off not a felwe nations.

8 For he saith, Are not my princes altogether Kings?

9 Is not Calno as Carchemish? Is not Hamath like Arpad: Is not Samaria as Damastus?

10 Like as mine hand hath founde the kingdome of the idoles, seeing their idoles [were] aboue Jerusalem, and aboue Samaria:

11 Shall not I, as I haue done to Samaria, and to the idoles thereof, so do to Jerusalem [to] the idoles thereof?

12 But when the Lozde hath accomplished all his worke vpon mount Zion and Jerusalem, I will visite the fruite of the proude heart: of the King of Aslthur, and his glorious and proude lookes.

13 Because he saide, By the powler of mine owne hand haue I done it, and by my wisdom, because I am wise: therefore I haue remoued the borders of the people, & haue spoyled their treasures, and haue pulled downe the inhabitants like a valiant man.

14 And mine hand hath founde as a nest the riches of the people, and as one gathereth egges that are left, [so] haue I gathered al the earth: and there was none to mooue the wing or to open the mouth, or to whisper.

15 Shall the are boast it selfe against him that helveth therewith: or shall the sawe exalt it selfe against him that moueth it: as if the rodde shoulde lift vp it selfe against him that taketh it, [or] the staffe shoulde exalt it selfe, [as it were] no wood.

16 Therefore shall the Lozde God of hostes sende among his fatte men, leauenesse, and vnder his glorie he shall kinde a burning, like the burning of fire.

17 And the light of Israel shall be as a fire, and the Holy one thereof as a flame, and it shall burne, and deuoure his thornes and his briers in one day:

18 And that consume the glorie of his forest, and of his fruitfull feldes both soule & flesh: and he shall be as the fainting of a standard bearer.

19 And the rest of the trees of his forest shall be fewe, that a childe may tell them.

20 And at that day shall the remnant

p Wickednes as a beluouse kinde the fire of Gods wrath, which consumeth all his obdurate enemies.

q Though there were no foreign enemy, yet they shall destroy one another. r Their greediness shall be insatiable, so that one brother shall eate vp another, as though he shoulde eate his owne flesh.

a Which write and pronounce a wicked sentence to oppress the poore: meaning that the wicked magistrates, which were the chief cause of mischiefes, should be first punished.

b To wit, from Assyria. c Pour riches and auaricie, that they may be safe, and that ye may receive them againe.

d Because they haue forsaken me, some shall goe into captivity, and the rest shall be slaine.

e God calleth for the Assyrians to be the executioners of his vengeance.

f That is, the Assyrians against f<sup>r</sup> Iewes, which are but hypocrites: in this first & secondly ver. is declared the difference of the worke of God & of the wicked in one very thing, & act: for Gods intention is to chastise the for their amendment, & the Assyrians purpose is to destroy them to enrich themselves: thus in respect of Gods iustice, it is Gods worke, but in respect of their owne malice, it is the worke of the deuill.

g Seeing that I haue overcome as well one little as an other, so that none could resist, shall Jerusalem be able to escape mine hand?

h When he hath sufficed, easily chastised his people, for he being rich at his owne house, when will he burne the redoubt. i Spreading, as a banner.

k Here we see that no creature is able to do any thing, but as God appointeth him, and that they are all but his instruments to doe his worke, though the intentions be diuers, as verbe 6.

l Speaking, that God is a light to comfort his people, and a fire to burne his enemies. m There is, the Assyrians. n To wit, body and soule verterly.

CHAP. XL.

1 Christ borne of the roote of Iſſachar. 2 His vertues and kingdomes. 6 The fruites of the Gospel. 10 The calling of the Gentiles.

nant of Iſrael, & ſuch as are eſcaped of houſe of Iſaakob, ſtay no more vpon him that ſinote them, but ſhal ſtay vpon the Lord, the holy one of Iſrael in trueth.

21 The remnant ſhal returne, [euen] the remnant of Iſaakob vnto the mighty God.

22 For though thy people, O Iſrael, be as the ſand of the ſea, yet ſhal the remnant of them returne. The conſumption decreed ſhal ouerflowe with righteouſneſſe.

23 For the Lord God of hoſtes ſhal make the conſumption, euen determin- ed, in the muddes of all the land.

24 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God of hoſtes, O my people, that dwel- leſt in Iſrael, be not afraid of Aſſhur: he ſhall ſinute thee with a rod, and ſhall liſt by his ſtaffe againſt thee after the manner of Egypt:

25 But yet a very litle time, and the wrath ſhal be conſumed, and mine anger in their deſtruction.

26 And the Lord of hoſtes ſhal rayle by a ſcourge for him, according to the plague of Midian in the rocke Oreb: and [as] his ſtaffe [was] vpon the Sea, ſo he will liſt it by after the manner of Egypt.

27 And at that day ſhall his burden be taken away from of thy ſhoulder, & his yoke from of thy necke: & the yoke ſhall be deſtroyed becauſe of the anoynting.

28 He is come to Iſaiah: he is paſſed into Higron: at Michmah ſhal he lay by his armour.

29 They haue gone ouer the ſoorde: they lodged in the lodging at Geba: Ramah is afraid: Gibeath of Saul is fled away.

30 Liſt by thy voyce, O daughter Gallim, cauſe Laish to heare, O poore Anathoth.

31 Madmenah is remoued: the inhabitants of Gebim haue gathered them- ſelues together.

32 Yet there is a time that he will ſtay at Moab: he ſhall liſt by his hand toward the mount of the daughter Zion, the hill of Ieruſalem.

33 Beholde, the Lord God of hoſtes ſhall cut off the bough with feare, and they of high ſtature ſhalbe cut off, and the hye ſhalbe humbled.

34 And he ſhall cut away the thicke places of the foreſt with yron, and Lebanon ſhal haue a mighty fall.

But there ſhall come a rodde ſooth of the ſtocke of Iſaiah, and a graſſe ſhall growe out of his rootes.

2 And the Spirit of the Lord ſhall reſt vpon him: the Spirit of wiſedome and vnderſtanding, the Spirit of counſell and ſtrength, the Spirit of know- ledge, and of the feare of the Lord,

3 And ſhall make him prudent in the feare of the Lord: for he ſhall not iudge after the ſight of his eyes, neither re- prooue by the hearing of his eares.

4 But with righteouſneſſe ſhall he iudge the poore, and with equitie ſhal he reprove for the mecke of the earth: and he ſhall ſinute the earth with the rodde of his mouth, and with the breath of his lippes ſhall he ſlay the wicked.

5 And iuſtice ſhall be the girdle of his loynes, and faithfullneſſe the girdle of his reimes.

6 The Wolfe alſo ſhall dwell with the lambe, and the leopard ſhall lie with the kid, and the calfe, and the lyon, and the fat beaſt together, and a litle childe ſhall leade them.

7 And the kowe and the beare ſhall feede: their yong ones ſhall lie to- gether: and the lyon ſhall eate ſtrawe like the bullocke.

8 And the ſucking childe ſhall play vpon the hole of the aſpe, and the war- ned childe ſhall put his hand vpon the cockatrice hole.

9 Then ſhall none hurt no: deſtroy in all the mountaine of mine holineſſe: for the earth ſhall be full of the know- ledge of the Lord, as the waters that couer the ſea.

10 And in that day the roote of Iſaiah, which ſhall ſtand by for a ſigne vnto the people, the nations ſhall ſeeke vnto it, and his reſt ſhalbe glorious.

11 And in the ſame day ſhal the Lord ſtretch out his hand againe the ſecond time, to poſſeſſe the remnant of his people (which ſhalbe left) of Aſſhur, and of Egypt, and of Pathyos, and of Ethio- pia, and of Elam, and of Shinar, and of Hamath, and of the yles of the ſea.

ſea. e The prophecie of the calling of the Gentiles. f That is his Church, which he alſo calleth his reſt, Iſaiah 122.14. g For God firſt deliuered his people out of Egypt, and now promiſſed to deliuer them out of their enemies hands, as from the Parthians, Perſians, Eſſians, & them of Antiochia, among whom they were diſperſed: and this is chriſt, meane of Chriſt, who calleth his people, being diſperſed through all the world.

a Becauſe the captiuitie of Babylon was a figure of the ſpiritual captiuitie vnder ſinne, he ſhew- eth that our true deliue- rance muſt come by Chriſt: ſo as Dauid came out of that a man withoute dignitie: ſo Chriſt ſhould come of a poore carpenters houſe as out of a dead ſtocke, Chap. 7. 2. b All theſe pro- perties can agree to none but onely vnto Chriſt: ſo it is that touch- eth the hearts of the faithful, and moſt ſerchly their conſciences: and to the wicked he is the fauour of death, and to them that ſhall periſh: ſo that all the world ſhalbe ſmiten with this rodde, which is his voyce.

c Euen becauſe of their wicked offences are named by the names of beaſtes, where- in the like offences reign: but Chriſt by his ſpirit ſhall reforme them, and worke in them ſuch mutual charitie, that they ſhall be like lambs, ſauouring and louing one another, and caſt off all their cruell affections, Chap. 65. 25.

d It ſhalbe in, as great abun- dance as the waters in the Church.

e That is his Church, which he alſo calleth his reſt, Iſaiah 122.14. f For God firſt deliuered his people out of Egypt, and now promiſſed to deliuer them out of their enemies hands, as from the Parthians, Perſians, Eſſians, & them of Antiochia, among whom they were diſperſed: and this is chriſt, meane of Chriſt, who calleth his people, being diſperſed through all the world.

g For God firſt deliuered his people out of Egypt, and now promiſſed to deliuer them out of their enemies hands, as from the Parthians, Perſians, Eſſians, & them of Antiochia, among whom they were diſperſed: and this is chriſt, meane of Chriſt, who calleth his people, being diſperſed through all the world.

12 And he shall set by a signe to the nations, and assemble the dispersed of Israel, & gather the scattered of Judah from the foure corners of the world.

13 The hatred also of Ephraim shall depart, & adversaries of Judah shall be cut off: Ephraim shall not enuie Judah, neither shall Judah beere Ephraim:

14 But they shall slee vpon y<sup>e</sup> shoulders of the Philistines towarde y<sup>e</sup> west: they shall spoyle them of the East together: Edom and Moab shall be the stretching out of their hands, and the chadze of Ammon [in] their obedience.

15 The Lord also shall bitterly destroy the tongue of the Egyptians sea, and with his mightie wunde shall lift by his hand ouer the river, and shall smite him in [his] seven streames, and cause men to walke [therein] with shoes.

16 And there shall be a path to the remnant of his people, which are left of Alhur, like as it was into Israel in y<sup>e</sup> day that he came vp out of the lād of Egypt.

CHAP. XII.

A thanksgiving of the faithful for the mercies of God.

Ad thou<sup>a</sup> shalt saye in that day, O Lord, I will praise thee: though thou wast angry with me, thy wrath is turned away, and thou comfortest me.

2 Behold, God [is] my saluation: I will trust, and will not feare: for the Lord God [is] my strength and song: he also is become my saluation.

3 Therefore with ioy shall ye drinke waters out of the wellles of saluation.

4 And ye shall say in that day, Praise the Lord: call vpon his Name: declare his workes among the people: make mention of the, for his name is exalted.

5 Sing vnto the Lord, for he hath done excellent things: this is knowen in all the world.

6 Crie out, and shoute, d<sup>d</sup> Inhabitant of Zion: for great [is] the holy one of Israel in the middes of thee.

CHAP. XIII.

The hebes and Persians shall destroy Babylon.

The burden of Babel, which Isaiah the sonne of Amos did see.

2 Lift vp a standard vpon the hie mountaine: lift by the voyce vn-

to them: wagge the<sup>b</sup> hand, that they may go into the gates of the nobles.

3 I haue commanded them, that I haue sanctified: and I haue called the mightie to my<sup>c</sup> wyath, [and] them that reioyce in my<sup>c</sup> glorie.

4 The noyle of a multitude [is] in the mountaines, like a great people: a tumultuous voyce of the kingdomes of the nations gathered together: the Lord of hostes nombreth the hoste of the battell.

5 They come from a farre country, from the ende of the heauen: [eu]en the Lord with the weapons of his wyath to destroy the whole land.

6 Howle<sup>f</sup> you, for y<sup>e</sup> day of the Lord is at hand: it shall come as a destroyer from the Almighty.

7 Therefore hal al hands be weakened, and all mens hearts shall melt.

8 And they shall be asfayde: anguish and sorow shall take [them], and they shall haue paine, as a woman that traueleth: euery one shall be amazed at his neighbour, and their faces [shall be like] flames of fire.

9 Beholde, the day of the Lord cometh, cruel, with wyath and fierre anger to lay the lande waste: and he shall destroy the founers out of it.

10 For the<sup>h</sup> starres of heauen and the planets therof shall not giue their light: the sunne shall be darkened in his going forth, and the moone shall not cause her light to shine.

11 And I will visite the wickednesse vpon the<sup>i</sup> world, and their iniquitie vpon the wicked, and I will cause the arrogancie of the<sup>k</sup> proude to cease, and will cast downe the pride of tyrants.

12 I will make a man more precious then fine golde, euē a man aboute the Wedge of golde of Sphir.

13 Therefore I will shake the heauen, and the earth shall remoue out of her place in the wyath of the Lord of hostes, and in the day of his fierre anger.

14 And<sup>m</sup> it shall be as a chaled doe, as a sheepe that no man taketh vp, euery man shall turne to his owne people, and slee eche one to his owne land.

15 Euery one that is founde, shall be stricken through: and whosoever ioy- neth him selfe, shall fall by the sword.

16 Their<sup>n</sup> children also shall be broken in piēces before their eyes: their houses shall be spoyled, and their wiues rauished.

<sup>k</sup> He noteth the principall vice, whereunto they were most giuen, as are all that are bound in wealth.

<sup>l</sup> He noteth the great slaughter that shall be, seeing the enimie shall neither for golde, or siluer spare a mans life, as berie i. 7.

<sup>n</sup> This was not accompli- shed when Cy- rus took Babilon, but after the death of Alexander the great.

<sup>k</sup> That is, the great calamitie, which was prophesied to come on Babel as a most grievous bur- den, which they were not able to beare. In these twelue Chapters following, he speaketh of the plagues, wherewith God would smite these strange nations, (whome they knewe) to declare that God chastised the Itraclites as his chil- dren, and these other as his enemies: and also that if God spare not these that are ignorant that they must not thinke strange, if he punisheth them, which haue knowledge of his Laboe and keepe it not,

17 Behold, I will fire by <sup>h</sup> Herdes against them, which shall not regarde silver, nor be desirous of gold.

18 With bowes also shall they destroy the children, and shall have no compassion vpon the fruite of the wombe, and their eyes shall not spare the children.

19 And Babel <sup>h</sup> glorie of kingdomes, the beautie and pride of the Chalbeans, shall be as the destruction of God in Sodom and Gomorrah.

20 It shall not be inhabited for euer, neither shall it be dwelled in from generation to generation: neither shall <sup>h</sup> Arabian pitch his tents there, neither shall the shepheards make their foldes there.

21 But <sup>h</sup> Zinn shall lodge there, and their houses shall be full of <sup>h</sup> Ohim: <sup>h</sup> Striches shall dwell there, and the Satyres shall dance there.

22 And Iim shall crye in their palaces, and dragons in their pleasant palaces: and the time thereof is ready to come, and the dayes thereof shall not be prolonged.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The returne of the people from captiuitie. 4 The vision of the King of Babylon. 11 The death of the King. 29 The destruction of the Chaldeans.

Behold, the Lord will haue compassion of Iacob, and will yet chuse Israel, & cause them to rest in their owne land: and the stranger shall ioyne him selfe vnto them, and they shall cleaue to the house of Iacob.

2 And the people shall receiue them and bring them to their owne place, and the house of Israel shall possesse them in the lande of the Lord, for seruants & handmaydes: and they shall take them prisoners, whose captiues they were, and haue rule vnder their oppresseours.

3 And in that day when the Lord shall giue thee rest from thy sorow, and from thy feare, and from the foreboudage, wherein thou diddest serue,

4 Then shalt thou take by this prouerbe against the King of Babel, & say, how hath the oppresseor reared: and the golde thirskie I Babel rested:

5 The Lord hath broken the rodde of the wicked, [and] the scepter of the rulers:

6 Which smote the people in anger with a continual plague, [and] iuled the nations in wrath: if any were persecuted, he did not let.

7 The whole world is at rest [and] is quiet: they sing for ioy.

8 Also the fire trees reioyced of thee, [and] the cedars of Lebanon, [saying,] Since thou art layde downe, no helper came by against vs.

9 Hell beneath is moued for thee to meeete thee at thy coming, raising by the dead for thee, euen all the princes of the earth, and hath raised from their thrones all the kings of the nations.

10 All they shall crye, and say vnto thee, Art thou become weak alio as we: art thou become like vnto vs:

11 Thy pompe is brought downe to the graue, [and] the sound of thy viols: the worne is tyed vnder thee, and the wormes couer thee.

12 How art thou fallen from heauen, O Lucifer, sonne of the morning: and cut downe to the ground, which diddest cast lots vpon the nations:

13 Yet thou saydest in thine heart, I will ascende into heauen, and exalt my throne aboue beside the starres of God: I will sit also vpon the mount of the Congregation in the sides of the North.

14 I will ascende aboue the height of the cloudes, [and] I will be like the most high.

15 But thou shalt be brought downe to the graue, to the sides of the pit.

16 They that see thee, shall looke by on thee [and] consider thee, [saying,] Is this the man that made the earth to tremble, [and] that did shake the kingdomes:

17 He made the worlde as a wilderness, and destroyed the cities thereof [and] opened not the house of his prisoners.

18 All the Kings of the nations, euen they all sleepe in glorie, euery one in his owne house.

19 But thou art cast out of thy graue like an adominable branch: [like] the raiment of those that are shame, [and] thrust thorow with a sworde, which go downe to the stones of the pit, as a carke troden vnder feete.

20 Thou shalt not be toynd with them in the graue, because thou hast destroyed thine owne land, [and] slaine thy people: the seede of the wicked shall not be renowmed for euer.

21 Prepare a slaughter for his children, for the iniquite of their fathers: let them not rise by nor possesse the lande, nor fill the face of the worlde with enemies.

22 For I will rise by against them

As though they feared, least thou shouldst trouble the dead, as thou didst the liuing: and here be verideth the proud tyrannie of the wicked, which know not that all creatures will their destruction that they may reioyce.

In stead of thy costly carpets and coverings, Thou shalt thoughtest thyself most glorious, and as thou wast in the heauen for the morning starre, that shalt be before the sunne, is called Lucifer, to whom Deuchaphezzar is compared.

Speaking, Jerusalem, whereof the Temple was on the North side, as Ithal, at liberty: he meant that tyrant fight against God, who they persecute his Church, and would see them felix in his place.

In maruelling at thee, To see them in liberie: nothing is so cruel.

Thou wast not buried in the sepulchre of thy fathers, thy tyrannie was to abhorre.

b Speaking, that the Gentiles shall toyne with the Church & worship God.

c Signifying that fewes should be superiours to the Gentiles, and that they should be brought vnder the service of Christ by the preaching of the Apostles, whereby all are brought to the subiection of Christ.

d That is, he suffered all violence and injuries to be done.

e Speaking, that when tyrants reigne, there can be no rest nor quietnes, and also how detestable a thing tyrannie is, seeing the infernall creatures haue occasion to reioyce at their destruction.

f Speaking, that when tyrants reigne, there can be no rest nor quietnes, and also how detestable a thing tyrannie is, seeing the infernall creatures haue occasion to reioyce at their destruction.

(saith the Lord of hostes) and will cut off from Babel the name and the remnant and the sonne, and the nephewe, saith the Lord :

23 And I will make it a possession to the hedgehog, and pooles of water, and I will sberpe it with the besome of destruction, saith the Lord of hostes.

24 The Lord of hostes hath liborne, saying, Surely like as I haue purposed, so shall it come to passe, & as I haue consulted, it shall stand:

25 That I will breake to piertes Asshur in my land, and vpon my mountaines will I tread him vnder foote: so that his poke shall depart from them, and his burden shall be taken from off their shoulder.

26 This is the counsell that is consulted vpon the whole worlde, and this is the hand stretched out ouer all the nations,

27 Because the Lord of hostes hath determined it, and who shall disannull it: and his hand is stretched out, and who shall turne it away:

28 In the yeeere that King Ahas dyed, was this burden.

29 Reioyce not, (thou whole Palestina) because the rod of him that did beate thee, is broken: for out of the serpents roote shall come forth a cockatrice, and the fruite thereof shall be a fierie flying serpent.

30 For the first borne of the poore shall be fedde, and the needie shall lye downe in safetie: and I will kill thy roote with famine, and it shall lay thy remnant.

31 Howlde, O gate, crye O citie: thou whole land of Palestina art dissolued, for there shall come from the North a smoke, and none shall be alone, at his time appointed.

32 What shall then one answere the messengers of the Gentiles: That the Lord hath stablished: Zion, and the poore of his people shall trust in it.

CHAP. XV.

A propheticke against Moab.

The burden of Moab. Surely Ar of Moab was destroyed, [and] brought to silence in a night: surely Kir of Moab was destroyed, [and] brought to silence in a night.

2 He shall goe vp to the temple, and to Dibon to the hye places to weepe: for Nebo and for Medeba shall Moab howle: vpon all their heads [shall be] baldones, and euery beard shauen.

3 In their streetes shall they be grieved with sackcloth: on the tops of their houses, and in their streetes euery one shall howle, [and] come downe with weeping.

4 And Heshbon shall crye, and Elealeh: their voyce shall be heard vnto Iahaz: therefore the warriors of Moab shall shoute: the soule of euery one shall lament in him selfe.

5 Mine heart shall crye for Moab: his fugitiues [shall see] vnto Zoar: an heiffer of thre yeece olde: for they shall goe by with weeping by the mounting vp of Luhith: and by the way of Horonaim they shall raise vp a crye of destruction.

6 For the waters of Nimrim shall be dryed vp: therefore the grasse is withered, the herbes consumed, [and] there was no greene herbe.

7 Therefore what euery man hath left, and their substance hath they beare to the brooke of the willowes.

8 For the crye went round about the borders of Moab: [and] the howling thereof vnto Eglaim, and the striking thereof vnto Beer Elim.

9 Because the waters of Dimon shall be full of blood: for I will bring more vpon Dimon, euen Ipons vpon him that elapeth of Moab, and to the remnant of the land.

fastness, in the tabernacle of David, judging, and seeking judgement, & hastening justice.

6 We have heard of the pride of Moab, (he is very proud) even his pride, and his arrogancie, and his indignation, [but his eyes shall not be so.]

7 Therefore shall Moab howle vnto Moab: every one shall howle: for the foundations of Kir-hareseth shall ye mounaine, yet they shall be stricken.

8 For the vineyardes of Heshbon are cut downe, [and] the vine of Sibmah: the lordes of the heathen have broken the principall vines thereof: they are come vnto Jaazer: they wandred in the wilderness: her goodly branches stretched out themselves, [&] went ouer the sea.

9 Therefore will I weepe with the weeping of Jaazer, and of the vine of Sibmah, & Heshbon, and Elealeh, I will make thee drunke with my teares, because vpon thy summer fruits, & vpon thy harvest: a howling is fallen.

10 And gladnes is taken away, and joy out of the plentiful field: and in the vineyardes shall no singing nor shouting: for joy: the treader shall not treade wine in the wine presses: I haue caused the reioycing to cease.

11 Wherefore, my bowels shall sound like an harpe for Moab, and mine inward partes for Kir-hareseth.

12 And when it shall appeare that Moab shall be wearie of his hie places, then shall hee come to his temple to pray, but he shall not preuaile.

13 This is the worde that the Lord hath spoken against Moab since that time.

14 And now the Lord hath spoken, saying, In three yeeres, as the yeeres of an hireling, and the glorie of Moab shall be contained in all the great multitude, and the remnant shall be very small, and feeble.

b The chief cities of Syria,

c It was a country of Syria by the river Arnon,

The burden of Damascus. Beholde, Damascus is taken away from being a citie, for it shall be a ruinous heape.

2 The cities of Aroer shall forsaken: they shall be for the flockes: for they shall lie there, and none shall make them afraide.

3 The munition also shall cease from Ephraim, and the kingdome from Damascus, and the remnant of Aram shall be as the glorie of the children of Israel, saith the Lord of hostes.

4 And in that day the glorie of Jaakob shall be impoverished, and the farnes of his flesh shall be made leane.

5 And it shall be as when the harvest man gathereth the cozne, and reapeeth the eares with his arme, and he shall be as hee that gathereth the eares in the valley of Rephaim.

6 Yet a gathering of grapes shall be left in it, as the shaking of an olive tree, two, or three berries [are] in the toppe of the vpmost boughes, [and] foure, or fife in the hye branches of the fruite thereof, saith the Lord God of Israel.

7 At that day shall a man looke to his maker, and his eyes shall looke to the holy one of Israel.

8 And he shall not looke to the altars, the workes of his olue hands, neither shall he looke to those things, which his olue fingers haue made, as groues and images.

9 In that day shall the cities of their strength be as the forsaking of boughes and branches, which they did forsake, because of the children of Israel, & there shall be desolation.

10 Because thou hast forgotten the God of thy saluation, and hast not remembered the God of thy strength, therefore shalt thou set pleasant planties, and shalt graffe strange vine branches:

11 In the day shalt thou make thy plant to growe, and in the morning shalt thou make thy seede to flourish: [but] the harvest shall be gone in the day of possession, and there shall be desperate sorrow.

12 Ah, the multitude of many people, they shall make a founde like the noyle of the sea: for the noyle of the people shall make a sound like the noyle of mightie waters.

13 The people shall make a sound like the noyle of many waters: [but] God shall rebuke them, & they shall flee farre off, & shall be chased as the chaffe of the mountaines before the winde, and as a

and dwellers in the earth, shal see when he setteth vp a signe in the mountaines, and when hee bloweth the trumpe, ye shall heare.

<sup>4</sup> For so the Lord sayde vnto me, I will rest and besholde in my tabernacle, as the heate drying by the raine, [and]
as a cloude of dewe in the heate of haruest.

<sup>5</sup> For afore the haruest when þe floure is finished, and the fruite is riping in the floure, then he shall cut downe the branches with hookes, and shall take away,
[and] cut off the boughes:

<sup>6</sup> They shalbe left together vnto the foules of the mountaines, and to the beastes of the earth: for the foule shall sommer vpon it, and euery beast of the earth shall winter vpon it.

<sup>7</sup> At that time shall a present be brought vnto the Lord of hostes, (a people that is scattered abroad, and spoyled, and of a terrible people from their beginning hitherto, a nation, by little and little euen troden vnder foote, whose land the riuers haue spoyled) to the place of the Name of the Lord of hostes, most profitable for the riping of fruites: whereby hee meaneth, that hee will send to fauour them, and giue them abundance for a time, but hee will suddenly cut them off. <sup>i</sup> Not onely men shall concerne them, but the brute beastes.

an offering vnto himselfe.

<sup>1</sup> The destruction of the Egyptians by the Assyrians. <sup>18</sup> Of their conuersion to the Lord.

He burden of Egypt. <sup>2</sup> Behold, the Lord rideth vpon
a swift cloude, and shall come into Egypt, and the idoles of Egypt shall be mooued at his presence, and the heart of Egypt shall melt in the maddes of her.

<sup>2</sup> And I will set the Egyptians against the Egyptians: so euery one shall fight against his brother, and euery one against his neighbour, cite against cite,
[and] kingdome against kingdome.

<sup>3</sup> And the spirit of Egypt shall faile
in the maddes of her, and I will destroy their counsell, and they shall seeke at the idoles, and at the soxerers, and at them that haue spirits of diuination, and at the soothsayers.

<sup>4</sup> And I will deliuer the Egyptians into the hand of cruel lordes, & a mighty King shall rule ouer them, saith the Lord God of hostes.

<sup>5</sup> Then the waters of the sea shall faile, and the riuer shall be dried vp, and wasted.

<sup>6</sup> And the riuers shall goe farre away: the riuers of defence shalbe emptied and dried by the reedes and flagges shalbe cut downe.

<sup>7</sup> The grasse in the riuer, [and] at the head of the riuers, and all that groweth by the riuer, shall wither, [and] be driuen away, and be no more.

<sup>8</sup> The fishers also shall mourne, and all they that cast angle into þe riuer, shall lament, and they that spread their net
vpon the waters, shalbe weakened.

<sup>9</sup> Forouer, they that worke in flare of diuers sortes, shalbe confounded, and they that weaue nets,

<sup>10</sup> For their nettes shalbe broken, and all they, that make poudes, shalbe heaue in heart.

<sup>11</sup> Surely the princes of Zoan [are] fooles: the counsell of the wise counse-lers of Pharaoh is become foolishly: how say ye vnto Pharaoh, I am the sonne of the wise: I am the sonne of the ancient Kings:

<sup>12</sup> Where are now thy wise men, that they may tell thee, or may knowe what the Lord of hostes hath determined against Egypt:

<sup>h</sup> The Scriptures use to describe the destruction of a countrey by taking a way of the commodities thereof, as by vines, flesh, fish, and such other thinges, wherby countreys are enriched. <sup>i</sup> Called also Tames, a famous cite vnto Nilus. <sup>k</sup> See noteth the flatterers of Pharaoh: who persuaded the King that hee was wise, and noble, and that his house was most ancient, and so hee flate-red himselfe, saying, I am wise.

them the spirit 3 of errors: and they haue caused Egypt to erre in euery worke thereof, as a drunken man erreth in his 15 Neither shall there be any worke in Egypt, which the head may 4 doe, nor 16 In that day shall Egypt be like vnbecause of the moouing of the hand of the Lord of hostes, which he shaketh

ouer it.

17 And the land of Judah shall be a feare 5 vnto Egypt: euery one that mak-

which he hath determined vpon it.

by the hand of 3 Isaiah the sonne of Amos, saying, So, and loose the sackcloth
from thy loynes, and put off thy shooe from thy foot. And he did so, walking naked and barefoote.

3 And the Lord sayde, Like as my seruant 4 Isaiah hath walked naked, and barefoote three peeres, [as] a signe and wonder vpon Egypt, and Ethiopia,

4 So shall the King of Asshur take away the captiuitie of Egypt, and the captiuitie of Ethiopia, [both] yong men and olde men, naked & barefoote, with their buttocks diuouered, to the shame of Egypt.

CHAP. XXII.

1 He prophesied of the destruction of Jerusalem by Nebuchadnezzar. 2 A threatening against Shebna. 3 To whose of she Elakim is preferred.

The burden of the valley of vision. What ayleth thee now that thou art wholly gone vnto the house tops?

2 Thou that art full of noyle, a cite full of brute, a ioyous cite: thy name men shall not be [be] blame with sword, nor die in battell.

3 All thy princes shall flee together from the bowe: they shall be bound: all that shall be found in thee, shall be bound together, which haue fled from farre.

4 Therefore saide I, Turne away from me: I wil weepe bitterly: labour not to comfort me for the destruction of the daughter of my people.

5 For [it is] a day of trouble, and of ruine, and of perplexitie by the Lord God of hostes in the valley of vision, breaking downe the cite: and a crying vnto the mountaines.

6 And Elam bare the quiner in a mans charret with hozemen, and Isir vncouered the shilde.

7 And thy chiefe bailles were full of charrets, & the hozemen let themselves in aray against the gate.

8 And hee discovered the couering of Iudah: & thou didst looke in that day to the armour of the house of the forest.

9 And ye haue seene the breaches of the cite of David: for they were many, and ye gathered the waters of the lower poole.

10 And ye nombred the houses of Jerusalem, and the houses haue ye broken downe to fortifie the wall,

11 And haue also made a ditche betweene the two walles, for the waters of the old poole, and haue not looked vnto the maker thereof, neither had respect vnto him that formed it of olde.

12 And in that day did the Lord God of hosts call vnto weeping and mourning, and to baldnes: girding with sackcloth.

13 And beholde, ioy and gladnes, slaying oxen and killing sheepe, eating flesh, and drinking wine, eating and drinking: for to morowe we shall die.

14 And it was declared in the eares of the Lord of hostes. Surely this iniquitie shall not be purged from you, till ye die, saith the Lord God of hostes.

1 He fortified the ruinous places, which were neglected in time of peace: meaning, the whole cite and the cite of David which was within the compass of the other. m. Either to pull downe first as might hurt, or els to know what men they were able to make. n. To provide if neede should be of water. o. To God that made Jerusalem: that is, they trusted more in these worship meanes then in God. p. In stead of repentance ye were ioyfull and made great cheere, concerning the admonitions of the Prophets, saying, Let vs eate and drinke: for our Prophets say, that we shall die to morrow.

CHAP. XXIII.

A prophesie of the curse of God for the sinnes of the people.
<sup>12</sup> A remnant reuerend, shall praise the Lord.

BEHOLD, the Lord maketh the earth emptye, and he maketh
it waste: he turneth it vpride downe, and scattereth abroad
the inhabitants thereof.

<sup>2</sup> And there shall be like people, like priest, and like seruant, like master, like maid, like mistresse, like byer, like seller, like lender, like borrower, like giuer, like taker to blisurie.

<sup>3</sup> The earth shall be cleane emptied, and utterly spoyled: for the Lord hath spoken this word.

<sup>4</sup> The earth lamenteth and sadeth away: the world is feeble & decayed: the proud people of the earth are weakened.

<sup>5</sup> The earth also deceiueth, because of the inhabitants thereof: for they transgressed the lawes: they changed the ordinances, & brake the euermlasting covenant.

<sup>6</sup> Therefore hath the curse deuour-ed the earth, and the inhabitants thereof are desolate. wherefore the inhabitants of the lande are burned vp, and

<sup>7</sup> The wine faileth, the vine hath no might: all that were of merie heart, do mourne.

<sup>8</sup> The mirth of tabrets cealeth: the noyle of them that reioyce, endeth: the toy of the harpe cealeth.

<sup>9</sup> They shall not drinke wine with mirth: strong drinke shall be bitter to them that drinke it.

<sup>10</sup> The title of banitie is broken
downe: euery house is shut vp, that no man may come in.

<sup>11</sup> There is a crying for wine in the streetes: all toy is darkened: the mirth

of the world is gone away.

<sup>12</sup> In the cite is left desolation, and the gate is limittin with destruction.

<sup>13</sup> Surely thus shall it be in the middles of the earth, among the people, as the shaking of an olive tree, [and] as the grapes when the vintage is ended.

<sup>14</sup> They shall lift vp their voyce: they shall shoute for the magnificence of the Lord: they shall reioyce from the sea.

<sup>15</sup> wherefore praise ye the Lord in the balleys, [even] the name of the Lord
God of Israel, in the vles of the sea.

<sup>16</sup> From the bittermost part of the earth we haue heard praises, [even] glorie to the iust, and I said, My leanesse, my leanesse, who is mee: the transgressours haue offended: yea, the transgressours haue grievously offended.

<sup>17</sup> Feare, & the pit, and the snare [are]
vpon thee, inhabitant of the earth.

<sup>18</sup> And he that fleeth from the noyle of the feare, shall fall into the pit: and he that cometh by out of the pit, shall be taken in the snare: for the windowes from on high are open, and the foundations of the earth do shake.

<sup>19</sup> The earth is bitterly broken down:
the earth is cleane dissolved: the earth is mooued exceedingly.

<sup>20</sup> The earth shall reele to and fro like a drunken man, and shall be remoued like a tent, and the iniquitie thereof shall be heauie vpon it: so that it shall fall,
and rise no more.

<sup>21</sup> And in that day shall the Lord visit the hoste above that is on hye, [even] the kings of the world that are vpon the earth.

<sup>22</sup> And they shall be gathered together, as the prisoners in the pit: and they shall be shut vp in the prison, and after many dayes shall they be visited.

<sup>23</sup> Then the moone shall be abashed,
and the sunne ashamed, when the Lord of hostes shall reigne in mount Zion and in Ierusalem: and glorie shall be before his ancient men.

Church, the glorie thereof shall so shine and his ministers, which are called his ancient men, that the sunne and the moone shall be darked in comparison thereof,

CHAP. XXV.

A chaineigning to God in that that hee weeth himselfe iudge of the world, by punishing the wicked and mainteyning the right.

Lorde, thou art my God:
I will exalte thee, I will praise thy Name: for thou hast done wonderful things subiecting these nations by his corrections, and make them of his Church which before were his enemies.

Iti. lili. [according]

h He comfort-
eth the faith-
full, declaring that in this great delictio-
on the Lord
will afflicte
his Church,
which shall praise his name, as Cha.
10. 22.

i From the be-most coades
of the world,
where the Gospel shall be preached, as uerse 16.
k Speaking,
to God, who will publish his Gospel through all the world.

l I am confession with care,
considering the affliction of the Church, which
by some enemies, and do-
mesticall.

m Some reade,
my secret, my secret: that is,
it was reuered
to the Prophet, that the good should be preferred and
the wicked destroyed.

n Speaking,
that Gods
wrath and vengeance should be ouer and
vnder them:
so that they should not re-
scape no more:
then they did at Noahs flood.

o There is no
power so high as mightie, but God will visite
him with his rod.

p Not with his
rod, as verse
21. but shall comfort.

q When God
shall reioyce his Church

a This Prophesie is as a conclusion of that, which hath bene
expressed to the Jewes and other nations,
from the 13.
Chapter, and therefore by
the earth he meaneth those kings, which were before
named.
b Because this was a name of dignitie, it was also applied to them, which were one of Aarons fami-
lie, and so sig-nifieth also a man of dignitie, as 2. Sam.
8. 18. 9. 20. 25.
1. Thes. 18. 17.
and by these wordes the Prophet signifieth
an horrible corruption, where there shall be neither religion, order nor pollicie, Iohes.
40.

c That is, ren-
deth no more fruit for the sname of the people, whome
the earth recei-ued of their nouriture, because they be-cieted God of his honour.
d Whitten in the Lawe, as Leuit. 26. 14.
deut. 28. 16.

e Thus the Prophets used to apply particularly the menaces, and promises, which are general in the Lawe. f Which heate & brought, or els, that they were consumed with the fire of Gods wrath. g Which as it was without order, so nothshould be brought to desolation and confusion: and this was not onely meant of Ierusalem, but of all the other wicked cities. h Because they did not use Gods benefices aright, their pleasures should faile, and they fall to mourning.

[according to] the counsels of olde, with a stable trueth.

2 For thou hast made of a <sup>b</sup> citie an heape, of a strong citie, a ruine: [even] the palace <sup>c</sup> of strangers of a citie, it shall neuer be built.

3 Therefore shall the <sup>d</sup> mightie people giue glorie vnto thee: the citie of the strong nations shall feare thee.

4 For thou hast bene a strength vnto the poore, [even] a strength to the needie in his trouble, a refuge against the tempest, a shadow against the heate: for the blast <sup>e</sup> of the mightie is like a storme [against] the wall.

5 Thou shalt bring downe the noyse of the strangers, <sup>f</sup> as the heate in a drie place: he will bring downe the song of the mightie, [as] <sup>g</sup> the heate in the shadow of a cloude.

6 And in this <sup>h</sup> mountaine shall the Lord of hostes make vnto all people a feast of fat things, [even] a feast of fined [wines, and] of fat things ful of marow, of [wines] fined [and] purified.

7 And he will destroy in this mountaine <sup>i</sup> the couering that couereth all people, and the bayle that is spred vpon all nations.

8 Hee will destroye death for euer: and the Lorde God will <sup>k</sup> wipe away the teares from all faces, and the rebuke of his people will hee take away out of all the earth: for the Lorde hath spoken it.

9 And in that day shall men say, Lo, this is our God: we haue wayted for him, and hee will saue vs. This is the Lord, we haue waited for him: we will reioyce and be ioyfull in his saluation.

10 For in this mountaine shall the hand of the Lord rest, and <sup>l</sup> Moab shall be threshed vnder him, even as straw is threshed in <sup>m</sup> Madmenah.

11 And he shall stretch out his hand in the middes of them (as he that swimmeth stretcheth [them] out to swimme) and with the strength of his hands shall he bring downe their pride.

12 The defence also of the height of thy walles shall he bring downe and lay lowe, [and] cast them to the ground, [even] vnto the dust.

In that day shall <sup>a</sup> this song be sung in the lande of Iudah, we haue a strong citie: <sup>b</sup> saluation shall [God] set for walles and bulwarkes.

2 <sup>c</sup> Open ye the gates that the righteous nation, which keepeth the trueth, may enter in.

3 By an assured <sup>d</sup> purpose wilt thou prelerue perfite peace, because they trusted in thee.

4 Trust in the Lord for euer: for in the Lord God [is] strength for euermore.

5 For he will bring downe them that dwell on hie: <sup>e</sup> the hie citie he will abase: [even] vnto the ground will hee cast it downe, and bring it vnto dust.

6 The foote shall treade it downe, [even] the feete of the <sup>f</sup> poore, [and] the steppes of the needie.

7 The way of the iust [is] righteousnesse: thou wilt make equall the righteous path of the iust.

8 Also we, O Lord, haue wayted for thee in the way of thy <sup>g</sup> iudgements: the desire of [our] soule [is] to thy name, and to the remembrance of thee.

9 With my soule haue I desired thee in the night, and with my spirite within me will I seeke thee in the morning: for seeing thy iudgements [are] in the earth, the inhabitants of the world shall learne <sup>h</sup> righteousness.

10 Let mercie <sup>i</sup> be shewed to the wicked, [yet] he will not learne righteousness: in the land of vprightnes will hee do wickedly, and wil not behold the maiestie of the Lord.

11 O Lord, they will not behold thine hie hand: [but] they shall see it, and be confounded with <sup>k</sup> the zeale of the people, and the fire of thine <sup>l</sup> enemies shall deuoure them.

12 Lorde, vnto vs thou wilt ordeine peace: for thou also hast wrought all our workes for vs.

13 O Lord our God, [other] <sup>m</sup> lords beside thee haue ruled vs, [but] we will remember thee onely, [and] thy Name.

14 The <sup>n</sup> dead shall not liue, [neither] shall the dead arise, because thou hast visited and scattered them, and destroyed all their memorie.

15 Thou hast increased <sup>o</sup> the nation, O Lord: thou hast encreased the nation: thou art made glorious: thou hast enlarged all the coastes of the earth.

16 Lord, in trouble haue they <sup>p</sup> visited

<sup>a</sup> This song was made to comfort the faithfull, when their captiuitie should come, assuring them also of their deliuerance, for the which they should sing this song.

<sup>c</sup> He assureth the godly to returne after the captiuitie to Ierusalem.

<sup>d</sup> Thou hast decreed so, and thy purpose can not be changed.

<sup>e</sup> There is no power so hie, that can let God, when he wil deliuer his.

<sup>f</sup> God will set the poore afflicted ouer the power of the wicked.

<sup>g</sup> We haue constantly abid in the aduersities where with thou hast afflicted vs.

<sup>n</sup> Meaning, that the reprobate, even in this life shall haue the beginning of everlasting death.

<sup>p</sup> That is, the faithful by thy rods were moued to pray vnto thee for deliuerance, thee:

<sup>b</sup> Not onely of Ierusalem, but also of these other cities, which haue bene thine enemies.

<sup>c</sup> That is, a place where as all vagabondes may liue without danger, and as it were, at ease, as in a palace.

<sup>d</sup> The arrogant & proude, which before would not knowe thee, shal by thy corrections feare and glorifie thee.

<sup>f</sup> Meaning, that as the heat is abated by the raine, so shall God bring downe the rage of the wicked.

<sup>g</sup> As a cloude shadoweth from the heate of the sunne, so shall God allwaie the reioycing of the wicked against the godly.

<sup>h</sup> To wit, in Zion, whereby he meaneth his Church, which shoulde vnder Christ be assembled of the Jewes and the Gentiles, and is here described vnder the figure of a costly banquet, as Matth.

22.2.

<sup>i</sup> Meaning, that ignorance and blindness, whereby we are kept backe from Christ.

<sup>k</sup> He will take away all occasions of sorowe and fill his with perfite ioy, Reuel. 7.17, and 21.4.

<sup>l</sup> By Moab are ment all the enemies of his Church. <sup>m</sup> There were two cities of this name: one in Iudah, 1. Chro. 2.49, and another in the land of Moab; Iere. 48.2. which seemeth to haue bene a plentiful place of corne, Chap. 10.31.

thee: they potized out a prayer when thy chastening [was] vpon them.

17 Like as a woman with child, that draweth neere to the traunayle, is in sorow, [and] cryeth in her paynes, so haue we bene in thy sight, O Lord.

18 We haue conceived, we haue borne in paine, as though we shoulde haue brought forth: winde: there was no helpe in the earth, neither did the inhabitants of the world fall.

19 Thy dead men shall liue: [euen] with my body shall they ryle. Awake, and sing, ye that dwell in dust: for thy dewe [is as] the dewe of herbes, and the earth shall cast out the dead.

20 Come, my people: enter thou into thy chambers, and shut thy doores after thee: hide thy selfe for a very litle while, vntill the indignation passe ouer.

21 For lo, the Lord commeth out of his place, to visite the iniquitie of the inhabitants of the earth vpon them: and the earth shall disclose her blood, and shall no more hide her slayne.

22 And in that day shall the Lord thresh from the channell of the River vnto the river of Egypt, and ye shall be gathered, one by one, O children of Israel.

23 In that day also shall the great trumpet be blown, and they shall come, which perished in the land of Asshur: and they that were chased into the land of Egypt, and they shall worship the Lord in the holy Mount at Jerusalem.

24 And in that day shall the Lord visit his sore and great and mightie sword shall visite Liuiathan, that pearcing serpent, euen Liuiathan, that crooked serpent, and he shall slay the dragon that is in the sea.

25 In that day sing of the vineyard of red wine.

26 I the Lord do keepe it: I will water it euery moment: lest any assaile it, I will keepe it night and day.

27 Anger is not in me: who would set the briers and the thornes [against] me in battel: I would go through them, I would burne them together.

28 O will he feele my strength, that he may make peace with me, [and] be at one with me:

29 Hereafter, Iacob shall take roote: Israel shall flourish and growe, and the world shall be filled with fruite.

30 Hath he smitten him as he smote those that smote him: or is he slayne according to the slaughter of them that were slaine by him:

those that smote him: or is he slayne according to the slaughter of them that were slaine by him:

31 In measure in the branches thereof wilt thou contend with it, [when] he bloweth with his rough winde in the day of the East winde.

32 By this therefore shall the iniquitie of Iacob be purged, and this is all the fruite, the taking away of his sinne: when he shall make all the stones of the altars, as chalke stones broken in pieces, [that] the groues and images may not stand by.

33 Yet the defended citie [shall be] desolate, [and] the habitation [shall be] forsaken, and left like a wilderness. There shall the calfe feede, and there shall he lie, and consume the branches thereof.

34 When the boughes of it are drye, they shall be broken: the women come, and set them on fire: for it is a people of none vnderstanding: therefore he that made them, shall not haue compassion of them, and he that formed them, shall haue no mercie on them.

35 And in that day shall the Lord thresh from the channell of the River vnto the river of Egypt, and ye shall be gathered, one by one, O children of Israel.

CHAP. XXVIII.

Against the pride and drunkenesse of Israel. 9 The vntowardnes of them that should learne the worde of God, 24 God doeth all things in time and place.

1 Vnto the crowne of pride, the drunkardes of Ephraim: for his glorious beautie [shall be] a fading floure, which is vpon y head of the valley of them that be fatte, [and] are overcome with wine.

2 Beholde, the Lord hath a mightie and strong [hoste,] like a tempest of hayle, [and] a whirlewind that overthroweth, like a tempest of mightie waters that ouerflowe, which throw to the ground mightily.

3 They shall be troden vnder foote, [euen] the crowne [and] the pride of the drunkardes of Ephraim.

4 For his glorious beautie shall be a fading

h That is, thou wilt not destroy the roote of thy Church, though the branches thereof seeme to perish by the sharpe winde of affliction.

i He sheweth that there is no true repentance, nor full reconciliation to God, till the heart be purged from all idolatrie, and the monuments thereof destroyed.

k Notwithstanding his fauour that he wil shew them after, yet Jerusalem shall be destroyed, and grasse for cattell shall growe in it.

l God shall not haue neede of mightie enemies: for the very women shall do it, to their great shame.

m He shall destroy all from Euphrates to Nilus: for some fled toward Egypt, thinking to haue escaped.

n In the time of Cyrus, by whom they should be deliuered: but this was chiefly accomplished vnder Christ.

a Meaning, the proude kingdome of the Israelites, which were drunken with worldly prosperitie.

b Because the Israelites for the most part dwelt in pleinitull valleys, he meaneth hereby the valley of them, that had abundance of worldly prosperitie, and were, as it were, crowned therewith, as with garlands.

c He seemeth to meane y Assyrians, by whom the ten tribes were caried away, d Which is not of long continuance, but is soone ripe, and first eaten.

e Signifying, that the faithfull, which put not their trust in any worldly prosperitie, but made God their glory, shalbe preferred.

f He will giue counsell to the gouernour, and strength to y<sup>e</sup> captaine, to drine the enemies in at their owne gates.

g Meaning, the hypocrites, which were among them, and were also-gether corrupt in life and doctrine, which is here ment by drunkennes and vomiting.

h For there was none that was able to vnderstand any good doctrine: but were foolish, and as vniuerses as yong babes.

i They must haue one thing oft times told, k Let one teach what hee can, yet they shall no more vnderstand him, then if he spake in a strange language.

l That is, the Prophet, who God shoulde sende.

m This is the doctrine, whereupon ye ought to stay and rest.

n Shewe to them that are wearie & haue neede of rest, what is the true rest.

o Because they will not receiue the word of God when it is offered, it cometh of their owne malice, if after their hearts be so hardened, that they care not for it, as before Chap. 6. 9.

p They thought they had shiftes to auoyde Gods iudgements, and that they could escape though all other perished. q Though the Prophets condemned their idoles, and vaine trust, of false hood, and banitie, yet the wicked thought in themselves that they would trust in these things, fading floure, which is vpon the head of the valley of them that be fat, [and] as the hastie fruite afore sommer, which when he that looketh vpon it, seeth it, while it is in his hand, he eateth it.

5 In that day shall y<sup>e</sup> Lord of hostes be for a crowne of glory, and for a diademe of beautie vnto the residue of his people:

6 And for a spirite of iudgement to him that sitteth in iudgement, and for strength vnto them that turne away the battell to the gate.

7 But s they haue erred because of wine, and are out of the way by strong drinke: the Priest and the Prophet haue erred by strong drinke: they are swallowed by with wine: they haue gone astray through strong drinke: they faile in vision: they stumble in iudgement.

8 For all [their] tables are full of filthie vomiting: no place [is cleane.]

9 h whom shall he teach knowledge: and whom shall he make to vnderstand the things that he heareth: them that are weined from the milke, [e] drawen from the breasts.

10 For i precept [must be] vpon precept, precept vpon precept, line vnto line, line vnto line, there a litle [e] there a litle.

11 For with a stammering k tongue and with a strange language shall he speake vnto this people.

12 Vnto whom l he said, m This is the rest: n giue rest to him that is weary: and this is y<sup>e</sup> refreshing, but they would not heare.

13 Therefore shall the worde of the o Lorde be vnto them precept vpon precept, precept vpon precept, line vnto line, line vnto line, there a litle [and] i here a litle, that they may go, & fall backward, and be broken & be snared and be taken.

14 Wherefore, heare the worde of the Lorde, ye scornfull men that rule this people, which is at Jerusalem.

15 Because ye haue said, we haue made a p couenant with death, and with hell are we at agreement: though a scourge runne ouer, and passe through, it shall not come at vs: for we haue made q falshood our refuge, and vnder banitie are we hid,

16 Therefore thus sayth the Lorde God, Beholde, I will laye in Zion a a stone, a r tryed stone, a precious corner stone, a sure foundation. He that beleeueth, f shall not make haste.

17 Iudgement also will I lay to the rule, and r righteousness to the balance, and the u haile shall sweepe away the vaine confidence, and the waters shall ouerflow the secret place.

18 And your couenant with death shall be disannulled, and your agreement with hell shal not stand: when a scourge shal runne ouer and passe through, then shall ye be trode downe by it.

19 When it passeth ouer, it shall take you away: for it shall passe through, euery morning in the day, and in the night, and there shall be onely y feare to make [you] to vnderstand the hearing.

20 For the bed is z streight that it can not suffice, and the couering narrow that one can not wrap himselfe.

21 For y Lorde shal stand as in mount a Perazim: he shalbe wroth as in the valley b of Gibeon, that he may do his worke, his strange worke, and bring to passe his act, his strange act.

22 Nowe therefore be no mockers, least your bondes increase: for I haue heard of y Lorde of hostes a consumptio, euen determined vpon the whole earth.

23 Hearken ye, and heare my voyce: hearken ye, and heare my speech.

24 Doeth the plowe man plowe all the day, to sow: doeth he open, & breake the clots of his ground:

25 When he hath made it c plaine, will he not then sow the fitches, and sow cummin, and cast in wheate by measure, and the appointed barley and rye in their place:

26 For his God doeth instruct him to haue discretion, [and] doeth teache him.

27 For fitches shall not be threshed with a threshing instrument, neither shall a cart wheele be turned about vpon the cummin: but the fitches are beaten out with a staffe, and cummin with a rod.

28 Bread [come] when it is threshed, he doeth not alway thresh it, neither doeth the wheele of his cart [still] make a noyse, neither will he breake it with the teeth thereof.

29 This also cometh from y Lorde of hostes, which is wonderfull in counsell, [and] excellent in workes.

CHAP. XXIX.

i A prophetic against Jerusalem. 13 The vengeance of God on them that followe the traditions of men.

r That is, Christ, by who all the building must be tried and vpholde, psal. 118. 22, mat. 21. 42, acts 4. 11, rom. 9. 33, 1. pet. 2. 6.

s He shall be quiet, and seeke none other remedies, but be content with Christ.

t In the restitution of his Church, iudgement and iustice shall reigne.

u Gods corrections and affliction.

x Affliction shall discouer their vaine confidence, which they kept secret to themselves.

y Terror and destruction shall make you to learne that, which exhortations and gentlenes could not bring you vnto.

z Your affliction shalbe so sore, that you are not able to endure it.

a When Dauid ouercame y Philistines, 2. Sam. 5. 20, 1. chro. 14. 11.

b Where Joshua discomfited five Kings of y Amorites, Josh. 10. 12.

c As the plowe man hath his appointed time, and diuers instruments for his labour, so hath the Lord for his vengeance: for he punisheth some at one time and some at another, some after one sort and some after another, so that his chosen seed is beaten, and tried, but not broken, as are the wicked, a The Hebrew worde Artel signifieth the Lion of God, and signifieth the altar, because the altar seemed to devour the sacrifice that was offered to God, as Eze. 43. 16.

 b Your vaine confidence in your sacrifices shall not last long.
 c Your citie shall not be full of blood, as an altar whereon they sacrifice.
 d Thy speech shall be no more so loftie, but abased, and lowe as the very charmers, which are in low places, and whisper, so that their voyce can scarce be heard.
 e Thine hired souldiers, in whom thou trustest, shall be destroyed, as dust or chaffe in a whirlewinde.
 f The enemies that I will bring to destroy thee, and that, which thou makest thy vaine trust, shall come at vnwares, even as a dreame in the night.
 Some reade, as if this were a comfort to the Church for the destruction of their enemies.
 g That is, hee thinketh that he eateth.
 h Guse hereon as long as ye list, yet shall ye finde nothing, but occasion to be astonished: for your prophets are blinde, and therefore can not direct you.
 i Meaning, it is all alike, either to reade, or not to reade, except God open the heart to vnderstand,

Altar, altar of the citie that Dauid dwelt in: adde yeere vnto yeere: <sup>b</sup> let them kill lambes.

2 But I will bring the altar into distresse, & there shall be heaviness and sorrow, & it shall be vnto me like <sup>c</sup> an altar.

3 And I will besiege thee as a circle, and fight against thee on a mount, & will cast vp ramparts against thee.

4 So shalt thou be humbled, [and] shalt speake out of the <sup>d</sup> ground, and thy speache shall be [as] out of the dust: thy voyce also shall be out of the ground like him that hath a spirit of divination, and thy talking shall whisper out of the dust.

5 Moreover, the multitude of thy <sup>e</sup> strangers shall be like small dust, and the multitude of strong men shall be as chaffe that passeth away, and it shall be in a moment, [even] suddenly.

6 Thou shalt be visited of the Lorde of hostes with thunder, & shaking, and a great noyse, a whirlewinde, and a tempest, and a flame of a deuouring fire.

7 And the <sup>f</sup> multitude of all the nations that fight against the altar, shall be as a dreame [or] vision by night: even all they that make the warre against it, and strong holdes against it, and laye siege vnto it.

8 And it shall be like as an hungry man dreameth, and behold, <sup>g</sup> he eateth: and when he awaketh, his soule is empty: or like as a thirstie man dreameth, and loe, he is drinking, and when he awaketh, behold, hee is faint, and his soule longeth: so shall the multitude of all nations be that fight against mount Zion.

9 <sup>h</sup> Stay your selues, and wonder: they are blind, and make [you] blinde: they are drunken, but not with wine: they stagger, but not by strong drinke.

10 For the Lorde hath couered you with a spirite of slumber, and hath shut vp your eyes: the prophets and your chiefe Seers hath he couered.

11 And the vision of them all is become vnto you, as the wordes of a booke that is sealed vp, which they deliuer to one that can reade, saying, Reade this, I pray thee. Then shall he say, I can not: for it is sealed.

12 And the booke is giuen vnto him that can not reade, saying, Reade this, I pray thee. And he shall say, I can not reade.

13 Therefore the Lord saide, Because this people <sup>k</sup> come neere vnto me with their mouth, and honour mee with their lippes, but haue remooued their heart farre from me, and their <sup>l</sup> feare toward me was taught by the precept of men, 14 Therefore beholde, I will againe doe a marueilous worke in this people, [even] a marueilous worke, and a wonder: for the wisedome of their wise men shall <sup>m</sup> perish, and the vnderstanding of their prudent men shall be hid.

15 Woe vnto them that <sup>n</sup> seeke deepe to hide [their] counsell from the Lorde: for their workes are in darkenesse, and they say, who seeth vs: and who knoweth vs:

16 Your turning [of deuises] shall it not be esteemed <sup>o</sup> as the potters clay: for shall the worke say of him that made it, He made me not: or the thing formed, say of him that fashioned it, He had none vnderstanding:

17 Is it not yet but a litle while, and Lebanon shall be <sup>p</sup> turned into Carmel: and Carmel shall be counted as a forest:

18 And in that day shall <sup>q</sup> deafe heare the wordes of the booke, and the eyes of the blind shall see out of obscuritie, and out of darkenesse.

19 The meeke in <sup>r</sup> the Lorde shall receiue ioye againe, and the poore men shall reioyce in the holy one of Israel.

20 For the cruell man shall cease, and the scornfull shall be consumed: and all that hastened to iniquitie, shall be cut off:

21 Which made a man to sinne in the <sup>s</sup> word, and tooke him in a snare: which reproveth [them] in the gate, and made the lust to fall without cause.

22 Therefore thus sayeth the Lorde vnto <sup>t</sup> the house of Iaakob, [even] he that redeemed Abraham, Iaakob shall not now be confounded, neither now shall his face be pale.

23 But when he seeth his children, the worke of mine hands, in the middes of him, they shall sanctifie my Name, and sanctifie the holie one of Iaakob, and shall feare the God of Israel.

24 Then they that erred in spirite, shall haue vnderstanding, and they that murmured, shall learne doctrine.

that except God giue vnderstanding, and knowledge, man can erre, and murmure against him.

CHAP. XXX.

1 He reproveth the Jewes which in their aduersitie used their owne counsels, 2 and sought helpe of the Egyptians, 10 Despising the prophets, 16 Therefore hee sheweth what destruction shall come vpon them, 18 But offereth merrie to the repentant.

<sup>k</sup> Because they are hypocrites and not sincere in heart, as Mat. 15. 8.

<sup>l</sup> That is, their religion was learned by mans doctrine, and not by my word. <sup>m</sup> Meaning, that where as God is not worshipped according to his word, both magistrates and ministers are but fooles, and without vnderstanding.

<sup>n</sup> This is spoken of them, which in heart despised Gods worde, and mocked at the admonitions, but outwardly bare a good face.

<sup>o</sup> For all your craft, sayth the Lord, you can not be able to escape mine handes no more then the clay, that is in the potters hands, hath power to deliuer it selfe.

<sup>p</sup> Shall there not be a change of all things? and Carmel, that is a plentiful place in respect of that it shall be then, may be taken as a forest, as Chap. 32. 15. and thus he speaketh to comfort the faithfull.

<sup>q</sup> They that went about to finde fault with the prophets wordes, and would not abide admonitions, but would incan- gle them and bring them into danger.

a Who contrary to their promises, take not me for their protectour, and contrary to my commandment, seeke helpe at strangers.

b They seeke shifts to cloke their doings, and not godly meanes.

c The chiefe of Israel went into Egypt in Ambassie to seeke helpe, and abode at these cities.

d That is, a heauie sentence or prophetic against the beasts that caried their treasures into Egypt, by the wilderness, which was South from Iudah: signifying, that if the beasts should not be spared, y men should be punished much more grievously.

e To wit, to Jerusalem.

f And not to come to & fro to seeke helpe.

g That is, this prophetic.

h That it may be a witness against the for all posteritie.

i He sheweth what was the cause of their destruction, and bringeth also all miserie to man: to wit, because they would not heare the word of God, but delited to be flattered, and led in error.

k Threaten vs not by y worde of God, neither be so rigorous, nor talke vnto vs in the name of the Lorde, as Iere. 11. 21.

l Meaning, in their stubbornnes against God, & the admonitions of his Prophets, m Signifying, y the destruction of y wicked shalbe without recovery.

Vnto y<sup>a</sup> rebellious children, sayth the Lorde, that take counsell, but not of me, and couer with a couering, but not by my spirit, that they may lay sinne vpon sinne:

2 Which walke forth to go downe into Egypt (and haue not asked at my mouth) to strengthen themselves with the strength of Pharaoh, and trust in the shadow of Egypt.

3 But the strength of Pharaoh shall be your shame, and the trust in the shadow of Egypt your confusion.

4 For his<sup>c</sup> princes were at Zoan, and his Ambassadors came vnto Hanes.

5 They shall be all ashamed of the people that can not profite them, nor helpe nor doe them good, but [shall be] a shame and also a reproche.

6 The<sup>d</sup> burden of the beasts of the South, in a land of trouble & anguise, from whence shall come the yong and olde lyon, the viper and fierie flying serpent [against them] that shal beare their riches vpon the shoulders of the coltes, and their treasures vpon the bounces of the camels, to a people that cannot profite.

7 For the Egyptians are vanitie, and they shal helpe in vaine. Therefore haue I cryed vnto<sup>e</sup> her, Their strength<sup>f</sup> [is] to sit still.

8 Now go, [and] write it before them in a table, and note it in a booke that it may be for the<sup>h</sup> last day for euer & euer:

9 That it is a rebellious people, lying children, [and] children that would not heare the Lawe of the Lorde.

10 Which say vnto y<sup>i</sup> Seers, See not: and to y<sup>j</sup> Prophets, Prophetic not vnto vs right things: [but] speake flattering things vnto vs: prophetic<sup>k</sup> errors.

11 Depart out of the way: go aside out of the path: cause the holy one of Israel to cease from vs.

12 Therefore thus saith the holy one of Israel, Because you haue cast off this worde, and trust in<sup>l</sup> violence, and wickednes, and stay thereupon,

13 Therefore this iniquitie shalbe vnto you as a breach y<sup>m</sup> falleth, [or] a swelling in an hie wall, whose breaking cometh suddenly in a moment.

14 And y<sup>n</sup> breaking thereof is like the breaking of a potters pot, which is broken without pitie, and in the breaking thereof is not found<sup>m</sup> a shearde to take

fire out of the hearth, or to take water out of the pit.

15 For thus said the<sup>n</sup> Lorde God, the holy one of Israel, In rest & quietnes shall ye be saued: in quietnes and in confidence shalbe your strength, but ye would not.

16 For ye haue saide, No, but we will flee away vpon<sup>o</sup> horses. Therefore shall ye flee. We will ride vpon the swiftest. Therefore shall your persecuters be swifter.

17 A thousand [as] one [shall flee] at the rebuke of one: at the rebuke of five shall ye flee, til ye be left as a shippe mast vpon the<sup>p</sup> top of a mountaine, and as a beaken vpon an hill.

18 Yet therefore will the Lord wayte, that he may haue<sup>q</sup> mercie vpon you, and therefore will he be exalted, that he may haue compassion vpon you: for y<sup>r</sup> Lorde [is] the God of<sup>r</sup> iudgement. Blessed [are] all they that wayte for him.

19 Surely a people shall dwell in Zion, [&] in Jerusalem: thou shalt weepe no more: he will certainly haue mercie vpon thee at the voyce of thy crie: when he heareth thee, he will answere thee.

20 And when the Lorde hath given you the bread of aduersitie, and the water of affliction, thy raine shalbe no more kept backe, but thine eyes shall see thy<sup>s</sup> rayne.

21 And thine eares shall heare a word behind thee, saying, This is the way, walke ye in it, when thou turnest to the right hand, and when thou turnest to the left.

22 And ye shall<sup>t</sup> pollute the couering of the images of silver, and the rich ornament of thine images of gold, [and] cast them away as a menstruous cloth, and thou shalt say vnto it, Get thee hence.

23 Then shall he giue rayne vnto thy seede, when thou shalt sow the ground, and bread of the encrease of the earth, and it shalbe fatte and as oyle: in that day shall thy cattell be fed in large pastures.

24 The oxen also and the yong asses, that till the ground, shal eate cleane provender, which is winowed with the shouell and with the fanne.

25 And vpon every hie<sup>x</sup> mountaine, and vpon every hie hill shall there be riuers [and] streames of waters, in the day of the great slaughter, when the towers shall fall.

26 Moreover, y<sup>y</sup> light of y<sup>z</sup> moone shall be u Shewing that there can be no true repentance, except both in heart and deed we shewe our selues enemies to idolatry.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 Hee curseth them that forsake God, and seeke for the helpe of men.

a There were two speciall causes, why the Israelites should not ioyne amitie with the Egyptians: first, because the Lord had commanded them neuer to returne thither, Deut. 17. 16. and 28. 68. least they should forget the benefite of their redemption: and secondly, least they should be corrupted with the superstition and idolatrie of the Egyptians, and so forsake God, Iere. 2. 18. b Meaning, that they forsake the Lord, that put their trust in worldly thinges: for they can not trust in both,

be as the light of the sunne, and the light of the sunne shall be seuen folde, and like the light of seuen dayes in the day that the Lord shall binde by the breach of his people, and heale the stroke of their wound.

27 Beholde, the Name of the Lord cometh from farre, his face is burning, and the burden thereof is heauie: his lippes are full of indignation, and his tongue is as a deuouring fire.

28 And his spirit is as a riuer that ouerfloweth by to the necke: it deuidenth a sunder, to fanne the nations with the fanne of a vanitie, and there shall be a bridle to cause them to erre in y chawes of the people.

29 But there shall be a song vnto you as in the night, when a soleinne feast is kept: and gladnes of heart, as he that cometh with a pipe to go vnto the mount of the Lord, to the mightie one of Israel.

30 And the Lord shall cause his glorious voyce to be heard, and shall declare the lighting down of his arme with the anger of his countenance, and flame of a deuouring fire, with scattering and tempest, and hayle stones.

31 For with the voyce of the Lord shall Asshur be destroyed, which smote with the rod.

32 And in euery place that the staffe shall passe, it shall cleaue fast, which the Lord shall lay vpon him with tabrets and harpes: and with battels, lifting by of hands shall he fight against it.

33 For Tophet is prepared of olde: it is euen prepared for the King: hee hath made it deepe and large: the burning thereof is fire and much wood: the breath of the Lord, like a riuer of brimstone, doeth kindle it.

When Saneheribs armie was discomfited, and he fled to his castell in Nineueh for succour. k To destroy his enemies.

2 But he yet is wisest: therefore he will bring euill, and not turne backe his worde, but he will arise against the house of the wicked, and against the helpe of them that worke vanitie.

3 Now the Egyptians are men, and not God, and their horses flesh, and not spirite: and when the Lord shall stretch out his hand, the helper shall fall, and he that is holpen shall fall, and they shall altogether fayle.

4 For thus hath the Lord spoken vnto me, As the lyon or lyons whelpeth vpon his praye, against whome if a multitude of shepheards be called, he will not be afraide at their voyce, neither will humble himselfe at their noyse: so shall the Lord of hostes come downe to fight for mount Zion, and for the hill thereof.

5 As birds that flie, so shall the Lord of hostes defend Jerusalem by defending and deliuering, by passing through and preseruing it.

6 O ye children of Israel, turne againe, in as much as ye are sunken deepe in rebellion.

7 For in that day euery man shall cast out his idoles of siluer, & his idoles of golde, which your hands haue made you, euen a sinne.

8 Then shall Asshur fall by sword, not of man, neither shall the sword of man deuoure him, and he shall flee from the sword, and his yong men shall faint.

9 And hee shall goe for feare to his towre, and his princes shall be afraide of the standard, saith the Lord, whose fire is in Zion, and his furnace in Jerusalem.

When Saneheribs armie was discomfited, and he fled to his castell in Nineueh for succour. k To destroy his enemies.

CHAP. XXXII.

The conditions of good rulers and officers described by the gouernement of Iezekiah, who was the figure of Christ.

Beholde, a King shall reigne in iustice, and the princes shall rule in iudgement.

2 And that man shall be as an hiding place from the winde, and as a refuge for the tempest: as riuers of water in a drie place, and as the shadowe of a great rocke in a weary land.

3 The eyes of the seeing shall not be shut, and the eares of them that heare, both in policie and religion. c Where men are wearie with travelling, for lacke of water. d Hee promisseth to giue the true light, which is the pure doctrine of Gods worde, and understanding, and zeale of the same, contrarie to the threatnings against the wicked, Chap. 6. 9. and 29. 10.

c And knowe their craftie enterprises and will bring all to nought.

d Meaning, both y Egyptians and the Israelites.

e He sheweth the Jewes, that if they would put their trust in him, he is so able, that none can resist his power: and so carefull ouer the, as a birde ouer her yong, which euer flyeth about them for their defence: which similitude scripture vseth in diuers places, as Deut. 32. 11.

Mat. 23. 37.

f He toucheth their conscience that they might earnestly feele their grieuous

sinnes and so truly repent, forasmuch as now they are almost downe and past recouerie.

shall hearken.

4 And the heart of the foolish shall vnderstand knowledge, and the tongue of the stutters shall be ready to speake distinctly.

5 A<sup>c</sup> nigarde shall no more be called liberall, nor the churle riche.

6 But the nigarde will speake of nigardnes, and his heart will worke iniquitie, and doe wickedly, & speake fallshly against the Lorde, to make emptie the hungrie soule, and to cause the drinke of the thirstie to faile.

<sup>f</sup> He propheseth of such calamitie to come, that they will not spare the womē and children, and therefore willet them to take heede and prouide.

7 For the weapons of the churle [are] wicked: he deuileth wicked counsailes, to vndoe the poore with lying words: and to speake [against] the poore in iudgement.

8 But the liberall man will deuise of liberall things, and he wil continue [his] liberalitie.

<sup>g</sup> Meaning, that the affliction shoulde continue long, and when one yere were past, yet they shoulde looke for newe plagues.

9 Rise vp, ye women that are at ease: heare my voyce, ye<sup>f</sup> careles daughters: hearken to my wordes.

<sup>h</sup> God wil take from you the meanes and occasions, which made you to contemne him: to wit, abundance of worldly goodes.

10 Ye women, that are careles, shalbe in feare<sup>s</sup> aboute a yere in dayes: <sup>h</sup> for the vintage shall faile, [and] the gathering shall come no more.

<sup>i</sup> By the teates, he meanceth the plentifull fields, whereby men are nourished as children with the teate: or, the mothers for sorow, and leannes shall lacke milke.

11 Ye women that are at ease, be astounded: feare, O ye careles women: put off the clothes: make bare, and girde [sackcloth] vpon the loynes.

12 When shall lament for the<sup>i</sup> teates, [euen] for the pleasant fieldes, [and] for the fruitfull vine.

<sup>k</sup> That is, whē the Church shalbe restored: thus the Prophets after they haue denounced Gods iudgements against the wicked, vse to comfort the godly, least they shoulde faint.

13 Upon the land of my people shall growe thornes [and] briers: yea, vpon all the houses of ioye in the citie of reioycing,

<sup>l</sup> The fildes which is nowe fruitfull, shall be but as a baren forest in comparison of that it shall be then, as Chap. 29. 17. which shall be fulfilled in Christs time: for then they that were before as the baren wilderness, being regenerate, shall be fruitfull, and they that had some beginning of godlines, shall bring forth fruites in such abundance, that their former life shall seeme but as a wilderness, where no fruites were.

14 Because the palace shall be forsaken, [and] the<sup>j</sup> noyse of the citie shall be left: the towre & fortresse shall be denues for euer, [and] the delite of wilde asses, [and] a pasture for flockes,

15 Until the<sup>k</sup> Spirit be powred vpon vs from aboue, and the wilderness become a fruitfull field, and the<sup>l</sup> plenteous fildes be counted as a forest.

16 And iudgement shall dwell in the desert, and iustice shall remaine in the fruitfull fildes.

17 And the worke of iustice shall be peace, euen the worke of iustice and quietnes, and assurance for euer.

18 And my people shall dwell in the tabernacle of peace & in sure dwellings, and in safe resting places.

19 When it haileth, it shall fall on the forest, and the<sup>m</sup> citie shall be set in the lowe place.

20 Blessed are ye<sup>n</sup> that solue vpon all waters, and<sup>o</sup> drine [thither] the feete of the ore and the asse.

<sup>n</sup> That is, vpon fat ground and well watered, which bringeth forth in abundance: or in places which before were couered with waters, and now made drie for your vles. <sup>o</sup> The fieldes shall be so ranke, that they shall sende out their cattell to eate by the first croppe, which abundance shall be signes of Gods fauour and loue towards them.

CHAP. XXXIII.

The destruction of them, by whome God hath punished his Church.

Vo thee that<sup>a</sup> spoylest, and wast not spoyled: and doest wickedly, and they did not wickedly against thee: When thou shalt<sup>b</sup> cease to spoyle, thou shalt be spoyled: When thou shalt make an end of doing wickedly, they shall doe wickedly against thee.

<sup>a</sup> Meaning the enemies of the Church, as were the Caldeans, and Assyrians: but chiefly of Saneherib, but not onely.

2 <sup>d</sup> O Lord, haue mercie vpon vs, we haue waited for thee: be thou, [which] wast<sup>c</sup> their arme in the morning, our helpe also in time of trouble.

<sup>b</sup> When thine appointed time shall come that God shall take away thy power: and y which thou hast waggfully gotten, shall be giuen to others, as Amos. 5. 11.

3 At the noyse of the tumult, the<sup>f</sup> people fled: at thine<sup>s</sup> exalting the nations were scattered.

<sup>c</sup> The Caldeans shall doe like to the Assyrians, as the Assyrians did to Israel: and the Medes, and Persians shall doe the same to the Caldeans.

4 And your spoyle shall be gathered [like] the gathering of<sup>h</sup> caterpillers: and he shall go against him like the leaping of grasshoppers.

<sup>d</sup> He declareth hereby what is the chiefe refuge of the faithfull when troubles come, to pray and seeke helpe of God.

5 The Lorde is exalted: for he dwelleth on high: he hath filled Zion with iudgement and iustice.

6 And there shall be stabilitie of<sup>k</sup> thy times, strength, saluation, wisdom and knowledge: [for] the feare of the Lorde shall be his treasure.

7 Beholde, <sup>l</sup> their messengers shall crie without, and the<sup>m</sup> ambassadours of peace shall weepe bitterly.

<sup>f</sup> That is, the Assyrians fled before the arme of the Caldeans, or the Caldeans for feare of the Medes and Persians.

8 The<sup>n</sup> paths are waste: the wayfaring man ceaseth: he hath broken the couenant: he hath contemned the cities: he regarded no man.

9 The earth mourneth and fainteth: Lebanon is ashamed, & he wen downe: <sup>o</sup> Sharon is like a wilderness, and Bashan is shaken and Carmel.

<sup>g</sup> When thou, O Lorde, diddest lift by thine arme to punish thine enemies. <sup>h</sup> He that as Caterpillers destroyed with your number the whole worlde, shall haue no strength to resist your enemies the Caldeans, but shall be gathered on an heape and destroyed. <sup>i</sup> Meaning the Medes and Persians against the Caldeans. <sup>k</sup> That is, in the dayes of Hezekiah. <sup>l</sup> Sent from Saneherib. <sup>m</sup> Whome they of Ierusalem sent to intercede of peace. <sup>n</sup> These are the wordes of the Ambassadours, when they returne from Saneherib. <sup>o</sup> Which was a plentifull countrey, meaning, that Saneherib would destroy all.

p To helpe
and deliuer
my Church.

q This is spoken against the enemies, who thought all
was their owne: but he sheweth that their enterprize shall be in vaine, and that the fire,
which they had kindled
for others,
should consume them.

r His vengeance shall be so great, that all the world shall talke thereof.
s Which doe
not beleue the wordes of the Prophet & the assurance of their deliue-
rance.

t Meaning,
that God will be a sure defence to all them that liue
according to his worde.

u They shall see Iezekiah deliuered from his enemies
and restored to honor & glorie.
x They shall be no more shut
in as they were by Saneherib, but go where it plea-seth them.

y Before that this libertie
cometh, thou shalt thinke
that thou art
in great danger: for the e-nemie shall so sharply assaile
you, that one shall crye,
Where is the
clarke that writeth the names of them
that are tar-
ep? another,
Where is the
receiuer? another shall crie
for him that baleweth the
riche houses,
but God will deliuer you
from this feare.

z Let vs be content with this small riuer of Shiloah, & not defire the great streames & riuers, whereby the enemies may bring in shippes & destroy vs. a He derideth the Assyrians & enemies of the Church, declaring their destruction as they that perill by shipwrack. b He comforteth the Church, and sheweth that they shall be enriched with all benefices both of body and soule.

10 Now wil I arise, saith the Lord: now we will I be exalted, now we will I lift bp my selfe.

11 We shall contemne chaffe, [&] bring forth stubble: the fire of your breath shall deuoure you.

12 And the people shall be [as] the burning of lime: [and as] the thornes cut bp, shall they be burnt in the fire.

13 Heare, ye that are farre off, what I haue done, & ye that are neere, knowe
my power.

14 The sinners in Zion are afraid: a feare is come vpon the hypocrites: who among vs shall dwell with the deuou-ring fire: who among vs shall dwell with the everlasting burnings?

15 He that walketh in iustice, & speaketh righteous things, refusing gaine of oppression, shaking his hands from taking of giftes, stopping his eares from hearing of blood, and shutting his eyes
from seeing euill,

16 He shall dwell on hie: his defence [shall be] the munitions of rockes: bread shall be giuen him, [and] his waters shall be sure.

17 Thine eyes shall see the King in his glorie: they shall beholde the land farre off.

18 Thine heart shall meditate feare,
where is the scribe: where is the receiuer:
where is he that counted the towres?

19 Thou shalt not see a fierce people, a people of a darke speech, that thou canst not perceiue, [&] of a stammering tongue that thou canst not vnderstand.

20 Look vpon Zion the citie of our solemn feasts: thine eyes shall see Jerusalem a quiet habitation, a Tabernacle that can not be remoued: and the stakes thereof can neuer be take away, neither shall any of the cords thereof be broken.

21 For surely there the mightie Lord
[will be] vnto vs, [as] a place of floods
[and] broad riuers, whereby shall passe no shippe with oares, neither shall great shippe passe thereby.

22 For the Lord [is] our iudge, the Lord [is] our lawe giuer: the Lord [is] our King, he will saue vs.

23 Thy cordes are loosed: they could not well strengthen their mast, neither could they spread the saile: then shall the praye be deuided for a great spoyle:

[yea,] the lame shall take away the praye.

24 And none inhabitant shall say, I am sicke: the people that dwell therein, shall haue their iniquitie forgiven.

CHAP. XXXIIII.

1 He sheweth that God punisheth the wicked for the loue that he beareth toward his Church.

Come neere, ye nations and heare, and hearken, ye people: let the earth heare and all that is therein, the world and all that proceedeth thereof.

2 For the indignation of the Lord [is] vpon all nations, & [his] wrath vpon all their armies: hee hath destroyed them
[and] deliuered them to the slaughter.

3 And their flaine shall be cast out, and their sincke shall come bp out of their bodies, and the mountaines shall be melted with their blood.

4 And all the hoste of heauen shall be dissolued, and the heauens shall be folden like a booke: and all their hostes shall fall as the leafe falleth from the vine, and as it falleth from the figtree.

5 For my sworde shall be drunken in the heauen: behold, it shall come downe vpon Edom, euen vpon the people of my curse to iudgement.

6 The sworde of the Lord is filled with blood: it is made fat with the fat [and] with the blood of the lambs and the goates, with the fat of the kidneis of the rammes: for the Lord hath a sacrifice in Bozrah, and a great slaughter in the land of Edom.

7 And the unicornes shall come downe with them and the heiffers with the bulles, and their land shall be drum-ken with blood, and their dust made fat with fatnes.

8 For [it is] the day of the Lords vengeance, [and] the yeere of recompence
for the iudgement of Zion.

9 And the riuers thereof shall be turned into pitch, and the dust thereof into brimstone, and the land thereof shall be burning pitch.

10 It shall not be quenched night nor day: the smoke thereof shall go bp euermore: it shall be desolate from generation to generation: none shall passe through it for ener.

11 But the pelicane and the hedgehog shall possesse it, and the great owle,
and the rauen shall dwell in it, and hee

o Signifying, that Iudaea should be an horrible desolation and barren wilderness. p That is, in the Lawe where such curses are threatned against the wicked. q To wit, beastes and foules.

r That is, the mouth of the Lorde. s He hath giuen the beastes and foules Iudaea for an inheritance.

a He prophesieth of the full restoration of the Church both of the Iewes and Gentiles vnder Christ, which shall be fully accomplished at the last day: albeit as yet it is compared to a desert and wilderness.

b The Church which was before compared to a barren wilderness, shall by Christ be made most plenteous and beautifull.

c He sheweth that the presence of God is the cause that y Church doeth bring forth fruite and flourish.

d He willetch all to encourage one another, and specially the ministers to exhort and strengthen the weak, that they may patiently abide the coming of God, which is at hand. e To destroy your enemies. f When the knowledge of Christ is reuelled. g They that were barren and destitute of the graces of God, shall haue them giuen by Christ.

14 There shall <sup>n</sup> meete also Zim and Jim, and the Satyre shall crie to his fellow, & the thricheowle shall rest there, & shall finde for her selfe a quiet dwelling.

15 There <sup>o</sup> shall the owle make her nest, and lay, and hatch, & gather them vnder her shadowe: there shall the vultures also be gathered, euery one with her make.

16 Seeke in the <sup>p</sup> booke of the Lorde, and reade: none of these shall faile, none shall want her make: for <sup>r</sup> his mouth hath commanded, and his very Spirit hath gathered them.

17 And he hath cast the <sup>s</sup> lot for them, and his hand hath deuided it vnto them by line: they shall possesse it for euer: from generation to generation shall they dwell in it.

The <sup>a</sup> desert and the wilderness shall reioyce: and the waste ground shall be glad and flourish as the rose.

2 It shall flourish abundantly & shall greatly reioyce also and ioye: the glorie of Lebanon shall be giuen vnto it: the beautie of <sup>b</sup> Carmel, and of Sharon, they shall see the glorie of the Lorde, [and] the excellencie of our God.

3 <sup>d</sup> Strengthen the weake hands, and comfort the feeble knees.

4 Say vnto them that are fearefull, Be you strong, feare not: beholde, your God cometh with <sup>e</sup> vengeance: [euen] God with a recompence, he will come and saue you.

5 Then shall the eyes of the <sup>f</sup> blinde be lightened, and the eares of the deafe be opened.

6 Then shall the lame man leape as an hart, & the dumme mans tongue shall sing: for in the <sup>g</sup> wilderness shall waters breake out, and riuers in the desert.

7 And the drie ground shall be as a poole, and the thirstie as springs of water: in the habitation of dragons, where they lay: [shall be] a place for reedes and rushes.

8 And there shall be a path and a way, and the way shall be called <sup>h</sup> holy: the polluted shall not passe by it: for <sup>i</sup> he shall be with them, and walke in the way, and the fooles shall not erre.

9 There shall be <sup>k</sup> no lyon, nor nor: some beastes shall ascend by it, neither shall they be found there, that the redeemed may walke.

10 Therefore the <sup>l</sup> redeemed of the Lorde shall returne and come to Zion with prayse: and euerlasting ioy shall be vpon their heads: they shall obtaine ioy and gladnes, and sorrowe and mourning shall flee away.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 Saneherib sendeth Rabshakeh to besiege Jerusalem. 15 His blasphemies against God.

Now <sup>a</sup> in the <sup>b</sup> fourteenth yere of King Hezekiah, Saneherib king of Asshur came vpon against all the strong cities of Iudah, and tooke them.

2 And the King of Asshur sent Rabshakeh from Lachish toward Jerusalem vnto King Hezekiah, with a great hoste, and he stood by the conduite of the vpper poole in <sup>y</sup> path of the fullers field.

3 Then came forth vnto him Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiah the <sup>c</sup> steward of the house, and Shebna <sup>d</sup> the chanceler, and Ioah the sonne of Asaph the recorder.

4 And <sup>e</sup> Rabshakeh said vnto them, Tell you Hezekiah, I pray you, Thus saith the great King, the King of Asshur, what confidence is this, wherein thou trustest:

5 I say, <sup>f</sup> Surely [I haue] eloquence, [but] counsell and strength [are] for the warre: on whom then doest thou trust, that thou rebellest against me:

6 Loe, thou trustest in this broken staffe of reede on Egypt, whereupon if a man leane, it will go into his hand, and pearce it: so [is] <sup>g</sup> Pharaoh King of Egypt, vnto all that trust in him.

7 But if thou say to mee, We trust in the Lorde our God, Is not that he, whose hie places and whose altars such a weightie matter. <sup>c</sup> Saneheribs chiefe captaine. <sup>f</sup> He speaketh this in the person of Hezekiah, falsly charging him, that he put his trust in his wit and eloquence, whereas his onely confidence was in the Lorde. <sup>g</sup> Satan laboured to pull the godly king from one vaine confidence to another: to wit, from trust in the Egyptians, whose power was weake and would deceiue them: to percelve himselfe to the Assyrians, and so not to hope for any helpe of God.

Hezekiah

h It shall be for the Saines of God and not for the wicked. i God shall lead and guide them, alluding to the bringing forth of Egypt. k As he threatned to the wicked to be destroyed hereby. Chap. 30. 6. l Whom the Lord shall deliuer from the captiuitie of Babylon.

a This historie is rehearsed, because it is as a seale & confirmation of the doctrine afore, both for y threatnings and promises: to wit, that God would suffer his Church to be afflicted, but at length would send deliuerance. b When he had abolished superstition, and idolatrie, and restored religion, yet God would exercise his Church to trie their faith and patience.

c For he was now restored to his office, as Isaiah had prophesied, Chap. 22. 20.

d This declareth that there were few godly to be found in the Kings house, when he was giuen to send this wicked man in

Hezekiah tooke downe, and said to Judah and to Jerusalem, Be shall worship before this altar:

8 Now therefore give hostages to my lord the king of Asshur, and I will give thee two thousand horses, if thou be able on thy part to set riders vpon them.

Or, turne backe.
h He reprocheth to Hezekiah his small power, which is not able to resist one of Saneheribs least captaines.
i Thus the wicked to deceiue vs, will pretende the Name of the Lord: but we must trie the spirits, whether they be of God or no.
k They were afraine, least by his wordes he should haue stirred the people against the King, and also pretended to growe to some appointment with him.
l Ebr. the water of their feete.

9 For how canst thou despise any captaine of the least of my lords seruants: and put thy trust on Egypt for charets and for horsemen?

10 And am I now come by without the Lord to this land to destroy it: The Lord said vnto me, Go by against this land and destroy it.

11 Then said Eliakim, and Shebna & Joah vnto Rabshakeh, Speake, I pray thee, to thy seruants in the Aramites language, (for we vnderstand it) and talke not with vs in the Jewes tongue, in the audience of the people that are on the wall.

12 Then saide Rabshakeh, Hath my master sent me to thy master, and to thee to speake these wordes, and not to the men that sit on the wall: that they may eate their owne dounge, and drinke their owne pissle with you?

13 So Rabshakeh stood, and cryed with a loude voyce in the Jewes language, and said, Heare the wordes of the great King, of the king of Asshur.

14 Thus saith the king, Let not Hezekiah deceiue you: for hee shall not be able to deliuer you.

15 Neither let Hezekiah make you to trust in the Lord, saying, The Lord will surely deliuer vs: this citie shall not be giuen ouer into the hand of the king of Asshur.

16 Hearken not to Hezekiah: for thus saith the King of Asshur, Make appointment with me, and come out to me, that euery man may eate of his owne vine, and euery man of his owne figtree, and drinke euery man the water of his owne well.

17 Till I come and bring you to a land like your owne land, [even] a land of wheate and wine, a land of bread and vineyards,

18 Least Hezekiah deceiue you, saying, The Lord will deliuer vs. Hath any of the gods of the nations deliuered his land out of the hande of the King of Asshur?

19 Where is the god of Hamath, and of Arpad: where is the god of Sepharuaim: or howe haue they deliuered

Samaria out of mine hand:

20 Who is hee among all the gods of these landes, that hath deliuered their countrey out of mine hand, that the Lord should deliuer Jerusalem out of mine hand:

21 Then they kept silence, and answered him not a word: for the Kings commandement was, saying, Answer him not.

22 Then came Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiah the stewarde of the house, and Shebna the chancellor, and Joah the sonne of Asaph the recorder, vnto Hezekiah with rent clothes, and tolde him the wordes of Rabshakeh.

CHAP. XXXVII.

2 Hezekiah asketh counsell of Isaiah, who promisseth him the victorie. 10 The blasphemie of Saneherib. 16 Hezekiahs prayer. 36 The armie of Saneherib is slaine of the Angel, 38 And he himselfe of his owne sonnes.

And when the king Hezekiah heard it, he rent his clothes, and put on sackcloth & came into the house of the Lord.

2 And he sent Eliakim the stewarde of the house, and Shebna the chancellor, with the Elders of the Priestes, clothed in sackcloth vnto Isaiah the Prophet, the sonne of Amoz.

3 And they said vnto him, Thus saith Hezekiah, This day is a day of tribulation and of rebuke and blasphemie: for the children are come to the birth, and there is no strength to bring forth.

4 If so be the Lorde thy God hath heard wordes of Rabshakeh, whom the king of Asshur his master hath sent to raille on the living God, and to reproch him with wordes which the Lorde thy God hath heard, then lift thou by thy prayer for the remnant that are left.

5 So the seruants of the King Hezekiah came to Isaiah.

6 And Isaiah said vnto them, Thus say vnto your master, Thus saith the Lord, Be not afraine of the wordes that thou hast heard, wherewith the seruants of the king of Asshur haue blasphemed me.

7 Beholde, I will sende a blast vpon him, and he shall heare a noyse, and re- turne to his owne land, and I will cause him to fall by the sworde in his owne lande.

8 So Rabshakeh returned, and founde the King of Asshur fighting against Libnah: for he had heard that n Not that they did not shewe by euident signes that they did detest his blasphemie: for they had now rent their clothes, but they knewe it was in vaine to vse long reasoning with this infidel, whose rage they should haue so much more prouoked.

9 Hee heard also men say of Tirhakah, king of Ethiopia, [Beholde,] he is come out to fight against thee: and when he heard it, he sent [other] messengers to Hezekiah, saying,

10 Thus shall ye speake to Hezekiah king of Judah, saying, Let not thy God deceive thee, in whome thou trustest, saying, Jerusalem shall not be given into the hand of the king of Asshur.

11 Behold, thou hast heard what the kings of Asshur haue done to all landes in destroying them, and shalt thou be deliuered:

12 Haue the gods of the nations deliuered them, which my fathers haue destroyed: [as] <sup>i</sup> Gozan, and <sup>k</sup> Haran, and Rezech, and the childre of Eden, which were at Telassar:

13 Where is the king of Hamath, and the king of Arpad, and the king of the citie of Sepharuaim, Hena and Iuah:

14 [So Hezekiah receiued the letter of the hand of the messengers and read it, and he went vp into the house of the Lord, and Hezekiah spread it before the Lord.

15 And Hezekiah prayed vnto the Lord, saying,

16 O Lord of hostes, God of Israel, which <sup>i</sup> dwellest betweene the Cherubims, thou art very God alone ouer all the kingdomes of the earth: thou hast made the heauen and the earth.

17 Encline thine eare, O Lorde, and heare: open thine eyes, O Lord, and see, and heare all the wordes of Saneherib, who hath sent to blaspheme the liuing God.

18 Trueth it is, O Lord, that <sup>p</sup> kings of Asshur haue destroyed all landes, and <sup>m</sup> their countrey,

19 And haue cast their gods in the fire: for they were no gods, but the worke of mans handes, [euen] wood or stone: therefore they destroyed them.

20 Now therefore, O Lord our God, saue thou vs out of his hand, that <sup>n</sup> all the kingdomes of the earth may know, that thou onely art the Lord.

21 [Then Isaiah the sonne of Amoz sent vnto Hezekiah, saying, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Because thou hast prayed vnto me, concerning Saneherib king of Asshur,

22 This is the word that the Lord hath spoken against him, O virgine, daughter of Zion, he hath despised thee,

[and] laughed thee to scorne: O daughter of Jerusalem, hee hath shaken his head at thee.

23 Whome hast thou rayled on and blasphemed: and against whome hast thou exalted [thy] voyce, and lifted vp thine eyes on him: [euen] against the <sup>p</sup> holie one of Israel.

24 By thy seruants hast thou railled on the Lord, and said, By the multitude of my charrets I am come vp to the top of the mountaines to the sides of Lebanon, and will cut downe the hie ceders thereof, [and] the faire firre trees therof, and I wil go vp to the heights of his top [and] to the forest of his fruitfull places.

25 I haue digged <sup>q</sup> and drunke the waters, and with the plant of my feete haue I dried all the riuers closed in.

26 Hast thou not heard how I haue of olde time made it, <sup>r</sup> and haue formed it long ago: and should I now bring it, that it should be destroyed, [and layed] on ruinous heapes, [as] cities defended:

27 Whose inhabitants <sup>t</sup> haue small power, [and] are afraid and confounded: they are like the grasse of the fiede and greene herbe, [or] grasse on the house tops, or come blasted afore it be growen.

28 But I knowe thy dwelling, and thy going out, and thy comming in, and thy furie against me.

29 Because thou ragest against me, and thy tumult is come vp vnto mine eares, therefore will I put mine <sup>u</sup> hooke in thy nostrils, & my bridle in thy lippes, and wil bring thee backe againe the same way thou <sup>x</sup> camest.

30 And this shalbe a <sup>y</sup> signe vnto thee, [O Hezekiah,] Thou shalt eat this yere such as groweth of it selfe: and the <sup>z</sup> second yere, such things as grow without sowing: and in the thirde yere, so we ye and reape, and plant vineyardes, and eate the fruite thereof.

1 Hezekiah is sicke. 5 He is restored to health by the Lord, and hureth fiftene peres after. 10 He giueth thanks for his benefite.

ABout that time was Hezekiah sicke vnto the death, and the Prophet Isaiah sonne of Amoz came vnto him, and said vnto him, Thus saith the Lord, Put thine house in an order, for thou shalt die, and not liue.

2 Then Hezekiah turned his face to the wall, and prayed to the Lord,

3 And said, I beseech thee, Lord, remember now howe I haue walked before thee in trueth, and with a perfite heart, and haue done that which is good in thy sight: and Hezekiah wept sore.

4 ¶ Then came the word of the Lord to Isaiah, saying,

<sup>m</sup> Thus he calleth them because they were contemned of all the worlde, & that they considering their owne poore estate, should seeke vnto him for helpe.

<sup>n</sup> I will make thee able to destroy all thine enemies, be they neuer so mightie: and this chiefly is referred to the kingdome of Christ.

<sup>p</sup> God will rather change the order of nature, then they should want any thing, that crieth to him by true faith in their miseries: declaring to the hereby that they shall lacke nothing by the way, when they returne from Babilon.

<sup>11</sup> Behold, all they that prouoke thee, shalbe ashamed, and confounded: they shalbe as nothing, and they that strue with thee, shall perish.

<sup>13</sup> For I the Lord thy God will hold thy right hand, saying vnto thee, Feare not, I will helpe thee.

<sup>14</sup> Feare not, thou<sup>m</sup> worne, Iacob, [and] ye men of Israel: I will helpe thee, saith the Lorde and thy redeemer the holy one of Israel.

<sup>15</sup> Behold, I will make thee a roller, and a new threshing instrument hauing teeth: thou shalt thresh y<sup>n</sup> mountaines, and bring them to powder, & shalt make the hilles as chaffe.

<sup>28</sup> But when<sup>b</sup> I behelde, there was none, and when I inquired of them, there [was] no counselour, and when I demaunded of them, they answered not a worde.

<sup>b</sup> When I looked whether the idoles could doe these things, I found that they had neither wisdom nor power to doe any thing: therefore hee concludeth that all are wicked that trust in such vanitie.

Nabakuk, a lying teacher. 2. 18. q That is, which by any way consent either to make king or worshipping. r Signifying, that the multitude shall not then saue the idolaters, when God will take vengeance, although they excuse themselves thereby among men. s He describeth the raging affection of the idolaters, which forget their own necessities to set forth their deuotion toward their idoles. t To place it in some temple. u He setteth forth the obstinacie & malice of idolaters, which though they see by dayly experience that their idoles are no better then the rest of the matter wherof they are made, yet they refuse the one part and make a god of the other, as the Papists make their cake god, and the rest of their idoles.

another shall be called by the name of Jaakob: & another shall subscribe with his hand vnto the Lord, and name himselfe by the name of Israel.

6 Thus saith the Lord the King of Israel and his redeemer, the Lord of hosts, I am the first, and I am the last, and without me [is] there no God.

7 And who is like me, that shall call, and shall declare it, & set it in order before me, since I appointed <sup>ancient</sup> people: and what is at hande, and what things are to come: let them shew vnto them.

8 Feare ye not, neither be afraid: haue not I told thee of old, and haue declared it: you are euen my witnesses, whether there be a God beside me, and that there is no God that I know not.

9 All they that make an image, are vanitie, and <sup>their</sup> delectable things shall nothing profite: and they are their owne witnesses, that they see not nor know: therefore they shall be confounded.

10 Who hath made a god, or molten an image, that is profitable for nothing:

11 Beholde, all that are of the fellow-ship thereof, shall be confounded: for the workmen themselves are men: let them all be gathered together, and stand by, [yet] they shall feare, and be confounded together.

12 The smith [taketh] an instrument, and worketh in the coles, and facioneth it with hammers, and worketh it with the strength of his armes: yea, he is an hungred, and his strength faileth: hee drinketh no water, and is faint.

13 The carpenter stretcheth out a line: he facioneth it with a red thread, he planneth it, and he purtrepeth it with the compass, and maketh it after the figure of a man, [and] according to the beautie of a man that it may remaine in an house.

14 He will helpe him downe ceders, and take the pine tree and the oke, & taketh courage among the trees of the forest: hee planteth a firre tree, and the raine doeth nourish it.

15 And man burneth therof: for he will take therof and warme himselfe: he also kindleth it and baketh bread, yet he maketh a god, and worshippeth it: hee maketh it an idole and boweth vnto it.

16 He burneth the halfe thereof euen in the fire, [and] vpon the halfe thereof he eateth flesh: he roseth the rost and is satisfied: also hee warmeth himselfe and sayth, Aha, I am warme, I haue bene at the fire.

17 And the residue thereof he maketh a god, [euen] his idole: he boweth vnto it and worshippeth & prayeth vnto it, and sayth, Deliuere me: for thou art my god.

18 They haue not knowen, nor vnderstande: for [God] hath shut their eyes that they cannot see, [and] their hearts, that they cannot vnderstand.

19 And none considereth in his heart, neither [is] there knowledge nor vnderstanding to say, I haue burnt halfe of it, euen in the fire, and haue baked bread also vpon the coles thereof: I haue rosted flesh, and eaten it, and shall I make the residue therof an abomination: shall I bow to the stocke of a tree:

20 Hee feedeth of ashes: a seduced heart hath deceiued him, that he cannot deliuer his soule, nor say, Is there not a lie in my right hand?

21 Remember these (O Jaakob and Israel) for thou art my seruant: I haue formed thee: thou art my seruant: O Israel forget me not.

22 I haue put away the transgressions like a cloud, and thy sinnes as a mist: turn vnto me, for I haue redeemed thee.

23 Reioice, ye heauens: for the Lord hath done it: shout, ye lower parts of the earth: blast forth into prayles, ye mountains, O forest and euery tree therein: for the Lord hath redeemed Jaakob & will be glorified in Israel.

24 Thus saith <sup>the</sup> Lord thy redeemer, and he that formed thee from the wombe, I am the Lord, that made all things, that spread out the heauens alone, and stretched out the earth by my selfe.

25 I destroy the tokens of the soothsayers and make them that coniecture, fooles, & turne the wise men backward, and make their knowledge foolishnes.

26 He confirmeth the worde of his seruant and performeth the counsell of his messengers, saying to Jerusalem, Thou shalt be inhabited: & to the cities of Judah, He shall be built by, and I will repaire the decayed places thereof.

them, and that Babylon should stand. d Of Isaiah and the rest of his prophets, which did assure the Church of Gods fauour and deliuerance.

x That is, he either maketh a table or trenchers.

y The prophet giueth here an answer to all them that wonder how it is possible that any should be so blind to commit such abomination, saying, that God hath blinded their eyes, and hardened their hearts.

z He is abused as one that would eate ashes, thinking to satiffie his hunger. a Shewing that mans heart is most inclined to idolatrie, and therefore he warneth his people by these examples, that they should not cleaue to any but to the liuing God, when they should be among the idolaters.

b He sheweth that the worde of the Lord toward his people shalbe so great, that the insensible creatures shall be moued therewith.

c He armeth them against the soothsayers of Babylon, which would haue borne them in hande, that they knewe by the starres that God would not deliuer

e He sheweth that Gods worke should be no lesse notable in this their deliuerance, then when he brought them out of Egypt through the sea.

27 He saith to the deepe, Be drie and I will drie by thy floods.

28 He saith to Cyrus, [Thou art] my shepheard: and he shal performe all my desire: saying also to Jerusalem, Thou shalt be built: and to the Temple, Thy foundation shalbe surely laid.

f To assure them of their deliuerance, he nameth the person by whom it should be, more then an hundred yere before he was bozne.

CHAP. XLV.

1 The deliuerance of the people by Cyrus. 9 God is iust in all his workes. 20 The calling of the Gentiles.

Thus saith the Lorde vnto Cyrus his<sup>a</sup> anointed, whose right hande I haue holden<sup>c</sup> to subdue nations before him: therfore wil I weaken the loines of kings & open the doores before him, and the gates shall not be shut.

2 I will go before thee and make the crooked streight: I wil breake the brasen doores, and burst the yron barres.

3 And I will giue thee the treasures of darknes, and the things hid in secrete places, that thou mayest knowe that I am the Lorde which call thee by thy name, euen the God of Israel.

4 For Iacob my seruants<sup>f</sup> sake, and Israel mine elect, I will euen call [thee] by thy name [ & ] name thee, though thou hast not knowen me.

5 I am the Lord and there is none other: there is no God besides me: I girded thee though thou hast not knowen mee,

6 That they may knowe from the rising of the sunne and from the west, that there is none besides me. I am y<sup>h</sup> Lord, and there is none other.

7 I forme the<sup>h</sup> light and create darknes: I make peace and create euil: I the Lord do all these things.

8 Be heauens, send the dewe from aboue, and let the cloudes droppe downe<sup>i</sup> righteousness: let the earth open, and let saluation and iustice growe forth: let it bring them forth together: I the Lord haue<sup>k</sup> created him.

9 Who be vnto him that strueth with his maker, the potsherd with the potsherds of the earth: shall the clay say to him y<sup>h</sup> facioneth it, what makest thou: or thy worke, m It hath none hands:

10 Who vnto him that saith to [his] father, what hast thou begottē: or to [his] mother, what hast thou brought forth:

11 Thus saith the Lord, the holie one of Israel, and his maker, Aske mee<sup>n</sup> of things to come concerning my sonnes, & concerning the workes of mine hands: command you me.

12 I haue made the earth, and created man vpon it: I, whose hands haue spred out the heauens, I haue euen commanded all their<sup>o</sup> armie. 13 I haue raised<sup>p</sup> him by in righteousness, and I will direct all his wayes: he shall build my citie, and he shal let go my captiues, not for<sup>q</sup> price nor reward, saith the Lord of hostes.

14 Thus saith the Lord, The labour of Egypt, and the marchandise of Ethiopia, & of the Sabeans, men of stature shall come vnto thee, and they shall bee<sup>r</sup> thine: they shall follow thee, [and] shal go in chaines: they shall fall downe before thee, & make supplication vnto thee, [saying,] Surely God is in thee, & there [is] none other God besides.

15 Verely thou, O God, hidest thy selfe, O God, the Saviour of Israel.

16 All they shalbe ashamed & also confounded: they shal go to confusion together, that are the makers of images.

17 [But] Israel shall bee saued in the Lord, with an euerlasting saluation: ye shall not bee ashamed nor confounded world without end.

18 For thus saith the Lord (that created heauen, God himselfe, that formed the earth, and made it: he that prepared it, he created it not in vaine: he formed it to be<sup>u</sup> inhabited) I am the Lord, and there [is] none other.

19 I haue not spoken in secrete, [neither] in a place of darknes in the earth: I said not in vaine vnto the seed of Iacob, Seeke you me: I y<sup>h</sup> Lord do speake righteousness, and declare righteous things.

20 Assemble your selues, and come: drawe neere together, y<sup>v</sup> ye abiect of the Gentiles: they haue no knowledge, that set by the wood of their idole, and pray vnto a god, that cannot saue them.

21 Tell yee and bring them, and let them take counsell together, who hath declared this from the beginning: [or] hath told it of old: haue not I the Lord: and there [is] none other God beside me, a iust God, and a Saviour: there [is] none beside me.

22 Looke vnto me, & ye shalbe saued:

n In stead of murmuring, humble your selues, & aske what ye will for the consolation of my children, & you shal be sure of it, as ye are of these things which are at your commandement. Some reade it with an interrogation, & make it the application of the similitude, o That is, the starres.

p To wit, Cyrus, & I may shewe by him the faithfulness of my promes in deliuering my people.

q Meaning, freely & without ranfome, or any grieuous condition.

r These people were tributaries to y<sup>h</sup> Persians, & to King Artabastate gaue this money toward the building of the Temple, Ezra 7.21.

s Whereas tofore they were thine enemies, they shall nowe honour thee, & thou shalt rule them: which was accomplished in y<sup>h</sup> time of Christ.

t Hereby he exhorteth the Jewes to patience, though their deliuerance be deferred for a time: shewing y<sup>h</sup> they should not repēt their long patience, but the wicked & idolaters shal be destroyed.

u To wit, of man, but chiefly of his Church.

x As do y<sup>h</sup> false gods, which giue vncertain answers.

y All ye idolaters, which though you seeme to haue neuer so much worldly dignitie, yet in gods sight you are vile & abiect, a To assure the Jewes of their deliuerance against the great tentations that they should abide, he nameth the person and the meanes.

b Because Cyrus should execute the office of a deliuerer, God called him his anointed for a time, but after another fort then he called David.

c To guide him in the deliuerance of my people.

d I will take away all impediments and lets.

e Not that Cyrus did knowe God to worship him aright, but he had a certaine particular knowledge, as profane men may haue of his power, and so was compelled to deliuer Gods people.

f Not for any thing that is in thee, or for thy worthinesse.

g I haue giue thee strength, power, and authoritie.

h I send peace and warre, prosperitie and aduersitie, as Amos 3.6.

i He comforteth y<sup>h</sup> Jewes, as if he would say though when ye looke to the heauens and earth for succour, ye see nothing nowe but signes of Gods wrath, yet I will cause them to bring forth most certaine tokens of your deliuerance, and of the performance of my promes, which is ment by righteousness. k I haue appointed Cyrus to this use and purpose. l Whereby he hideleth their impatience, which in aduersitie and trouble murmure agaynst God and will not carie his pleasure: willing that man should match with his like and not contende agaynst God. m That is, it is not perfectly made.

<sup>2</sup> We callec
the idolaters
to repentance,
willing them
to looke vnto
him with the eye of faith.

<sup>a</sup> That is, that the thing,
which I haue promised shall be faithfully
perfourmed.

<sup>b</sup> The knowledge of God
and the true
worshipping shalbe through all the world, Rom. 14. 11. Philip. 2. 10, whereby he signifieth that we must not onely serue God in heart, but declare the same also by outward profession.

<sup>c</sup> Meaning, the faithful shall feeble and confesse this. <sup>d</sup> All the contemners of God.

all the ends of the earth shall be saved :

for I am God, and there [is] none other.

<sup>23</sup> I haue sworne by my selfe : the worde is gone out of my mouth in <sup>a</sup>rightteousnes, and shall not returne, That e-uery <sup>b</sup>knee shall bowe vnto mee, [and] e-uery tongue shall sweare [by me.]

<sup>24</sup> Surely he shall say, In the Lord
haue I righteousness and strength : hee shall come vnto him, and all that <sup>d</sup>prouoke him, shall be ashamed.

<sup>25</sup> The whole seede of Israel shalbe iustified, and glorie in the Lord.

CHAP. XLVI.

<sup>1</sup> The destruction of Babylon and of their idoles. <sup>3</sup> He calleth
the Jewes to the consideration of his workes.

<sup>a</sup> These were the chiefe idols
of Babylon.

<sup>b</sup> Because they were of golde
and silver, the Medes & Persians caried
them away.

<sup>c</sup> The beasts
that caried the idoles, fell downe vnder
their burthen.

<sup>d</sup> He derideth
the idoles,
which had neither soule
nor sense.

<sup>e</sup> He sheweth
the difference
betwene the idoles and the true God : for they must be caried of others, but God

himselfe car-ieth his, as Deut. 32. 11.

<sup>f</sup> Seeing I haue begotten
you, I wil nourish & preserue
you for euer.

<sup>g</sup> The people of God, seeing their owne calamitie and the flourishing estate of the Babylonians,

shuld be tempted to thinke
that their god
was not so mightie as the idoles of their enemies :

therefore he describeth the

originall of all the idoles, to make them to bee abhorred of all men : shewing that the most that can bee spoken in their commendation is but to proue them vile, Bar. 6. 25. <sup>h</sup> Become wise, meaning that all idolaters are without wit,
or sense, like mad men.

BEl is bowed downe : <sup>a</sup> Rebo-is fallen : their idoles were vpon the <sup>b</sup>beastes, and vpon
the cattell : they which did beare you, [were] laden with a wearie burthen.

<sup>2</sup> They are bowed downe, [and] fallen together : for they could not rid them of the burden, and their <sup>d</sup>soule is gone into captiuitie.

<sup>3</sup> Heare ye me, O house of Iacob, &
all that remaine of the house of Israel, which are <sup>c</sup>borne of me [from] y<sup>e</sup> wombe,
and brought vp of me [from] the birth.

<sup>4</sup> Therefore vnto olde age, I the same, euen I will beare [you] vntill the hoare heares : I haue made [you] : I will also beare [you], & I will cary [you]
and I will deliuer [you].

<sup>5</sup> To whom will ye make me like, or make me equal, or <sup>g</sup>compare me, that I should be like him :

<sup>6</sup> They draw golde out of the bagge
and weigh silver in the balance, [&] hire a goldsmith to make a god of it, [and] they bow downe, and worship it.

<sup>7</sup> They beare it vpon the shoulders :
they carie him and set him in his place : so doeth he stand, [and] cannot remoue fro his place. Though one cry vnto him, yet can he not answer, nor deliuer him out of his tribulation.

<sup>8</sup> Remember this, & be ashamed : bring it againe <sup>h</sup>to mind, O ye transgressors.

<sup>9</sup> Remember the former things of old :
for I am God, and there [is] none other
God, and there [is] nothing like me, to make them to bee abhorred of all men : shewing

that the most that can bee spoken in their commendation is but to proue them
vile, Bar. 6. 25. <sup>h</sup> Become wise, meaning that all idolaters are without wit,
or sense, like mad men.

<sup>10</sup> which declare the last thing from the beginning : & from of old, the things that were not done, saying, My counsell shall stande, and I will do whatsoeuer
I will.

<sup>11</sup> I call a <sup>i</sup>birde from the East, [and] the man of my <sup>k</sup>counsell from farre : as I haue spoken, so wil I bring it to passe :
I haue purposed it, and I wil do it.

<sup>12</sup> Heare mee, ye stubburne hearted,
that are farre from <sup>l</sup>iustice.

<sup>13</sup> I bring <sup>m</sup>neere my iustice : it shall not bee farre off, and my saluation shall not tarie : for I will giue saluation in Zion, [and] my glorie vnto Israel.

CHAP. XLVII.

The destruction of Babylon and the causes wherefore.

Come downe and sitte in the dust : O <sup>a</sup>virgine, daughter Babel, sitte on the grounde :
there is no <sup>b</sup>throne, O daughter of the Caldeans : for thou shalt no more be called, Tender and delicate.

<sup>2</sup> Take the mill stones, and <sup>c</sup>grinde meale : loose thy lockes : <sup>d</sup>make bare the feete : vncouer the legges, [and] passe through the floods.

<sup>3</sup> Thy filthinesse shall be discovered, and thy shame shall bee seene : I will take vengeance, and I will not meete [thee as] a <sup>e</sup>man.

<sup>4</sup> Our redeemer, the Lord of hosts
[is] his Name, the holy one of Israel.

<sup>5</sup> Sit still, and get thee into darkenes, O daughter of the Chaldeans : for thou shalt no more be called, The ladie of kingdomes.

<sup>6</sup> I was wroth with my people : I haue polluted mine inheritance, and giuen them into thine hande : thou didst shew them no <sup>h</sup>mercie, but thou diddest lay thy verie heauie yoke vpon the ancient.

<sup>7</sup> And thou saydest, I shalbe a ladie for euer, so that thou diddest not set thy mind to these things, neither didst thou remember the latter ende thereof.

<sup>8</sup> Therefore now heare, thou that art
giuen to pleasures, & dwellest carelesse,
She sayth in her heart, I am and none els : I shall not sit [as] a widow, neither shal know the losse of children.

<sup>9</sup> But these two things shal come to thee suddenly on one day, the losse of children & widowhood : they shal come vpō thee in their <sup>i</sup>perfection, for the multitude of thy diuinations, & for the great abundance of thine inchanters.

<sup>10</sup> For thou hast trusted in thy wicked-

nes :

<sup>i</sup> That is, Tyrus, which shall come, as swift as a bird
and fight against Babylon.

<sup>k</sup> Him by who I haue appointed to execute
that which I haue
determined.

<sup>l</sup> Which by your incredulitie would let the performace
of my promises,

<sup>m</sup> He sheweth
that mans incredulitie can not abolish the promises of god,
Rom. 3. 3.

<sup>a</sup> Which hast
liued in welch,
and wanton-
nesse, and hast
not yet bene ouercome by anyemie.

<sup>b</sup> Thy government shall be taken fro thee.

<sup>c</sup> Thou shalt be brought to most vile ser-uitude : for to turne the mille
was the office
of slaues.

<sup>d</sup> The things wherein she settest her greatest pride
shall be made vile, euen from
the head to the foote.

<sup>e</sup> I will vse no humilitie nor pittie toward
thee.

<sup>f</sup> The Israelites shall con-
fesse, that the Lord doth this for his churches sake.

<sup>g</sup> For verie
shame, and hide
thy selfe.

<sup>h</sup> They abused Gods iudge-
ments thinking that he punished the Israelites, because he would utterly cast the off, & therefore

in stead of pitying their mis-
erie, thou didst
increase it.

<sup>i</sup> So that thy punishment
shalbe so great,
as is possible to be imagined.

k Thou didst thinke that thine owne wisdom and policie would haue saued thee.

nes: thou hast said, None seeth me. Thy wisdom & thy knowledge, they haue caused thee to rebel, and thou hast said in thine heart, I am, and none els.

11 Therefore shal euil come vpon thee, and thou shalt not knowe the morning thereof: destruction shal fal vpon thee, which thou shalt not bee able to put away: destruction shal come vpon thee suddainly, or thou beware.

12 Stand now among thine inchanters, and in the multitude of thy soothsayers (with whom thou hast wearied thy selfe from thy youth) if so bee thou maist haue profite, [or] if so be thou maist haue strength.

13 Thou art wearied in the multitude of thy counsels: let now the astrologers, the starre gasers, and prognosticatours stand by, & saue thee from these things, that shal come vpon thee.

14 Behold, they shalbe as stubble: the fire shal burne them: they shal not deliuer their owne liues from the power of the flame: there [shal bee] no coles<sup>m</sup> to warme at, [nor] light to sit by.

15 Thus shal they serue thee, with whom thou hast wearied thee, [even] thy marchants from thy youth: euery one shal wander to his owne<sup>n</sup> quarter: none shal saue thee.

CHAP. XLVIII.

1 The hypocrite of the Jewes is reprobued. 11 The Lorde alone will be worshipped. 20 Of their deliuerance out of Babylon.

Hear ye this, O house of Iakob, which are<sup>a</sup> called by the name of Israel, and are come out of<sup>b</sup> the waters of Iudah: which sweare by the Name of the Lorde, and make mention of the God of Israel, [but] not in trueth, nor in righteousness.

2 For they are called of the holy citie, and stay themselves<sup>c</sup> vpon the God of Israel, whose Name [is] the Lorde of hostes.

3 I haue declared the former things of olde, and they went out of my mouth, and I shewed<sup>d</sup> them: I did them suddenly, and they came to passe.

4 Because I knew, that<sup>e</sup> thou art obstinate, and thy necke [is] an yron sinew, and thy brow brasse,

5 Therefore I haue declared it to thee of old: before it came to passe, I shewed<sup>f</sup> it thee, least thou shouldest say, Mine idle hath done them, and my carued image, and my molten image haue commanded them.

6 Thou hast heard, beholde all this, & will not ye<sup>g</sup> declare it: I haue shewed thee new things, euē now, & hid things, which thou knewest not.

7 They are created now, & not of old, and euen before this thou heardest them not, least thou shouldest say, Beholde, I<sup>h</sup> knew them.

8 Yet thou heardest them not, neither didst know them, neither yet was thine eare opened of olde: for I knewe that thou wouldest grievously transgresse: therefore haue I called thee a transgressor from the<sup>i</sup> wombe.

9 For my Names sake wil I deferre my wrath, & for my praise wil I refraine it from thee, <sup>k</sup> that I cut thee not off.

10 Behold, I haue fined thee, but<sup>l</sup> not as siluer: I haue<sup>m</sup> chosen thee in the furnace of affliction.

11 For mine owne sake, for mine owne sake wil I do it: for howe shoulde [my Name]<sup>n</sup> be polluted: surely I wil not giue my glorie vnto another.

12 Heare me, O Iakob and Israel, my called, <sup>p</sup> I am, I am the first, and I am the last.

13 Surely mine hand hath laid<sup>q</sup> foudation of the earth, and my right hande hath spanned the heauens: when I called them, <sup>r</sup> they stand by together.

14 Al you, assemble your selues, and heare: which among them hath declared these things: The Lord hath loued<sup>s</sup> him: he wil do his wil in Babel, and his arme [shalbe] against the Chaldeans.

15 I, [even] I haue spoken it, and I haue called him: I haue brought him, and his way shal prosper.

16 Come neere vnto me: heare ye this: I haue not spoken it in secret from the beginning: from the time that the thing was, I was there, and now the Lorde God and his Spirit hath sent me.

17 Thus saith the Lorde thy redeemer, the Holy one of Israel, I am the Lord thy God, which teach thee<sup>t</sup> to profit, and leade thee by the way, that thou shouldest go.

18 Oh that thou haddest hearkened to my commandments! then had thy prosperitie bene as the flood, & thy righteousness as the waues of the sea.

19 Thy seed also had bene as the sand, and the fruit of thy bodie like the gravel thereof: his<sup>x</sup> name should not haue bene cut off nor destroyed before me.

g Will ye not acknowledge this my benefit & declare it
vnto others?
h Shewing
mans arrogan-
cie is the cause
why God doth
not declare all things at once,
lest they should attribute this knowledge to their owne
wisdom.

i Fro the time
p I brought thee out of Egypt: for y deli-uerance was
as the birth of the Church.

k As it was my free mercy p I did chuse thee:
so is it my free
mercie that must saue thee.

l For I had respect to thy weaknes & infirmities: for in siluer there is some purenes,
but in vs there
is nothing, but dross.

m I tooke thee
out of<sup>n</sup> furnace
where thou shouldest haue
bene consumed.

n God ioynerh
the saluation
of his with his owne honour:
so that they can not perish, but his glozy shuld
be diminished,
as Deu. 32. 27.

s Since the time that I declared my selfe
to your fathers.

these things.

u What things shall do thee good.

x That is, the prosperous
estate of Israel

l He deriuech
their vaine confidence, that
put their trust
in any thing,
but in God, codemning also such vaine sciences, which
serue to no vse,
but to delude
the people, and to bring them
fro depending
onely in God.
m They shall utterly perish
and no part of them remaine.
n They shall flee euery one
to that place,
which bee
thought by his speculations to be most sure:
but that shall
deceiue them.

a He detectech
their hypocri-
sie, which van-ted themselves
to be Israelites and were not so in deede.

b Meaning,

and stocke.

c They make a shewe, as though they would haue
none other
God.

d He shewech
that they could not accuse him in any thing, for-
asmuch as he had perfourmed whatsoe-uer hee had promised.

e I haue done
for thee more
then I promised, that thy stubburnes and impudencie might haue bene ouercome. f How thou shouldest be deliuered out of Babylon.

y After that he had forewarned them of their captiui-
tie, and of the cause thereof,
he sheweth
them the great
ioy, that shall come of their deliuerance.
z He sheweth
that it shall be
as easie to de-liuer them, as he did their fathers out of Egypt. a Thus he speaketh that the wicked hypocrites should not abuse Gods promises, in whom was neither fayth nor repentance, as Chap. 57. 21.

CHAP. XLIX.

1 The Lorde exhorteth all nations to beleue his promises, 6
Christ is the saluation of all that beleue, & will deliuer them from the tyrannie of their enemies.

a This is spoken in the person of Christ
to assure the faithfull, that these promises
should come to passe: for they were all made in him, and in him should be performed.
b This is ment
of the time
that Christ
should be manifested to the worlde, as Ihal. 2. 7.

c By the sword
and staff, he signifieth the bertue and ef-ficacie of Christs doctrine.
d God hath taken me to his protection and defence: this chiefly is ment
of Christ, and may also be applied to the ministers of his worde.

e By Israel is
ment Christ,
and all the bo-
die of the faith-
full, as the members and
cheir head.
f Thus Christ
in his members complai-
neth, that his labour, and preaching take none effect, yet
he is contented
that his doings
are approued

of God. g Though the Jewes refuse my doctrine, yet God will approue my ministerie. h To declare my Gospel to the Gentiles, Chap. 42. 6. acts 13. 47.
Iuke 2. 32. i Meaning, the Jewes whom tyrants kept in bondage. k The benefite of their deliuerance shall be so great, that great and small shall acknowledge it, and reuerence God for it.

20 y Go ye out of Babel: flee ye from the Chaldeans, With a voyce of ioy: tell and declare this: shew it forth to the end of the earth: say ye, The Lord hath redeemed his seruant Jaakob.

21 And they<sup>z</sup> were not thirstie: he led them through the wilderness: he caused the waters to flowe out of the rocke for them: for hee claue the rocke, and the water gushed out.

22 There is no<sup>a</sup> peace, saith the Lord,
vnto the wicked.

Hear ye me, O ples, & hearken, yee people from farre.
The Lorde hath called<sup>a</sup> me from<sup>b</sup> the wombe, & made mention of my name from my mothers bellie.

2 And he hath made my mouth like a sharpe sword: vnder the shadow of his hand hath he<sup>d</sup> hid mee, and made me a chosen shaft [and] hid me in his quier,

3 And sayde vnto me, Thou art my seruant, e Israel, for I will bee glorious
in thee.

4 And I sayde, I haue<sup>f</sup> laboured in vaine: I haue spent my strength in vaine and for nothing: but my iudgement [is]
with<sup>y</sup> Lord, & my worke with my God.

5 And now saith the Lord, that four-med mee from the wombe to be his seruant, that I may bring Jaakob againe to him (though Israel be not gathered, yet shall I be glorious in the eyes of the Lord: and my God shall be my strength)

6 And he said, It is a small thing that thou shouldest be my seruant, to raise vp the tribes of Jaakob, and to restore the desolations of Israel: I will also giue thee for a light of the Gentiles, that thou mayest bee my saluation vnto the end of the world.

7 Thus saith the Lord the redeemer of Israel, [and] his holy one, to him that is despised in soule, to a nation that is abhorred, to a<sup>i</sup> seruant of rulers, Kings shall see, and<sup>k</sup> arise, & princes shall worship, because of the Lorde, that is faith-full: and the holy one of Israel, which hath chosen thee.

8 Thus saith the Lord, In an acceptable time haue I heard thee, & in a day of saluation haue I helped thee: and I will preserue thee, & will giue<sup>m</sup> thee for a couenant of<sup>y</sup> people, that thou maiest raise vp the<sup>n</sup> earth, and obtaine the inheritance of the desolate heritages:

9 That thou maiest say to the<sup>o</sup> prisoners, Go forth: and to them that are in darkenesse, Shewe your selues: they shall feede in the wayes, and their<sup>p</sup> pastures shall be in all<sup>y</sup> toppes of<sup>y</sup> hilles.

10 They shall not be hungrie, neither shall they bee thirstie, neither shall the heate smite them, nor the sunne: for hee that hath compassion<sup>q</sup> on them, shall leade them: euen to the springs of waters shall he driue them.

11 And I wil make al my moūtains,
as a way, and my paths shall be exalted.

12 Beholde, these shall come from farre: and lo, these from the North and from the west, and these from the lande of<sup>r</sup> Sinim.

13 Reioyce, O<sup>s</sup> heauens: & be ioyfull, O earth: braist forth into praise, O moūtains: for God hath cōforted his people,
and will haue mercie vpon his afflicted.

14 But Zion said, The Lorde hath forsaken mee, and my Lorde hath forgotten me.

15 Can a woman forget her childe, & not haue compassion on the sonne of her wombe: though they should forget, yet will I not forget thee.

16 Beholde, I haue grauen thee vpon
the palme of [mine]<sup>u</sup> hands: thy<sup>v</sup> walles [are] euer in my sight.

17 Thy builders make<sup>y</sup> haste: thy destroyers & they that made thee waste,
are departed from thee.

18 Lift vp thine eyes round about & beholde: all these gather themselves together [ & ] come to thee: as I liue, saith the Lord, thou shalt surely<sup>z</sup> put them al vpon thee as a garmēt, and gird thy self with them like a bride.

19 For thy desolations, and thy waste places, and thy land destroyed, shall surely be nowe narrowe for them that shall dwell in it, and they that did deuoure thee, shall be farre away.

20 The childe of thy barrennes shall say againe in thine eares, The place is strait for mee: giue place to mee that I may dwell.

21 Then shalt thou say in thine heart, who hath begotten mee these, seeing I am baren and desolate, a captiue and a

23 And Kings shall be thy nourcing fathers, and Queenes shall be thy nources: they shall worship thee with [their] faces toward the earth, and lick by the dust of thy feet: and thou shalt knowe that I am the Lord: for they shall not be ashamed that waite for me.

24 Shall the pray be taken from the mightie: or the iust captiuitie deliuered:

25 But this saith the Lord, Euen the captiuitie of the mighty shall be taken away: and the pray of the tyrant shall be deliuered: for I will contend with him that contendeth with thee, and I will saue thy children,

26 And will feede them that spoyle thee, with their owne fleshe, and they shall be drunken with their owne blood, as with sweete wine: and all flesh shall knowe that I the Lord am thy sauour and thy redeemer, the mightie one of Iacob.

27 They shall not haue a more iust title vnto them. f I will cause them to destroy one another, as Iudg. 7, 22, 2, Chp. 20, 22. Chap. 19, 2.

1 The Jewes forsaken for a time. 2 Yet the power of God is not diminished. 5 Christs obedience and victorie.

Thus sayth the Lord, Where is that bill of your mothers diuorcemet, whom I haue cast off: or who is the creditor to whom I solde you:

Behold, for your iniquities are ye solde, and because of your transgressions is your mother forsaken.

2 Wherefore came I, and there was no man: I called, and none answered: is mine hande so shortened, that it cannot helpe: or haue I no power to deliuer: Beholde, at my rebuke I drie by the sea: I make the floods desert: their fish rotteth for want of water, and dieth for thirst.

3 I clothe the heauens with darknes, and make a sacke their couering.

4 The Lord God hath giuen me a

5 tongue of the learned, that I shoulde know [to minister] a worde in time to him that is wearie: he will raise me by in the morning: in the morning hee will wake mine eare to heare, as I learned.

5 The Lord God hath opened mine eare and I was not rebellious, neither turned I backe.

6 I gaue my back vnto the smiters, and my cheekes to the nippers: I hidde not my face from shame and spitting.

7 For the Lord God will helpe me, therefore shall I not be confounded: therefore haue I set my face like a flint, & I know that I shall not be ashamed.

8 He is neere that iustificieth me: who will contend with me: Let vs stand together: who is mine aduersarie: let him come neere to me.

9 Beholde, the Lord God will helpe me: who is he that can condemne mee: loe, they shall ware old as a garment: the mothe shall eate them by.

10 Who is among you that feareth the Lord: let him heare the voyce of his seruant: he that walketh in darkenes, & hath no light, let him trust in the Name of the Lord, and stay vpon his God.

11 Beholde, all you kinde a fyre, and are compassed about with sparkes: walke in the light of your fire, & in the sparkes that yee haue kindled. This shall yee haue of mine hande: ye shall lye downe in sorowe.

12 I will rule & gouerne my Church by my worde, and doctrine. c The time, that I will accomplish my promes.

1 To trust in God alone by Abrahams example. 7 Not to feare men. 17 The great affliction of Ierusalem, 22 And her deliuerance.

Care me, ye that followe after righteousness, [ & ] ye that seeke the Lord: looke vnto the rocke, [ whence ] ye are hewen, and to y hole of the pit, [ whence ] ye are digged.

2 Consider Abraham your father, & Sarah that bare you: for I called him alone, and blessed him, & increased him.

3 Surely the Lord shall comfort Zion: he shall comfort all her desolations, and he shall make her desert like Eden, and her wilderness like the garden of the Lord: ioy & gladnes shall be found therein: prayse, and the voyce of singing.

4 Hearken ye vnto me, my people, & giue eare vnto mee, O my people: for a lawe shall proceede from me, and I will bring forth my iudgement for the light of the people.

5 By righteousness is neere: my saluation

h To him that is oppressed by affliction and miserie.

i As they that are taught, and made meece by him.

k I did not shrinke from God for any persecution or calamitie.

l Whereby he sheweth, that true ministers of God can looke for none other recompence of the wicked but after this sort, & also what is their comfort.

m Shewing y it is a rare thing that any should obey aright Gods true ministers, though they labour to bring them from hell to heauen.

n You haue sought consolation by your own deuises, & haue refused y light, and consolation, which God hath offered: therefore ye shall remaine in sorow, & not be comforted.

p As plentiful as Paradise, Gen. 2, 3.

q I will rule & gouerne my Church by my worde, and doctrine.

a He sheweth, that Christ will not onely gather this great number of the Jewes, but also of y Gentiles.

b Meaning, that kings shall be conuerted to the Gospel, and bestowe their power, and authoritie for the preseruation of the Church.

c Being ioyned with the Church, they shall humble themselves to Christ their heade, and giue him all honour.

d He maketh this as an objection, as though the Caldeans were strong, and had them in iust possession.

e This is the answer to their objection, that none is stronger then the Lord, neither hath a more iust title vnto them.

f I will cause them to destroy one another, as Iudg. 7, 22, 2, Chp. 20, 22. Chap. 19, 2.

a Meaning, that he had not forsaken her, but through her owne occasion, as Hosea, 2, 2.

b Which should declare that I haue cut her off: meaning, that they could shewe none.

c Signifying that he solde them not for any det or pueritie, but that they solde themselves to sin to buy their owne lusts, and pleasures.

d He came by his Prophets and ministers, but they would not beleue their doctrine and conuert.

e Am I not as able to helpe you, as I haue holpen your fathers of old, when I dried by the red Sea, & killed the fish in the riuers, and also after ward in Iorden: f As I did in Egypt in token of my displeasure, Exod. 10, 21.

g The Prophet doth represent here the person & charge of them that are iustly called to the ministry of Gods word.

6 Lift vp your eyes to the heauens, and looke vpo the earth beneath: for the <sup>g</sup> heauens shall vanish away like smoke, and the earth shall waxe olde like a garment, and they that dwell therein, shall perish in like maner: but my saluation shall be for ever, & my righteousness shall not be abolished.

7 Harken vnto me, yee that knowe righteousness, the people in whose heart [is] my Lawe. Feare ye not the reproch of men, neither be ye afraide of their rebukes.

8 For the moth shall eat them vp like a garment, and the worme shall eat the like wooll: but my righteousness shall be for ever, and my saluation from generation to generation.

9 Rise vp, rise vp, and put on strength, O arme of the Lorde: rise vp, as <sup>h</sup> in the old time in the generations of the world. Art thou not y<sup>e</sup> same, that hath cut <sup>i</sup> Rahab, and wounded the <sup>k</sup> dragon?

10 Art not thou the same, which hath dried the sea, [euen] the waters of the great deepe, making y<sup>e</sup> depth of the sea a way for the redeemed to passe ouer?

11 Therefore the redeemed of y<sup>e</sup> Lord shall <sup>l</sup> returne, and come with ioye vnto Zion, and euerslasting ioy shall be vpon their head: they shall obtaine ioy, and gladnesse: [and] sorowe and mourning shall flee away.

12 I, [euen] I am hee, that comfort you. Who art thou, that thou shouldst feare a mortall man, & the sonne of man, which shall be made as grasse?

13 And forgettest y<sup>e</sup> Lorde thy maker, that hath spread out the heauens, & laide the foundations of the earth: and hast feared continually all the day, because of the rage of the oppressour, which is ready to destroy: where is now the rage of the oppressour?

14 The captive <sup>m</sup> hasteneth to be loosed, and that he should not die in the pit, nor that his bread should fayle.

15 And I am the Lord thy God that deuided the Sea, when his waues roared: the Lord of hosts [is] his Name.

16 And I haue put my wordes in thy <sup>n</sup> mouth, and haue defended thee in the shadow of mine hand, that I may plant the <sup>o</sup> heauens, and lay the foundation of the earth, and say vnto Zion, Thou art my people.

17 Awake, awake, and stande vp, O Ierusalem, which hast drunken at the hand of the Lord the <sup>p</sup> cup of his wrath: thou hast drunken the dregs of the cup of trembling, and wrung them out.

18 There is none to guide her among all the sonnes, whom she hath brought forth: there [is] none that taketh her by the hande of all the sonnes that shee hath brought vp.

19 These two <sup>q</sup> things are come vnto thee: who will lament thee: desolation & destruction, and famine, & the sword: by whome shall I comfort thee?

20 Thy sonnes haue fainted, and lye at the head of all the streetes as a wilde bull in a net, and are full of the wrath of the Lord, [and] rebuke of thy God.

21 Therefore heare now this, y<sup>e</sup> miserable and drunken, but <sup>r</sup> not with wine.

22 Thus saith thy Lorde God, euen God that pleadeth the cause of his people, Beholde, I haue taken out of thine hand the cuppe of trembling, [euen] the dregges of the cuppe of my wrath: thou shalt drinke it no more.

23 But I will put it into their hande that spoyle thee: which haue sayd to thy soule, Wolue downe, that we may goe ouer, and thou hast layde thy bodie as the grounde, and as the streete to them that went ouer.

CHAP. LII.

1 A consolation to the people of God. 7 Of the messengers thereof.

Arise, arise: put on thy strength, O Zion: put on the garments of thy beautie, O Ierusalem, the holy citie: for hence forth there shall no <sup>a</sup> more come into thee y<sup>e</sup> vncircumcised & the vncleane.

2 Shake thy selfe from the <sup>b</sup> dust: arise, and sit downe, O Ierusalem: loose the bandes of thy necke, O thou captiue daughter, Zion.

3 For thus saith the Lorde, We were solde for <sup>c</sup> nought: therefore shall ye be redeemed without money.

4 For thus saith the Lord God, My people went <sup>d</sup> downe aforesaid into Egypt to sojourne there, and Asshur <sup>e</sup> oppressed them without cause.

5 Now therefore what haue I here, saith the Lord, that my people is taken away for nought, & they that rule ouer them, make them to howle, sayeth the Lorde: & my Name all the day continuously might pretende some cause to oppress my people because they went thither and remained among them, but the Assyrians haue no title to excuse their tyrannie by: and therefore will I punish them more then I did the Egyptians,

<sup>p</sup> Thou hast bene iustly punished and sufficiently, as Chap. 40. 2. and this punishment in the elect is by measure, and according as God giveth grace to beare it: but in the reprobate it is the iust vengeance of God to drue them to an insensibleness and madness, as Iere. 25. 15, 16.
<sup>q</sup> Whereof the one is outward, as of the things that come to the bodie: as warre and famine: and the other is inward, and appertaineth to the minde: that is, to be without comfort: therefore he sayeth, howe shalt thou be comforted?

10 The Lorde hath made<sup>i</sup> bare his holy arme in the sight of al the Gentiles, & all the ends of the earth shall see the saluation of our God.

11<sup>k</sup> Depart, depart ye: goe out from thence and touch no vncleane thing: goe out of the middes of her: bee yee cleane, that<sup>l</sup> beare the vessels of the Lord.

12 For ye shall not go out<sup>m</sup> with haste, nor depart by fleeing away: but þ Lorde will go before you, and the God of Israel will gather you together.

13 Behold, my<sup>n</sup> seruant shall prosper: he shall bee exalted and extolled, and bee very hie.

14 As many were astonished at thee (his visage was so<sup>o</sup> deformed of men, & his forme of the sonnes of men) so<sup>p</sup> shall he sprinkle many nations: the Kinges shall shut their<sup>q</sup> mouthes at him: for þ which had not byn told them, that they see, and that which they had not heard, that they vnderstand.

CHAP. LIII.

1 Of Christ and his kingdome, whose worde fewe will beleue
6 All men are sinners. 11 Christ is our righteousness, 12 And is dead for our sinnes.

Who<sup>a</sup> will beleue our report: and to whom is the<sup>b</sup> arme of the Lord reueiled:

2 But he shall grow by befoze him as a branche, and as a The Prophet sheweth, that very fewe shall receiue this their preaching of Christ, and of their deliuerance by him, John. 12. 38. rom. 10. 16. b Meaning, that none can beleue, but whose heartes God toucheth with the vertue of his holie Spirit.

a<sup>c</sup> roote out of a drye<sup>d</sup> ground: he hath neither forme nor beautie: when we shall see him, there shall be no forme that we should desire him.

3 He is despised and reiected of men: he is a man full of sorowes and hath experience of<sup>e</sup> infirmities: we hidde as it were our faces from him: he was despised and we esteemed him not.

4 Surely he hath borne our infirmities, and carryed<sup>f</sup> our sorowes: yet we did iudge him, as<sup>g</sup> plagued, and smitten of God, and humbled.

5 But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was broken for our iniquities: the<sup>h</sup> chastisement of our peace [was] vpon him, and with his stripes we are healed.

6 Al we like shepe haue gone astray: we haue turned euery one to his owne way, and the Lord hath layd vpon him the<sup>i</sup> iniquitie of vs all.

7 He was oppressed and he was afflicted, yet did he not<sup>k</sup> open his mouth: he is brought as a sheepe to the slaughter, and as a sheepe before her shearer is dumme, so he openeth not his mouth.

8 He was taken out from<sup>l</sup> prison, and from iudgement: <sup>m</sup> and who shall declare his age: for he was cut out of the land of the liuing: for the transgression of my people was he plagued.

9<sup>n</sup> And he made his graue with the wicked, and with the riche in his death, though he had done no wickednesse, neither [was] any deceit in his mouth.

10 Yet the Lorde would breake him, and make him subiect to infirmities: when<sup>o</sup> he shall make his soule an offering for sinne, he shall see [his] seede [ & ] shall prolong [his] dayes, and the will of the Lorde shall prosper in his hand.

11 He shall see of the<sup>p</sup> trauaile of his soule, [ & ] shall be satisfied: by his knowledge shall my<sup>q</sup> righteous seruant iustifie many: for he shall beare their iniquities.

12 Therefore will I giue him a portion with the great, and he shall diuide the spoyle with the strong, because he hath poured out his soule vnto death: and he was counted with the transgressors, and he bare the sinne<sup>r</sup> of many, and prayed for the trespassers.

c The beginning of Christs kingdome shall be small, and contemptible in the sight of man, but it shall growe wonderfully, and flourish before God.

CHAP. LIIII.

1 <sup>a</sup> Ho of the Gentiles shall beleue the Gospell then of the Jewes. 7 God leaueh his for a time, to whome afterward he sheweth mercy.

<sup>a</sup> After that he hath declared the death of Christ, he speaketh to the Church, because it should feele the fruite of the same, and calleth her baren, because that in the captivity she was as a widowe without hope to haue any children.

<sup>b</sup> The Church in this her affliction and captivity shall bring forth no children then when she was at libertie: of this may be spoken by admiration, considering the great number that should come of her. Her deliuerance vnder Cyrus was as her childehoode, & therefore this was accomplished, when she came to her age, which was vnder the Gospell.

<sup>c</sup> Signifying that for great number of children, that God should giue her, she should seeme to lacke ronne to lodge them.

which wast forsaken in thy youth. <sup>i</sup> As sure as the promises that I made to Noah, that the waters should no more ouerflowe the earth. <sup>k</sup> Whereby he declareth the excellent estate of the Church vnder Christ.

Recioyce, O baren that diddest not beare: breake forth into ioy and reioyce, thou that didst not trauaile with child: for the <sup>b</sup> desolate hath no children then the married wife, saith the Lord.

2 Enlarge the place of thy tentes, & let them spreade out & curtaines of thine habitations: spare not, stretche out thy cordes, and make fast thy stakes.

3 For thou shalt increase on the right hand and on the left, and thy seede shall possesse the Gentiles and dwell in the desolate cities.

4 Feare not: for thou shalt not be ashamed, neither shalt thou be confounded: for thou shalt not be put to shame: yea, thou shalt forget the shame of thy youth, and shalt not remember the reproche of thy <sup>d</sup> widowhood any more.

5 For he that <sup>e</sup> made thee, [is] thine husbände (whose Name [is] the Lord of hostes) and thy redeemer the holy one of Israel, shall be called the God of the whole <sup>g</sup> world.

6 For the Lord hath called thee, being as a woman forsaken, and afflicted in spirit, & as <sup>h</sup> a yong wife when thou wast refused, saith thy God.

7 For a litle while haue I forsaken thee, but with great compassion will I gather thee.

8 For a moment, in [mine] anger, I hid my face from thee for a litle season, but with euerlasting mercy haue I had compassion on thee, saith the Lord thy redeemer.

9 For this is vnto mee [as] the waters of Noah: for as I haue sworne that the waters of Noah shoulde no more go ouer <sup>h</sup> earth, so haue I sworne that I would not be angrie with thee, nor rebuke thee.

10 For the mountaine shall remoue and the hilles shall fall downe: but my mercie shall not depart from thee, neither shall the couenant of my peace fall away, saith the Lord, that hath compassion on thee.

11 O thou afflicted and tossed with tempest, that hast no comfort, behold, I will lay thy stones with <sup>k</sup> the carbuncle, and lay thy foundation with sapphires,

12 And I will make thy windowes of <sup>l</sup> emeraudes, and thy gates shining stones, and all thy borders of pleasant stones.

13 And all thy children [shall be] taught of the Lord, and much peace shall be to thy children.

14 In <sup>m</sup> righteousness shalt thou be established, [and] be farre from oppression: for thou shalt not feare it: and from feare, for it shall not come neere thee.

15 Beholde, [the enemy] shall gather himselfe, but without <sup>n</sup> me: whosoever shall gather himselfe in thee, <sup>o</sup> against thee, shall fall.

16 Beholde, I haue created the smith that bloweth the coles in the fire, and him that bringeth forth an instrument for his worke, and I haue created the destroyer to destroy.

17 But all the weapons that are made against thee, shall not prosper: and euery tongue that shall rise against thee in iudgement, thou shalt condemne. This is the heritage of the Lordes seruants, and their righteousness [is] of me, saith the Lord.

<sup>o</sup> Meaning, the domesticall enemies of the Church as are the hypocrites. <sup>p</sup> Signifying hereby that man can do nothing but so farre as God giueth power: for seeing that all are his creatures, he must needs gouerne and guide them.

CHAP. LV.

1 An exhortation to come to Christ. 8 Gods counsels are not as mans. 12 The top of the faithfull.

In <sup>a</sup> every one that thirsteth, come yee to the waters, and ye that haue <sup>b</sup> no siluer, come, bye and eate: come, I say, bye wine and milke without siluer and without money.

2 Wherefore do ye laye out siluer [and] not for bread: & your labour without beeing satisfied: hearken diligently vnto me, and eate that which is good, and let your soule delite in <sup>c</sup> fatnes.

3 Encline your eares, and come vnto mee: heare, and your soule shall liue, and I will make an euerlasting couenant with you, [euén] the <sup>d</sup> sure mercies of David.

4 Beholde, I gaue <sup>e</sup> him for a witness to the people, for a printe & a master vnto the people.

5 Beholde, thou shalt call a nation that thou knowest not, <sup>h</sup> and a nation that knew not thee, shall rúne vnto thee, because of the Lord thy God, & the holie one of Israel: for he hath glorified thee.

<sup>d</sup> He reproveth their ingratitude, which refuse those things that God offereth willingly, and in the meane time spare neither cost nor labour to obtaine those, which are nothing profitable. <sup>e</sup> You shall be fed abundantly. <sup>f</sup> The same couenant, which though my mercie I ratified and confirmed to David that it should be eternall. 2. Sam. 7. 13. act. 13. 34. <sup>g</sup> Meaning Christ, of whome David was a figure. <sup>h</sup> To wit, the Gentiles, which before thou diddest not receiue to be thy people.

<sup>a</sup> Christ by proposing his graces and giftes to his church, exempteth the hypocrites which are full with their imagined workes, and the Epicures, which are full with their worldly lustes and so thirst not after these waters.

<sup>b</sup> Signifying, that Gods benefits can not be bought for money.

<sup>c</sup> By waters, wine, milke and bread, he meaneth all things neces-sarie to the spirituall life, as these are necessarie to this corporall life.

<sup>i</sup> When he offereth himselfe by <sup>p</sup> preaching of his worde. <sup>k</sup> Whereby he sheweth that repentance must be ioyned with faith, and howe we can not call vpon God aright, except <sup>p</sup> frutes of our faith appeare. <sup>l</sup> Although you are not soone reconciled one to another, and iudge me by your selues, yet I am most easie to be reconciled, yea I offer my mercies to you. <sup>m</sup> If these small things haue their effect, as daily experience sheweth, much more shall my promes which I haue made and confirmed, bring to passe <sup>p</sup> thing which I haue spoken for your deliuerance. <sup>n</sup> Read Chap. 44. 23. and 49. 23. <sup>o</sup> To set forth his glorie. <sup>p</sup> Of Gods deliuerance, and that he will neuer forsake his Church.

6 Seeke ye <sup>p</sup> Lord while he may<sup>i</sup> be found: call ye vpon him while he is neere.

7 Let <sup>p</sup> wicked<sup>k</sup> forsake his wayes, and the vnrighteous his owne imaginations, and returne vnto the Lord, & he will haue mercie vpon him: and to our God, for he is very readie to forgive.

8 For my<sup>i</sup> thoughtes [are] not your thoughtes, neither [are] your wayes my wayes, saith the Lord.

9 For as the heauens are hier then <sup>p</sup> earth, so are my wayes hier then your wayes, and my thoughtes aboue your thoughtes.

10 Surely as the raine cometh down and the snow from heauen, and returneth not thither, but watereth the earth and maketh it to bring forth and bud, that it may giue seede to the sower, and bread vnto him that eateth,

11 So shall my<sup>m</sup> word be, that goeth out of my mouth: it shall not returne vnto me voyde, but it shall accomplish that which I will, and it shall prosper in the thing whereto I sent it.

12 Therefore yee shall goe out with ioye, and bee led forth with peace: the<sup>n</sup> mountaines and the hilles shall breake forth before you into ioye, & all the trees of the fildes shall clappe [their] hands.

13 For thornes there shall grow firre trees: for nettles shall grow the myrrhe tree, and it shall bee to the Lord<sup>o</sup> for a name, [ & ] for an euerlasting<sup>p</sup> signe that shall not be taken away.

CHAP. LVI.

Hus saith the Lord, <sup>a</sup> Keepe iudgement and do iustice: for my saluation is at hande to come, and my<sup>b</sup> righteousness to be reueiled.

2 Blessed [is] the man that doth this, and the sonne of man which layeth hold on it: he that keepeth the Sabbath and polluteth it not, and keepeth his hande from doing any euill.

3 And let not the sonne of the stranger, which<sup>d</sup> is ioyned to <sup>p</sup> Lord, speake and say, The Lord hath surely separate me from his people: neither let the Eunuch say, Behold, I am a drie tree.

4 For thus saith the Lord vnto the Eunuches, that keepe my Sabbaths, & chuse the thing that pleaseeth mee, and take holde of my couenant,

5 Euē vnto them will I giue in mine house and within my walles, a place & a name better then of the sonnes and of the daughters: I will giue the an euerlasting name, that shall not be put out.

6 Also the strangers that cleaue vnto the Lord, to serue him, and to loue the Name of the Lord, and to bee his seruants: euery one that keepeth the Sabbath, and polluteth it not and imbraceth my couenant,

7 Them will I bring also to mine holie mountaine, and make them ioyful in mine house of prayer: their burnt<sup>s</sup> offerings & their sacrifices [shalbe] accepted vpon mine altar: for mine house shalbe called an house of prayer for<sup>h</sup> all people.

8 The Lord God saith, which gathereth the scattered of Israel, yet will I gather to them those that are to bee gathered to them.

9 All ye<sup>i</sup> beastes of the fildes, come to deuoure, [euē] all ye beastes of <sup>p</sup> forest.

10 Their<sup>k</sup> watchmen are all blinde: they haue no knowledge: they are all dumme dogs: they can not barke: they lie and sleepe and delite in sleeping.

11 And these greedie dogges can neuer haue ynough: and these shepheards cannot vnderstand: [for] they all looke to their owne way, euery one for his aduantage, [and] for his owne purpose.

12 Come, I will bring wine, and we will fill our selues with strong drinke, and to<sup>l</sup> morowe shalbe as this day, [ & ] much more abundant.

fault of the gouernours, Prophets and Pastours, whose ignorance, negligence, auarice and obstinacie prouoked Gods wrath against them. <sup>1</sup> We are wel yet, and to morowe shalbe better: therefore let vs not feare the plagues before they come: thus the wicked contemned the admonitions and exhortations which were made them in the Name of God.

CHAP. LVII.

2<sup>b</sup> Peace shall come: they shall rest in their beddes, [euery one] that waketh before him.

3 But you<sup>c</sup> wittches children, come hither, the seede of the adulterer and of the whore.

4 On whome haue ye iested: vpon<sup>e</sup> wittches children, who vnder the pretence of the name of Gods people derided Gods word and his promises: boasting openly that they were the children of Abraham, but because they were not faithfull and obedient as Abraham was, he calleth them bastards, and the children of forcerers, which forsooke God and fled to wicked meanes for succour.

<sup>e</sup> Meaning, in his Church. <sup>f</sup> They shalbe called after my people and be of the same religion: yea, vnder Christ the dignitie of the faithfull shalbe greater then <sup>p</sup> Jewes were at that time.

<sup>g</sup> Whereby he meaneth the spirituall seruice of God, to whom <sup>p</sup> faithfull offer continually thanksgiving, yea the selues and all that they haue as a liuely and acceptable sacrifice.
